Drs. Bally and François, two of the French physicians at Barcelona; and who had witnessed the ravages of the yellow fever in 8t. Domingo, are of opinion that the malady at Barcelona is precisely similar. Four-fifths of the persons attacked by the fever have fallen victims to it; death generally ensued on the fifth day, sometimes the seventh: many of the sick died in three days, and others in 36 hours. Dr. Mazel, after visiting two individuals ill of the fever, became ill in the night of the 12th ultimo. He was better on the morning of the 20th, but died on the 22d, after a long agony, and with all the symptoms of the yellow fever.

"The Gezette de France having attributed a defamatory fact to Gen. Wilson, it is announced, that he intends to prosecute the responsible editor of that journal."—Constitutionsel.

The Court of Assize in Paris has been occupied with the trial of two persons named Frederic and Terry, who were indicted, the former for having written, and the latter for having published, two essays of a settlious tendency, under the titles of Accents of Liberty at the Tomb of Napoleon, and Element; what ought to be done, or what threatens us. In his observed the on the first pamphlet, the Advocate General dark soft the attractive from the first pamphlet, the King, in the comparation which was drawn between an asurper and a legitimate monared. After deliberating a subspitime, the Jury pronounced the Sienr Terry No Guilts. The Court then proceeded to pass judgment by default on Frederic: his sentence was to be imprisoned for two years, and to pay a fine of 2000 fr.

A letter from Rome states, that the Count de Saint Leu, cf-devant King of Holland, and Jerome Buonaparte, Ex-King of Westphalia, were expected in that capital.

Letters from Havannah, dated October 5th, mention, that Mexico and Vera Cruz had refused to accede to the late treaty entered into by Iturbide, and sanctioned by the new Viceroy O'Donshou. They add, that fresh dissentions had broke out among the Independents.

The Swiss Cantons have yielded to the application of the Cabinet of Vienna, and have signed a convention, in virtue of which the subjects of the Lombardo-Venetian kingdom, who have taken refuge in the free territory of Switzerland, are to be given up to the Austrian authorities.

Odesand Oct. 16.—The latest advices from St. Petersburg announce, that the Emperor, since his return from Witensk, has con-of Vienna, and have signed a convention, in virtue of which the subjects of the Lombardo-Venetian kingdom, who have taken refuge in the free territory of Switzerland, are to be given up to the Austrian authorities.

Onzasa, Ocr. 16.—The latest advices from St. Petersburg announce, that the Emperor, since his return from Witepsk, has conferred numerous decorations; and that his Majesty has nominared the son of the Baron de Strogonoff his first Aide-du-camp. The army continues, provisionally, on the same footing, and the regiments of the Guard remain in their cantonments.—Augsburg Gaz.

An Order of the Day, published at Witepsk, after the review of the regiments of the Guard by the Emperor Alexander, announces, that the Russian army would continue on a war footing, to be ready to march at a moment's notice, and that the Imperial Guard would continue in its cantonments.

Fannkroar, Nov. 7.—His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland arrived here to-day, on his return from Liege, to which place he accompanied the King, his brother. His Royal Highness the Dukes Charles and William of Brunswick have also arrived here from Hanower; they are going back to Lausanne. His Highness Prince Metternich arrived here yesterday evening, from his sett at Johannisberg.

Lanna, Ocr. 27.—It seems by several accounts arrived from Tuffey, that the Divan does not place much faith in the friendly disposition of the Russian Cabinet, and that it makes extraordinary efforts to combat Russia. The Porte sends considerable relinforcements to Moldavia and Wallachia, where a numerous army will soon be assembled; it is even engaged in forming a second army as numerous san the first. This second army will be posted first on the Danube. Independently of these two armies, numerous bodies of reserve are forming in the provinces situated in the second line.

In the course of the month of September there have been many persons arrested in the Ionian Islands.

Nov. 2.—We have accounts here from Constantinople to the 12th of October. The city was observed Barrameda is declared infected, three persons being taken sick with symptoms of the yellow fever.

VALENCIA, OCT. 24.—A letter from Tertosa and Caleza de Puenta, of the 14th, says—"On Thursday there were only eighteen deaths in the city and hospitule; on Friday, nine; yesterday, six. There are but few new cases, and the symptoms are more favourable, many more recovering than at the beginning."

Barcelona, Oct. 24.—Public health in Barcelona, the Hospital, and the City:—On the 23rd inst. there remained sick, 645; new cases, 62; cured, 20; deaths, 43.

Leiszic, Nov. 2.—On the 28th uft. at nine in the evening, a severe shock of an earthquake was felt in this town and neighbourhood. The furniture in the houses was displaced; the dogs were terrified, and barked and howled in the most dismai manner. A noise was heard like thunder, or the rumbling of many carriages. Persons seated were thrown from their positions. Its motion appeared to be from south to north.

Persons seated were thrown from their positions. Its motion appeared to be from south to north.

The following account of the Turkish force affoat on the 18th of September has been furnished by a Gentleman from Corfu:—At Zante—4 line of battle ships of 80 guns, 6 brigs of 14 and 18 guns, 3 schooners, 1 frigate of 40 guns, 4 corvettes of 30 guns, 10 brigs of 14 and 18 guns, 1 schooner of 12 guns—the four last mentioned rates are Alexandrians.—At Mevelo and Gomenitzen—3 frigates of 50 and 46 guns, 2 corvettes of 32 guns, 6 brigs of 16 and 18 guns, 2 zebeos of 10 and 12 guns, 2 schooners of 12 guns, 1 cutter of 8 guns, 4 gun-boats of 4 and 6 guns, 3 frigates of 30 guns, 3 brigs of 14 and 18 guns, 1 lugger of 8 guns, 2 schooners of 10 and 12 guns, 1 gunboat—the five last mentioned rates are Algerines.—Total 64 sail, under the command of the Captain Bey. Also, 16 gun-boats, not arrived.

under the command of the Captain Bey. Also, to gun-boats, not arrived.

Letters from Tangier of the 13th state, that Soliman had defeated his nephew at Jeferuz, and that the Santon Herasan Siclijach el Haros, the principal cause of the disturbances in that empire, was killed in the battle.

Haove, Nov. S.—Lieut.-Col. Taels Van Amerongen, Aide-ducamp to the Governor-General of the East India Possessions, and Lieut. Koopman, of the Navy, arrived here yesterday, with intelligence of the successful issue of the expedition against the rebellious Sultan of Palembang, which was of so much importance to the maintenance of the Dutch authority in India. The first attack was on the 20th of June; at day-break, the ships of war took the positions assigned them; the cannonade was extremely violent on both sides. On the 24th of June, General De Kock, to whom the chief command of the expedition was confided, made himself master, after an obstinate resistance, of the works of the river, which impeded the approach to the town.—In these affairs we had 75 men killed, and 25f wounded.

The Baltimore Federal Gazette, says—" We have perused a

The Baltimore Federal Gazette, says—"We have perused a letter, addressed to a young gentleman of this city, from his friend in Santiago de Chili, dated 13th July, by which it appears, that the expedition which sailed from Chili, under the command of General San Martin, had every prospect of success on its first landing in Peru."

expedition which sailed from Chili, under the command of General San Martin, had every prospect of success on its first landing in Peru."

Latest accounts from Lima, state, that his Britannic Majesty's frigate Owen Glendower arrived at Valparaiso, in ten days from Lima, on the 16th July, bringing intelligence that the armistice still continued. It was also reported that it was impossible for the city to hold out a month after the recommencement of hostilities.—A passenger in the Chesapeake states that Lord Cochrawe had the second time seized, in the port of Arico, a considerable sum of money (100,000 dollars) belonging to the brig Maccdonian, Capt. Smith, of Boston, last from Canton, under the pretext of breach of blockade, and had ordered the brig to sea under command of the Lieutenant, Captain Smith remaining on shore. Sir T. Hardy continued to protest against the extent of the blockade.

The last news received at Aux Cayes by the Columbian brig American Libre, and by letters from Jamaica of the 16th ult. are—
"That Capt. Bahastro, by birth an Italian, in the marine service of the Republic of Columbia, commanding the brig El Boyaca, has been so villainous as to join, with his brig, the Royalists in the island of Cubs, putting in irons such of his crew as refused to join him in his nefarious project. That the Governor of Carthagena (Torres) proposed articles of capitulation to the General commanding the troops besieging that place (Mariano Montillo), who, finding that the propositions were not advantageous to the Republic, would not accept them."

Died, at Curagoa, about nine o'clock in the event the 27th ult., Admiral P. L. Brion, Commander in Chief of the Columbian Naval Forces, in the 35th year of his age.

The Governor of Chili has transported most of his state prisoners and some criminals to the Island of Juan Fernandez, where the intend planting a colony. A few troops and a Governor women, comprise the whole population.

His Majesty's ship Owen Glendower, arrived at Valparaise, the 13th of July from Callao, and the Creole arrived on the 29th from a cruise. The Superb and Creole sailed on the 31st for the coast of Peru.

His Majesty's ship Owen Glendower, arrived at Valparaise, the 13th of July from Callao, and the Creole arrived on the 29th from a cruise. The Superb and Creole sailed on the 31st for the coast of Peru.

A letter received from President Bolivar, dated Cucuta, Sept. 7, 1821, states, that the inhabitants of Carthagena had sent a deputation, offering to surrender, provided the President would take possession in person. It was his intention to make his public entry into that city on the 1st of October.

Extract of a letter from the agents to Lloyd's at Buenos Ayrea, dated Sept. 4:—" By a letter received here on the 2d inst., dated Santiago de Chili, the 13th ult. one p. m., the schooner Moatezama, had just arrived from Callao, with official accounts of Generalsan Martu having entered Lima by force of arms."

Letters from the Governor of Santa Martha affirm, that the Governor of Carthagena has promised to make his propositions more advantageous. The probability is, that Carthagena will be in possession of the Republicans by the end of this month, September, as they are already in possession of Bocha Chica, and all the reseals of war of the Royalists, which will prevent the arrival of privings and succours of any kind.

Captain Phillips writes to his owners in Philadelphia, under date of September 16th, that the Revolutionists, 10,000 strong, went within nine miles of Pernambuco; and adds—There are not tes Spanish dollars in the place, and as for gold it has disappeared altogether.—Bolivar was expected in Santa Martha on the 24 Sept. with 4000 men; it is thought that the object of his going to that place was to aid further the siege of Carthagena.—The previnces of Venezuela were perfectly tranquil—Porto Cabello only remained in possession of the Royalists—and 8000 men of the Schooner Eliza, Captain Williams, from a Gentleman to a Commercial House in this city, dated Matanzus, Sept. 27, 1821:—

"Three horrible events have just taken place. Three American vesuels, two of them coming ia, viz. the brig John, Smith; and th the place to arm in pursuit of the pirates. Three boats full set out in quest of them, and after a cruize of thirty-six hours, lave just returned without success."

Extract of a letter from St. John's, New Brunswick, dated the 20th of July:—"It has never fallen to our lot to record transactions more characteristic of the loyal feelings of our fellow citizens, that those demonstrated in this city, in commemoration of the Corastion of our beloved Sovereign George IV. Expressive of the universal sentiment of joy felt by so respectable a body as the city and county militia of St. John's: a select battalion was formed from this local force, who were reviewed on Wednesday last, in conjunction with the regular troops in garrison, by his Excellency Major-Gea. Smyth, who also, in honour of the day, gave a ball, which, in spleadour and magnificence, far surpassed every thing of the kind we have witnessed on this side of the Atlantic. For this august astional featival, the Madras school-room was appropriately fitted up for the occasion, as an armory, by the Ordnance officers. Upwards of 200 ladies and gentlemen assembled in this noble hall, and the whole afforded a coup d'exil of clegance and taste, not easily imagined. His Excellency presided at the dinner on this occasion. His Majesty's health was drank with enthusiass, while a royal salute was fired, and a brilliant display of rockets. "God save the King?" was sung, accompanied by the band of the 7th regt. and a full and animated chorus by all present. Many loyal toasts were given, and on his Excellency's leaving the chair, the following toast was drank by the whole company standing, with a degree of rapture and delight, expressive of the highest respectant each of the file of the distressed, and the endporter of all our useful institutions; our thanks are due to him for having brought us together this day;" It inperf.—That all ranks might participate in the general joy, spacious tables were laid out is King's-equare, and an ox roasted whole, was conveyed to each, amid

DISTURBED DISTRICTS.

DISTURBED DISTRICTS.

COUNTY OF LIMERICK.—Between one and two, on Sundayee'anight, while Mr. Longford was atchurch, his house, at Greenpark near Limerick, was attacked by the banditti, demanding arms.—
The doors being well secured, they could not force their entrance, and Mr. Longford's son, only 14 years of age, threw up the drawing-room window, and presented a blunderbuss at the assailant.
One fellow snapped a pistol at the young gentleman, whose blunderbuss also missed fire. The tutor in Mr. Lougford's family now fired a pistol, on which the banditti precipitately fled. The remarkable circumstances attending this attack are, that it was made in the middle of the day—that the house is situated close to a public road, of much resort—that the surrounding country is thickly inhabited—and that the barracks are within the distance of a musket-shot.—On the same evening, Mr. Gleeson's house at Meanus was also attacked. From an upper window he remonstrated, and stated, that the arms in the house consisted o'a berrowed musket, and a case of pistols which he had received as a present, and he would only part with them with his life; and as be observed one of them presenting a musket, he retired to prepare for defence. After consultation, they again came forward, and said, they would be satisfied with some powder and ball, which he also refused, but stated, that he had one old musket, without a lock, which he would give them. On handing it to them, they made a rush to seize it. Mr. Gleeson withdrew the old musket, and required the captain to decide who should receive it. This point heing determined, they wished him good night, with the assurance that they intended no nervonal discrepance as he might observe quired the captain to decide who should receive it. This point being determined, they wished him good night, with the assurance that they intended no personal disrespect, as he might observe from their forbearance to break his windows.—At two o'clock the next morning, about 30 ruffians broke into the house of Mr. Hunt, of Clorane. They forced a window on the ground-door, and about 30, well armed, went up stairs demanding fire-arms. Mr. Hunt delivered an old gun, being the only one in the house, as his arms had been previously sent to Limerick. One of the gang desired a young gentleman, a visitor, to take charge of some silver lying on the dressing-table, as, he said, it was not money they wanted, but fire-arms and ammunition. One of the fellows in quirred the hour, and being informed that the clock had just struck three, said, "Captain, I did not think it was so late, as it was only one when we left Malony's—left us go, as we have yet five or explaces to visit."—Dublin Journal.

The house of Mr. Jehn Cleary, of Bulgaden, in this county was places to visit."—Dublin Journal.

The house of Mr. Jehn Cleary, of Bulgaden, in this county, was also entered at night by a gang of armed ruffians, and robbed of two muskets. The house of Mr. Adam Miller, at Garrainroe, in this county, was attacked by a large party, in search of fire-arms. On Miller's refusing them, the party commenced breaking down the wall of the house with crow-bars, which they accomplished, and succeeded in taking two guns, two pistols, and one sword.

The following robberies have also taken place in the neighbourhould of Struff, and scarcely a night passes, that armed parties, modanted, do not parade the roads from Hoppital to Croom:—From the base of the control of the con

Mr. Wrixon, as a measure of precaution, had before sent away his fire-arms to a place of safety.

RATHKEALE.—An inhuman outrage was committed on Friday se'nnight near this town. Mr. D. Stephenson, accompanied by two of his sons, and some servants, went to "drive" some tenants of his for arrears of rent due to him by a Mr. M.—y. There were two of the M.—'s on the lands when the cattle were driven off. A mob collected, beat Mr. Stephenson and his two sons dreadfully, and rescued the cattle. His second son, a promising young man, has been so dreadfully beaten that his life is despaired of. Not a single informer has turned up yet, in spite of rewards and menaces. Their formula of an oath is said to be horrible. But the real cause of the oath being observed is the terror inspired by "General Rock." The life of a man proscribed by him is not worth "a pin's fee." There is as yet no clue to the assassins of Mr. Going, notwithstanding the reward of 5001. for each of the four accomplices. Many of the more respectable inhabitants of the county have taken refuge in Limerick.

COURT OF COMMON COUNCIL.

On Thursday, a Court of Common Council was held at Guildhall, On Thursday, a Court of Common Council was held at Guildhall, for the purpose of voting an Address of Congratulation to the King, on his arrival from Hanover.—This being the first Court held since the Lord Mayor's accession to the Civic Chair, his Lordship read an Address, stating, it was his ardent wish that the utmost liberty of sentiment might be exercised, consistent with the established rules which formed the dignity of the Court. He relied on the assistance of many gentlemen whom he had the pleasure of seeing before him, who had attained a knowledge of the laws and constitution of that great metropolis. He looked forward with confidence to their advice and assistance, as well as to the candour of the Court at large, and he trusted he should not look in vain.

Mr. Oldham rose to move the Resolutions. His only object was to call upon the Court to express to the Sovereign their feelings of

Mr. Oldham rose to move the Resolutions. His only object was to call upon the Court to express to the Sovereign their feelings of personal respect, and their congratulation on his safe arrival. He took it for granted that even those who might differ most from the measures of Government, would concur in offering this proof of personal respect to his Majesty. For his part, he should never give up his right of freely discussing and censuring the measures of Government, when he thought them deserving of reprobation; but he must deprecate the admixture of the personal character of the Sovereign in such discussions, and he felt assured that these sentiments would be reciprocated by every member of the Court. As a proof that the Corporation of that great city was as ready now as atany other time to express to his Majesty their feelings of loyalty, and their attachment to the different branches of his illustrious Family, he need only allude to what had taken place upon the occasion of the late festival at the Mansion-bouse; it shewed that no body of men in the empire were more loyal, or more determined to uphold the reigning Family on the Throne.—He then moved the Resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Williams, the late Sheriff.

Mr. Patten said, he could not allow this motion to be carried, without making one observation. He thought it would be proper that the Address should be accompanied with some expressions of condolence on the death of the Queen.—This suggestion was received with loud and unmixed disapprobation.—The Resolution was carried unanimously.

An Address of Thanks was voted to the late Lord Mavor.

as carried unanimously.

An Address of Thanks was voted to the late Lord Mayor.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

COURT OF KING'S BENCH.

Monnay.—The King v. Melgengs—The defendant had been convicted at the Janasasen Awsizes for publishine a seditional convicted at the Janasasen Awsizes for publishine a seditional at the defendant's house viole is a fusian cutter) and selling sand, potatoes, childrens' books, such as Jack the Giant Killer, Mother Stock with a strict of the conviction of the Stock with a function of the Stock ration of that term find sureties for her good behaviour for seven years, herself in 1,000l, and two sureties in 100l, each, and in the mean time to be committed to the custody of the Marshal of the mean time to be committed to the custody of the Marshal of the Marshalsea.

Mr. F. Pollock moved for a Rule to show cause why a criminal information should not be filed against certain Burgesses of the town of Berwick-upon-Tweed. The application proceeded from the Mayor, Town Clerk, Bailiffs, and certain Aldermen of the borough; and it was grounded upon the facts stated in the following affidavit:—"The Corporation of Berwick-upon-Tweed having leased certain tolls in the neighbourhood of the town, a Guild was held for the purpose of putting the corporate scal to the lease, and also in order to the admission of certain Burgesses to their freedom. In the course of the day, Holmes and Jefferies (two of the parties against whom the rule was prayed) interrupted the business of the meeting, by outcries and violent conduct; and, when the seal was about to be affixed to the lease, they rushed into a part of the hall, called "the Bench," appropriated to the Magistrates; prevented the ceremony of sealing; and threatened to tear the lease, and put it into the five. The Mayor, finding it impossible to restore order, dissolved the Guild, when Holmes and a person named Burgess assaulsed the Town Clerk, tore open his coat in search of the obnoxious lease, and (not finding it) attempted to throw the Town Clerk and the Mayor over the ballustrades of the hall staircase."—Rule granted.

POLICE.

Bow-straket.—On Thursday, Thomas White was charged by Captain Johnson with stealing harness, wearing apparel, and other property, to the amount of 100l. and upwards.—Captain Johnson stated, that the prisoner was in his service as a coachman. In Sept. hat, witness came to town, from his cottage, at Southampton, and resided at Hatchett's Hotel, where he had been but a short time, when he was arrested for debt, and taken to a lock-up house. At that time he was indebted to the prisoner about 20l. for wages and other matters. The prisoner, and a boy, named Charles Meads, also a servant of his, came and attended upon him for a few days in the spunging house, and witness employed him to go down to Southampton, to acquaint his friends there of what had befallen him, in the hope that they would be prevailed upon to release him from his difficulties. The prisoner did not return to him, and he soon learned that he had been to Hatchett's, and in his name obtained all the things he had left there, and that he had, with the assistance of a relation of his, got a great number of things in the house of a relation of his, got a great number of things in the hands of a third person, but he refused; and witness was for nearly a week at one time without even a clean shirt.—The prisoner, in his defence, said, that Capt. Jehnson sent him for the property in question, and authorised him to receive it. The Captain wanted him to assist him in making his escape, which he refused. Subsequent to that the Captain had asked him to hire horses in his name, and sell them, and many other things of the same kind.—Capt. J. solemuly denied every assertion of the prisoner, but that respecting the escape from the spunging Bouse. He was almost in a state of frenzy as the time, and he knew if he got out he could immediately procure the money, and return, perhaps, almost before he was missed. Upon reflection, however, he was ashamed of himself for having even thought of an escape.—The prisoner was charged with violently assaulting a man of the name of him with a heavy bludgeon.

Benbow said that Drake collared him first, and that he put his thumb in his mouth with the intention of disfiguring him. They knew the debt had been settled three months before, and only wanted to ruin him.

Drake replied, that so far from that, when Benbow came to London from Leeds, he was left "in payon" for the coach-hire. He and COBBETT having set up a shop to establish a press at the corner of St. Clement's, he went into business without a farthing, and in a short time was 8001. in debt; and when Cobbett became a bankrupt, he (Benbow) had not a stitch of clothes to his back, until he (Drake) gave him an order on his draper for some cloth, which was pawned to pay his workmen before it was paid for!!

After a good deal of counterstatement, Benbow was held to bail for the amount.

Benhow then charged Drake's wife with theft. He said, that having been in the King's Bench, he had employed Mrs. Drake to pason some of his wife'z clother; and she had purloined a piece of eith from amongst them.

Mrs. Drake replied, that she had pawned the silk with the other articles, and had given Mr. Benbow the money.

Mr. Minshull told Benbow that he might take an action against her for the breach of trust; or, if he liked it better, he might go to the sessions and indict her.

MARLBOROUGH-STREET.—On Wednesday, George Crutchfield was charged with uttering counterfeit sovereigns. He was apprehended coming out of an eating-house in Coventry-street, Haymarket. He is suspected of being a member of a gang of dealers in counterfeit coin, who are in the daily habit of disposing of sovereigns in quantities of twenty, fifty, and a hundred, to utterers who pass them on the public. On searching the prisoner's person, four counterfeit sovereigns were found in his pocket, with a quantity of genuine silver coin. In his apartments, several other bad sovereigns were discovered. The prisoner declined saying any thing in his defence. He was remanded to the House of Correction, to be brought un again this day week for further examination. he brought up again this day week for further examination.

LAMBETH-STREET.—Thom. Bertrand was charged by Mr. Jones, with being an accomplice in assaulting and robbing him. The prosecutor was returning home on the night of the 6th inst., when in passing through Essex-street, Whitechapel, he was attacked by the prisoner, and three others, who knocked him down and commenced kicking and beating him in a most brutal manner. His screams at length brought the watchmen to his assistance; the robbers escaped with the exception of the prisoner, who was secured. The prosecutor, discovered that his pockets were turned inside out, and rifled of some silver.

Advertisement.)—The Literary Gazette of yesterday, No. 257, contains with its usual varieties, the Review of Giusepinno, a new Poem, by Lord Byren, in the Beppe style; Townley's Illustrations of Biblical Literature; an admirable History (Extract) of the most Asrient materials for Writing; Howison's Upper Canada; Paramythia, amusing Russian Ancedotes; Malay. Annals and Eastern Tales. Besides interesting original Letters, by David Hume; original Voyages in the South Seas; Account of Lieut. Franklin's Expedition; Blography of Mrs. Piozzi; with several of her unpublished Poems; Dramatic Criticism. Poetry, Letters from Paris, the latest Egyptian Antiquities, &c. &c. &c.—Literary Gazette Office, 362, Strand.

**Advertisement.** Elevant Glasses. Furniture. &c.—The Nobility and Antiquities, &c. &c. &c. —Litrary Gazette Office, 362, Strand.

**Advertisement.] —Elegant Glasses, Furniture, &c.—The Nobility and Gentry are invited to inspect the Warerooms of Cooper and Son, 93, Binhopsate-street Within, where is exhibited an Assortment of new and second-hand Plate Glasses, admirably suited to every deactivition of drawing or dining-rooms. In the furniture department is comprised every new and elegant article of upholstery, cabinet, and chair work, the prices of which are reduced to such a scale of economy as to attract and ensure the patronage of rank and fashion. of rank and fashion.

of rank and fashion.

Advertisement.]—Thirty Thousand Pounds—Swift and Co. respectfully inform the public, that the First-drawn Prize on TUESDAY NEXT with have £30,000 in addition to such Prize: there are also Twelve other Capitals, and NOT TWO BLANKS TO A PRIZE. The Tickets and Shares by which these great objects may be gained, are selling by Swift and Co. at their old and fortunate Offices, No. 11, Poultry; 12, Charing-Cross: and 31, Adigate High-street.

Advertisement.]—If the reader is afflicted with Fistula, or similar diseases, we would sak, has he ever beard of the late Martin Van Butchel; who used to treat these complaints in a way peculiar to himself, and to effect cures almost universally without having recourse to either Cutting, Caustic or Confinement, which is the usual practice.—We find his son, D. B. Van, Butchell, surgeon, acconcheur, who recides at No. 48, South-street, Berkeley, aquare, continues to perform cures of the most dangerous case, by the same method, and is as completely successful. Both rich and poor, who are thus afflicted, will do well to observe, he requires no remueration until they afficied, will do well to observe, he requires no remuueration until they are satisfied a cure has been performed; in fact, the poor are relieved gratis, if respectably recommended.

are satisfied a cure has been performed; in fact, the poor are relieved gratis, if respectably recommended.

Advertisement—In our first introduction to a person, there is nothing conveys to the mind a stronger impression than the Teeth. A fine set of? Teeth identifies health, cleanliness, and beauty; but to vellow, black, or carious Teeth, we turn with loathing and disgust. To all who wish to preserve or beautify the Teeth, Hudson and Company recommend their Botanic Tooth Powder as a sure remedy and preventive for all disorders of the mouth; it not merely cleanars, whitens, and beautifies the Teeth, but preserves them from decay to the extremity of age. It fastens Teeth that are loose—prevents the decayed growing worse—removes the fartar, and enres the searvy in the Gams, leaving them firm and of a healthy redness. It sweetens the breath, is an antidote for gum-boils, swelled face, and the tooth-arhe—and the Proprietors warrant, that if used regularly, a tooth will never decay, and the tooth-ache will not be known; and though so powerful an antiseptic, it is entirely free of acid, and so innocent that a child may take the contents of a Box.—Sold, price 2s. 9d, by Jas. Atkinson, (wholesa'e agent) 44. Gerrard-street; Show-square: Messrs. Cattie and Pierce, 57, Boudstreet; Rigge, 35, Bond-street; Sanger, 150, Oxford-street; Johnston, 15, Groek-street; Howell and James, 9, Regent-street; Bayley and Blew, Cocksquir-street; Prout, 229, Strand; Johnston, 68, Takte, 41, Cornhill: Nfx, Royal Exchange; Rigge, 65, Butler's, 4, Cheapside; Sutton's, Bow Church-yard; Edwards, 66, Newbery, 45, 52, Paul's Church-yard, and moat medicinevenders and perfumers.—CAUTION. As there are numerous Tooth Powder called Botanic, in initiation of the above, please to ask for Hudson's Botanic Tooth Powder

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We think it necessary to observe, that, owing to an accident, several letters, addressed to us some months since, were mistaid, and have only this week been discovered. A criticism of LADY MORGAN'S ITALY, a LETTER FROM EDINBURGH, and some others, are very value. they are at person to the subjects of most of them were temporary they are at present out of dute, we feel it right to give this notice to the writers, and to assure them that their favours have not intentionally remained hitherto unacknowledged.

ally remained hitherto unacknowledged.

Fact is almost too good to be true.

Our Suffilk friend is received. Wood would be quite right to endearont to severe a seat in the next Parliament ont of London; but we doubt whether Mr. Steward could carry the point, even if he has been silly enough to promise it. Our friend is quite right as to what Mr. Steward was, and it is a humorous enough thing to see this man, who was Prize Agent at Yarmouth, appointed by liovernment, and Sir Herry Burdury, a favoured sinceurist and a pensioner, clubbing their malt stock of brains in the cause of radicalism. Why such a man as Mr. Ambrose Steward should be High Sheriff of the County, we leave it to the Lordon true Council (who are, it is to be presumed, full of wisdom and understanding) to tell us.

tell us.
We think J.G.M. has treated the Humbug somewhat too seriously.
X.Y.Z., who ridicules Lady Morgan, writes nearly as ill as her Ludyship.

If e have not heard what the design of the Queen's monument is to be,—nor, as yet, the design of the Committee in the appropriation of the Plate Subscription;—somebody, in the Timen newspaper, says that it is all safe somewhere, which must be agreeable news to those that it is all safe somewhere, which must be agreeable news to those who were fools enough to contribute to it.

Ventars will perceive that we had noticed the subject he alludes to.

Bill agrind sikt 184ds5—MM.—

We have received an ill-judged und ill-written letter, signed "A Friend of the family, he ownot be acquainted with it. He may be assured that our authority was good for what we said upon the subject.

J. N. is quite right—Brougham was born in the place called the "Bird's Nest," now nick-named Brougham-Hall. So Berrer Braudont, the Insurance Clerk, has set up a public-house near Shepherd's Bush, we believe, which he calls the Braudont Arms. He is, however, out-done on the same road by Stockdale, the Bookseller of Pall-Mall, who has got the "Stockdale Arms" emblatement on a sign-post at Bayswater.—These, however, are signs of the times.

A DOLESCENE may be assured that we must continue to ridicule hypartiel, of which there is not a more illustrious specimen in existence than the person be alludes to. Perhaps he never heard that his pet, previously to the pussing of the abolition act, sold all his own gang

The NATIONAL MUTUAL INSURANCE BENEFIT INSTITUTION shall

The NATIONAL INITIAL INSURANCE DESCRIPTION OF THE PEPPER, ADAM, LOONEY MACTWOLTER, GUY FAWERS, PETER PEPPER, J.T.B., Tom Six, P.B., a Member of the Alfred, and various other communications, have been received, but must stand over till next week.

We are obliged to the "CITIZEN OF LONDON," and will thank him for his communications. We are not in the slightest degree concerned with the Paper he alludes to, which, we believe, ceases to exist.

Miss Ellin W.'s invitation is highly flattering. We cannot quite chime in about the Yankees. She is a very pretty poet, and we have no doubt that, if she sent her verses to the object of them, he would write her a very civil answer.

The history of the Newmoton Rapicals is very well and clearly done, but they are really too little known to be interesting; if they were all hanged to-morrow, it would not excite a sensation, and ridicals would be wested upon persons so insignificant. We thank our friend for his kind communication.

If e beg G. R. to write again, and often.

D'Elba is too faurative: we like facts against Radicals, fun is

He beg G. R. to write again, and often.
DELBA is too figurative; we like facts against Radicals, fun is too good for them.
TRUTH does not write poetry over well.
It is represented to us that the Rwy. Mr. Todd, of Saint Helen's, Aurkland, in Derham, who choose to praise the late Qurky from the pulpit, has taken to enlogise Mr. Wilson from the same place.
Veritar must excuse our insertion of his long letter upon a recent execution—we are in possession of facts which prevent our conscientionally publishing such a pulliation.
A. W. cannot take a surer mode of carrying his point, than by furnishing us with the names of the parties conducting themselves as he describes.

as he describes.

If e thank T. R. W.—he is right.

We have received, and inserted, an explanation to-day about the He have received, and inserted, an explanation to-day about the Tall of Alderman Thorry, of Oxford; but we have a Talk, which exclusively applies to Alderman Thorry, of London, besides: at present, as the thing stands, we cannot publish it; but when our excellent correspondent T. will ascertaid whether the Alderman's kindness and protection are afforded in the character of Uncle, of Guardian, or of Friend, no ewill have the whole affair properly arranged, for the gratification of the Radicals.

She Claudius Stephen Hunter, Attorney at Law and Baronet, states of himself publicly, that he never read the Bible till after he had been Lord Mand of London; but that he has now taken to it is suber earnestness. We mention this as perhaps one of the most striking instances of the powerful effects of those excellent institutions called Bible Societies. To reclaim common people is nothing, but to redeem an Alderman, and sanctify an Altorney, are indeed things to brag of.

things to brag of.
We think a LAY-MAN is wrong, but we will enquire.

FITZ-ALFRED in our next.

G.G. is highly important—we should be glad to hear from him again on the same subject, as much will be wanting to meet the estion hereafter.

aging on the same supers, as man with a retained to meet the question hereafter.

Verbum Sat is thanked, but he is wrong about the article he purticularly alludes to; we can seriously assure him, that no change whatever has taken place, or is likely to take place—but we hold it to be but our duty to speak truly and impartially, and when we see any thing to praise, let it be where it may, we are as ready to give it our applause as we are on the other hand free to centure.

Matthew Muggins is a capital fellow—what took him to Bristol we cannot imagine; if he stay there a week or two we perhaps may see him. When his porm is decyphered (wh! the hand-writing of genius) he shall see it in a cleurer shape.

The history of the Habbit-breeding in Mr. Hurombe's younger days is droll, but, as we have before said, nobody knows the hero.

A correspondent, signing himself "Public Health," censures the loud knocks given by the servants of physicians when visiting their patients; it is hardly a subject of sufficient importance to have a place in Bull—not but there is some reason in our friend's observation.

place in Bull--not but there is some reason in our friend's observation. He are highly flattered by ELIZABETH's confession—(not our particular friend of that name)—we will enquire into the subject she verices upon.

Upon reflection, we think the letter of An Associate likely to create discussions as well avoided, and to give an appearance of schism, which would not be beneficial to the institution, and we think he will agree with us upon a re-consideration of the subject. In reply to Antews Justitia, we can only say, that the conduct of the illustrious Personage, whose name he mentions in the case al-

the masterious Tersonage, whose name he mentions in the case al-luded to, has been such as it ever is and everhas been—gracious, noble, and generous. He have no quarrel—(why should we?)—with the individual named, and do we consider it as a question of serious im-propriety—but, on the score of delicacy, we think it might have been avoided.

propriety—but, on the score of acucacy, we mink it might neve over accorded.

A meeting having been announced, in the Queen's Papers, as having been held in the Borough, to celebrate the anniversity of that unfortunate person's acquirtal, inou which day she was found guilty, we are requested to say, that William Denbeigh, Esquire, who presided, is a hearth-ray maker, living in an alley in Unionstreet; that Thomas Shellow, Esq. one of his supporters, is a night-man in Gravel-lane; and the other, W. Roberts, Esq. is a pumbroker, living near the Market. Their supper was bailed undroasted legs of mutton, and roasted beef only polators—their beverage gin and beer! What a state of degradation must radicalism have such to, when an assembly of this sort is recorded in the journals of the faction as complimentary to the memory of the injured Queen, and indicative of the prosperity of the cause.

Fabrelly, or the Black Apprentices, is under consideration.

Obthoods shall not want our aid and is fluence.

PRICE OF STOCKS AT THE CLOSE, SATURDAY.
There was little variation until Wednesday, Consols for the account being from 784 to 784, when a superabundance of Stock depreciated them to 774: prices have since had rather a tendency to improve, and left of this evening at 781, sellers. For the new account, which terminates the 16th January, bargains have been done at 784 and 782. The negociation of a Danish Loan, by Messrs. Haldimans, has attracted much interest, the outlines of which are, -- the amount is for £3,000,000 of Bonds, of which 1,500,000 are not to be issued till the commencement of 1825; £1,500,000 of which are now to be negociated in the form of Bonds, with coupons of interest, on a similar plan to the Prussian Bonds, in pounds sterling: the Dividends will be payable on the 1st January and 1st July, by Messrs. Gold shmidt and Co. The interest is secured upon the general revenues of Denniark. The price of these Bonds is 807 and 81. Spanish Bonds have sunk to 574. Prussian Bonds are steady at 851. By the last advices from Paris, their funds had a tendency to improve, Rentes being 89 85.

3 per Cent. Red. . . . . . 77‡ 3 per Cent. Consols. . . 78 Long Annuities

A Monday's Edition, containing the Latest News, the Stock

LIST, the LONDON MARKETS, and the STATE OF THE COUNTRY MARKETS by that Morning's Post, is published at Three o' Clock.

ANOTHER £30,000 AT NINE O'CLOCK NEXT TUES

JOHN BULL.

LONDON, NOVEMBER 18.

MANY months ago, when the Corporation of London voted MR. HENRY BROUGHAM the freedom of the City in a wooden box, as a testimony of their respect for his "integrity," and his " ardent attachment for the injured "Queen," we enjoyed a hearty laugh at that erudite body for their excessive simplicity, and laid before them the fact of his having offered to abandon her Majesty's cause for a silk gown and precedence: but, in a recent case, they have more lamentably exposed themselves, and, as if to add to their mortification, one of their own members has taken the trouble of " shewing them up."

It may be remembered, that amongst the last acts of the memorable Mayoralty of SQUIRE THORPE, was the presentation of the Freedom of London, in a GOLD box, to MR. JOSEPH HUME, as a mark of admiration for his talents, skill, assiduity, application, &c. &c. in the cause of retrench-

HUME, who fags like a cart-horse in this cause, was naturally elated, received the flattering testimonial (not that we believe he has yet fot the hox), and put it carefully away with his Aberdeen diploma, and encouraged by the reward he had met, set to work again with his clerks and his spies, and his runners and his grubbers, and the rest of his hangers-on, when all at once, up starts one of the identical body from which the poor fellow got his feather, and by a " plain tale, sets him down."

For HUME's accuracy we have always had the most unequivocal disrespect—for his talents the most sovereign contempt; but we were not prepared to find him so completely exposed-so satisfactorily ridiculed, as he had yesterday the satisfaction of being, by MR. CROCKER, A COM-MON COUNCILMAN OF THE CITY OF LONDON!

The OLD TIMES of Yesterday, published MR.CROCKER' letter. This took them some time to deliberate upon, and at last they decided—(having, doubtlessly, first shewn it to HUME)—that, as published it must be, they might as well have the credit of fairness, and admit it into their paper. To be sure they made a few comments upon it, which we shall not worry our readers by quoting, but sticking only to facts, lay before the public, the plain exposition of MR. HUME'S HUMBUG, with the detecting columns of pounds, shillings and pence.

The only leg HUME had to stand upon, was his skill in calculation, but (as BERESFORD would have said) " Incertæ sunt res Humanæ'-and the vain glory of plodding dullness has been dissipated like a suznmer's cloud, by the matter-of-fact statement of Mr. Jonathan Crocker, of WATLING-STREET.

MR. CROCKER, after defending himself against some scurrilous attacks of the TIMES, (his noticing which surprizes us) he proceeds to observe:-

"On the 4th July, 1820, Mr. Hume moved the following resolution in the House of Commons:-

"Resolved .- That the ordinary revenues of Great Britain were collected in the years 1796, 1810, and 1820, at the following rates:

Gross re-ceipts. | Charge of | Rates per | Rate per ceipts. | Manage-ment. | receipts. | 1810 1820 | 55,096,744 | 49,992,394 | 3,341,823 | 6 1 31 | 6 19 01 "It will be observed, that this resolution contains size columns of figures. I did not question the accuracy of the first four columns. They may be right or they may be wrong, but I did not dispute My observations went merely to show, that upon the face of the resolution itself, without reference to any other document there were certain errors in the two last columns, and particularly two very gross errors in the sixth column, containing the per cent-ages on the net receipts. These errors were as follows:—

£. s. d. £. s. d. £. £.

6 1 7 should be 5 15 10 difference on 1,174,525 is 58,391

6 19 03 6 13 84 3,341,823 is 134,208 Difference by two errors, on 4,516,348 is 192,799

"How those errors arose, it was no business of mine to inquire. It was sufficient that Mr. Hume had proposed trem t ADOPTED BY THE COMMONS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM. For that reason, I considered him, and do still consider him to be answerable for them, from whatever source they may have been derived. But as it is now asserted, that all Mr. Hume's calculations were extracted from certain official documents, I take upon myself todeny that assertion.

"I have recently examined these documents, and I say they not only do not support Ma. Huma's calculations, but, on the contrary, THEY SHOW MORE DISTINCTLY THAN EVER, THE NATURE AND EXTENT OF HIS ERRORS.

" lst. In ' Debrett's Parliamentary Register,' vol. 5, p. 35, &c. will be found the fourth report of the Committee of Finance, dated 19th of July, 1797, in which the nett receipt (not of the whole ordinary revenue of Great Britain, but) of the principal articles of revenue for 1796 is stated at 19,319,7421, the charge of management at 1,174,5551. and the per centage which such charge gives on such receipt at 61. 1s. 7d. is correct.

"But in the resolution proposed by Ma. Hunz, the net receipt is stated at 20,281,0171. the charge of management (as before) 1,174,5251. and the per centage (also as before) at 61. 1s. 7d. Thus, the same charge is said to give the same p.r centage on two sume, differing no less than 961,275l. in amount; and Mr. Hume's per centage, in order to be correct on the face of his resolution, should have been 51. 15s. 10d. instead of 61. 1s. 7d, Now the extent of this error, which is wholly and entirely Mr. Hume's, I calculate in the following way: - A charge of management at the rate stated by MR. HUME, of 61. 1s. 7d. per cent. on a receipt also stated by Ma. HUMB, 20,281,0171. would not give, as his resolution declares it to give, 1,174,5251. but 1,232,9161. leaving a difference of 58,3911. and this error of fifty-eight thousand three hundred and ninety-me counds appearing on the face of the resolution, I charge on Ma-HUME, not only as unsupported by, but AN DIRECTLY OFFICED TO. the official documents.

This-stupid as we believe HUME to be, seems to smatter more of intention than accident.

MR. CROCKER then proceeds:-

"2d. In the 'Finance Accounts of the United Kingdom for the Year ended 5th of January, 1820, laid before the House of Com-mons, and printed by their order, Table 2 contains, among others, the following statements:- Gross receipt within the year, 55,086,744 '(I exclude fractional parts of a peund); 'Total payments out of the gross revenue, 7,036,6731.;' which latter sum being deducted from the former, leaves a net remainder of 48,060,0711.; and the 'charges of management,' are stated at '3,341,8231., which charges give, on the net sum of 48,060,0711.; a per centage of '61. 19s. 04d.;' and accordingly such per centage is correctly stated in column 12 of this document. But Mr. Hume, in his resolution, instead of the proper sum of 48,060,0711. adopts, from column 11 of the same document, the sum of 49,992,3941.; and stating the charge of management (as before) at 3,341,8231., declares this charge to give on the said sum of 49,992,3941., a per centage of 61. 19s. 04d., in manifest opposition to the plainest rules of arithmetic. Here again the same charge is asserted to give the same per centage on two widely different sums; such difference amounting to no less than 1,902,3231.; and Mr. Hume's per centage (in order to be correct on the face of his resolution) should have been, not 61. 19s. 01d., but 61. 13s. 8td. The chargeof management on 49,992,3941., at 61.19s. Old., would, instead of 3,341,3231., be 3,476,0311. leaving an error in Mr. Hume's calcalation of no less than one hundred and thirty-four thousand two hundred and eight pounds. This error, I assert as before, is so far from being justified by the official documents, that it is in direct onpori ion to them.

"Thus have I shown, that on a sum of about finer millions and a half. Mr. Hume's errors ARE OF THE ENORMOUS MAG-NITUDE OF ONE HUNDRED AND NINETY-TWO THOU-SAND FIVE HUNDRED AND NINETY-NINE POUNDS. NOT ONE SHILLING OF WHICH IS BORNE OUT BY THE OFFICIAL DOCUMENTS.

As we have nothing to do with MR. CROCKER's quarrel with the TIMES newspaper, we are quite satisfied with this fact-which we again repeat, for the edification of those blockheads, who have voted MR. HUME a GOLD BOX; and which, we hope, when Joseph is quoted upon us as a match for financiers, to hear proclaimed through the Senate and the Exchange; that in a calculation of the comparatively trifling sum of FOUR MILLIONS AND A HALF, he committed a blunder in "casting up," of ONE HUNDERD AND NINETY-TWO THOUSAND, FIVE HUNDRED AND NINETY-NINE POUNDS!!! And had the impudence to arraign MINISTERS upon HIS OWN CALCULATION.

Poor Doctor-" Go to bed BASIL; it will do you a great deal of good."

In our last song of " The Beggars" we confessed, that-To Wilson's list, we wish'd success, because we hop'd, the money "Would come to the poor families of FRANCIS and of HONEY!" But our hopes are vain; and by the most extraordinary conduct in the world, on the part of WILSON's Committee, the families of these unhappy dupes of faction are excluded from all participation in the receipts of subscription.

Had this exclusion been resolved upon at first-or had the idea of affording relief to the two families out of the charitable contributions to Wilson, never been started, we should not have been surprised, because we (who do not profess to understand the grounds of the subscription at all) cannot perceive what claim the widows and child, or children, (if there be more than one) of two rioters, who were shot by the military in a popular disturbance, can have to share the fruits of a collection made to place a dismissed General Officer above the malice of Ministers.

MR. HENRY GREY BENNETT, it appears, thought otherwise; he recognized, it should seem, the same feelings for the good of the country—the same energy in her service—the same love of tranquillity and good order, in the conduct of the pedestrian rioters, who only pelted the Life-Guards with mud and brickbats, as he perceived, in the command of MR. WILSON to those Life-Guards, to disobey their officers; and that Honourable Gentleman, with feelings which were at once creditable to himself, and in the highest degree respectful to his friend MR. WILSON, proposed, (and it was agreed upon) that the other sufferers by their contributed to the Ex-General's charity.

This affair being arranged, little remained for the Committee of the FRANCIS and HONEY subscription, but to take their tythes, and appropriate them to the use of the widows and orphans; but whether from the true Radical feeling of contempt for the poor, (so gloriously evinced in the conduct of WILSON's friends to his old crony, MR. GALR JONES)-or from the genuine Whig love of money-or from a desire to avoid the incorporation of MESSRS, FRAN-CIS, HONEY, WILSON, and Co. as a firm, in the beggingtrade, we do not know; but we do know, that upon the application of the friends of FRANCIS and HONEY, for their share of the booty, they were repulsed with indignation, and have been unable to procure the least aid from MR. WILSON'S poor's box.

This has incensed the minor Radicals against the Radical Aristocracy, and we should not be surprized, if the prize-money is not divided according to MR. BENNETT'S suggestion, to hear of some disclosures which, if not very entertaining, will not fail to be very instructing.

LETTER IV.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR-I pledged myself in the outset of this correspondence, to lay before our countrymen the birth, parentage, and education (and, would to heaven I could add, the " last dying speech") of a faction, who having transfused their own personal feelings, and the bitter spirit of disappointed ambition, into the lifeless trunk of WHIGGISM, impudently assume to be the legitimate descendants and representatives of our great revolutionary patriots. But, if these men are disposed to trace their pedigree higher than the French revolutionists, they must ascend to the primitive source of Church and State reformers in the 17th Century. Yet, even from this claim of inheritance, the necessary deduction must be made of any pretence to legitimate motives, or even a semblance of religious zeal, which served to cloak the nakedness of wanton rebellion, and to qualify the charge against the Puritans and Roundheads, of a mere gratuitous hatred against our institutions in Church and State. They may justly claim to be the representatives and depositories of all the vices of these their genuine archetypes, without any of their redeeming virtues, which, in their incipient measures, at least partook of patriotic sincerity, and a genuine spirit of liberty.

A distempered zeal hurried them, indeed, into sanguinary excesses, which issued in the overthrow of the monarchy; but, even CROMWELL himself, never calculated, in cold-blooded policy, that the entire subversion of the state was to be effected as the harbinger of his own accession to sovereign power. The natural consequences of an inflammatory spirit pervading all ranks of society, first paved the way to his ambition, and he boldly advanced to remove the remaining obstacles to these ultimate views, which had, till then, been hidden even from himself. But his modern followers and disciples, fired by the example of his success, endeavour to create causes which have no existence in our times. They begin by labouring to corrupt the public mind, and by every species of artifice, trick, intrigue, and cabal, to excite disaffection towards the government; looking to avail themselves of whatever consequences may result, to gratify their thirst for power, and to lash the people themselves, who for thirty years have never raised their voices in their favour, except when acting subsidiary to their own mob Experience, and the improved state of society, has indeed rendered the task more difficult to the modern patriot; but we must not rely too much upon what we indolently term the good sense of the people, for we may be assured that WILKES, the child and champion of modern quackery and patriotism, had well calculated his means, when, with as much point as truth, he boasted that with the non-sense he would outvote and outfight the sense of the nation by ten to one. Under no form of government can the system, to which you so justly apply the term of humbug, be so successfully carried on, as that wherein the privileges of the governed are so extended as to defy all ordinary means of controul, whilst defined and impassable limits are prescribed to the governors: when the laws are all-powerful to repress encroachment on the part of the Crown, and powerless when opposed to the excesses and licentiousness of the people; in a word, under a system of perfect freedom, such as never existed in ancient or modern times, except in the solitary instance of the English Constitution.

Men are the creatures of habit, and the wisest amongst us as subject to prejudices as the most illiterate, and (which renders the case more hopeless) are disposed their self-complacency in the very act of committing themselves to the grossest errors. It is a curious fact, but one open to demonstration, that the system adopted by the French philosophers, for the overthrow of their social and political establishments, was so skilfully contrived, that whilst it eradicated all pre-conceived notions, and habitual bias towards sound principles, it riveted the chains of all those prejudices which bear upon the weak or baser passions of human nature. In proportion as they degenerated from all received notions of good, they called themselves LIBERAL, -and as they systematized and concentrated all that was base and malevolent, they proved themselves BIGOTS!

The scheme for inoculating Britain with French principles was established in Edinburgh, as I have before had occasion to observe; and to the Review, published there, disappointment, and soured by opposition to what they leaders of Whiggism, are attributable, almost exclusively, all those evils which have shaken society to its base, by condemning or relaxing the principles of attachment to our national institutions, under which our fathers gloried in the profession of loyalty—a term which, in its just acceptation, is as remote from servile adulation to the Prince, us it is from the mean, disgusting, and dishonourable courtship of the mob. It combines, no doubt, an affection to the person, with our veneration for the office of our Sovereign—but it includes a hearty attachment to our laws, our institutions, our country, and our liberty; and carries with it the consequent determination to see them maintained in all their vigour, power, and purity, against the machinations of all who would presume to invade

To root out this principle from the hearts of Englishmen, I repeat, was the object of the Scotch Encyclopædists, and their masters, the English Whigs; and the force of ridicule has been directed against our noblest feelings, with a cool and deliberate aim, quite sufficient to shew that it is not of English growth-nor to be traced to an English origin. The narrow genius of the Scotch Metaphysical School was congenial with the superficial reveries of the French philosophers. They had both proved their capacity for the work of destruction; but, as the world now perceives, to its cost, were utterly incompetent to originate any thing worthy to be substituted for that which they sacrificed: the difference of the soil, or to speak less figuratively, the essential superiority of the system of Government in this country over that of Old France, the weakness, which, in the hour of danger, betrayed the one, and the vigour which upheld the other, has occasioned the opposed results in the fate of each.

The Scotch Convention and the schemes of Palmer, Muir, and Gerald, for the direct overthrow of the Constitution, professedly, servilely, and vauntingly copied from their French archetypes, was quickly counteracted. The Whigs, however, availed themselves of this interposition on the part of Government, to stigmatize our rulers as tyrants, and began that wretched and debasing system of purchasing popular favour, by rewarding blasphemy and treason, and in the persons of these condemned traitors, they were represented as martyrs to liberty; and went into banishment amid the wailings and lamentations of the Whig patriots, and the Scotch philosophers. THEN it was discovered that the citadel was not to be taken by surprise; that a due reconnoissance must be taken—the advances gradually made, and all the details of a regular siege, by sap and mine, adonted.

Thus, the Edinburgh Review established by the rump of the Scotch convention, was warmed with life by the patronage of an English faction, who had openly subscribed to the sentiment, that "the French Revolution "was the most glorious monument of human reason." Never was conspiracy more regularly organized, or more skilfully carried on. The Morning Chronicle, which ranged under its banners at all periods, the Tirailleurs and Guerillas of sedition and treason. however humble or ephemeral, was the grand emporium for the deposit, and re-issue of the Scotch literary manufactures in a more free and familiar form; and lest the credulous portion of the public (a portentous majority) should be persuaded by the professions of Whigs and Whig sophisters, that they (innocent beings) without power, place, or emolument, have had no part or share in the evils and troubles which an irritated population have engendered, he it known, that at all times from the commencement—that is from the moment the French Revolution was in the hands of the Whigs to be made a means of bringing our own Constitution to the brink of destruction, down to the adoption of the late unhappy Queen's cause for the same purpose, the Whigs—not merely their regularly and well-paid hirelings, but the Whigs, from the highest to the lowest, Noble Lords and Honourable Members, have been the writers, the authors, the poets, the libellers and lampooners of Royalty and Loyalty-the Laws and the Religion of the Country in that journal. Nay, it is more than reported that one Noble and Learned Lord was the actual Editor during the period of the Queen's Humbug-and if it were necessary-or should I be dared to the proofsuch a list might be produced as would shew how far the professions of the Whigs are to be credited, when they assure the world how "deeply and intensely they feel the misery and deplore the existence of public commotions, which nothing but the weakness and corruption of Kings and Ministers could have engendered!"

They are, however, pretty well known, and their selfishness and appetence for office and emolument, have betrayed them beyond redemption to the lowest of the people. This is in itself an evil—because it tends to bring all public men into the same contempt, which nothing but such glaring corruption could have occasioned. It weakens the means of constitutionally opposing Ministers—whilst it destroys every barrier between the violent and ignorant outrages of the rabble, and the most sacred institutions of the country.

But it is to the more elevated orders of society that we must look for a remedy, among whom are too many who, proud of acting upon their own reason, in point of fact, never reason at all. It is to this description of persons that facts must be proved, before they can shake off prepossessions which are habitual to the most honourable minds, and whom it is difficult, and in truth most painful, to convince, that men of the highest rank and station in the country, who, individually, would disdain to be guilty of the least act of meanness or duplicity, involved by a common interest with knaves and adventurers, impelled by riotings should receive ONE-TENTH part of the whole sum I under the patronage of the disappointed and unprincipled 'consider their just claims, stoop to the lowest and most disgraceful schemes—to the encouragement of treason and blasphemy-to the propagation, not only of misrepresentations and exaggerations, but of downright fabricated falsehoods, to promote their interests and holster up their cause.

Honest men, I say, will not credit these things upon mere assertion, and we must not be sacrificed to the incredulity even of honest men. You, Sir, have commenced a career new to the country, and have manfully and invincibly withstood this host, who have applied the tortures of the Inquisition as the means of frightening you into a surrender. You have dared to speak TRUTH, which, for the last twenty years has not been heard through the British Press. Your great predecessor, the Anti-jacobin, penetrated into the recesses of Jacobin infamy, upheld in its darkest periods by the Whigs, and fostered by that veteran sinner, the Chronicle. Continue to do so, and to open your columns to the supporters of truth, and in a short period, men who have been taught to blunk hears have been taught to blunk hears have been taught to be the supporters of the supporters of truth. have been taught to blush, because, being Loyalists, they were stigmatized as Tories and bigots, shall resent as an insult (which actually happened after the total defeat of Jacobinism) the imputation of being a WHIG.—I am, Sir, yours,

PAUL POTTER.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR—Having been frequently put to the blush by hearing very modest young ladies, without a blush (from their ignorance no doubt) warbling forth the amatory effusions of MR. TEOMAS MOORE, under the title of " Irish Melo-I have been induced to purify some of the especial favourites of his meretricious muse from their grossness, and to convey, through the medium of his exquisite melodies, a moral, which, I fear, was not intended by this middles, a moral which was not intended by this middles. niature poet. I enclose you a specimen, which you will at once perceive is wholly divested of its native licentiousness; and from being one of the grossest insults ever offered to modest ears, is converted into a means of contributing to the harmless amusement of a party, whose morality is at all times as conspicuous as their patriotism.

Fly not yet, 'tis just the hour When treason, like the midnight flower, That dreads detection and the light, Begins to bloom for sons of night, And damsels of the moo 'Twas but to bless these hours of shade That WAITHMAN and the moon were made: 'Tis then the torch of faction glowing, Sets the Draper's tongue a going! Oh, stay!—oh, stay! Wilson, flush with Whig arrears, No credit asks—but oh he swears
He will not quit us soon.

Ply not yet-the hoax was play'd. In times of old through Cock-lane shade, Though snug in covert all the day, (Like friends of ours) it rose to play, And scratch when night was near. And thus should patriots' hearts and looks At noon be dark as Cockney Brooks! Nor venture out, 'till nightly sotting Brings the genial hour for plotting! Oh, stay !--oh, stay ! When did Hobnouse ever speak, And find so many eyes awake

As those that twinkle here!

The Chronicle of yesterday has a letter about the Greeks, signed S. T. which is the production of some wag, (perhaps their Dumbar Correspondent)—which begs to have a line addressed to the writer at the "bar of the Cannon Coffee-House, Charing-cross"—any body who could look strait, would have known that there is no such Coffee. However now comp

The Herald of yesterday, gravely informs us, that the Duke of Wellington left town on Friday, for Hertfordshire, on the Marquess and Marchioness of Salibbury.—We remember, the late Mr. Astley performed on two horses at once, in a similar manner; but we believe it is the first time the noble blood of the Cecils has been downed to carry weight.

int we believe it is the first time the noble blood of the Creits has been doomed to carry weight.

The Chronicle of Friday insinuates something about a Pamphlet concerning Buonaparte, which we never saw; and although the driveller dare not speak out and call us John Bull at once, seems to infer that we know something about it, because it happenato have been in the window of a shop where our paper is sold in Fleet Street. We distinctly disavow any connexion with the things which may appear in that place; nor have we any controul over, or interest in the shop, other than as our paper is to be purchased there.

On Friday, the King held a Court at his Palace, in Pall Mall, to receive the Addresses of the Lord Mayor and Corporation of the Cabinet Ministers, he was not able to receive the Addresses till near five o'clock; when the Lord Mayor, Court of aldermen, and their officers, approached the King, making their obeisance, when Sir John Silvester, the Recorder, read the Addresses of the Court.

—The Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Officers, were most graciously received, and had the honour to kiss His Majesty's band.

The King was approached to return the following them.

most graciously received, and had the honour to kiss riss majesty's hand.

The King was graciously pleased to return the following Answer to the Addresses:—"I receive with the utmost satisfaction this testimony of your feelings upon my safe return to my native country. Highly gratified as I am by the sentiments of loyalty and affection which have been manifested in those parts of my dominions which I have recently visited, I am perfectly convinced that the same spirit animates the Citizens of London, and all classes of my faithful people throughout the British dominions. You may be fully assured of my determination to maintain inviolate all your rights and privileges, and of the ardent solicitude which I shall ever feel for your welfare and prosperity.

The King afterwards called the Lord Mayor to him, and very condescendingly and graciously apologised for detaining the deputation, observing, "I trust, my Lord, that the Corporation of the City of London will excuse my detaining them. I much regret the circumstance, and assure you that nothing but the most important and pressing business prevented me from receiving you exactly at the time appointed." His Maiesty also very graciously regreticated circumstance, and assure you that nothing but the most important and pressing business prevented me from receiving you exactly at the time appointed." His Majesty also very graciously regretted that it had not been in his power to dine with the Corporation on Lord Mayor's Day.

The Army.—The 86th Regiment, which embarked in four vessels on Thursday, the 8th inst., from Bristol, arrived at Waterford, after a fine passage of 30 hours.—The Loyal Briton and Brilliant transports, with the first division of the 91st Regiment on board, sailed from Greenock the 10th inst. for Jamaica.

The Earl of Wicklow was elected, on Friday se'nnight, a representative Peer of Ireland, in the room of the late Earl of Roden.

We are truly concerned to state, that a most serious accident befell Mr. Wontner, the City Marshal, on Friday, as that gentleman was attending the procession of the Corporation with the Addresses to his Majesty. The horse on which he rode (a hired one) reared up, threw him, and fell on him, by which his leg was broken; he was carried into a shop near, and from thence conveyed to his house in Bunhill-row, where Sir Wm. Blizard and Mr. Norris, the surgeons, attended him. They endeavoured to reduce the fracture, which could not be effected, and amputation, of course, was re-orted to. Mr. Wontner is going on favourably.

THEATRE.

AFTER the play of the EXILE, at COVENT GARDEN THEATRE, On Saturday, was produced, a Farce, called the "VENISON PASTY."

Before we proceed to make any remark upon this piece we would inquire why MR. LISTON did not perform his part in the play? Indisposition could not be pleaded; for we saw him in the afterpiece, trying his utmost to be co-mical; and an ill disposition to do his duty to the public, by appearing for their amusement, in characters written for him, and to which he has given a value, is at least un-gracious in an actor, not to call it disrespectful.

MR. MEADOWS was MR. LISTON's substitute, in the COUNT, and one would really suppose, that substitutes for good actors, were furnished like substitutes for the militia, where every man who was strait in his limbs, able to bear arms, and willing to take forty shillings, was forthwith enlisted without further inquiry. We have no objection to MR. MEADOWS; but, looking at him as a substitute for MR. LISTON, we should as soon be satisfied with seeing MR. KEAN instead of Young, or MR. GATTIB vice

The Farce of the "VENISON PASTY" was decidedly and unequivocally condemned, and most deservedly so. have not heard who the author is, and the chances are that we never may; but we are quite sure, upon whom the censure of the town must fall for having produced it.

In an age, when, spite of all the declaration of mob orators, the quackery of mountebanks at Methodistical meeting, the moral character of the English people stands higher than it ever did; when the most scrupulous refine-ment characterizes general conversation, and an indelicate expression, and an oath are perfectly strangers to decent society, it is certainly most extraordinary to find such a piece admitted to the public eye as the "VENISON PASTY."

The brilliant wit of CONGREVE—the rich humour of FARQUHAR themselves, are unable, in these days, to countervail the licentiousness of their writings; -we are even debarred from the enjoyment of some of the best comedies and unfortunately so intermingled are the bright sallies of genius with impurity of thought, that it has been hitherto held impossible to senerate them or get vide of the serious beld impossible to senerate them. held impossible to separate them, or get rid of the one, without entirely destroying the force of the other and thus the stage is shut against them.

But, in this new piece, it appeared that the author had at length succeeded in this process; for it seemed as if, with the greatest care, he had preserved for the public ear, all the indecencies -- all the grossnesses of thought and expression, of the old authors, without retaining the smallest particle of their wit or humour. Should this have been the case, and the gentleman write again for the stage, perhaps his next farce may contain all the brilliancy and vivacity which are absent from this, and be free from the nauseous filth which pervades it from the beginning to the end.

But, however much we must blame the managers for the production of this farce, there is another quarter, to which censure more seriously attaches—we mean the LORD CHAMBERTAIN'S Office. We have had occasion, during the last year or two, to notice a strange remissness in the department of the licenser of plays, as to political allusions, and revolutionary sentiments, which have frequently occurred in the patriotic tragedies which have of late been produced. and which ought never to have passed the licencer; but putting politics out of the question, public morals are decidedly to be considered before the visa of the CHAMBER-LAIM'S Office is put to any dramatic work; and we have no hesitation in saying, that if the officer of His MAJESTY'S Household, whoever he may be, to whose share the duty of reading plays falls, had executed that duty properly and efficiently, our wives and daughters would have been spared the blushes which were excited on Saturday night, by the performance of the "VENISON PASTY," and the actresses relieved from the painful office of uttering words and sentiments, which we hope they had studied only for the occasion, and which it was distressing to think they could of a possibility understand.

LISTON did his all, and ate heartily. BLANCHARD and JONES were equally zealous. MRS. GIBBS looked sweetly: and poor MRS. CHATTERLY, tremblingly alive to the sort of part she had to act, was more than ever interesting to us. Why she disguised herself, as she did, with the most awkward mff we ever saw, we leave to those who have the pleasure of her acquaintance to enquire—it had the effect of giving a heaviness to a remarkably animated countenance, and a clumsiness to one of the prettiest figures on

On Tuesday, TWELFTH NIGHT was performed, and MISS TREE re-appeared in VIOLA, after a long absence from her professional avocations. Interesting as this sweet girl always is, we are sorry to say that our interest was even more than usually excited by seeing that she still la-bours under the effects of her long and tedious indisposition. She played VIOLA beautifully. There is a natural delicacy of manner and a sensitiveness about her, which makes her acting quite delightful, and, as we all know, her singing is still less equivocally excellent. Her spirits were so much affected by her return to the stage, and perhaps by the enthusiastic reception she met with, that she was unable to sing her last song, and an apology was made for her by ARROTT. The play went off remarkably well, and we trust that, having once broken the ice, the heroine of the evening will daily increase in health and confidence, and that we may again enjoy the pleasure of seeing and hearing her, unalloyed by the apprehension of annoying or distressing her.

A MISS BAKEWELL made her appearance in MRs. HAL-LER. Not being able to commend, we shall merely observe, that she is inferior to MRS. BRUDENELL, the last debutante in the same character, and therefore we think no good can come of engaging her.

MR. KEAN, "the rejected of Yankees," has again entered the lists, and on Monday played RICHARD THE THIRD. The first grand fault of MR. KEAN is, that he has not mind or intelligence enough to understand his author; so that even if he had a good person or a tolerable voice, his physical qualities would be entirely thrown away, because his mental powers would not be adequate to a proper command of them.

MR. KEAN has about as clear an idea of acting the scene | the lovers of the genuine drama within its classic walls, with LADY ANNE, as LAMBTON has of the British Constitution. When he was a supernumerary at the Little Hay-market, in COLMAN'S good old days, when people went to laugh, and came away satisfied, KEAN saw COOKE act the seems in question, and as COOKE was then the RICHARD of the galleries, KEAN thought it must be right, and copied it. But if KEAN, who makes the Gods giggle at the absurdity of his grimaces, and the caricature of his affection, be correct, what an illustrious ass the LADY ANNE must have been to have been deceived by him. COOKE's IAGO had the same fault; he was so decidedly a villain, and so decidedly imposing upon OTHELLO, that nothing but the rankest stupidity could have mistaken his design. The scoundrel who, for his own base ends, would awaken the jealousy of a fond husband, must, to succeed, be plausible, "seem fair and honest," at all events. Who upon earth would listen to a fellow who was wriggling and croaking, and leering and whispering, and shaking his finger in a corner, and making a buffoon of himself during a serious conversation? JOHN PALMER was the best IAGO we remember, for the very reason that his air, his countenance, his person, his manner-all bespoke fairness, and nothing appeared until he was alone with the audience to indicate the real blackmess of his heart. But we are talking of things of forty years standing.

KBAN's OTHELLO is perhaps the consummation of absurdity; he is, in truth, the thing QUIN said GARRICK resembled—"Give him the tea-kettle and lamp, and he is "HOGARTH'S black boy in the Harlot's Progress." His thresome repetitions to "make effects"—his affectation when trying to be natural—in short, his whole performance of the character is one tissue of HUMBUG, which nobody would or could have borne, had not the" Gentlemen of the Press," upon their reconciliation with WHITBREAD, (who refused to give them what, we believe, is called the "freedom" of the house, and who afterwards was silly enough to truckle to them), undertaken, as the price of their free admission, to puff off, as a fine actor, a man without person, voice, intellect, or understanding, or any one requisite for the stage. Thus it is that London is led; and because half a dozen worthies choose, at their ale-houses or in their garrets, over their glasses of punch or their bread and cheese, and porter, to tell the good easy public that a thing is fine which is execrable—that an actor who deserves to be hooted is a Roscius—that every body goes to a place which is deserted—or that a work is highly popular which nobody ever heard of, poor John Bull takes it all for gospel, and sits, and sits again, with his wife and daughters, night after night, to applaud acting, which, if he had met with it at Dunstable, or Bolton-in-the-Moors, (without the preparation of puffing), he would have ridiculed, condemned, and despised.

However, not relying too much upon MR. KEAN (for quackery must be exploded sooner or later) MR. Ellis-TON has produced more novelty. A Play, called "LOST LIFE," (which might have with equal propriety been called, Lost Time) has made its appearance at Drury Lane

There are a great number of characters in the Dramatis Persone, perhaps they might be more aptly called carica-tures. They have, however, the quality of embracing all the talent the house affords; which, to be sure, with the exception of Munden and Knight, is not very brilliant.

The plot of this play is taken from a very ingenious little French novellette. The French novel, however, is more humourous, and the incidents infinitely droller, which is not at all surprising, because from the nature of the drawn time. of the dramatic denouement, the moment the female appears, all mystery ceases, whereas in the narrative, the reader goes on with the one heroine in her three different characters, and does not discover till the very last moment, that she is the object of the admiration of several suitors.

The best character of the play is DAFFODIL, in this the author has successfully enough ridiculed the cockney school of Poetry; but we should suppose he will be made to smart for it in this day's EXAMINER (at least if that paper is still published). No one can be at a loss to fix DAFFODIL, and we should think that if MR. MONCRIEFP escapes the visitation of the shade of MR. JOHN KEATS, he will not avoid the living anger of HIS MAJESTY of Cockaigne, which doubtless will be vented upon him in the important Gazette of that muddy kingdom.

MRS. EDWIN (perhaps it is no compliment) looked the milliner of Cranbourne-alley admirably; she is a very smart and bustling actress. We would suggest, that the extraordinary pumping noise, which she makes in speaking, however soothing to passengers, in the safety valve of a steam packet, is by no means an agreeable accompaniment to the delivery of language; nor is it more necessary to say, "deeear Sir," in speaking to a man, than it is to add (as they did in the old ballads) A, to the end of every word. What should we think of a lady in common life who told us, "it was a becautiful day—a—on Thursday last "—a?" We should think her a much sillier person than we take MRS. EDWIN to be. The truth is, that MRS. JORDAN (with the most melodious voice in the world) occasionally emphasized her words strongly, and all those who emulate her excellence, think they shall attain to it by catching her peculiarities; as every would-be tragedian since the days of COOKE, grunts half of his speech, whispers the other half, and shakes his finger at the end of it, when he means to be impressive.

We believe, MR. MONCRIEFF, the author of LOST LIFE, committed the sin called GIOVANNI in LONDON, for which we never can forgive him, (perhaps, we are nearly as angry with the fascinating VESTRIS for making it popular,) but we are glad to see that his talents may be turned to better things. "LOST LIFE" is not so good a comedy as REYNOLDS would write, nor does it pretend to a regular place in the drama; but it has fun about it, it is impro-bable, outré ridiculous, and rather vulgar, but amusing, and though, perhaps, better suited to the Olympic Theatre than Drury Lane, it succeeded perfectly well.

The Olympic, by the way, appears to be a sort of hospital for the sick from the Little Haymarket; it is a satisfactory thing at all events to find, that after all the forcing and bolstering of that mis-managed Theatre, the rare talents which were culled from all parts of the Empire to gratify | planation of the person alluded to.

have at length found their level, and settled themselves comfortably at a tumbling place in Wych-street.

It is very barbarous to be hard upon Minor Theatres, every man has a right to get his bread if he can. Why should there be a monopoly of dramatic amusements, &c. &c.? So say half a dozen of our correspondents this week. One vindicates the Tottenham-street Theatre, from the sweeping censure we hestowed upon it in comparing it with LADY MORGAN'S nonsense about ITALY, and says the manager has done much in reviving the Greek Drama.

Upon this we looked at the bills of the West London, alias the Regency, alias the Tottenham-street Theatre; and there sure enough we found EDIPUS placarded for representation, not in vulgar common place Roman capitals such as Covent Garden uses, but in the real Greek characters Own aug.

Delighted with this refinement, we cast our eye downwards to see what the other performances for the evening were, and found to our infinite joy, two plays announced under the titles, one of "MISANTROPHY," and the other of "SE-PERATION;" at which, we burst into an immoderate at of laughter. To find bad spelling in a Minor Theatre is no very wonderful thing, but to see only two English words conspicuous in the same bill with a flourish of Greek, and to see both of them mis-spelt was more than we could have anticipated even from the ignorance of such people as we conclude the managers of Tottenham-street to be, (never forgetting that one of the words is purely of Greek derivation), and we must say, that it affords another proof of the justness of that reprobation which we feel it our duty to give to these scenes of grovelling duncishness and ignorant immorality.

We find that MR. MURRAY, who was for many years an actor on the Covent Garden boards, died at Edinburgh on the 8th instant. He was the son of SIR JOHN MURRAY, Bart. of Broughton, secretary to the Pretender, in the rebellion of 1745, who, after the final ruin of the cause, retired to Cheshunt, in Hertfordshire, where, in the year 1754, the late MR. MURRAY was born. Under the immediate guardianship of his father, he received a classical education cation, and was at a proper season sent into France, to perfect himself in the language of that country. Being designed for the medical profession, he was, on his return from the Continent, placed with a practitioner of eminence, and entered into the sea service, as a surgeon, in which capacity he made several voyages. Being tired of his calling, he entered into an engagement with Mr. TATE WILLIAM and made his first appearance on the sterm at Vork kinson, and made his first appearance on the stage at York, in 1775, in the character of Carlos, in the For's Fortune. Thence he went to Norwich, and afterwards to Bath. He subsequently entered into an engagement at Covent Garden Theatre, where he appeared in 1797.

MR. MURRAY has left a son and a daughter; the latter (MRS. HENRY SIDDONS) is the present proprietor of the Edinburgh Theatre, where her brother, MR. WM. MUR-RAY, is the acting manager.

TO JOHN BULL.

DEAR JOHN—An old inhabitant of the parish of St. George, Hanover-square, would feel greatly ebliged to one of your correspondents, who he knows can explain the mystery, if he would inform him why the said parish, the most opulent and respectable in London, as far as its inhabitants are concerned, is worse lighted, watched, paved, and watered than any other in the metropolis. The streets of the surrounding districts are so well illuminated, that, upon entering those of this parish, the few dim lamps sparingly scattered through the streets serve only to make darkness visible, and night hideous. Street robbers and housebreakers pursue their occupation without molestation; and Bond-street, Albemarle-street, and Dover-street are so beset with prostitutes of the lowest species, that I am kept away from a club, to which I belong, in one of those streets, by the danger and nuisance of encountering the vermin which infest it.

The watchmen, except in the early part of the night, are either off their beat, or asleep in their boxes; and the foot pavement, though lately a little repaired, is still in many places in such a dangerous state as scarcely to be pussable in broad day-light. My Lords of the Vestry cannot, I understand, bear the smell of gas. Let them then light their streets with oil. The police of London wants your wholesome reproof and chastisement; but what can we expect when the very seat of the nobility is the centre of the greatest nuisances.

Pray, Sir, be kind enough to do something towards ameliorating our condition.—Yours,

A. O. P.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR—I was much hurt at seeing any part of the columns of your truly valuable paper contaminated with an epistle from the ex-gaoler of lichester, whose character you must be unacquainted with, or you would not have inscrted it. I beg to inform you of the following fact, namely, that this said quondam gaoler, was the principal, in collusion with Hunt, though privately, of calling a meeting of the inhabitants of lichester, to present an address to her late Majesty, and actually took up to London, with himself, one of deputation appointed to present this ever memorable specimen of radicalism, as an assistant, with a coach load of convicts, destined for Botany Bay.

The other person forming this notable deputation, followed the next day as an assistant to the principal turnkey, with a second load of convicts. By these means, you see, this very gauler contrived that the County of Somerset should be at the expence of sending a deputation to the then Queen, from one of the most venal Boroughs in England.

Detesting, as I do, the political principles of Hunt, I do not believe him capable of practising so much hypocrisy as this said ex-gaoler of Ilchester .- I am, sir, your obedient, humble servant, Ilchester, Nov. 4th, 1821.

As we have no wish, in the conduct of BULL, to do any thing but promote the ends of truth and justice impartially, we insert this letter, leaving it open to the reply or ex-

Thurt at an answer which appeared in second and a state of the second as a fact, that MR. ALDERMAN THORPE of this city, has a tail. I can assure you, upon the best authority, that you have been misinformed; and I shall really feel much obliged to you, as friend of that continuents if you will take a scale of the continuents. a friend of that gentleman's, if you will take an early opportunity (without noticing this communication) to retract your statement. The real fact is (between ourselves, Sir,) that it was very skilfully cut off, at an early period of the Alderman's life, by (I believe) that justly celebrated anatomist, JOHR IRELAND, Esq. and by him preserved in spirits among other valuable preparations, in our anatomical school, for the inspection of the curious. You see, therefore, Sir, you may safely deay his having any tail at present, for it may be said, more properly, to belong to JOHN IRBLAND, ESQ.; and there is little probability of its having any tail at present of the said. ing sprouted again.

Do not imagine that I am the worthy Alderman himself, or write under his influence. I am, really and truly, although a sincere friend to that gentleman, at your service to command.

JOHN STOTT.

St. Aldates, Oxford, Nov. 13, 1821.

TO JOHN BULL

DEAR JOHN—I should feel much obliged, if some one of your numerous correspondents could inform me whether George Weatherstone, Esquire, the Chairman of that gal lant, independent, and much injured knight, Sir Robert Wilson's Subscription Committee, is the identical George Weatherstone, who shortly after the intelligence of the victory had arrived in this country, made the following patriotic declaration before a public company at the King's Arms Tavern in the Borough:—" That he wished we had lost the Battle of Waterloo, and that double the number of " the whole British Army had been destroyed there;" for which genuine expression of true English feeling, the company, although they did not actually turn him out of the room, unanimously sent him to Coventry, not one of them. however they might differ in party politics, condescending to speak to him afterwards. If it should turn out that it is one and the same individual, no one I think will be disposed to deny the fitness of such a man, to preside at a meeting, the professed object of which, was to place the starless knight, above the reach of "ministerial vengeance."—I remain, dear John, your admirer and well wisher, London, 5th November, 1921.

TO JOHN BULL.

A BROTHER BULL

SIR-I have taken in your Journal ever since Mr. BROUGHAM told us in these parts that it was not fit to be read, and though some of my neighbours were rather shy of it at first, because that gentleman had protested against it on account of its immorality, they were soon convinced, after reading a few numbers, how justly entitled that honourable candidate, for their suffrages, was to give an opinion upon the subject. Partial, however, as I acknowledged myself to be to you, my good Sir, I am not prepared to anticipate such high academical honours for you, as I and you have so justly obtained according to the statement recorded in all the journals of the empire—and spread by this time over half Europe .—

"Oxford.—On Monday se'nnight, the following degrees were conferred:—Buchelor in Divinity, Rev. John Bull, student of Christ Church," &c.

We are mostly Cantabs in this quarter, and fearing that there might be some mistake in the business, I applied to our Brazennose Curate, who appears to be well acquainted with you, and has resolved all my doubts by informing me that you hold the high official situation of College CENSOR! -I am, Sir, yours, Ambleside, Nov. 11, 1821. GREY GOOSETHWAITE,

MISCELLANEOUS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The King's Court.—On Wednesday, at three o'clock, his Majesty held a Court at his Palace in Pall-mall, which was attended by the Lord Chancellor, the Lord President of the Council, the Lord Privy Seal, the First Lord of the Treasury, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Secretaries of State for the Home, Foreign, and Cotomal Departments, the First Lord of the 'Admiratry,' the Master-General of the Ordnance, the President of the Board of Trade, the Lord Steward, the Lord Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench, &c. Sir Hudson Lowe was presented to his Majesty, on his return from the Government of St. Helena. Sir T. Hislop, Commander-in-Chief at Madras, was presented, on his return to England. Baron Nicolai, the Russian Charge d'Affairs, was introduced to his Majesty by the Marquis of Londonderry, previous to his leaving England.

On Thursday, at two o'clock, his Majesty held a Court, at his Palace in Pall-mall, which was attended by the Lord Chancellor, the President of the Council, the Lord Privy Seal, the First Lord of the Treasury, the Secretaries of State for the Home and Foreign Departments, the First Lord of the Admiralty, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Master-General of the Ordnance, the President of the Board of Trade, the Lord Steward, the Lord Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench, &c. His Majesty gave audiences to the Earl of Liverpool, Viscount Sidmouth, and the Marquis of Cholmondeley; also the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex (Alderman Garratt and Alderman Venables.) His Majesty held a Council also, at which the Recorder of London was admitted, and made his Report of the Convicts capitally convicted at the September Sessions, held at the Old Bailey.

Great preparations are making at Buckingham House, for the King's reception. It is said that His Majesty will reside there on Sessions, held at the Old Bailey.

Great preparations are making at Buckingham House, for the King's reception. It is said that His Majesty will reside there on his return to town. It is not expected that His Majesty will leave town for Brighton before to-morrow.

St. James's Palace: Great improvements are making in St. James's Palace: the new grand stone stair-case leading to the drawing-room, is nearly completed. It is, we understand, intended to pull down the whole of the buildings in front of the Court-yard, between the tower at the bottom of St. James's and Marlborough-house wall; the space is to be inclosed with iron railing, and a gate will be opened to communicate with St. James's Park, instead of passing through the Stable-yard.

There is to be a splendid ball at the Pavilion at Brighton, at Christmas. After which, the Domestics of the Royal Household will be graciously permitted to invite their friends on different evenings, according to their rank.

A very numerous and respectable meeting of the inhabitants was ings, according to their rank.

A very numerous and respectable meeting of the inhabitants was held at the Old Ship Tavern, Brighton, on Wednesday, to consider the best and most respectful manner to welcome our beloved King, on his arrival at the Pavilion, the first time since his return from the Continent, when it was unanimously resolved, that a loyal, dutiful, and affectionate Address should be prepared and presented to his Most Gracious Majesty.

The Right Hon. George Canning had a long interview on Wednesday morning, with the Earl of Liverpool, at Fife House.

Wednesday a Court of Directors was held at the East India House, when Captain Chrystic was sworn into the command of the ship Thomas Coutts, consigned to Madras and China.

A Court of Aldermen was held on Tuesday at Guildhall, to consider of an Address of Congratulation to His Majesty on his arrival in his British dominions, at which the Lord Mayor, 13 Aldermen, the Sheriffs, and City officers were present, when an address was unanimously agreed to; and the Sheriffs, attended by the Remembrancer, directed to wait on his Majesty to knew his royal will and pleasure when the Court should attend with the same?

Oxford, Nov. 10.—The Hon. Arthur Philip Perceval, and Simon Taylor, B.A. of Oriel coll.; Charles Douglas Beckford, B.A. of Brasennose coll.; the Hon. John Duncan Bligh, B.A. and Henry Duncombe, of Christ church, are elected Fellows of All Souls' college.—The following 'degrees have been conferred:—Bachelor in Divinity—The Rev. John Bull, student of Christ church.—Bachelors of Arts—Hugh Dyke Acland, Esq. St. Mary hall; Hon. John Duncan Bligh, Edw. Berkeley Portman, and George Inge, Christ church.—The Rev. George Robert Gleig, B.A. of Magdalen hall, admitted Master of Arts.

Cambridge, Nov. 16.—Dr. John Clarke Whitfeld, organist of Hereford Cathedral, elected Professor of Music in this University, in the room of the late Dr. Hague.—The subject of the Norrisian Prize Essay for the present year is—The internal Roidence of the Divine Origin of the Christian Religion.

Hunting Intelligence.—The Chipperfield Harriers (Herts) meet to-morrow, at Latimer's Bottom, opposite Lord G. Cavendish's Park; Friday, at the kennel; at ten each day. Whenever the state of the weather will not allow of hunting on the regular days, the hounds will go out on the Wednesday following, and always meet at the kennel:—Mr. Chaworth's Hounds meet to-morrow, at Brampton Wood; Wednesday, at Lamport; Thursday, at the kennel;—Mr. Chaworth's Hounds meet to-morrow, at Brampton Wood; Wednesday, at Lamport; Thursday, at Birdbrook Park; Thursday, at Withersfield Gate; at half-past ten.—Mr. Maberly has sold off his Fox Hounds, and breken up his stud at Croydon.

stud at Croydon.

ACCIDENTS, OFFENCES, &c.

ACCIDENTS, OFFENCES, &c.

Robberges.—On Sunday night, the house of Mr. Hawkins, Blackfriars'-road, was entered by means of pick-lock keys, and robbed of property of near two hundred pounds value.—The house of Mr. Hosketh, South-street, Walworth, was robbed on the same night of linen, paparel, and other property.—On the preceding night, the Welsh Chapel in Little Guilford-street, Southwark, was broke into (for the third time within a short period), all the locks of the cupboards were forced, and the clock, and other property carried off.

Mr. Shaw, of Upper St. Martin's lane, was attacked on his way from town, in his chaise-cart, by three men, who robbed him of his pocket-book, containing three sovereigns and a one-pound note. The men were armed with bludgeons.

Monday night, two young men of dashing exterior obtained lodging at the Globe Tayern, Blackheath. They retired to rest at an early bour, having previously paid for their beds; and on the servant's going up next morning to call them to breakfast, it was discovered that they had decamped, and carried off with them apparel and money to the amount of 1001. from the ratiom in which they slept and an adjoining one on the same night.

A few nights since, Stracey, an old man, in the employ of Mr. Bateman, of Bunhill-row, was attacked by a gang of ruffians, and dragged into Lamb's-passage, near his master's house, and robbed of a bag containing 260 ounces of silver, which he was conveying home from Goldsmith's-hall; his head was dreaffully fractured; whilst the villains were beating him, one of them exclaimed, "d—n his ——eyes, cook (kill) him, and we are safe."

On Monday night, as a carpenter was passing along Cross-street, Islington, by the door of Dr. Clifton, he found upon the steps of the door an infant child, apparently just born, in a state of perfect nudity. He wrapped the infant in his apron and carried it to Islington workhouse. On its arrival there, though it had nearly bled to death for want of proper assistance, yet signs of life remained, and medica was killed on the spot.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—The following inquest has been taken at the King's-arms, Great Bath-street, Clerkenwell, on Thomas Hinde, who was in distressed circumstances, which so affected his mind, that he threw himselfout of the window.—Verdict—Instanty.

mind, that he threw himself out of the window.—Verdict.—Insanity.

IN SIX EASY LESSONS OF ONE HOUR EACH.....Mr. C. BRADBURY, Private Tutor at Westminster Schoo', solicits the attention of Laddes and Gentlemen to his unrivalled and infallible system of beautiful PENMANBHIP; whereby he pledges himself to teach persons of all ages to write with ease, elegance, and expedition, (whatevor may be the deformity of their present writing) in six regular Lessons, or he will forfeit all claim to remuneration. This system, as it equally promotes the attainment of a bold and masculine hand calculated for business, and of a light and graceful manuscript adapted to Laddes; also secures to the Pupil the certainty of writing straight, without lines, with wonderful dispatch and accuracy. Upwards of two thousand specimens, and numerous resommendatory letters may be seen, and references given to persons of the first distinction, some of whom are upwards of fafty years of age.—Private tuition at home. Laddes and Gentlemenatisedded at their own residences. A new and practical system of Short Hand, taught in a few lessons.—Apply, (or direct, post paid) at the Academy, 464, Strand, near Charing Cross.

BY THE KING'S PATENT.

CHANGE of RESIDENCE induces the Patentee to acquaint the Nobility and Gentry, that in consequence of the counterfeits under the same name, he has confined the sale to such respectable houses (only) who deal in genuine articles. The PATENT VIOLET SOAP having a decided preference, both as a washing and shaving Soap, for its eleasning, beautifying, softening, and balsamic properties on the skin, that it was in consequence of these light mable qualities His Majesty granted his Letter Patent. It should invariably, e asked for as "Rill's Patent Violet Soap." It is sold in squares at 26, 6d, and 1s. 6d, and in boxes containing twelve squares, at 25s, or twelve small, at 15s.; the shavig cakes, at 2s. 6d, each, or in boxes, 4s. 6d. while are re-filled, at 2s. 6d, and it is forwarded to all parts of town or country, warrant

To Messrs. ROWLAND and SON, Preprietors of the Macassar Oil.

MPROVED SPECTACLES, at reduced Prices.—GEORGE SCOTT, Optician and Mathematical Instrument-maker, 4, Butcherholt-lane, Newgate-street, Legs leave to acquaint the Public, that he has an extensive and superior ASSORTMENT of SPECTACLES, with the best clear Pebbles and Glasses, carefully selected, and adapted with the greatest accuracy to near and distant sight. Also, coloured Glasses, of superior quality, highly recommended by the faculty for the sid and protection of weak sight, from the force of light, heat, and dust.—Mathematical Instruments of all descriptions manufactured on the latest improvements

WAYTE, Furrier to the King, late of Panton-street, Hapo market, and the Burlington Areade, has the honour to acquaint the Nebility and Public in general, that he has REMOVED to more extensive Premises in REGENT-STREET, gear the County Fire-office, where he solicits a continuance of their favours.—C. W. has manufactured a large assortment of all descriptions of rich and elegant Furs into the most fashlowable articles of dress for the season.

NEW LINEN HOUSE, CORNER OF CAVENDISH STREET, OX-FORD-STREET.

FORD-STREET.

THE very general complaints of the want of durability in IRISH LINEN, induced the Proprietors of the above Establishment, some time ago, to determine on a personal inspection of the principal Linen Districts of Ireland, and by purchasing Cloth in the grey state, and actually superistending the Bleaching of the same on the old plan, fairly on the Grass, without the use of Acids, they have great satisfaction in announcing their complete success and first arrival of Samples, which for beauty of Colour and Pabric cannot be equalled. The Prices are settled, from is advancing by original numbers to the finest quality. A quantity of Sheetings upon the same plan, particularly a few Pieces considered superior to Russia. The Patent Double Dagnash Table Cloths, all sizes to three yards long (none larger being made), to be had only at this House. Also every descriptions of Goods usually kept by the best shops, upon the very first terms.

N.B. The new Linens will not be sold in less quantities than a Piece, and without abatement.

T. COATS and Co. No. 141, Oxford-street, corner of Cavendish-street

C. UNS, by the most esteemed London Makers.—Mears. KENT, AVERY, and VINCENT, No.63, Boud-street, corner of Brook-street; Hanover-square, beg to acquaint Noblemen and Sportemen, they have now for SALE, the best and most extensive STOCK of Double and Single Barrelled GUNS in the Kingdom; among which are about 100 of Joseph and John Mantan's, and appropriounable hasouriment of all the other approved Makers, viz. Wan. Smith, Purdy, Moore, Stevens, Wilkinson, Morimer, Reg. Forsyth, Nock, Clark, &c.; the whole of which are warranted, and if not approved, may be exchanged within twelve monthe. Also Travelling, Heinter, and Pocket Pistols, from 14s. a pair upwards. The greatest price given for all kinds of Fire Arms, Swords, &c.

all kinds of Fire Arms, Swords, &c.

ARTIFICIAL TEBTH, on an unprecedented principle,—Mr.

GRAY, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, Leadon, cantinues to supply the loss of Teeth, on the successful systemistraduced by himselfin 1813; which has been found to answer all the purposes of the human Teeth, is matrication, articulation, appearance, &c. and to remain perfectly secure in their places by the pressure of the atmosphere; thereby avoiding pinning to stumps, tying, twisting wires, or fastening springs to the adjoining Teeth, or any attachment whatever to the remaiding Teeth; and consequently, instead of injuring, afford them support. These artificial Teeth may be taken out, and replaced by the wearer with the greatest facility. To those who require whole or half-sets, Mr. Gray undertakes, at his own risk, to furnish places which shall answer all the purposes above described, without the incumbrance of the apira is prings, which are usually attached to such places.

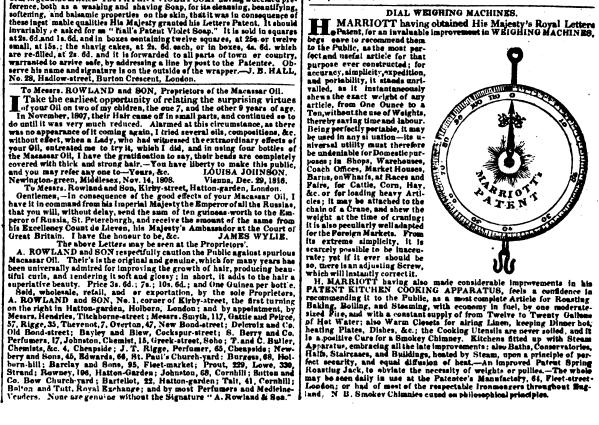

—25,018 Burlington-atreet.

POR THE PACE, NECK, and ARMS....The Ladies are assured that all the cosmetics ever yet discovered do not possess, in an hundredth degree, the good qualities of PRICE and GOSNELL'S PATENT NAPLES GREAM, as a beautifier and clearer of the skin. Sunburns, pimples, freekles, ringworms, tetters, spots, tan, redues of the nose, &c. are often peculiar to tender and delicate complexions; by the regular application of the Patent Napies Gream once a day, or twice or thrice in a week, the skin and fluids are gradually cleansed and cooled, and assume that clear and transparent white and red, which denote them in a healthful state. Its innocent, efficacious, and refreshing qualities render it an excellent and salutary wash for infants, as it keeps the skin seft, cool, and free from drymes.—Sold in Loidou only by the Patentees, Price and Gosnell, Perfumers to his Majesty, 12, Three King-court, Lombard-street. Price 5s. and 10s. per bottle. Also, Price and Gosnell's Rose Bloom, for bearnitying the countenance, is the best and most innocent cosmetic yet known in the world, and which imparts such a natural and lively bloom to the skin, as cannot be distinguished from nature. Price 5s. 6d, per bottle, with directions for use.

which imparies such a natural and lively shoom to the skin, as cannot be distinguished from nature. Price 5s. 6d. per bottle, with directions for use.

DATENT ECONOMICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP,—In contemplating the lives and property that have been sacrificed to the use of candles, it is natural to conclude, that it has either been found difficult to invent a complete substitute, or that its importance has escaped observation, and it is not a triding gratification to the Patentee, that, in this invention he has so far succeeded in the at empt as to produce a light that embraces every perfection, and is altike applicable to every domestic use, and can be so regulated as to suit every occasion. Its safety is such that ne person on seeing it can doubt for a moment its security against danger of fire, and, bearing any mo ion without agitating the flame, renders it highly valuable as a noving light. As a Chamber or Night Light, it can be regulated to burn the longest or shorten night, giving a never-falling brilliant flame, ready at the moment it is wanted, disappearing in the morning without smoke or smell, superseding the Bed Candle, and, in its general use, a preserver of the carpets from tallow or wax; the price, in neat Japan Standa, los, and in bionre, 15s. to 20s. The same principle applies, and the Lampa equally portable, on pedestals, varying in size and elegance, for the dining table, sideboard, study, bracket, door, or fan-light, &c.; and also Glass Grecian Hanging Lampa, for the hall, staircase, passages, conservatory drawing-room, mantiejiece, lustree, &c.; and for the accommodation of those who have square, vase, or other hall inthorns, the burners of which are so universally complained of for the oil they consume, and the insufferable smoke and smell they emit, the Patentee, by in introduced. It is a most essential acquisition in all these Lamps, that they require no attention when in use, and the banders this principle to such, with all its advantages, at 12s. to 14s. each. Families in the country, who w

DIAL WEIGHING MACHINES.

By the arrival of the ship Middleburg, off Plymouth, from China and Batavia, which latter place she left on the 27th of July, letters have been received in town of the most melancholy description. They state that no less than seventeen thousand of the inhabitants had been carried off by the cholera morbus. The rice crop had failed, and in consequence the Government had prohibited all exportation. Its price on board ship was 27, and on shore 244. The coffee crop was very abundant, but from the dreadful malady now raging, a want of hands was experienced to pick it.

The astonishing difference between the present prices of the hest Lendon Printed Chintz Furnitures, Morens, Merino Damasks, &c. and the same description of Goods produced in former years, is beyond all conception. No old Establois found in a possibly afford to sell a Stock, which has been was accumulating, within at least 30 per cent. of the Prices of MILES and ED-WARDS'S immense Assortment, every Piece of which has been manufactured within the last few months. The new and fashionable Article of French Stripes can only be procured at their New Chintz Furniture and Moreen Warehouse, No. 134, Oxford-street (nearly opposite Hanover-square.

Advertisement. 1—On the first day of every Lottery, there are certain arrangements to make, which causes it to be rather later than on another day before they can commence drawing. This accounts for the news of the 230,000 prize, drawn on the 30th ult. being sold by BISH, not reaching his Office till cleven minutes past nine, although it was the very first Prize. Next day of drawing, if he sells the £30,000, we think he will receive the intelligence about three minutes and a half after nine.

Also, Ice-Buckets for preserving Ice for several days.

URGESS'S ESSENCE of ANCHOVIES.—Warehouse, 170, Strand, corner of the Savoy-steps, London.—Joha Burgess and Son, being apprized of the namerous endeavours nade by many persons to impose a spurious article for their make, feel it incumbent upon them to request the attention of the Public, in purchasing what they conceive to be the Original, to observe the Name and Address corresponds with the above: the general appearance of the spurious descriptions will deceive the unguarded, and for their detection, J. B. and Son submit the following cautions,—some are in appearance at first sight, "The Genuine," but without any mane or address:—some "Burgess Essence of Anchories;"—others—"Burgess's,"—and many more without Address.

John Burgess and Son having been many years honoured with such distinguished approbation, feel every sentiment of respect towards the Public, and earnestry solicit them to inspect the Labels previous to their purchasing what they conceive to be of their make, which they hope will prevent many disappointments.

BURGESS'S NEW SAUCE for general purposes, having given such purchasing weat they concern to the second purposes, having given such BURGESS NEW SAUCE for general purposes, having given such great satisfaction, continues to be prepared by them, and is recommended as a most useful and convenient Sauce: will keep good in all climates.

Warehouse, 107, Strand, corner of the Savoy-steps, London.—(The original

Just published, in 2 vols, post 8vo, with a fine Portrait, price 16s. boards, MEMOIRS of JAMES II. KING of ENGLAND, &c.—
Collected from various Authentic Sources.

London: Published by Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, Paternoster-row.

"These volumes are written in an impartial and pleasing style: the faults and virtues of James II. are fairly stated, and the causes that led to his abdication accurately traced. The arrival of the Prince of Orange in England, the flight of the Queen; one of the most attached and aniable of wives, into France with her infant son, at the earnest solicitation of her husband, and the subsequent departure of James, are narrated in the clearest and simplest manner."—New Monthly Mag. Aug. 1821.

In the Press, and will be published on the 20th inst. by Yorston and Gurney, Law-stationers, No. 16, Marc-court, Fleet-street.

NEW SHEET ALMANACK, to be called THE LAW ALMANACK. Also,
2 A NEW LAW DIARY, of Daily Remembrancer, (printed in a convenient size to the up with papers, or carry in the pocket), containing a ruled space for each Day's Business, with a variety of useful Information. Just published, by W. Sans, Bookseller to his Royal Highness the Duke of may be had, EXPEDIENCE, a Satire; by JULIUS. Book I, price 5s. he Second Volume of the Letters is in the Press.

Just published, by W. Sams, Bookseller to his Royal Highness the Duke of York, St. James's-stree, THE LETTERS OF JULIUS, Vol. 1, price 7s. 6d.; where may be hed.

AID OR WIFE; or the DECEIVER DECEIVED, a Masical Comedy in Two Acts, new performing at the Theatre Royal Drury-Lane. By BARHAM LIVIUS, Esq.

Printed for William Sams, Bookseller to H. R. H. the Duke of York, St. James's street.—Terms of Subscription to the Circulating Library may be had on application.

Printed for William Sams, Bookseller to H. R. H. the Duke of York, St. James's-street.—Terms of Subscription to the Circulating Library may be had on application.

CORONATION OF HIS MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY GEORGE IV. Patronised by the Royal Family—Shortly will be published.

New, elegant, and precise PICTORIAL REPRESENTATION of the ORDER of PROCESSION to the CORONATION of His present MAJESTY, which has been honored with the approbation and patronage of the Royal Family, and of the Nobility in general. This highly interesting Production, which extends to the length of ten yards, contains faithful Representations of every Individual in the Procession; together with the exact Costume, and the Banners, Regalia, &c. Price Two Guineas, in an unique and portable box, or it is calculated for framing.—A Sperimen may be seen, with a List of Subscribers, at the Publisher's, W. Sams, Bookseller, to his Royal Highness the Duke of York, No. J. St. James's-street.—Terms of Subscription to the Library may be had on application.

ANOTHER RED BOOK —Just published, price 2s.6d.

THE WIT'S RED BOOK; or, CALENDAR.of GAIETY for 1822; being a Collection of Aneedotes, Pacetiar, Epigrams, Hu monrous Pieces, &c.—By ROSS ROSSO, F.D.

Ridenlum Acri.—Hor.

Pleasantry with Pun-geney.

Person With the exception of a lew select ancedotes, the present publication consists of entirely original inatter.

London: Published by W. Simpkin and R. Marshall, Stationers' sourt.

Ridiculum Acri.—Hor.

Pleasantry with Pun-gency.

Pf With the exception of a tew select ancedotes, the present publication consists of entirely original matter.

Londen: Published by W. Sisapkin and R. Marshall, Stationers' acourt.

NEW and BSTABLISHED SPORT.NG BOOKS.

A COMPLETE MANUAL FOR SPORTSMEN.

Just published, price Il. 18s. in boards, demy 8vo. or 3l. 3s. in royal 8ve, with Proof Plates, the Second Edition of RITISH FIELD SPORTS; embracing Practical Instructions in Shoosing, Huntisg, Coursing, Racting, Fishing, &c.; with Observations of the Breaking and Training of Dogs and Horses; also, on the Management of Fowling-pieces, and all other Sporting Implements.—By W. H. SCOTT.

This Work is becastifully printed on fine paper, hot pressed, and illustrated with upwards of Sixty highly-finished Engravings; 34 on Cryper, executed by those entirent Artists, Scott, Warren, Greix, Tookey, Davenport, Ranson, and Webb, from Paintings by Reinagle, Clemnell, Elmer, and Barrenger; the remainder cut on Wood, by Clemnell, Thompson, Austin, and Bewick.

Pf The Author's object has been to present, in as compressed a form as real utility would admit, Instructions in all the various Field Sports in modern practice. The means he has possessed for accomplishing so desirable a purpose, he trusts, have enabled him to produce such a work on the subject of Field Sports, as, in point of paper, printing, illustration, and embellishment, is not to be equalled in the English Language.

N.B. This work may be had in Twelve Parts, by one or more at a time, price 3s. each, deny, and 5s. toyal, except Part 12, the price of which is 4s. demy, and 7s. royal.

London: Printed for Shewood, Neely, and Jones, Paternoater-row; of whom may also be thad.

2. THOUGHTS on FOX and HARE HUNTING; in a Series of Letters to a Friend.—By PETER BECKFORD, Esq.; elegantly printed in Svo, on fine wove paper, and illustrated with numerous Cuts. 14s. bds.

The Publishers beg leave respectfully to recommend the present Edition of Mr Hockford's valuable work to each.

6. The SPORTSMAN'S PROGRESS; a Poem, descriptive of the Pleasures derived from Field Sports: with Thirteen Wood Cuts. Price is

6. The SPORTSMAN'S PROGRESS; a Poem, descriptive of the Pleasures derived from Field Sports; with Thirteen Wood Cuts. Price by aswed.

7. SOMERVILE'S celebrated Poem of THE CHASE; to which is an exad, his Poom of Field Sports; with Memoirs of the Author, and an Besay on the Chase, by EDW. TOPHAM, Esq. Illustrated with Engravings by Mr. SCOTT. Price 6s, in boards.

8. The ANGLER: a Poem, in Ten Cantos; comprising proper Instructions in the Art with Rules to choose Fishing-rois, Idnes, Hooks, Floats, Baits, and te make Artificial Flies; Receipts for Pastes, &c.—By T. P. LATTY 1849. With upwards of Twenty Wood Cuts. 10s, 6d, boards.

9. SPORTING ANKCOOTES, original and selected; forming a complete Delineation of the Sporting World.—By PIERCE EGAN. Price 9s, in bols. 10. The SPORTSMAN'S VOCAL LIBRARY; containing nearly 408 of the best Songs relating to Husting, Racing, Shooting, Angling, Hawking, Archery, &c. Price 9s, in boards.

On the 20th inst. will be published (with the Almanacks), price 9s beards, with an eleganity coloured Prontispiece of Shells.

FILESCOPE for 1822; or, a complete Guide to the Almanack, and the Astronomer's, Botanist's, Naturalist's, and Historian's Companion throughout the Year; the whole interspersed with a variety of amusing Anedotes and appropriate Illustrations from our best living Poets: to which is prefixed, an Introduction, containing the Outlines of Couchology.

He who wishes to turn his Telescope on human events, or on the heavens;—to be directed, agreeably to the season on his observations of nature;—to know, why one day is more remarkable than another? why he must eat more pies at Christmas, or pancakes on Shrove Tuesday? why he must eat goose at Michaelmas, or be made a goose of on All Rools' Day? or who, in short, wishes to know what time was, or will be —must find considerable gratification in referring to the present volume, where the most is made of the past and the future, and almost every day in the year is proved to be good for something.

If The Public are respectfully something.

[73] The Public are respectfully informed, such of the former volumes as were out of print, have been reprinted: complete Sets, therefore, from 1814 to the present time, may now be had.

London: Printed for Sherwood, Neely, and Jones, Paternoster-row.

PPRENTICE WANTED—An opportunity (such as seldom presents itself) now offers of placing a YOUTH of respectability and education as an APPRENTICE, at a first-rate House in the manufacturing and FURNISHIND IRONMONGERY line in the City of London; where a thorough knowledge of the various branches of the Business may be obtained, and the most liberal treatment experienced. A handsome Premium will be required. Apply at Mr. Isherwood's, 35, Ludgate-hill.

RITING PAPER of the best quality, made by the justly celebrated J. WHATMAN, of Turkey Mill, to be sold at the following low prices:—Excellent copy, 7d. the quire, or 11s. the ream; good laid post, 8d. superfine thick, 9d. and 1s. the quire, or 12s. 13s. 6d. and 17s. 6d. the ream; superfine Bath, 9d. ditto, hot pressed, 10d. and 1s. the quire, or 13s. 6d. 15s. and 17s. 6d. the ream; very best thick Bath gilt, 1s. 1d. the quire, or 20s. the ream; thick foolscap, 1s. the quire, superfine, 1s. 2d. and 1s. 4d. a quire, or 21s. and 26s. the ream; superfine large bank post, 1s. the quire, or 18s. the ream; best thick lined brief, 1s. 4d. the quire, or 26s. the ream; they good copy oooks, 2s, 6d. per doz.; best-sealing wax, 5s. the 1; also for sale, the new-invented steel nibbed pen; it has the elasticity of the quill, with the durability of the steel pen, price 1s. 4d. sach; strong brown, 8d. 16d. and 1s. 6d.; small hand, 4d. the quire; at H. and W. SMITH'S, 192. Strand, opposite St. Clement's Church.—Account Books made to order, of any size or patfern, equally low in price.

OLONIAL COFFEE ESTABLISHMEN EAWAREHOUSE, No. 16, Penchurch-street. AMBROSE TWEEN, begs to inform the Nobility and Gentry, that he continues to sell the best west India and other COFFEES, and every description of TEA, of the best quality, on the lowest terms for ready money, viz.:—Tea—Congou kind, 5s. 4d. per lb.; Congou, 5s. 8d.; good ditto, 6s.; time strong ditto, 6s. 4d. to 6s. 8d.; Souchong, 7s. to 9s.; finest ditto, 10s.; Twankay, 6s. 4d. to 6s. 6d.; ine ditto, 7s. to 7s. 4d.; the Bloom, 8s. to 9s.; Hyson, 9s. 6d. to 10s.; good ditto, 10s. 4d. to 11s.; fine ditto, 11s. 6d. to 12s.—Coffee—Plantation, 2s 6d.; good do, 2s. 8d. the Dutch, 3s.; very fine ditto, 3s. 2d.

The Orders from the Country forwarded without delay. Captains ef ships, and the Proprietors of Taverns, Jins, and Breakfast Houses, are supplied on the most advantageous terms.

LONDON MARKETS.

CORN EXCHANGE, FRIDAY, Nov. 16.

There has been a good supply of Wheat this week, and same quantity remaining over from Monday's market, on account of its inferior quality, occasioned a dull sale to-day, and, except for the better sorts, on rather lower terms. Fine Ba ley sells on quite as good terms, but the ordinary sorts meet a particularly dull sale. Having been very moderately supplied with Oats during the week, the sales this morning were on quite as good terms. White Pear are rather lower, but in Beans and Grey Pease there is no alteration to notice.

THE GENERAL AVERAGE PRICES of BRITISH CORN, as received weekly from the Inspectors in the Maritime Cities and Towns in England and Wales, according to the Gazette of the 17th of November, calculated as follows:—

follows:—

ENDERAL AVERAGE WHICH GOVERNS IMPORTATION.

Wheat, 55s 2d—Barley, 26s 3d—Outs, 19s 11d—Resc, 25s 3d—Beans, 27s 10

Pease, 31s 1d.

PRICES OF GOLD AND SILVER.

Portugal Gold in Coin 0 0 0 p.oz. Foreign Gold in Bars 3 17 101	New Dollars 0 4 91 p.et. Silver in Bars Stand 6 4 11 -
New Doubloons 3 13 9	New Louis, each . 0 0 0 -
COURSE OF EXCHA	NGE,-FRIDAY, Nev. 16.
Amsterdam 12 14 C.F.	Trieste Bas. fle.
Diftoat Sight 12 11	Madrid 36 Cadis 36
Rotterdam 12 15	Bilboa 357 Barcelona . 354
Antwerp 12 7	Seville 35 Gibraltar 30
Hamburgh 37 9	Leghern 47 Genea 43
Altona 37 19	Venico 27 60 Malta 45
Paris, 3 days Sight 25 60	Naples 391 Palermo 118
Ditte 25 90	Lisbon 50 Oporto 58
Bordeaux 25 90	Rio Janeiro 44
Frankfort on Main 156	Bahia
Petersburg 3 U	Dublin 8] per cent
Vienus 10 18 Ess. flo.	Cork 9

· COMMERCIAL REPORT, FROM THE 12TH NOVEMBER, TO THE 17TH NOVEMBER.

Plantation Sugars have been much sought after; the better qualities have realized an advance of 1s. 6d. to 2s. per cwt. and ordinary from 6d. to 1s. with every prospect of a further augmented currency. 456 casks, and 10½ bags of Coffee were brought to anction, when the extreme prices of the preceding week were maintained; indeed, Plantation partially brought 2s. per cwt. mere. This description is likely to be further enhanced, as our stock here, but more particularly at the outports, is fast diminishing. Offoreign, the same favourable opinion cannot be entertained, although the stocks on the Continent are very moderate, yet the direct supplies which they are, and will be receiving, are calculated to be aleast adequate to the demand. Yesterday a sale of 147 pumbeors. Jamaica Rum, brought an advance of 2d. per gallon uponour last quotations. Brandies have been in speculative request, and tor choice Brandy of Cognacs, 4s. 9d. has been paid. Such is the complete suspension of business in the Cotton market, that we are precluded entering into any detail. Prices are considered altogether nominal. Yesterday further sales of Cotton were brought forward at Liverpool. The article thus continues excessively heavy. Some of the new crop of Bowed Georgias, had arrived, which proves very good. Tallow (Yellow Candle), remains at 42s. 6d.; the non-arrival of supplies causes rather more enquiry. By the last accounts from St. Petersburg, the shipments made to Great British were 79,000 casks, being about 8,000 casks less than the corresponding period of last year, and by the quotations in that market they cannot be imported below 47s. per cwt. Tobaccos are still sought after, and the extreme quotations in our last exposition realized.

STOCKS.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thur.	Fride	Sati
Bank Steck	- 1	839	7-7-6	17.70	2391	SALES AND
per Cent. Reduced		774	7.7	771	774	10.22
per Cent. Consols		78	78	78	78	78/9
of per Cent Consols	874	879	874	874	373	1962年198
Consols for Account	78	78	78	78	78	78
per Cent. Consols		968	968	964	963	96 2 per Cent. Navy		111	110%	1114	110	OF SELECT
Bank Long Annuities		194	194	197	191	194 9-1
ndia Bonds		71 p	70 p	71 p	72 P	Maria Th
Skehequer Bills, 2d	5 p	5 p	5 p	5 p	5 P	ALCOHOL:
Ditto, #4d	-	-	1	10 100	STATE OF THE PARTY OF	TO THE
Impium	-	2000	-		-	37-A3

BIRTHS.

On the 12th inst. at Edinburgh, the Lady of Major Jas, Harvey, of Cast emple, of a daughter.

semple, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

On Thursday last, at the New Church, St. Mary-le-Bone, by the Rev. Arthur Ed. Howman, the Rev. George Ernest Howman, of Shiplake, Oxford shire, to Jane Sarah Wightwick, eldest daughter of the late John Wightwick Knightley, Esq. of Offchurch, Bury, in the County of Warwick.

On Thursday last, at St. George's, Hanover-square, John William Thomas, of New Bond-street, to Mary Elizabeth, eldest daughter of William Yems, Esq. of Clapham.

On Thursday, Nov. S, at St. Peter's, Bedford, Mr. J. T. Hooper, of Isington, to Mary Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. Austin Bedford.

On Wednesday last, General the Hon. Frederick St. John, to Caroline Ein Payrsons.

Parsons.
On the 15th inst. Lieut-Col. A. Hogg, of the Hon. East India Company on the 15th inst. Lieut-Col. A. Hogg, of the Hon. East India Company service, to Agnes, daughter of Wm. Dinviddie, Esq.

of the late Sir Ernest Gordon, Bart. of Park

In the house of the Portuguese Commissioner, at Sierra Leone, of the fever, on the 2d Sept. Lieut. John Kingdom, R.N. son of Wm. Kingdom, B. of Tunbridge Wells, and Commander of His Majesty's Colonial School Prince Regent. By his brother officers, his friends, and his relations by young men can be more regretted.

At Brighton, on Wednesday night last, Mary, the wife of Edward Sherel Esq. of Stockwell Common, Surrey.

On Friday, the 9th inst. at Hastings, Dorothea, widow of the late John Haworth, Esq. of Islington.

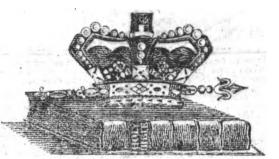

Lately, after a short illness, aged 21, Lady Eliz. Stanhope, sister to the Earl.

Earl.
At Bath, aged 48, Maria Ann, wife of Rear Admiral Ballard.
On Sunday morning, Mrs. Jolliffe, aged 76, relict of the late W. Jolliffe, aged 76, relict of the late W. Jolliffe, At Edinburgh, Charles Murray, formerly of the Theatre Royal, Covern

Garden.
At Ashwick House, near Marshfield, in the 96th year of his age, Ishua.
Webb Horlock, Esq. the oldest Magistrate in the county of Gloucester.

No. 11, JOHNSON'S COURT, FLEET-STREET, when only Communications to the Editor, (post paid) are received

JOHN

BULL.

" FOR GOD, THE KING, AND THE PEOPLE!"

No. 50.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1821.

Price 7d.

NEW MUSIC.—THE CORONATION.

THE OVERTURE, with the favourite AIRS in the GRAND CORONATION, as performed with unbounded applause at the Theatre Rayal, Drury Lane, composed and arranged for the Plano Forte, by T. Coske, price 3a.—Pablished and sold by Chappell, and Co. Music Sellers to His Majesty, No. 50, New Bond-street.

mays, array, Laure, composed and arranged for the Plano Forte, by T. Cooke, price 3a.—Published and sold by Chappell, and Co. Music Sellers to His Majesty, No. 50, New Bond-atreet.

TEW MUSIC.—K! ALLMARK'S universally-admired Variations on the favourite Air, "Cease your Punning," adapted for two performers on the Plano Forte, by D. Bruguler, price 3a.—The celebrated German Air, "Miss Sherrard's Recreation," an auch admired as a Plano Forte Lesson, arranged as a Duett for the Harp and Plano Forte, by the Author, John Paddod, price 5a.—Latour's favourite "Le Retour de Windson," armanged as a Duet for two Performers on the Plano Forte, by D. Bruguler, price 5b.—The popular-Hungarian Air, arranged with interesting Variations, for two Performers on the Plano Forte, by J. Jay, M.D. price 3a.—Boileldieu's Avourite Overture, "Du Calife de Bagdad," arranged as a Duet for two Performers on the Plano Forte, by T. Goodban, price 4s.—Boileldieu's Avourite Overture, "Du Calife de Bagdad," arranged as a Duet for two Per ormers on the Plano Forte, by T. Goodban, price 4s.—Boileldieu's Per ormers on the Plano Forte, by T. Goodban, price 4s.—Boileldieu's Per ormers on the Plano Forte, by T. Goodban, price 4s.—Boileldieu's Per ormers on the Plano Forte to the notice of the Adulcal World, being at are particularly recommended to the notice of the Adulcal World, being at are particularly recommended to the notice of the Adulcal World, being at a panged by the first Masters of the present age.—London: Published May-lew and Co. Music Sollers to her Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent, 17, Oble Bood-atreet, where may be obtained every New Masical Publications and Flute Accompaniment by Jansen, 3s. Carnival of Venice, Variations and Flute Accompaniment by Jansen, 3s. Carnival of Venice, Variations and Flute Accompaniment by Phipps, 3s. Carnival of Venice, Variations and Flute Accompaniment by Phipps, 3s. Carnival of Venice, Variations and Flute Accompaniment by Phipps, 3s. Carnival of Venice, Variations and Flute Accompaniment by Phipps Rose Wood Cabinet, 56 Guineas, not to be matched under 75.

THE HUSSARS.—Just published, a New Edition of

THE HUSSARS.—Just published, a New Edition of Lothe Right Hon. Gen. Lord Stewart, K.G. by M.C. . fortellari, 3s.

The 17th No. of Paine of Almack's Quadrilles, 4s. New Editions of PAINE of ALMACK'S QUADRILLES, from 1 to 16, each No. separate, 5s.; the whole complete, bound, 11. iss.—The following NEW DUETS for the HARP and PIANO FORTE:—Fourth Edition of Zitti, Zitti, Piano, Plano, 4s.; and Di tanti paipiti, 4s. by Siell. Fra tante Angoscie palpiti, by Ansell, 4s. Third Edition of O Percator dell'onds, by F. Latour, 4s.—Published at Falhaer's Opera Music Warehouse, 3. Old Bond street.

NEW MUSIC.—Just published.

"VEPRE 2' noddin at our house at hame," a favourite Scotch Eallad, with Variations for the Piano Forte, composed by Ferdinand Ries, price 3s. Second Pulonaisa Duet for two Performers, on one Piano Forte, Op. 33, composed by ditto, price 4s. A selection of the must havorate Airs in the Ballet of Nins, arranged as Duets or the Harp and Plano Forte, with Finte Accompaniment (ad lib.) by Bochsa, price 8s. "My Lodging is on the Cold Ground." Irish melody, with Variations for the Marp, by ditto, price 1s. 6d. Jonetil's celebrated Chaconne, with an Introduction, adapted by J. B. Cramer, price 2s. 6d. Grand Trumphal March in the Tragedy of Coriolanus, as a Duet for two Performers on one Plano Forte, camposed by T. Co-Ace, price 3s. "Prance, beloved mative Land, Song, sung by Mrs. Bland in the Entertainment of Monsicur Tonson, arranged by ditto, price 1s. 6d. A Treatise on Harmony, with practical Examples, and Thirty Studies in all the Major and Minor Keys, composed by Charles Prederick Horn. in Three Buoks, each 5a.—London: published by and to be had at, the itoyal Harmonic Institution, Lower Saloon, Argyll Rooms, Regent-Airest

NEW PATENT DOU'BLE FLUTE, for playing Solos and Duets. Two Futtes are induced loss together made on the rejection of

Charles Prederick Horn, in Three Books, each 5a.—London: published by odd to be had at, the itoyal Harmonic Institution, Lower Saloon, Argyll Rooms, Bregent-Street

NEW PATENT DOUBLE FLUTE, for playing Solos and Dunets. Two Flutes are joined close together, made on the principle of Bailbridge's well-known Double Flageolet, and fingered the same, both fer Solos and Dunets. The Tone is produced by the same easy plan. They are the same pitch as a full-sized teerman Pinte, and played in the same attitude, not barger than two Garman Fintes close together, but much lighter, requiring no more breath than a Flazcolet, and, though made of full Concert pitch, the holes are so arranged (with the addition of new Keys for the little Finger, which, by sing-y pressing, makes a certainty of covering the Holes for the low notes) that a Person with a very small hand can play on them with ease. The Tone is of such a sweet quality, that those not seeing the Performers would take the harmony to be produced by Two good Performers. Being Concert pitch, they will accompany any Instrument without transposition. Those who play the Hoube Flageolet can pay the Double Flute inmediately; and by Mr. Bainbridge's New Patent Improvements on the Double Flageolet, for producing the Upper Notes, both the above Instruments have extraordinary compass, and are capable of a great variety of barmony. By the Hook given, Persons may learn themselves to play any Air is two Parts, with the singular advantage of having only one Line of Busile to read. Price of Double Flute, with Silver Keys, £5.5s.—Ditto, with Brass Eeys, £3.13s. 6d. He also makes a Single Pinte on the same admired principle, and full Concert pitch, the Tone of which is full on the Low Notes, and sweet and pleasant on the Upper, and fingered like his well known Patent Single Plageolet.—To be had only at his Manufactory for Patent Beable and Single Flageolet, 35. Hollrorn Hill.

THE Public is respectfully informed, that GEN UINE LAVENDER WATER, or ESPART de LAVANDE, may be had at the Baport O'Fogarty's Journal.—XVIII. The Yellow Leaf.—XIX. Letter from Mr. Shuffletoham.—XX. A True and Perfect Account of the Landing of King George the Fourth in Ireland.—XXI. The Good Town.—XXII. On the Scholastle Doctors.—XXIII. The Emigrants' Volyage to Canadia.—XXIV. Translations from Ossian.—XXV. Rouge et Noir, a Poen.—XXVII. Epistic General.—XXVII. Works preparing for Publication.—XXVIII. Monthly List of New Publications.—XXIX. Alondally Register, &c.

Printed for T. Cadell, Strand, London: and Wm. Blackwood, 17, Prince'sstreet, Edinburgh.

street, Edinburgh.
"In weder to please all our Priends, whether Correspondents or Patrons, we shall in ludge them with another extra Number, to crown their Christa as Jollitles, and Nos. LVIII. and LIX. will therefore appear together on the 31st of December."—Editor's Epistle General.

of December."—Editor's Epsile General.

TAYS and BELTS.—ROBINSON and VISTIRIU, submittor Ladies inspection numerous Fashionable patterns in Corsets an Children's Bays, warranted to improve the shape, for durable wear, and perfect it however difficult the figure. By the King's Letters Parent, approved by easinent unedical men, newly invented stays, that counteract, pervent, and rectify spinal errors, curvatures, and deformities; relieve, support, and cure, persons away, invisibly making them perfect by straight and shapel, without any pernichous steel, pudding or pressure. Elastic Belis which reduce corpulency, visceral enlargement, numbited hernia, local dropsy; a reng hen ability and and dorsal debility, and afford confortable support after accouchement, without uneasy compression. Country Ladies instructed by letters to the deseases. Letters must be post paid. Observe the names and address, total advertisement being continually copied by unskilful pretenders, 7, Yorkstreen, Covera Garden, London.

Published by J. Carpenter, Old Bond-street, and J. Booker, New Bond-str.
THE PINE ARTS.

A BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY of PAINTERS & ENAGRAVERS, from the revival of Painting and the alleged discovery of Engraving by Finiguerru.—By MICHAEL BRYAN.

In this work is given two Indexes, alphabetical and chronological; and the introduction comprises a briefaceout of the Paisters of Antiquity. It also contains five Plates, exhibiting the particular Marks and Monograms used by the different Engravers: together with a List of their works, is two thick rolumes, in 4to 51.5a, in boards; and on superfine roy. paper, 91.

2. A New and Compendious TREATISE of ANATOMY, and PROPER,
TIONS of the HUMAN BODY, adapted to the Arts of DESIGNING,
PAINTING, and SCULPTURE, illustrated by Copper plates.—By W. F.
WELLS. Price 5s.

TIONS of the HUMAN BODY, adapted to the Arts of DESIGNING, PAINTING, and SCULPTURE, illustrated by Copper plates.—By W. F. WELLS Price 5s.

3. The MEMOIRS of COUNT GRAMMONT, illustrated with 64 Pertraits, heautifully engraved by SCRIVEN, from original Pictures, in Twels. 5ro price 31.13s.6d. and in 4to, with preof impressions of the Platts, 64-6s. Ditto in French, 2 wols. 5vo. 3t. 3s. 6d.

4. A PORTRAIT of THUMAN MOORE, Req. from a Picture by M. A. SHRE, Evg. R.A. engraved in the line manner, by Mr. JOHN BURNET. Price 11. 1s. proof, 11. 11s. 6d.

5. A PORTRAIT of THOMAN LORD CLIFFORD, Lord High Treasurer to Charles II. Engraved by Mr. SCRIVEN, from a Misiature by SAM, COOPER. Price 10s. 6d. proof, 15s.

6. A SMALL WHOLE-LENGTH PORTRAIT of HENRY MOWARD, EARL of SURRY, engraved by SCRIVEN from the original Pisture by Holbein, in the Bing's Collection at Windser, price 12s. proof impressions, 18s.

Just quibilibré, price 1s. each.

2 JEM GUDGEON; or, RADICAL PRINCIPLES. A Tale. Part the First.

2 Printed for J. Parker, Oxford; and F. C. 2 mid J. Rivington, Waterloo-place and St. Paul's Church yard; and W. Wright, Fleet-street, London.

Just published, price 16s. 6d. 8vg. boards, includes the content of the Markey Market of the St. Market of the Market of

Just published, price 10s. 6d. 8vo. boards,

ERMONS for DOMESTIC USE, intended to inculcate the great practical Truths of Christianity By WILLIAM BISHOP, M.A.

Rector of Ufton Nervet, Berks, and late Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford.

Printed for J. Parker, Oxford: and F. C. and J. Rivington, 62, St. Paul'a

Church-yass, and 3, Waterlo-place, Pall Mall, London.

Just published, price 7s. 6d. 8vo, buards,

BSERVATIONS on the VISIONS of DANIEL, and on part of the REVELATION of ST. JOHN. With an Appendix. By the key, WM. GIRDLESTONE, A. B. Rector of Kelling cum Salthouse, in

Rev. W.M. GIRDLESTONE, A. B. Rector of Kelling cum Salthouse, in the County of Norfolk.

Printed for J. Parker, Oxford; and F. C. and J. Rivington, St. Paul's Church-yard, and Waterloo-piace. Léndon.

CONCORDANCE TO THE BIBLE.

Just published, neatly printed in 4to on Medium Paper, price 4s. or on fine Royal Paper, pr. 7s. 2 leo is one volume Svs. on Royal Peper, in boards, 8s.

CONCORDANCE to the HOLY BIBLE; to which is Added, a Geographical Index, with the Calendar and Table of Lessons; designed to accompany any quarto Edition of the Bible, and adapted to the Maps and Notes of the Family Bible published under the direction of the Society for promoting Christian Knowledge.—Edited by JAMES W. BELLAMY, MA. Rector of the United Parishes of St. Mary, Abchurch, and St. Lanrence Pountofe, and Prebendary of St. Paul's.

Printed for F. C. and J. Hivington, No. 62, St. Paul's Church-yard, and No. 3, Waterloo-place, Pall Mall.

Just published, in 2 large closely printed volumes in Svo. price, in boards,

No. 3, Waterloop'ace, Pali Mall.

Just published, in 2 large closely printed volumes in 8vo. price, in boards, il. 4s. a New Edition, being the Third, of

PRIJE SCHOLAR ARMED sequing the ERRORS of the TIMEs or, a Collection of Tricts on the Principles and Evidences of Christianity, the Constitution of the Phurch, and the Authority of Civil Government. The whole intended for the information and assistance of young

Students in our Schools and Universities; and published originally by a Society for the Reformation of Principles.

Printed for F. C and J. Rivingtos, No. 62, St. Paul's Ciurch-yard, and
No. 3, Waterlooplace, Pali Mall; sold also by Bivingtoss and Cochran, 148, Strand.

Just published, price, in hoards, 4s. the Phith Edition (with an Explanatory Preface by his Sou) of ETTERS of CONSOLATION and ADVICE, from a Father to his Daughter, on the Death of her Sister.—By the late Rev. JELINGER SYMONS, B.D. of Hackney, Rector of Whithurn, Durham, &c. Printed for F. C. and J. Rivington, No. 62, St. Pant's Uburch-yard, and No. 3, Waterloo-place, Pall Mall.

Just published, in Nix very large volumes, 6vo. price, in hoards, 3L 12s. dedicated, by permission, to his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Second Edition of ECCLESIASTICAL BIOGRAPHY; or, Lives of Eminent Men commencement of the Reformation to the Revolution; selected and illustrated with No.es.—By CHRISTOPHER, WORDSWORTH, D. D. Master of Trinity College, Cambridge.

Printed for F. C. and J. Rivingtoh, No. 62, St. Pant's Church-yard, and No. 3, Waterloo-place, Pall Mall; sold 250 by Rivingtons and Cochran, 148, Strand; of whom may be had, by the same Author.

2. SERMONS; in 2 vols. 8vo. price, in boards, 188.

BISHOP TAYLOGS PRAYERS.

2. SERMONS; in 2 vols. Svo. prive, in boards, 18s.

BISHOP TAY LOG'S PRAYERS.

Just published, handsomely printed; in 1 vol. 8vo. price, in boards, 8s. the Sectond Edition of Sectond Edition of TAYLOR, Bishop of Down and Connor, adapted to the Family, the Cluset, the Sacrament, &c. &c.—By the Rev. BAMUBL CLAPHAM, M.A. Vicar of Christ Church, Hants.

Printed for F. C. and J. Rivington, No. 62, St. Paul's Church-yard, and No. 3, Waterloo-place, Pall Mull; sold also by Rivingtons and Cochran, 148, Strand; of whom may be find, published by the same Author.

2. SERMONS selected and abridged, chiefly from minor Authors, for each Sunday in the Year; the Saints Days, Festivals, Fasts, &c. In three vols. price ii. 19s.4m heards.

Just publish d, price, in boards, 9s. the Notth Editor with the party of the price in boards.

Just publish d, price, in boards, 9s. the Ninth Edition, with a Portrait of Just published, price, in boards, 9s. the Ninth Edition, with a Portrait of the Asthor, of

THE WORKS of the late Mrs. CATHARINE TALBOT.

First published by the late Mrs. Elizabeth Carter; and now re published with some few additional Papers: together with Notes and Illustrations, and some Account of her Life.—By the Rev. MONTAGU PENNINGITON, A.M. Vicar of Northboun, in Kent; Executor to Mrs. Carter.

Printed for P. C. and J. Rivington, No. 62, St. Paul's Church-yard, and No. 3, Waterloo-place, Pall Mall; sold also by Rivingtons and Cochran, 148, Strand; of whom may be had, by the same Editor.

2. Mrs. ELIZABETH CARTER'S LETTERS to Mrs. MONTAGU, which wone literacy and Mural Sublects.

chiefly upon Literary and Moral Subjects. 3 vol., 8vo., price, 11.7s.
3. Mrs. E. CARTER'S LETTERS to Miss C. TALBOT; a new Edition, in 3 to s. Sto. price 11 7s.

4. Mrs, E. CARTERUS MEMOIRS, with her Portrait; Third Edition,

2 vols. Evo. price il. 1s.

Oil THE HIGHER CLAS. ES IN SCHOOLS.

Just published, in 2 large vols. Sto. price, in boards, il. 4s. the Eighth Egitton of LEMENTS of GENERAL KNOWLEDGE, introductory to useful Books in the principal Branches of Literature and Science With Liets of the most approved Authors; including the best Editions of the Classics. Designed chiefly for the Junior Students in the Universities, and the higher Classes in the Schools—By HENRY KETT, B.D. Fellow of Trinity College, Oxford.

Printed for F. C. and J. Rivington, No. 62, St. Paul's Charch-yard, and No. 3, Waterho-place, Pail Mall; sold also by Rivingtons and Cochian, 148, Strand.

148. Strand.

1 OTHE LASHIONABLE WORLD!—Ladies' Head Dresses, with every article of ORNA-MENTA. HAIL, in movel and "Pe upees, with every article of ORNA-MENTA. HAIL, in movel and elegant designs, and of the filtest natural curl, Foreign hair made so exactly to imitate nature, as not to be dis overedeven by the most scrutiniving eye, by W. BRUWSTER, hair-curlet and dresser to the Royal Family. No. 48. Naw bond-street, where the following articles for the tollet may be had; prepared by himself: Savon Sans Parcille Asiastic Vestetabi-Oil, for propositing the growth, and Vegetabie Wash, for cleaning and beautifying the Hair. Cold Gream of Almonds, &c. &c. &c.

By Command and under the especial Sauction of His Majeaty.

Specifity will be published,

THE HISTORY of the CORONATION of HIS MOST

AGRED MAJESTY KING GEORGE the FOURTH, containing a full and authentic Detail of the Ceremonies observed as that august Solemnity, together with the Precedings and Adjudications of the Court of Claims, and of the Privy Council, the Names of the several Princes of the Blood Royal, Peers, Oreat Officers of State, Members of His Majeaty's Most Honourable Privy Council, Kuights of the several Creers, and others who attended on this memorable eccasion. The whole illustrated with Copies of the various Documents issued by the several Departments connected with the Ceremony, and with superb Engravings of the Regalla; as also of the magnificent Royal Rebes worn by the Severeign, the splendid Dresses of the Peersy Privy Counsellors, Officers of the Royal Household, &c.; together with Plates from Drawings taken by the first Artists, of the Interior of Westivinster Abbey and Hall, at the most interesting periods of the Solemnity.—By Sir GEORGE NAVISER, Clarenceux King of Arms. A more desired Prospectus is in preparation, and will very shortly be ready for delivery upon application at the principal Bocksellers in Louden.

Herald's College, 20th Nav 1821.

MATORTGAGE.—The specific Sums of £10,000. £24,000.

ORTGAGE.—The specific Sums of £10,000, £3,000, and £3,000 to be LENT on good Security. For particulars apply to Mr. Harcourt Firmiu, Seliciter, Dedham, Essex. None but Principals will be treated with. Letters, post paid, daily answered.

TREATISE on the VIRTUES OF A CRUST OF BREAD.

Just published, price is.

TREATISE on the VIRTUES and EFFICACY of a CRUST of BREAD, and the VIRTUES and EFFICACY of a CRUST of BREAD, est early in a mersing fasting; is which are added, some particular Remarks concerning Cares accomplished by the Saliva, or fasting spittle, as well when externally applied, as when internally given, is the Scurvy, Gravel, Stone, Rheumatism, and divers other Diseases, arising from Obstructions.—By a PHYNICIAN. The Seventh Edition.—Sold by Burgess and Hill, Medical and General Booksellers, 55, Great Windmilla-reet.

and Hill, Medical and General Booksellers, 55, Great Windmill-a reet.

MEDICAL TOPOG: APHY of the 1N FEILIOIL of C.Y.I.ON, just published, in 8vo. price los. 6d. hoards.

TOTES on the MEDICAL TOPOGRAPHY of the INTERIOR of CEYLON; and on the Health of the Troops employed in the Kandyan Provinces, during the years 1815, 1916, 1817, 1818, 1819, & 1892; with brief remarks on the prevailing diseases—By HENRY MARSHALL, Surccon to the Forces.—Loudour: printed for Burgess and Hill, Medical Booksellers, 55, Great Windmill-atreet, Haymarket.

N. B. A Medical Circulating Library and Reading Rooms.

N. B. A Medical Circulating Library and Reading Rooms.

11 ICH WHEEL, with £5,000 for the risk of 40s. on the 11th 11 of DECEMBER.—HAZARD and Co, Contractors, respectfully announce, that all purchasers between the 20th November and 11th December, will be allowed to return their Tickets or Shares at a very small reduction of price, a ter taking the chance of the next day of Drawing. 11th December, by which the risk of loss is reduced to the following trifling sums:—Whole ticket, 21. Half, 11. 5s. Quarter, 13s. Eighth, 7s. 6d. Sixteenth. 4s.

The Wheel is very rich, and contains—One Prize of 30,0001; Three of 5,0001; One of 2,0001; One of 1,0001; Three of 5001; Three of 3001; and Four of 2001; beddee other Prizes of 1001. 501. &c. &c. and Not Two Blanks to a Prize, all to be drawn in Two Days, 11th and 20 h December.

Tickets and Shares are selling at HAZARD and Co's fortonate Offices, Front Gate, Royal Buchance; 26, Cornbill; and 32s, Oxiord-atreet; whese Schemes, with full particulars, are delivered gratis.

Front Gate, Rayal Exchance; 26, Cornbill; and 324, Oziord-street; whese Schemes, with full particulars, are delivered gratis.

**DURTON ALE and BOTTLED SPOUT.**—FEATHERS**

**DENAMA, Hand-court, Holbors, nearly-opposite Great Turnstile.**—J. MiLES, Smouda-law, to the late Mr. John Goodman, for thirty years preprietor of the above-mentioned House, begs to acquains his Friends and the Public, that he has NOW on SALE some of the most approved BURTON ALE, and in the highest possible perfection; it being brewed by the same Brewer who served his Father. Quart bettles, 182, per dozen, and Pints, 72, per dozen. The Bottled Stout is particularly fine, and in high condition.**—N. B. For the information of Gentlemen of the lous of Court, &c. J. M. begs, to acquaint them, that bot Joints, as usual, are ready every quarter of an liour, between the hours of four and asven, likewise every other delicacy the seasons afford, including Soups, &c. — Private Rooms for Parties.

**A DELPHI THEATRE, STRAND.**—To-morrow Evening, and during the Week, will be presented, for the first time, on a scale of unprecedented extent, an entirely new Comic Extravaganza Burletta of Fun, Frolie, Fashion, and Plash, in Three Acts, cailed TOM and JERRY; or, Life in London.**—The costume and Scenery by Mr. J. R. Canikabanks, from the drawings of himself and his brother, Mr. G. C., the colebrated artists of the original work.**—Corinthan Tom, Mr. Wreneh; Jerry Hawthorn, Mr. W. Burroughe; Logic, Mr. Wilkinson. Principal Dancers. Mr. St. Albun, Mr. W. Burroughe; Logic, Mr. Wilkinson. Principal Dancers. Mr. St. Albun, Mr. W. Burroughe; Logic, Mr. Wilkinson. Principal Dancers. Mr. St. Albun, Mr. W. Burroughe; Hopping, Valed, Warleb, Mr. Glassington; Sportsmen, Grooms, Jockeys, Noblemen, Fancy Lads, Watchmen, Waiters, Markers, Heggars, Visitors, Bebtors, Racket Players, Manqueraders, &c. &c. by the rest of the Company, aided by a muserous train of auxillaries; Kate, Mrs. Baker; Sue, Mr. Wayiett.**—To conclude with the Burletta of Leves a Lankum. The Charac

LAST NIGHT'S GAZETTE.

This Gazette contains the App sintments of Admiral Sir James Sammares, to be Vice-Admiral; and Admiral, the Earl o Northeak, to be Rear-Admiral of the Navies of the United Empire: and permission for the 6 at Regt. of Foot, to bear the word "Talavera," on its colours and appointments.

WAR-OFFICE, 234 Nov. 1821.

3d Regt. of Drag. Guards.—Gent. Cadet W. Hibbert, from the Royal Military College, to be Cornet, vice Abertromby.

litary College, to be Cornet, vice Aberaroundy.

1st Regt. of Draga.—Lieut. J. C. Green to be Capt. vice Hoskina.—Cornet J. Kealing to be Lieut. vice Green.

4th Regt. of Light Draga.—Capt. R. R. W. Brett, to be Capt. vice Alpe. 9th Ditto—Capt. C. H. Somerset, to be Capt. vice Kei.

10th Ditto—Ensign Marquis of Carmarthen, to be Lieut. vice Otway.—Lord F. L. Gower to be Cornet, vice Viscount Beanchamp.

12th Ditto—Cornet Hon. G. Hervey, to be Lieut. vice Sinde.

19th Ditto—Capt. 8ir J. R. Bustace to be Major, vice Moultrie.—Lieut.

G. Duff to Le Capt. vice Rustace.—Cornet G. Johnstone to be Lieut. vice Duff.

Duff.

3.1 Regt. of Foot—Gent. Cadet W. Harris, to be Ensign, vice Hill.

12th Bitto—Capt. J. W. Henderson to be Capt, vice Campbell.—W. Fothergill, Gent. to be Ensign, vice Pounden.

21st Ditto—Sec. Lieut. G. Dears to be First Lieut. vice Bridgeman.—H. C. Daniel, Gent. to be Sec. Lieut vice Dearse.

29th Di to—S B. Bolleau, Gent. to be Ensign, vice Sitwett.

35th Ditto—Surgeon W. Manro to be Surgeon, vice Edon.

38th Ditto—Lieut. J. J. Suodgrass to be Adj. and Lieut. vice Matthew.

43d Ditto—A. Capel, Gent. to be Ensign, vice Hay.

55th Ditto—Lensign J. J. Pannden to be Lieut, vice Hall.

76th Ditto—Lieut. A. F. Ellis to be Capt. vice Colea.

76th Ditto -- Lieut A. F. Ellis to be Capt. vice Colea.
79th Ditto -- Lieut, J. D. Brown to be Lieut. vice Ford.
84th Ditto -- Lieut. R. \ andelevr to be Capt. vice Beamish.
2d West india Re t. -- Mr. C. M. Bean, who resigned as Capt. in this Regiment, has been re-instated.

ment, has been re-instated.

BANKRUPTCI'S SUPERSEDED.

BRANDER, J. and BARCLAY, J. Sizsiane, merchaets.—FIRM-STONE, J. P. o. High-Fields, Staffordshire, Irun and coal-manters.—WESTON, J. Tenterden, printer.—TEMPLE, N. Fleet-street, wine-merch.

STONE. J. P. of High-Fields, Statfordshire, from and coal-masters, VESTON, J. Tenterden, printer.—TEMPLE, N. Fleet-street, wine-merel BANKRUPTS.

TEMPLE, N. Fleet-street, wine and spirit-merchant. ELLIOTT, T. and HASLO. K. S. Northampton, boot and shoe-maker. DOB. Li., J. Cranbrook, currier.
BYASS, H. Rayleigh, Essex, apothecary.
WHATLEY, T. Ba combe, Somerset, shopkeeper.
WAINER, R. Huntingdon, frommonger.
WHITEHEAB, J. Han ey, Srafford-shire, merchant.
DENTITH, J. Liverpoo, silversinith.
MUMBY, R. Giamford-Briegs, mercer.
BEAUMONT, J. D. Maidstone, uphulsterer.
WILD, W. Sheffeld, cutler,
CLARK, J. Commercial place, ship-owner.
RICKET, H. Shoreditch, grocer.
RICKET, H. Shoreditch, grocer.
RIVOLTA, A. Brook-street, Holborn, locking-glass manufacturer, SANDERS, J. Uoventry, anctioneer.
DOBSON, T. and THOMPSON, G. Darlington, mercers.

-3.

JOHN BULL.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

Pants, Nov. 17 .- A considerable number of Deputies are pre-TARTS, Nov. 17:—A considerable number of Deputies are prevented from attending their duties by illness.—Journal de Paris.

An official statement respecting the fever at Barcelona, which has been published at Bourdeaux, observer—"The mortality has rather decreased; but this result is owing to the flight of a portion of the people, and the ravages already made by the contagion."

A disturbance took place on Thursday, in the prison Bicetre; 500 of the prisoners refused to work, on the pretext that they had not their money at their own disposal. A detechment of the Gendarmeric was dispatched to the prison to assist the ordinary guard in maintaining order.

Nov. 18.—A esterday, the King entered into his sixty-seventh in maintaining order.

Nov. 18.—Lesterday, the King entered into his sixty-seventh year. His Majesty received the congratulations of the Princes and Princesses of the Royal Family on the happy occasion.

Notwithstanding the alarm created by the pretended discovery in the Bois de Boulogne, Madame, the Governess of the children of France, did not deem it requisite to countermand their accustomed premenade. When her Royal Highness the Duchess de Berri was informed of the resolution of the Governess, the august Princes said, "She has acted perfectly right; the Duke de Bourdeaux ought never to recede (secular;) not even at the age of one year."

deaux ought never to recede (reculer;) not even at the age of one year."

M. Jabat, Ex-Minister of Marine in Spain, has just arrived in Paris. It is affirmed, that he is charged to request some French ships of war to be sent to the Colonies.

The fuzelte de France, in relation to the Convent of Mount Athos, states, that more than 12,600 Monks have shut themselves up in it. Eight thousand of these are courageous and well armed; their ramparts also possess artillery; and the isthmus, which is narrow, is tolerably well fortified.

Accounts from Trieste, of the 1st of November, state, that several vessels from Zante, Corfu, and Calamata, have confirmed the taking of Tripolitza, adding; that it had been taken by assault, and that the whole garrison had perished, with the exception of three Turkish Chiefs, who were spared as hostages.

A letter from Bayonne, states, that a courier from Madrid had passed through the town, with important dispatches; he stated, that on his departure from Madrid, agitation was very great in that tapital; that General Morillo had called out the troops, and that they had orders to fire upon those who manifested an intention of disturbing the peace.

VIENNA, Nov. 6.—Athens has been abandoned by the Greeks, and on being taken possession of by the Turks, became a prey to the flames. There is, however, ground of hope that only the new town, which, as is known, consisted only of poor cabins, has suffered, and that the venerable remains of antiquity have been spared. The Divan has ordered 100 Greeks of Cyprus and Candir, whowere at Constantinople, to be beheaded.

On the arrival of the Turks at Athens, the inhabitant took to flight; 500 men only, barricadoed in the houses, fired upon the Turkish troops, who lought foot to foot in the streets. Flames presently issued from some of the houses, but it could not be correctly ascertained by which party the fire had been kindled. The lower town is almost consumed.

Advices from Lisbon communicate the recent proceedings of sently issued from some of the houses, but it could not be correctly ascertained by which party the fire had been kindled. The lower town is almost consumed.

Advices from Lisbon communicate the recent proceedings of the Cortes. That legislative body has decreed, contrary to the unanimous opinion of the Deputies from Pernambuco, that some of the troops to be sent to Rio Janeiro, should be landed at the former town. The individuals who were arrested there in July and August, on suspicion of being concerned in the attempt upon the life of the Governor, have arrived at Lisbon, and applied to the Cortes to be set at liberty. Their application, and all the papers relative to the complaints against the above-mentioned public functionary, have been referred to Government, "in order that the matter may be duly investigated."—By the debates in the Cortes, it appears that the audicity and number of robbers in Lisbon are such, that they have lately a-sailed private houses in the principal streets, even at noon-day.—Pursuant to a Decree of the Cortes, foreign brandies are henceforth to pay $,000 reas per pipe, on their, being imported into the Isle of Madeira and its dependencies, or the Azores; and Portuguese brandier 7,600. The export duty on brandies manufactured in Portugal, or in the same islands, is reduced to 2,400 reas per pipe.

Accounts from Barcelone, in the Trench papers, state, that D1. Bally, the French physician, who had been reported to be dead, was completely depopulated.

Tents, Sept. 20.—Tunis is very healthy, but is a shocking dirty who returned to Barcelonetta were taken ill and died. Tortosa was completely depopulated.

Tems, Sepr. 20.—Tunis is very healthy, but is a shocking dirty place, and the trade falling off very much. The Dey has purchased several old vessels of different nations to make ships of war of, and is now fitting out five to go against the Greeks: he has four fine ships building, two under a Frenchman, the others under the direction of Turks; but it will be a long time before they are ready for sea. Not one of his fleet escaped the gale; they were all totally lost, with about 2000 officers and - amen.

Advices from Gibraitar to the 30th uit. State, that an epidemic fever-has broken out in the settlement of Alhucemas, on the coast of Africa. Private letters received at that place from Cadiz, confirm the existence of the yellow fever in that city; at Port St. Mary's, ships, persons, and effects, coming from any point of the bay of Cadiz are debarred admission into Portugal; and those coming from the other ports of Spain between Gibraitar and Ayamonte are not be admitted any where else than at Lisbon, subject, however, we where that least thirty days' quarantine.

not to be admitted any where else than at Lisbon, subject, however, even there, to at least thirty days' quarantine.

Botasy Bay.—Capt. Biggs, of the American ship General Gates, was condemned in the Suprene Court of New South Wales, to pay 60001, for having taken from the Colony ten convicts and one freeman, and baying quitted the harbour without a clearance.

Quagre, Oct. 18.—The absence of all demand for wheat has compelled severt! farmers in the district of Montreal to resort to this market in boars, with vegetables and oats. Large quantities of hy have also been brought down by water. In some of the parishes, which used to sell great quantities of wheat for exportation, farms, with a log-house and harn, have been sold at the Sheriff's sales for less than the usual law expences, incurred to effect the sale.

Accounts from New Objectits, to the 26th of September, by the mail, state, that information from every part of the State, but particularly the interior, confirmed the interhent that not more than half a crop of cotton would be made this season.

The Washington City Gazette supposes the amount of claims presented to the Commissioners on the Spanish spoliations to be 15,000,000 dollars, and that it is hardly possible 5,000,000 dollars can pay the principal of actual losses embraced by the treaty.—The whole number of Memorials already presented exceeds 500.

Washington, Oct. 17.—We hear that the hero of New Orleans, General Jackson, has arrived at his seat near Nashville. It is also reported, that he has resigned, or intends resigning, his appointment of Governor of Florida; that, indeed, he never meant to hold the office m. re than long enough to organize the territorial Government. Whether the collison with Judge Fromentin has becclerated his retirement, we know not; nor shall we here undertake to pronounce, whether the Constitution of the United States could be introduced there, but through the needium of an act of Congress. We incline to the negative side of the question.

Accounts have been received from the Facilic Ocean, by the Government at Washington, representing the serious inconvenience that had accrued from the detention of vessels belonging to the United States by the Chillan squadron. The Franklin 74 gun-ship had been dispatched instantly, to afford protection in those seas. The commander had instructions to use every means in his power to give relief, and, if necessary, to compel Lord Cochrane to raise the blockade of the coast.

been dispatched instantly, to allord protection in those ever. And commander had instructions to use every means in his power to give relief, and, if necessary, to compel Lord Cochrane to raise the blockade of the coast.

From the Boston Palladium, Out. 13.—The prevailing fever with which our country has been afflicted seems increasing. It is supposed, on a moderate computation, that there are at present 2000 persons labouring under this complaint in Frederick county, and that of this number at least 200 are dangerously ill.

Gale in the Work Indian.—(From the St. Christopher Gazette, Septe. 25.)—It is our painful duty to announce the particulars of a most devastating hurricane experienced here; several stores were levelled with the ground, many small houses is other parts of the town have been entirely destroyed, sences, trees, Sec. Every estate in the parish, as well as throughout the island, has reconved more or less injury. The cases in many places are laid stat, and crops of provisions destroyed. In Basseterre 201 houses were blown down, 50 of which were levelled completely. Three droghers were foundered, and all on board perished. Nine were killed on shore.

IRELAND.

down, 20 of which were levelled completely. Three droghers were blundered, and all on beard perished. Nine were killed on shore.

IRELAND.

In the parish of Killsynn, in the county of Limerick, the houses of six respectable farmers were robbed of arms, by a mounted banditti. On Sunday se'nnight, a large party attacked the house of John Spering and William Davis, near Adare, and seoured two muskets. They also attacked the house of J. Rose, Esq. at Granard; they demanded a cun and a blunderluss, and said they would allow him to retain his fourling-spiece, but, he rejected the offer of compromise, and the headilit retired, after firing two shots into the house, breaking the windows, and several doors. Mr. vilibing's house was also attacked; they broke the hall-door with a sledge, and fired several shots into the windows. A larisk fire was sledge, and fired several shot into the windows. A larisk fire was sledge, and fired several shot into the windows. At larisk fire was sleept up from within, and the villain retired in great contiguous leaving a window, and several windows of Mr. Barry's house, of Kilbodane were broken, and his family treated in great of the bloome. Several does not several when the same night. The doors and windows of Mr. Barry's house, of Kilbodane were broken, and his family treated such several when he had previously sent away his fire-arms. The house of J. Grady, ear Kilfiman, has been squin attacked; the had driven them of two days before, but they now succeeded by tranking the door with a reledge, and threatening him with instant death, they took two years, and some ammunition. The same party levied outributions trom serveral houses, where they did not find arms.—The house of the with provided the burder of the fire of on his knees, and presenting a pistol to his head, threatened to shoot him if he did not give them more arms, which, they said, he possessed. In this rainful situation Mr. Vize was kept, until they searched his house, when they retired. On Friday morning a party of the banditti visited the house of J. Kelly, Esq. near Limerick—they searched for arms, but having before carried off his blanderbuss and imasket, they found nothing, and as usual, under such disappointments, they treated the immakes very roughly.—On Friday evening, Mr. T. Stevens was robbed of two muskets, within a quarter of a mile of Limerick, which he intended to deposit for safety in that city.

By letters received from Mill-street, county of Cork, and its vicinity, it appears that there is not a gentleman's residence from and rounders will be on her.

Clair, the Adjutant-General, Lord Ayliner, Continuing a trops destined to protect that part of the country, abbnitzed to the Abretine as proposition from Government, whicher they consilient to the Abretine as proposition from Government, whicher they consilient with an opposition from Government, which is the consilient of the consili reply, intimated that the Judges would take time to constant judgment.

WEDNESDAY.—Mr. Pearson moved for a criminal inital tidelogy against five persons. The applicants were Anne Carey and Mary 1984 anne Ellis: the parties moved against were, let, a Margistrate of Anne Ellis: the parties moved against were, let, a Margistrate of Anne Ellis: the parties moved against were, let, a Margistrate of Anne Elizabeth Carey had been a married woman, and the wife of reconstances; in the year 1817 her husband died, and the wife to the constances.

Anne Entzaueth Carcy and locen a married woman, and in quantities circumstances; in the year 1817 her husband died, and the wife lodged in Wood-street, Westminster, at the house of a person named Smith, and endeavoured to maintain herself by needle work, in the walks to and from the shops at which she was employed. In Mrs. Carcy happened to meet the gentleman of fortune alluded to on his knees, and presenting a pistol to his head, threatened to shoot him if he did not give them more arms, which, they said, he possessed. In this painful situation Mr. Vize was kept, until they searched his house, when they retired. On Friday morning a party of the banditti visited the house of J. Kelly, Esq. near Limerick—they searched for arms, but having before carried off his blanderbuss and masket, they isonal nothing, and as usual, under such disappointments, they treated the immates very roughly.—On Friday evening, Mr. C. Stevens was robbed of two maskets, within a quarter of a mile of Limerick, which he intended to deposit for safety in that city.

By letters received from Milistreet, county of Cork, and its vicinity, it appears that there is not a gentleman's residence from Kanturk to that town, with the exception of Drishane Castle, the seat of Captain Wallis—and Rathue, the seat of Denis M'Carthy, Esq.—the had not been visited by those nightly disturbers, who prowl about in search of arms. On Monday night a large party surrounded the residence of Charles M'Carthy, Esq. of Churchhill, and immediately forced open she back door; they obtained a sword and two shot pouches, with which they appeared so disappointed that they proposed swearing a famale in the house as to where any other arms could be found. They then proceeded to the house of two tythe-proctors, and destrayed their valuation books and all their notes; after this, they took the rente to Radiner, and broke some windows, but offered no further volkence—of Thursdaya Meeting of Magistrates and Gentlemen of the county of Cork, was held at Buttevant, which was numerously and respect to the his absence frequent letters he regretted that he woon one to a famile of the found. They then proceeded to the loude. After the Hoa. R. Hare, M. P. had taken the

the first inputs, and condoled with her on her resistant to the circumstance he sale, the first of her inability begins in such sports, the first hall held to the circumstance he sale, the circumstance he sale, the begins in the duet of docther let us range the fields, for the fill the above-mentioned letters in August and September, let above-mentioned letters in August and September, let any others of similar effect, Mr. A. returned to his light at Brompton, and resided there usual February, 1821. The entirement of festivation, however, it appeared, was taken. He went out, it listal, one morning; evaning came, but Mr. A. did not return. Several days passed without any tidings being received from hind. At last his heather appeared to solve the difficulties, Mr. A.'s intercourse, with Mrs. Carey must at some time end; no moment more favourable than the then apportunity could obtain and from that moment he would decline, therefore, all further of the commencement of their intimacy, Mr. A. had sworn sier-Piston, and the commencement of their intimacy, Mr. A. had sworn the gip should never want, and had promised atall events to settle 1801, 3 per upon her; Mr. A., inates do is a namity of 1001, a pear, early fig. 3 per upon her; Mr. A., inates do is a namity of 1001, a pear, early fig. 3 per upon her; Mr. A. inates do is a namity of 1001, a pear, early fig. 3 per upon reprind the order of the pear of the pe ants, nine in number, several of whom were respectable as allowers of Cheltenham, and were convicted at the last Assizes for Gloucestershire, of a riot in the towa of Cheltenham, and of assaulting tertain Excise Officers in the execution of their duty, in seizing some window-blinds in the shop of one of the defendants, which had not paid the Excise duty.—Affidavits were put in on behalf of the defendants, in mitigation of punishments; and, after hearing Counsel on both sides, the Court sentenced Thomas Gregory, Thomas Boucher, Daniel Boucher, Francis Rawlins, and William Rawlins, to 12 months' imprisonment in the House of Correction; Francis Rawlins to paya-fine of 501.; Daniel Alder and John Alder to be imprisoned six months, the latter to pay a fine of 251.; and William Peachey and George Purk to be imprisoned for four months; and all the defendants to enter into security for their good behavious for those years.

William Peachey and Greaten to enter into security for their good schaped and all the theteidants to enter into security for their good schaped and the latest to enter into security for their good schaped and the followed another.—On the motion of the Solicitor-General, these defendants, William Millis and Richard Lowe, who were convicted at the last Assizes for Berkshire, of a riot and assault upon David Deadman and Thomas Pike, who had been witnesses in an Exchequer suit for semugaling, were sentenced to four months imprisonment in Reading good, and billis was ordered to pay a fine of 501, and both defendants were required to give security fast sheir good behaviour for three years.

The Miles which Pattern and John Mi Mahass, were brought up to pective the sentence of the Court, having been epawicaid, at the last Arizas for Laucashire, of ascattling two Excise officiers, in the trecution of their duty, at Liverpool. They were sentenced to pay a fine of 1501, such, and to be imprisoned in some instable in the Efficience, Liouse of Correction.

sex liquee of Corrections: in the constant of the second of the constant of th inter Cotas i colonia i se e come interes i estima N Con propositi transferancia i care i care interes i come

The Attorney-lieuged, and the compact the attention of his borden, for several mass that I came the attention of his borden, for several mass that II came the population of his borden, for several mass that II came the population of his borden, for several mass that II came the population of the borden, which is the population of the borden of the Vice Chance there in behalf of the poor of Tunbridge. The bill amongs other things, prayed that the funds, now so considerable, might be apprepriated to the purposes of the chart, and appropriated to the same purposes. I saving taken a zeneral review of the leading features of the case, his Lordship said the question materially turned on the meanics to be given to the will of Sir Andrew Judd; and, his opinion therefore was, that the Decree of Mr. Morour should be confirmed; but, in order to obvide e-crain difficulties, the words "will," or "intended will," should be infroduced; and an order to that effect was accordingly inneae.

Fannay—The Eving v. George Bere.—The Solicitor-General moved the judgment of the Court upon this defendant, for publishing a number of the Republicus, at Carille's along, in Fleetevet, in July last.—Several andievits were put in by the defendant, and read by the Clerk of the Court:—Mr. Cooper addressed the Court on itself of the prisoner, at great length,

The Solicitor-General replied; and Mr. Justice Bayley delivered the judgment of the Court, which was, that the defendant be imprisoned in Winchester good for the term of six months, and at the expiration of that period for the term of six months, and to pay a fine of 501.

Bayney have enterneed to be imprisoned four months, and to pay a fine of 501. Ase which occupied the attento pay a fine of 50l.

Boardof Excise.—John Morion and Henry Hust were charged with having manufactured soap at an unentered place, and, upon several other counts, with having insurred penaltics to the amount of 600l. The latter defendant alone appeared.—B. F. Gardner, an Officer of the Excise, stated, that on the 17th of Sept. he discovered in White Hart-place, Kennington, a complete and extensive seap manufactory, with apparatus and a large quantity of imperfectly formed soap and some materials, the whole of which he seized.—From the evidence adduced, the Court expressed themselves satisfied that Mr. Hunt had not been engaged in the undertaking.—Mr. Hunt was then sworn, and examined as a winess. He said that he met the defendant, John Mswton (whom he knew some time since, and who was known in Lawbeth by the name of Irish Jack), soon after the seizure had been made. The witness was extremely angry with him for making use of his name (in taking the premises where the soap manufactory was discovered), when Morton asked him in reply, what occasion he had to be angry, since there were more John Hunts than one?—The Court said, this was an implied acknowledgment on the part of Morton, and condemned the apparatus and woods found area.

POLICE.

nounced indement the apprinture and goods foundation the garanties.

POLICE.

Mannon House.—On Thursday, a manifished Thompson, was charged with having stolen a pair of boots, the property of a labouring ram.—The complainant stated; that he was at work in America-quare, in cleaning the sewer, and had left his must pipes close by for the space of a minute, and on turning round lowards, where they lay, he row the prisoner take them up and make off with them, after having handed one of them to an accomplice.—The prisoner, in his defence, said, that he was a Scotsman from Aberdem, and had been for a long time in great distress. He had friederity where to get work, but without success; he had offered to isbour for his food gloue, but could not get even that, or any relief list condition, he said, was at length so much reduced, that he had only the selectrative to starve or to stead, and he did not bestate in choosing the latter.—The prisoner was asked why, if his condition, he said, was at length so much reduced, that he had only the selectrative for the properties of the proposal to share the bouts immediately I asked him; I had never seen him before.—The Lord Mayor convicted the prisoner as a common pillerer, being found at large without any visible means to obtaining his livelihood, and sentebeed him to be imprisoned to hard labour in the House of Correction for two months, and during the time to be whipped.

Bow-Srager.—On Wednesday, Mr. R.—B.—, well known in the sporting circles, appeared to put in bail to answer to an indictment, which had been found against him and Frederick (Ild-field (under the statute prohibiting gaming for money above a certain mount). For having mon at one tince a sum exceeding Isl. from one Francie Power, the Wagnstrates for three months, and let him be well florged. The prisoner then changed countenance, and the unfortunate mother supplicated in tears to have the "flogging" omitted. In this entreaty she was joined by the daughter.—The Maristrate (Mr. Chambers) strongly censured both mother and sister for making so absurd a request, and observed, that if the unfeeling son had received such punishment as he was about to undergo, some years ago, there would probably be no necessity now for making any complaint.—The hoy was the "taken to prison.

LAM ETH-PBEET.—Thursday, Israel Alexander, driver of Mr. Aloss's Alishop Stortford Stage Coach, appeared to an information at the suit of George Markin, wherein he was charged with driving his employer's coach at a turious rate, so as to endanger the lives of his Majesty's subjects.—The Magistrate convicted the defendant in the penalty of Bl. and December.

In the penalty of M. and M. costs.

Managenous - reserve—Monday, the driver of a backney-coach was charged by the Hou. George Henry, son of the Earl of Bristol.

Mr. Heevey stated, that as Wednesday night, as he was nothering home in his cabriedes. Boss Designated Wester, for Regentistreet, his cabriedes that stated his between placed agross the road, for the purpose of obstiticting the passage of the street. The sale of the historian jumped of to remonstrate with the conclusion and proposed of to remonstrate with the conclusion and proposed of the tater retured to stir, alleging that the footning jumped off to remonstrate with the conclusion are the profiled to the sale of the cabriolets, and the footning jumped off to remonstrate with the conclusion are the profiled to the proposed of the sale of the remonstrate with the conclusion and relies and the sale of the remonstrate with the conclusion and relies and in the sale of the read and relies of the way, almost the footning in and relies to the sale of the road, and that he was justified in positions. The conclusion side of the road, and that he was justified in positions has position. He disclaimed all knowledge of, or participation in the acts of the bye-standers. The Magistrate scatened him to pay a fine of 20s, and costs for obstructing the public way. The conclusions and the fine, and was discharged.

MANY-LE-BONG OFFICE.—There are nine persons in costody, charged with a burglary, at Mr. Orde's, in Berkeley-square. The house was left in the charge of a female, who had a suitor, a man of the name of Jago, a principal in the robbery. He was before known to the Folice; to carry his plans into execution he married the servant in care of the house, and introduced the offery prisoners are various times, five of whom are youths, and the others females. Part of the violen property is traced to the shop of pawnbrokers and others, and many of the prisoners are identified. The property lost amounts in value to several hundred poundary. The prisoners were remanded for another examination.

Wosaur-Stager.—Qu Wednesday, eight fellows, forming part of a nost formidable gang of pickpockets, were charged the configuration in Chur

Correction for three months; Haswell, Letter, and Showell were permitted to find good bail; and Castles was discharged.

RECORDER's RESPORT—On Monday the Recorder made his report to His Majesty, in council, of the prisoners who were capitally convicted at the October Sessions, when the following were ordered for execution on Tuesday, the 27th instant:—Ann Norris, and Amey Steele, for robberies in dwelling-houses; Samuel Hayward, for a burglary at Somers-town; Jaseph Soith, for uttering a forged 101. note, and John Jacotts, for a highway robber; at Whitechapel.

Executions.—On Wednesday morphing, the eight following malefactors were.—executed at the Old Bailey:—Josiah Cadunan, for attaring forged 5t. notes; Edmand Sparrow, for uttering forged 5t. notes; Edmand Sparrow, for the light in the remaining to long the pound note; and others to a large amount.

This unfortunate young man belongs, we indicestand to a respectable family; W. Garton, for stealing six sheep. This unhappy man was near the age of vixty-awarn; Isaac Colelia, a Jew, for a highway robbery. He was attended by a pricat of his own persuasion and two friends. At half-past eight o'clock, the platform fell, and the unfortunate sufferers were no more.—The eight unhappy men, with the exception of the Jew, were attended in their last moments by the Ordinary, and by Mr. Baker.—Cadunan, when the fatal rope had been placed round his neck, addressed the spectators in a firm, deliberate, and unfaultering manner, nearly as fullows:—"My friends and fellow Countrymen—it is with the agentic feelings of a husband, who has breught his wife into the same disgraps with himself, that I now add. cas you. I have drawn down upon myself the sentence of the law—to that I now salunist. Let it be told to my King; to my Sovereign, that I now salunist. Let it be told to my King; to my Sovereign, that I now salunist. Let it be told to my Ki

The astonishing difference between the present prices of the best London printed Chintz Furnitures, Moreens, Morino Damasks, &c. and the same description of Goods produced in former years, is beyond all conception. No oil Extablishment can possibly afford to sell a Stock which has been years accumulating, within at least 30 per cent. of Mits and Edwards's immense Assertment, every piece of which has been manufactured within the last few months. The new and fashionable article of French Stripes, in every shade of colouring, can only be procured at their New Chintz Furniture and Moreen Warebouse, No. 134, Oxford-street, nearly opposite Hanover square.

the last tew mounts. In each of the last interest of French Stripes, in every shade of colouring, can only be procured at their New Chittz Burndure and Moreen Warehouse, No. 134, Oxford street, nearly opposite Hanover-square.

Advertisement.]—The Country versus London.—The second Number of "The Country Constitutional Guardian, and Literary Magazine," published at Bristol by J. M. Gutch, will be received in town by P. C. and J. Rivington, on Saturday lie 1st December, and to be by them supplied to the Trade and the Public on that flay. Atmospts a variety of subjects, the Second Number will contain "A Reply to Cato, on the Constitutional Association—An Ode on the Kings Beturn—A Continuation of the Age of George the Third; subject, The Succession; The British Martial—A few Hints to young Mr. Lamb an—Observations on the Agricultural Report," &c. &c.—The First Number cell shortly be reprinted, price 2s.

Advertisement.]—If the reader is afflicted with Fistula, or similar diseases, we swould ask, has be ever heard of the late Murtin Van Butchel; who used to treat these completins in a way peculiar to himself, and to effect sures signestanty-exally-without harlog recourse to either Cutting, Caustic or Confinement, which is also usual practice.—We find his son, D. D. Van Butchell, surgeon, accoucher, who resides at No. 48, South-street, Berkeleysquare, continues to perform curves of the most dangerons cases by the same method, and is as completely successful. Both rich and poor, who are thus mailiered, will do well to observe, he requires no remuneration smill they are satisfied a cure has been performed; in fact, the puor are relieved gratis, if respectably recommended.

Admentification —A candid examination of professional pretensions is and Co. Members of the Reval College of Surgeons, confine their studies to the treatment of a certain class of disorders, especially to such as arise from Nervous Beblity. Their work, "The Ægis of Life," in full explanation of these subjects, may te had at No. 20, Paternouser-roy, or these subjects, may be had at No. 20. Pateriouster-row, or at any booksellers. No diseases are felt with greater polarancy by the sufferer than those occasioned by his own improdence; and in no cases of consultation is liberality of education is the Professor more desirable than where the most unbounded confidence is placed, and the most inviolable secresy is expected: thus the terms are plainly stated at the first interview, or in answer to letters describing the case, and enclosing a bank more. Medicines can be forwarded when any part, however distant.—It, Bouverlo-street, Fleet-street, London.

Advertisement.]—No Discovery of the kind has been so generally adopted in the l'asbionable World as Atkinson's Vegetable Hairfoll, or Curling Fluidy it is now considered an indispensible appendage to the foliet, for receiverality the hair; it is so re-eminent, that medical men of the first caminence presente he hair it is so re-eminent, in the mair, it is so re-eminent, that medical men of the first caminence presented by any such as fevers, ascunchement, or other illness, change of climate, perspiration, intense study, &c. it is warranted to restore it to its original thickness, and beauty; for dressing the hair, it is far preferable to the extracts, or pomatums, making the hair softer and more glousy, and giving it such trees, if and elasticity, that itrefains its curl during exercise, or in changing capture. Price 3s. 6d.; 10s. 6d., and one guinea.—And Atkinson's Vegetable Dye, well known as the only infallible article which changes grey or red late on the head, or whickers, to an guinea may be a new process, removes reduces, landness, and ancressness from the sidn, prevents its chapping, and makes it soft, white, and even. Price 3s. Bond street, Guesson 12s. Fold at 44. Genard-street, Peace, 39s. Bond street, Guesson 12s. Frith-street, and 45. Oxford-street, Peace, 29s. Bond street, Guesson 12s. Frith-street, and 45. Oxford-street. Baley and Blaw. Cockaput-rateret, Press. 29s. Sept. Sept. 20s.

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We will nest week search for an answer to Honestun.
We think of reserving G. G.'s communication till Parliament meets, when it may be wanted.
Mm. Colbumu'n letter in the Chronicle of yesterday might seem to deny that the jurgraph which appeared in John Bull about Lapu Mobulu was paid for; we must therefore beg to repeat, that nothing but the consideration of one pound would have secured her Latyphip a place in this Paper, even among Striped Furniture and Chroling Fhide, in whose society, after all, the flourished in our colimiture.

We thank BRISTOLIS.

We thank Bristolis.

J. B. is too diffuse for a subject so sparkling.

Ringle Z. has been received.

Dugit poin likely some nipulal—88.—

We do not quarrel with Cavendo Tutur, but he must allow the foke was a good one.

Ton Piper Pipes may be assured that Lambton dare do no such thing—uroe be to the Yellow Boy, if he does.

A. G. S. will see we have started same enquiries.

Twitten, Olliver Holdpast, Pro Patria, Truth, the Frequenten of Covent Garden Theatre, X. Y., Crito, True Blue, and Reflector, have been received.

The subject J. H. G. B. clinde's to, is too delicate to be touched spin yet, at all events.

We are obliged to our friend J. B.

Celeratar kull be attended to.

Jiles in our next.

MILES in our next.

Mn. Bridle's second letter came too late for insertion.

Mnny other communications have been received, but from our peculiur situation this week we are unable to reply to them in detail; and we trust that any other omissions which may strike the readers of this Number will, upon the same ground, be treated with indul-

TO SOLICITORS, STUDENTS. MERCHANTS, TRADESMEN, and OTHERS.—Just published for 1822, on fine large post See. price sewed (THERS.—Just published for 1872, on five large post five, price sewed, 2a, half bound, 4s.

NITTOMAS'S DAILY RECISTER; or, LAW REMEMBRANCER for 1872; containing a large space for Memorandums or Appointments, Bills, payable or receivable; Lists of Stamp Daties; Soliditors' Tables of Terms and Returns; Public Holdays; Law and other Pablic Officers, and other useful matter.

Published and sold by R. Thomas, 203, Fleet-street, three deers from Temple Bar; and may be had at all Stationers and Bookseliers.

Late may be had at above. Thomas's Publican's Journal; and Family, Gentlemen's, and Ladies' Washing Books.

Also may be had at above. Indicates the continuents, and Lately published, 8vc. price 8s. in boards, Intry, shewing the Proportion of Issane Persons sured, and the Probabilities of Recovery. With REMARKS on the alleged increase and prevalence of Mental Derangement; on the influence of the Locality and Economy of Lunatic Asylusus; on their results; on the Condition of the Epitepite, Patunus, and Idiotia in England; on Religion, as accuse, or an effect, of Insanity, &c. &c. By GEORGE MAN BURROWS, M.B. F.L.S., &c. Sold by T. and G. Underwood, 33, Piect-street.

THE NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE, for Nov. 1, contains, besides the usual Varieties, the following Original papers.

1. The Continuation of Mr. Campbell's Lectures on Postry.—II. On the History of the Middle Ages, by M. Siamondi.—III. Greec.—IV. Gymnastica of the Studious.—V. Sunday in Paris.—VI. Modern Pilgrimages—Auburn.—Of the Studious.—V. Sunday in Paris.—VI. Modern Pilgrimages—Auburn.—VII. On Hests.—VIII, Grimm's Ghost.—IX. The Sard Spring.—The Cat Painter.—XI. On Persian and Arabic Latersture, No. I.—XII. The Raid of Cille-Carist.—XIII. The Triton of the Milenows.—XIV. Letters from Spain.—XV. Femile Cowardine—XVII. Jonathan Kenturky's Journal. No. VI.—XVII. The Licitery.—XVIII. Coversation—XXII. Lines addressed to Ugu Foscolo.—XX. Cain on the Sea Shere.—XXII. Parisog.—XXIV. German Literature; the Mines of the Kant.—KXV. Shanzas, Sonnet, &c.

Printed for Heavy Collucta and Co., Conduit.-street,

Lately published, in Viola 340, price 31, 133, 66, boards,

**Lately published, in Viola 340, price 31, 133, 66, boards,

**Lately published, in Viola 340, price 31, 133, 66, boards,

Printed for Heary Colhurn and Co. Conduit.-street.

Printed for Heary Colhurn and Co. Conduit.-street.

Lately published, in 2 vols. Mo. price 31. 13a. 6d. beards.

I. A. L. Y. By L. A. D. M. ORGAN, Author of "France," The is a book-that will largely occupy public attention. It is by far the most important work which its author-hea as yet undertaken. It is not a classical tour, nor a picturesque teur; but it contains a rich harvest of a classical tour, nor a picturesque teur; but it contains a rich harvest of "middle age" anecdote, aho inding with such traits of the domestic, accial, and political life of the great lie-publics of Italy, an cannot fall of exciting an litense interest. The gravity and mansiveness of the subject have not, however, prevented the author from indulging largely in these humourous and striking details of resi life, which form the charm of her more recent novels. Her views of society have been more intimate than those of any other recent traveller. Her literary reputation has opened wide the door continental hospitality to her; and this circumstance has given the same cort of interest and originality to her narration which made the reputation of her work on France, and distinguishes if from all other books on that country."—Dublin Mackly Register.

Printed for Henry Colbarn, and Co. Condait-street; Bell and Bradfute Edinburgh; and Jehn Cumming, Publin.

Just published, price 7a. 6d.

Edinburgh: and Jehn Cumming, Publis.

Just published, price 7s. 6d.

PRACTICAL ECONOMY; or, The Application of Modern Discoveries to the purpose of Bosnessk Life.

This Work will be found equally useful to those who are wise enough to enter into the practice of the rules which it lays down, and entertaining to others, who may merely wish to amuse themselves with its theories. It contains a variety of new and useful information, calculated at once to increase our comforts, and diminish our expenses. "Naw Monthly Mac.

Printed for Henry College acaptates."—Naw Monthly Mac.

MR. JOHN SCOTTS POSTHUMOUS WORK.

Just published, in 8vo. price 14s. boards, the Second Edition of KETCHES of MANNERS. SCENERY, &c. in the FRENCH PROVINCES; with an Bessy on French Literature.—By the late OHN SCOTT, Esc. Author of the "Visit to Paris," &c.

Printed for Longman, Hurst, Recs, Orme, and Brown, London; of whom may be had, by the same Author.

2 A VISIT to PARISE in 1815; Third Edition, 8vo. 12s. boards.

Just published.

Just published.

3. PARIS REVISITED in 1815; Third Edition, 8vo. 12s. boards.

Just published, for the Instruction and Amusement of Yenth, By W. GARDIN ER.

Intermediate Master of the Sydney and Aylburton Oranmar Methods; Author of Ediward Wortley, Sc., Price 2s. 6d. half-bound.

2. The STORY of PEGOU, a Malay Boy, by the same Author, will be ready on or about the 15th day of December, and ought to be read by every fentleman's Bon and Merchant's Apprentice in the British Empire.

Printed on superfine Paper, and neatly embellished with Engravings from original designs, for B. Mackay, 53, Eartholomew-close; and may be had of all Bookevillers.

all Booksellers.

Just published, in Svo. price 12s. in beards, dedicated, by persission, to His Royal Hightess the Duke of York.

A BRIEF DISPLAY of the ORIGIN and HISTORY of ORDBALB; Trials by Battle; Courts of Chivalry or Honour; and the Decision of Private Quarrels by Single Combat; also, a Chronological Register of the Principal Duels fought from the Accession of his late Majesty to the present time.—By JAMBS P. GILAHRIST.

Princed for the Author, by W. Bulmer and W. Nicol, Cleveland-row, St. James's; and sold by W. Burns, Bookseller to H. R. H. the Duke of York, St. James's street.

Candles of Terms of a respectable CLASSICAL BOARDING NCHOOL for YOUNG GENTHERES, in the Neighbourhood of Camiles Hill, Kessington, may be had at Messrs. T. and G. Underwood, Booksellers, 32, Fleet-street, and at Mr. Halles's Museum, Piccadilly.

PRICE OF STOCKS AT THE CLOSE, SATURDAY.

Our report of the operations in the Funds is altogether unin-teresting; prices have been stationary, almost without precedent. Cor-sols for the account terminating on Wednesday next, have con-tinued at 7%, and for January, 7%, at which there have alternately been buyers and sellers. The Five Per Cent. Navy Annuities have declined to 1101 t.

declined to 1102 t.

Owing in a great measure to the new arrival of the Mails, very little business has been transacted in Foreign Securities, and the value is unvaried, except Columbian Bonds, which have risen from $20.000.

THE GRAND HISTORICAL PRINT, representing the PRO-CESSION from WESTMINSTER HALL to the ABBEY, they inc E. CESSION from WESSTMINSTER HALL to the ABBET, shawing the appearance of the surrounding Baildings, &c. on the 18th of July, 1831, the day of the Coronation of his Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fourth, is now ready for delivery at the Publisher's, G. Humphrey, No. 77, St. James's-street, London. Prize 41, is, beautifully coloured, size of the Print is 44 inches by 9 ditto.

Print is 4s increa by Bullo.

ROWE and WALLER, Stationers, beg leave to acquaint the Public, that the Al, MANACKS, COURT RALENDARN, with every Ansual Publication for the next Year, are ready, and may be had at their Housein great variety. Paper, Stationery and Account Books: at Wholesale Prices.

No. 49, Free-atreet.

JOHN BULL.

LONDON, NOVEMBER 25.

WE have to announce to our readers that the sentence of the Court of King's Bench was yesterday past upon MR. WEAVER the present, and MESSES. SHACKELL and AR-ROWSMITH, the late proprietors of this paper, for having inserted a libel upon the late LADY WROTTESLEY, the daughter of the EARL of TANKERVILLE, the wife of SIR JOHN WROTTESLEY, and the sister of the HON. HENRY GREY BENNETT: the present member for Shrewsbury.

We had intended to-day to have laid before our friends some observations upon the case, our own ignorance of the Lady's death, our anxious and immediate suppression of the words charged as libellous, and some remarks upon the sentence itself. As it may be supposed our minds are not in a fit state to discuss (as calmly as it should be discussed) such a question—a question so vitally important to our interest, we therefore have determined to let the week pass over, and defer till next Sunday that which we may have to offer to the public.

Philosophers tell us, that there is a satisfaction in all ills, and that good grows out of evil-far as we are and ever shall be from complaining of injustice from such courts and such judges as ours in Enguann, we must hope, that the charge made against us of being hirelings, or tools of the Government, (which we have always repelled with disdain,) will at least be done away with, by the sentence the three parties implicated have just received :-- an imprisonment of NINE MONTHS each, and a fine to the amount of 1100 POUNDS, are no marks of Court favour; but we have promised ourselves and our readers to postpone our reflections upon this matter till next week, quite sure that the support our INDEPENDENT and UN-BOUGHT efforts in the cause of the King and Constitu-TION have hitherto met with will not fail us now, and that, though we pledge ourselves not to go begging alous to pay our fines, the friends of LOVALTY and GOOD BRDER will continue that encouragement which they have hitherto so decidedly given us, during the privation and confinement which one LINE, written in a moment of zeal, has jurily (we have no doubt) brought upon us.

THAT steady going, immutable paper, the TIMES, in which were published the sycophantic letters of VETUS about LORD WELLESLEY, some years since, has, in its columns of Wednesday, a pretty sharp stap at his Lord-ship; while on the other hand, in opposition to their sickening flummery about WILSON now, we have the following paragraph in the same paper respecting him, which appeared in the year 1816:—

sickening flummery about Wilson now, we have the following paragraph in the same paper, respecting him, which appeared in the year 1816:—

"Of the affair of Sin Remar Wilson, Bauer, and Tevrentsaon, we have been extremely cautious of speaking, from a respect for some of the parties, and likewise from a general welling of bamanity towards men who were suffering, however alightly, the ponalties of the law. There is, in truth, only one of them whose political consequence renders him descring of notice; and his friends, unluckily, will force his name upon public attention. They are, says a morning paper of yesterday, happily arrived in England, after their long user pandul generations. Whether this is really meant to make Sin Romer Wilson and his friends look ridiculous or not, we cannot tell; but we are sure it can do them no good. Three months? imprisonment a long and painful persecution? of men who had rescued fro: publishment a criminal that had done all he could (and that all not a little) to overthrow the Government of his country! No one questions, however we and others may pallight the conduct of the three persons is question by the plea of humanity, that they noted very wrong—that they did that which they had no business to do. What I'vit may be said, had they no business to be humane? Oh yes; as shuch their had pea of humanity a motive for violating the laws of any country wherein they may reside: or if they do, they have no right to be angrateful. They were tried by a law that was not made for them; and when convicted, they were sentenced to the least possible management which that law could inflict. Now, does it, or does it not, become such men to complain of persecutions? What, would they have had even the very slightest award of the old law set aside for the same impartial purpose? We can tell them, that if they had been guilty of a similar display of humanity in England, they would have been very much disposed to put them in his place. Let them not, therefore, talk of personation; but let the elemenc

On FRIDAY the TIMES advocates the CHURCH, and makes a quotation from BISHOP WATSON-" to shew (as "they themselves say) that they are no enemies to that esta-"blishment, although some," they add, "(but more espe-"cially one rancorous crooping ragunafin,) have cudea-"voured to represent them." This is hard language, and not elegant, but it evidently alfudes to the Morning CHRONICLE, and though strungly put, is certainly not more than that paper deserves.

There is in another part of the article in question, an allusion to "the day of trouble; when the noblity and their families will "and support, and when consequently plouded, but we and it still haunting the puniters of Piles, ing house square. We shall shortly lay before our maders. the opinion the TIMES newspaper has most liberally and

No man of feeling can contemplate the department of capital punishments in this country, without some interest and no man, we should think, would be so micely ing as to recur to the past conduct of those who have part the last great forfeit of the Taw. But the tone recently adopted by the Radicals upon this subject, calls for a

We have had occasion before, to remark the sensitiveness of the Radicals, upon the subject of handing, ULIDASLAUS JESELLO, did not more dread the smell of apples, nor JACOBUS FOROLIVIENSIS, look with greater suspicion upon garlick, than these men, when they talk in fear and apprehension of the gallows: it is always uppermost in their thoughts; and, as the TIMES is the leader of the faction, we find the "danger of the subject," perpetually treated of. His MAJESTY could not go to HANOYER, but they were all of a fume, lest the Lords Justices should hang somebody; who it was, for whom they particularly trombled, we never exactly made out; and, in short, whosever they can, they express a very strong feeling wood the subject.

But latterly, a new use has been made of their personal fears, or rather, they have taken a new line whereon to express them. They have a double object in their remarks upon executious, and with a sucaking false shew of pity, arraign, not the justice of the law, but the lumanity of the

SOVERRIGN.
The Times newspaper gives two accounts of the effection of CADMAN on Wednesday, for uttering forged note, and a long article of its own upon the subject, to which we must call the notice of our readers.

After describing the noble and heroic manner is the the unfortunate person was ridded of his irons, the Hami

*When Carman appeared upon the platform, there was $ 1000, and frequently cried out, Shame, shame, so merch; Gid blue and frequently cried out, Shame, shame, so merch; Gid blue and frequently cried out,

This, if true—which is FALSE—means what will be the ly need not answer the question.

With respect to the cries of " murder," and " Get bles you," they were used by one or two of the mob when Bal-LINGHAM was hanged, for that murder about which the CHRONICLE made droll verses, and were even heard when that martyr to the CAUSE, MR. THISTLEWOOD, surreddered his brave spirit in the same place. To be sure, with men of such politics as those the Times professes, this is men of such pointer as those the TIMES professes, this is not wonderful. But, knowing the TIMES as well as we do. we would ask them, if they cared one straw about Main Capman or his case either? or whether they did not do with him as their old Pay-mistress CABOLINE of directly many the proper if possible a work of many the proper if possible a work of many transfer. want to prove, if possible, a want of mercy in the heart of our Sovuanton—in a heart full of tenderness, grace, and want to prove, if possible, a want of mercy in the heart of our Sovumages—in a heart full of tenderness, grace, and feeling? To be surethey did; and to forward this great end, they go out of their way, to illustrate the Newtonic (aslendar, with the following original notice.

"Another of the sufferers, Cadinan, instained with stelly excellent character. His talents were considerable. He had served and been severely wounded in the service of his country, and sou reduced to the commission of wrine by the pressured distress, arising from the want of employment. When he sommitted the crime for which he has suffered, his wile lay daugerously ill, and he had not the means of procuring for her the commission different had not the means of procuring for her the common necessaries of life. He conducted himself, after the order for execution had arrived with becoming firmness; and he would have been perfectly resigned, had not his reflections been embittered by the procedestion that he was about to suffer the soverest sentence of the law, while many normanus offerent long cureer of grail, had been permitted to escape. But for this consideration, he had, he could have borne his doom with tranquillity. Is it not stream that he was about now be withheld, and opportally in the present instance, from one so yearng, previously so respectable, street and seduced by circumstances so peculiar, and so unpructiced in transactions of this nature, and after a learned Judge had declared that the recommendation of his case for mercy by the Jury should receive consideration? But these are a few only of the anomalies arising from penaltics of excessive severity. It is, indeed, unaccountable that enactments so sanguinary in their character thould fall in their intended effect, when it is evident that crime is increasing under them, and when their energy by the Jury should receive consideration?

In their intended effect, when it is evident that crime is increasing under them, and when their eventure is not be inhumanity, inefficacy, and i itself assented, by three distinct majorities, to the principal proby the petitioners.

"These remarks have arisen from the antiff scene when we yesterday exhibited, and from the affecting consideration that five more persons are sentenced to suffer on Tuesday next. Thus, unless the intercessions of humanity prevail, will one saibild witness the dying convulcions of thirteen human beings in the short space of one week! It is carriestly hoped, however, that conpassion will be extended on behalf of those whose remaining days have been numbered. It is the duty of every one to eart himself to the utmost to save the life of a fellow-creature. Traisilly in such cases is a criminal dereliction of duty; for no man, soccer private his station, can foresee the extent of the benefits which his private his station, can foresee the extent of the benefits which his individual exertions may produce. Let no one delude himself with the impression that others are engaged in that course which his own feelings dictate to be his duty, leet he should find, too late, that human life has been sacrificed through his SUPPLINESSES AND INDIFFERENCE!!"

What the inference intended to be drawn from all this is there can he little doubt—what the particular mode is which "every one is to exert himself" to save the theres and other convicts ordered for execution next Tuesday, we are at a loss to understand; the caution against timidity tooks strange, and the rousing "call to action", somewhat less cautions than the OLD TIMES generally is taken the Many.

of our readers who do not see the Traces, and we believe and trust There are thousands of them who never 40 see allusion to "the day of trouble; when the nobility and it; will perhaps be drawn away by the falseleds contheir families will "need support, and when consequently tained in the paragraph we have quated, to feel that were they and their consections can only impact weakness to merry might have been shown by the illustrious personage any body to whom they belong."

The really had thought that this cant was interly example and and young in crime at Ma. Cannan, But on the collewing day, the Times itself, and evoluting to save some of its little reputation, consents to admit the following extends from an Evening paper, with a little annotation mition of its own:

It is not then, as generally approved (from a statement that the statement in a morning paper) that Cadman had only twice uttor-discipled notes. It had for a considerable period been engaged if only in the unlaugul persuit, and she (under an assumed it is filling the forget notes to the uttores, who paid them is likeling the forget notes to the uttores, who paid them is it will in the first instance, and also one forget in the unitarity and in putting off the considerable who were their instruments in putting off the little will, in the first instance, that caused the providerable who was sent to the considerable with the consider ho certainly believed what he stated.

Clor, who certainty believed what he stated.

As for the respectable solicitor who sont the account to the Times, we think he would be found with some difficulty; and as to the readiness with which the Times takes apon itself to vouch for what they "are sure he believed," we think it highly meritorious. The truth we really think is, that the Times lugged forward Mr. Carman, as an object for mercy, because they knew, mercy could not, in justice, have been extended the precisely (as we said before) upon the same principle as the QUREW intercoded for the old offender, PRICE: but, if they have been foolish to believe an attorney for the old opender, PRICE: Dut, If they have been rooten to the believe an attorney, and were really bundled of knowing any thing about CADMAN of themselves, then they deserve to be handed over to the care of their own friend, who dined with DR. AUTOMARCHI, in Parls, while he was living in Leicester-square; or to the siore saving protection of the Dunbar correspondent, and the MORNING CHRONICLE, who reduced the COUNTESS of LAUDERDALE to ashes without any ceremony and this appears in yesterday's Times.

*Not maisfied, however, with simply contradicting them-selves on Friday, the OLD TIMES renews the subject yescordey; and having exposed their ignerance with respect to C. That An in one paper, they do us the favour in the next to shew up their entire ignorance of his partner in crime and punishment, ELLIS; upon this person they put forth an culogium of the most flourishing nature, talked of his gaqius, his parentage, &c. when lo and behold, out comes a communication from some person who was at etheol with him, shewing that he was a dunce, dissolutely and viciously inclined, and to crown all, that his name was not ELLIS!

After all this detection, the Times thinks it necessary to make out a kind of article upon the subject, and beaten, inside out a kind of article upon the subject, and beaten, defeated, and shewn up in its efforts, to impress its readers with the obdurate hard-heartedness of the Monarch, it hurns short round upon the dead victims of the law, and of Cadman its favourite (while it thought it would answer any purpose in the cause) it declares, that—they believe all the tales they have since heard about him," and, loss have no hesitation in saying, that he was a MURDERER of the most afrocious and deliberate kind, and that the facts of his case, (of that case which eight and forty hours before, they declared to be one of particular interest and hardship) if really known, will be found to strengthen the manuscripts of the abolition of capital punishments rather antimes of the abolition of capital punishments rather

Mat. of their epinion be, thus forcibly changed, what incremes of the fact, that the people were interested about Mar. Carman? where are the ground of the vast multitude; the cries of minder? they are gone the same way as the indent, respectability, virtue, and ingenuity of the object of them; they never whisted but in The TIMBs; and really we indust say, that of all the exposures that Paper has subjected had to this last is nerhous the most striking and the most Latself to, this last is perhaps the most striking and the most his instance the making blunders himself, and then the himself, and then the himself and then shallying Ministers upon his own wrong data, has (however wanton) more felly in it than knavery; but to puff off the lives and characters of two hardened offenders against the law, (of whom it is evident they know nothing), merely for the sake of creating an interest in their favour, and casting is stigms his a quarter whence it was impossible, from the nature of their crimes, they could expect mercy, is mart of a system of political atrocity, the existence of which even in the Out TIMES Newspaper itself, nothing but its clear and convincing detection could have led us to have believed.

POLICE.

mine In Monday's TIMES appeared an elaborate detail of an The supplies of the continue o his Lordship in the Times newspaper:-

And TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

Jentul TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

Jentul TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

Jentul Descring in your paper of this morning, a paragraph in your police report, stating that I gave directions to my coachman to wait for me at Covent-garden Theatre, opposite the Royal engage, I request you will contradict the assertion, as I never gave have any such derections, nor did I write to the siting Magistrate to the min mithout bail (as the report also states), as the messen-

Minerate him mithout bail (as the report also states), as the mescengree who delivered him my note was an housekeeper, who went here for the express purpose of bailing the coachman.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
Gruswener-street, Nov. 19, 1821.

If one could imagine any body connected with the street to be pussessed of any feeling, we should think to observe repeated raps over the knuckles must be vastly dis-H CONTRACTOR OF THE CONTRACTOR

HUMBUG.

Teasday, Nr

against timidity versual with the history of their country, and who ought, grading lenish as public journalists, to be able to apply the reress, the truets that the British nation will not desert her in her present persecuted date:

- Alemogands—"With other sacred papers, to Lord Warwick's and Pethic many systems which are growing up and becuring care, for Chave, my grand-daughter, when I am no more. Not to prove and prolifies, as they accompute the means of the acted upon till the King's denise.—I. With other sacred papers, to Lord Warwick's care, for Chave, my grand-daughter, when I am no more. Not to be acted upon till the King's denise.—I. With a the conducted heir of Augustus, King of Paland, your grights will find aid of the Sovereign that you are allied to by blood, should the family of your father act unjustly; but may for whose printiples we enterpoint contains respect, could the great Disposer of all things direct otherwise. The Princess of the contains the contains a contain respect, could be great Disposer of all things direct otherwise. The Princess of the contains and the contains an be so blind as 10 silbinit for the paper were the selice in (we have no stoubt well paid for) paragraphs hidden the pompous title of "RELINION AND MORALITY AMONG THE SOLDIEGES?"

THE SOLDIESS?

"Restours and Morality amonous the Soldiess.—Schudsy evening, a very numerous and highly respectable useting was held at the Goat Tavern, Pindico, to take into consideration the bestmenus of raising a Friendly Society and Bethel Union, for the purpose of promoting Religion and Alorality amonous Soldiers. The Rev. Mrr. Smrrn, of Pennance, took the Chair, and was supported by several respectable and eminent individuals. The most conspicuous feature of the meeting was that of two of the Fife Guards lieing present, who delighted planches of a very interesting description, in support of the measures about to be adopted to raise an institution for the purpose mantioned, and which met with great applause. Several other persons deligered their sentiments, and various resolutions were framed. The meeting lasted till a late hour, when the assembling contributed sowards the object for which they had met, and departed."

The Brev. Mrs. Smrrn is a very you vendent personage—and whether he cases from Penzance, or from John-q'-Grant's and whether became from Penzance, or from John of Great's house, is a matter of very little importance, as he may be found in any intervening city, bordigh, village or hander, by dozons—we mean his name—and that is all that was wanted upon the above eccasion. We have no pleasure, our readers may rest assured, in bringing forward men to public notice in new characters, or fa stripping these who public notice in new characters, or in stripping tipes who have long worn borrowed plumes of their usurped qualifications; but it is equally our pledge, and our duty to speak truth in the hour of danger, and to put our Country limit on their grand logalist the Wiles and articles of artifician and mischiosous Agitators. Our opinion of Mr.

WILDERFORCE we have reluctantly been compelled to give to the world—and the single anerdote (if, no other existed) of his having procured MR. OVERTON the York living, is sufficient to stamp his character for ever it is a volume!

This Bethel Goat Tavern Meeting is another oughing either of this person, or of his numerous dependants and allies, who have risen into notice by taveru conventicles, affies, who have rises into notice by favern conventices, and by eulogizing each other in every town where they borrow or hire a room for their purpose; their object is Church schism, and this they have effected to a laurentable extent; by following implicitly, riorially, and to the letter, the old Puritans. They, like them, have tald the people, as LOHD GRAY, and other amiable reformers of the State, in their vocation, are in the constant habit of doing, that Churchmen in general are dumb dogs, and themselves the exclusive recipients of Divine grace. We have only to read and compare the writings of these dissenters within the Church, with those of their models during the latter period of ELIMABERTH, when they were creeping into their designs, to perceive at once what is their ultimate object. They are too subtile in their generation to allow us for a moment to suppose this extraordinary coincidence is accidental; and they are too zealous and active in the adapta-tion of their worldly policy; and the acts of political chi-capery, to admit a doubt of their intention to play the whele game.

The Bible Societies have established their influence from one end of the country to the other. The command of money, raised under the form of contributions to this seeingly philauthropic and, abstractedly, merkoriens deseeiningly philauthropic and, austractory, men not and sign, when united with the Charch for the person property of the press; and the liberty of conscience, like the legithest rights of men, is perverted into a means of overflir wing our establishments, civil, political, and exclosiastical.

Our attention has been drawn to this subject with renewed apprehension, by this open attempt (for it has long been carried on by intrigue, and private modes of conversion) to draw the soldiery into their shares. If Government continue blind or inntentive to these proceedings, a very few years will put it out of the power of any Government to abook them,

We need not recur to our annuls for proefs in aid of this assection. A praying army, and a synod of military saints, are not new things in our history. Hume tells us, in speaking of the atrocious acts and sanguinary dispositions of the Roundkeads in general, that— The army itself was infected with like humours. Everard, a disbanded soldier, having preached that the time was now come—when the commonity of goods would be releved among the christians, led-out his followers to take possession of the land wind being warried before this General, he refused to land; and being carried before his General, he refused to salue him, because he was but his fellow creature.

Look at this, ye rulers of the land, and if the thing be suffered to go on, at least, condescend to let us know how the consequences which formerly rusted, are to be averted from our still happy and prosperous country; or whether these who are in the opposite extreme of licentiaus insubordination to all civil authority, and prepared to set the forch to our holiest institutions, are to be looked to as auxiliaries. against the encroachments of spiritual pride and intole-rance?—Politics, as well as misery, brings a man ac-quinted with strange bed-fellows. MR. WILBERFORCE is proud to call the HONOURABLE GENTLEMAN (HENRY BROUGHAM!!!) HIS FRIEND! and any other honouraile gentleman, no doubt, who, without any very great zeal in the cause of divine truth, may find it convenient to court popularity in a School Committee, or exhibit his powers of oratory on the arena of a Bible Society Meeting.

MRS. SERRES.

Turs great buly, like the American steam frigates, is armed at all points, and now that she is even cast off by Mr. Double-Ex-SMERIFF-PARKINS, as lat as her claims to the dignity of our Royal Family go, out she comes with some more documentary ovidence, to show that she is a Polish Princess! 1!

Her Highness has put forth a state paper upon this subject, of which the full uning is a copy:—

"The Printess of Cumberland, anxious to satisfy the public as to the justice of her claims, gives the underwritten copy of one of her grandfather's letters, which she piedes her hough has only been seen by four or five individuals. Having experienced a severe illness, she truets that the British nation with not desert her in her present accreased rate.

lemnly attest; thut you are the had of that allegations of series. May the Almighty guide you to all your distinctions of birth. Mine has been a life of trial, but not of crime."

This document possesses the same peculiarity which marks all her-important papers all the parties mentioned are dead, and, like her other listories, the point of this ones is to be kept secret till they are so. J. W.'s advice is upto to be seen till he is "no more," nor acted upon " till the King's demisa." LORD WARWICK, the KING of POLAND, the PRINCESS, and old JOHNAY WILMOT, himself arosali. gone now, and here, therrfore, we have a claim to the Polish dignity exhibited, equally absurd and contemptible with that made to English rank.

We have no patience with this HUMBUW. The BRITIAN
NATION would be fallen indeed, if it were to be moved by the persecutions of a possum whose only enemies are her lawful creditors, and whose only sufferings have been brought upon her by a wanton incorment of debts which she knew she had no means to defray. Government (who, we must say, soom accasionally to slumber, even when their best interests call loudly upon them to act) should put a stop to this poor creature's nonsonne; by the reiteration of her absurdities we shall, by and bye, have some fools believe that she really is something more than that, which we knows she in.

TO JOHN BULL

Sin,—I send you a second specimes of my intended Editio Expurgate," of Mr. Thomas Moone's inimitable lyries. You will perselve that I have carefully expunded lyries. You will perseive that I have carefully expunged all the indecency of the original; and that instead of affording a poetical liceace to my young female friends for going undrest, I have deduced examples, from amongst the great and illustrious patriots of the country, of ingenuity and industry employed by them for the acquisition of rick as well as

LESBIA HATH A BEANING EYE. . Art - Nora Creina.

LESSIA both a beaming eye,
But no one knows for whom it beameth,
Right and left its arrows fly,
But what they aim at no one dreameth! But what they aim at no one dreameth:
Sweeter 'tis to gaze upon
My Nora's lid, that seldom rises';
Few its looks, but overy one
Like unexpected light surprises I
Oh! my Nous Creins, dear!
My gentle, bashful Nora Creina!
Beauty lies
In many eyes,
But love in your's, my Nora Creina!

LEASTA WEARS A TONE OF GOLD,

But all so close the nymph tath lac'd it,

But all so close the nymph tath lac'd it,

Not a charm of beauty's mould

Presumes to stay where nature plac'd it!

Oh!: my Nosa's gown for me,

That floats as wild as nountain breezes,

Leaving every beauty free

To sink or swell, as Heaven pleases!

Yes, my Nora Carina, dear!

My simple, graceful Nora Carina!

Nature's dress

Is loveliness

The dress you wear, my Nora Carina!

The dress you wear, my Nora CREINA! The dress you wear, my Noba Creina!

Lesma hath a wit refin'd,

But, when its points are gleaming round us,
Who can tell if they 're design'd

To dazzle merely, or to wound us?

Rillow'd on my Noba's heart,
In safer alumber love reposes;
Bed of peace! whose roughest part
Is but the crumpling of the roses!
Oh! my Noba Creina, dear!
My mild, my artless Noba Creina!

Wit, the' bright

That warms your eyes, my Noba Creina!

PARODY

TUNE-CRONY CREEVY.

Ms. George Trenney sings.

BLESSINGTON hath a beaming eye, . But no one knows for whom it beameth; Right and left it seems to fly, But what it looks at, no one dreameth; Sweeter his to look upon CREEVY-though he seldom rises; Few his truths but even one, Like unexpected light surprises. Oh, my crony Carry, dear, My gentle, bashful, graceful Carry, Others' lies May wake surprise, But truth, from you, my crony CREEVY.

ERRINE, wore a robe of gold,
But ah—teo toosely he had lac'd it, Note rug retains its hold, On the back where Grizzle* plac'd it. But oh! VANSETTART'S gown for me! That closer sticks, for all our breezes; Were it mine—then whiggery Might sink or swim, as heaven pleases. ay crony CREEVY, dear, My simple, gentle, crony CREEVY, Office dress Is gilded face,

A dress you'll never wear, my CREEVY. Hosnover bath a wit refin'd, But when its points are gleaming round us, Who can tell, if they're design'd, To dazzi s merely, or confound us. On the Treasury Bench, at ease. LONDONDERRY still reposes; Bed of peace! - Whose roughest place, Is still, my CREE-a bed of roses. Oh bomy Camery, dear—
My hungry; crawing, crony Camery!
White on roses

He reposes,

Whatis the use of counting nones! CREE CREE CREEVY. (Affethuiso) Frant Chev, we presume.-Epiton.

THEATRE.

We have little to notice in this department this week, except the comicality of Kean's Hamler, on Friday, which was really too good to be borne. To enter into eriticism upon it would indeed be vain; it was, however, fully worthy of the Ophelia of the night, which, in Miss Kelly's hands, was most unhappily marred. We not only never saw Ophelia to such a disadvantage, but we never saw Miss Kelly to such disadvantage. saw Miss Kelly to such disadvantage. Her features and manner are all adapted to comedy, and an attempt to throw the delicate melancholy of OPHELIA into her countenance, is about as futile as an effort to light up with serious ex-pression the face of a Chinese Mandarin.

At Covent Garden Miss BAKEWELL has been allowed mean to repeat the words—she is cold and stiff—uncongenial and uncomfortable. The play itself is a horror, and we know no proof of bad taste more convincing to us than the selection of it for a first appearance.

Miss TREE is growing into something like self-possession. The Exile is still attracting, and all other thertrical things remain nearly in state quo.

From the Minor Theatres, accounts of only two riots during the week have been received. At the Adelphi, a gentleman sat to work to thump his neignbours in the pit, and at the Coburg Theatre, another gentleman was dragged out of h box, and eventually furned out of the house, and menaced with hand-cuffs, because the lady who was with him, had a cold, and declined taking off her BONNETT. This, independent of the impertinence of the managers, is curious, because the very place fixed upon for this overdelicate scrupulosity about dress, is the very place where chimney-sweepers take their sacks upon their backs into the galleries in order to have a fair chance of peppering the audience in the pit. From the Minor Theatres, accounts of only two riots audience in the pit.

We confess we were surprized at the tone the Magistrate used on the occasion. It would be better far, if these worthies were more cautious as to the licenses they grant, and less flippant in their decisions.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR-The assertion of your Hehester correspondent A. B." that I conveyed the deputation from Hchester. to present an Address to the late Queen, is a base and wicked lie! to prove which, I will plainly state the facts: In the month of July, 1820, I received orders from the Secretary of State; for the removal of certain convicts from my gaol to the Ganymede Hulk at Chatham, and also to the Penitentiary at Milbank. On my way to the coach office, to secure places for the prisoners by the Exeter and London coach, I encountered the two inhabitants of Ishhester who formed the deputation, and was informed by them of their intended journey, they having actually taken their places by the same coach, for that purpose. Enowing the risk attendant on the removal of a set of desperadoes, I gially (though by mere chance) availed myself of the opportunity of strengthening my escort by the addition of these men, and " the very head and front of my offending bath this extent," that I travelled on the same coach with my neighbours, who were conveying the address, with which I had no concern whatever, either in the preparing, passing, signing, or presenting it. This trifling adventitious circumstance (for the deputation cost neither the County of Somerset or myself a shilling,) was at the time tortured into a criminal charge by the wretches who have so long conspired against me, by the insertion of a paragraph in the Courier newspaper, wherein I was represented as one of the deputation with the Ilchester address. As so one of the deputation with the Tchester address. As soon as that document met my eye, I wrote to my Lord Sidmouth, calling his Lordship's attention to the paragraph, declaring it to be false and malicious. I wrote to the Editor of the Courier to the same effect, desiring he would send me the manuscript, which he very politely complied with; by which means, I was enabled to discover the libeling of ender with Lordship of the libeling of ender with Lordship of the libeling the libelling offender, who I most certainly should have prosecuted, had he not been removed out of my reach. In fact, I desired that this valuable production may be sent to W. Melliar, Esq. then under-sheriff, that the same may be by him presented to the Sheriff and Grand Jury at the assizes, to be holden there in a few days; the copies of my letters being then in his possession. Thus then, at the time, and without any delay, was this falsehood refuted by me, both before the Grand Jury of Somerset, and in the mublic papers of the day.

public papers of the day.

I trust, Mr. Editor, that I have sufficiently explained these facts, and I can assure you that I can as easily refute all the calumnies which have been so lavistly heaped upon me. You will greatly oblige me by enclosing me the manuscript of the letter in question, as it may enable me to know the villainous author, and to give you and the world his name, and I doubt not but I shall prove it to be the act of one nearly allied to the original offender, who was so timely removed from the correction he so truly deserved .- I am, Sir, your most obedient servant

W. BRIDLE.

Devonshire-buildings, Bath, Nov. 20, 1821. We insert this letter with pleasure, but a rule we have destroying communications when inserted, prevents our complying with the request of the writer.

Prison Regulations.—Visitors are now only admitted to the House of Correction, Cold Bath Fields, once in every week during their imprisonment. Male visitors to be admitted every Monday, and females on every Saturday.

Monday night, Mrs. Moore, the wife of the Keeper of the Lock of the Regent's Canal, at Camden Town, was accidentally drowned, the went out with a jug to fill it with some water out of the Canal, and losing her balance whilst she was raising the pitcher, she fell into the water.

and losing her balance whilst she was raising the pitcher, she fell into the water.

The storm on Friday se'nnight, around Battle-bridge and Gray's Inn Lane, was lamentable. On the following morning, the cellars of the houses sere filled with water, and in some, the water had maked a considerable beight up the stairs. In the road leading from Bagninge-wells to Islington, the sewer overflowed into the main road. The gardens were washed away, the furniture carried off in the stream, and the foot-path on the side of the sewer was destroyed. A little child belonging to one of the cottagers, was driven down the stream, under the arched sewer, and drowned.

DOMESTIC LITERATURE.

WE have an invincible propensity to fun, and we know that a great many of our readers have a similar turn. The following are genuine and literal copies of two letters, which passed some years since between two ladies in a village within fifty miles of LONDON. The correspondent to whom we are indebted for them has been good enough to authenticate them; and since the most unimportant epistles of great men are carefully collected and preserved, to display the characters of the writers, we see no reason against giving a place to these relics, as REAL illustrations of the modern style of domestic correspondence.

" MRS. PITTS' compliments to MISS COZENS; she was "MRS. PITTS' compliments to MISS COZENS; she was in hopes to have found her at home by this time, as she wishes to speak to her about a little bad workmanship in her house since she went away, by a board or something put upon it, in what her maid calls her larder, which, by being ill-done, the nails come almost through MRS. PITTS' passage, and there being no purtition wall, only thin paper, between the houses, which is very dangerous, and she is very sorry to find it being so unsafe, and she hopes her maids are very careful, for we are both in danger, especially from her frequent large washes, which never were so before. maids are very careful, for we are both in danger, especially from her frequent large washes, which never were so before, though there has been four different families in that house since Mas. PITTS has been at W***, and none of them had such washes with all their great things, only their smalls, which Mas. PITTS has; it not only is dangerous, but extremely disfiguring to the place, and might be taken for a washer-woman's place, rather than any body's else, and almost wonders MISS C. can like it herself, only she is seldom if ever at home, she does not find it so disagreesble, especially when the things hang out on both sides; and she must excuse my mentioning her donkey frightened her very much one day as the gate was opened, and she went there to throw some rubbish, and dropt her seissars, which she was some time in looking for, in the meantime she fatt something touch her face, which proved to be this creature; something touch her face, which proved to be this creature; on looking up saw the monster, she screamed, and has maids heard her.—I am, Madam, your humble servant,

"L. Pirts."

A true copy-G. H.

To this we have the following reply from Miss Cozens:-

"Miss Cozens's compliments to Mrs. P.; is sorry the pertition wall should be only thin paper, will put up some thicker as soon as she gets home. Miss C. is surprised to find washing great things should be so very offensive and find washing great things should be so very offensive and so uncommon at W**; I have always been used to clean sheets and table-cloths. Miss. C. is shocked to find Mrs. Petts so alarmed at the sight of my ass; thought you had seen it often before; can't guess how it came to touch her face, 'tis very quiet in general, and was never called a monstertill now; but as Mrs. Petts had lost her seissars; cannot wonder she was so terrified. Mrss C. will take care in future her maid shall hang out all on one side.—I am, Madam, your humble servant, "M. Cozens." dam, your humble servant, A true copy—G. M.

OLD BAILEY, JULY 13, 1683;

William Hone, having been arraigned the day before for conspiring the DEATH of the King, and the Subversion, pleaded Not-Vermment, &c., and, after some frivolous evasions, pleaded Not-Guilty, (though he confessed himself then guilty of the conspiracy, but not of providing arms): he desired now to retract his plen, and confessed the indictment; still denying that he had provided arms, but owning that his deposition before Sir William Turner, was true, and that he was asked by Mr. Richard Goodenough to go along with him, but was not told whither, though he understood it was to kill the King and the Duke of York!! This not being taken for a full confession, he was put upon his trial.—[Here follow the names of the Jury.]

taken for a full confession, he was put upon his trial.—[Here follow the names of the Jury.]

Mr. Keeling deposed, that he naw the prisoner at the Dolphin Tavern, where the arms were agreed upon; and the King's coming from Newmorket discoursed op; and about the goose-quilles, swan-quilles, erow quills, sand, ink, &c. After which he took no-quaintance with him, and after some time told him, he was one of them that was to go down to the Rye to assassizate the King. And since, at a Coffee-house in Swithen's Alley, he told him, it would never be well'till the Blackbird and the Gotsfinch were knowled on the head, meaning the King and the Duke of York.

Sir Nicholas Butler deposed, that he had long known the prisoner.

never be well 'till the Blackbird and the Gotafinch were knowled on the head, meaning the King and the Duke of York.

Sir Nicholas Butler deposed, that he had long known the prisoner, and that he was always ready for plotting such purposes as were now laid to his charge; for that, when Sir Francis Chaplain was Lord Mayor, and the King stood at Mr. Waldo's, the prisoner came to his house, and told him, that now they had a fair opportunity to take off the King and the Duke at once. To which purpose there were to be half a dozen with cross-bows at a window in Bow-steeple, just opposite to the balcony.

Capt. Richardson deposed, that he was by while the prisoner was under examination as to the crime he now stood charged with; and that he said, Mr. Goodenough came and told him he wanted "Labourers," and that it was to kill the King and the Duke of York, and confessed that he agreed to be one that would undertake it.

To all this the prisoner said little to the purpose, only that he did not know the place where nor when it was proposed about the Rye; and that he was drawn into it by Goodehough; that as to the cross-bows he was only told of it. And being askedwhat RE-LIGION he professed? he answered, that he heard sometimes Baptists, sometimes Independents, and sometimes Presbylerians!

After a short charge, the Jury (without stirring out of Court) found him Guilly. And sentence was pronounced upon him (the next day) to be drawn, hanged, and quartered; which was carried into full effect on Friday, 20th July, 1683, at Tyburn.—Vide Abridgement of all the Trials, &c. printed for J. D. for Jonathan Robinson at the Golden Lion, St. Paul's Church-yard, A. D. 1690.

* Cant names for instruments of destructior, powder, halls, &c.

· Cant names for instruments of destruction, powder, balls, &c.

Departure of His Majesty for Brithton.—On Thesday, at a quarter past one o'clock, His Majesty left Carlton Palace, in his private travelling carriage, accompanied by Sir B. Bloomfield, and escorted by a party of Lancers, for the Pavilion, at Brighton, where he arrived in the evening, about six o'clock. His Majesty was received by a large assemblage of the inhabitants, who had been waiting to welcome him, with loud huzzas. A guard of honour, composed of the 10th Royal Hussars, and the 2d regiment of Foot, formed into line on each side of the road, from the Palace gates to Gloucester-place, who had been in attendance from four o'clock, and received him under arms, the bands playing "God save the King." The belis rung a merry peal, and the tone of animation to the town can be scarcely conceived. The mess-house of the officers of the 2d regiment, was illuminated in the evening. His Majesty is not expected to reside in town again till after the Christmas Holidays. On his leaving Brighton, it is said, that he will occupy the cottage in Windsor Great Park.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR,—In perusing your paper of Sunday, the 28th of October last, I was surprised at one of the principal objections which you made to the appropriation of chapel vaults for the use of wine-cellars, &c.

for the use of wime-cellars, &c.

I allude to the passage, in which you said, that the ground on which the chapels stand is consecrated, and that, as this consecration is not confined to the first story, you consider it to be highly indecorous to appropriate the vaults tolany but religious purposes. New, Sir, I think you will find, upon a slight investigation, that there is scarcely one of the numerous chapels in the metropolis, which has been dedicated by the Bishop, but that in most instances this ceremony has been dispensed with. Relying upon your candour and impartiality, I trust that you insert this letter in your widely circulating journal; by means of which, I hope, that the odium which you have thrown upon these respectable places of public worship may be in some degree removed.—I remain, Sir, with the utimost respect, your obedient servant,

A LAYMAN. Friday, Nov. 9.

Friday, Nov. 9.

We insert this letter upon our avowed principle of impartiality, but it is hardly necessary to observe (we should think,) that no chapel whatever where the service of the established church is performed can be opened without Episcopal consecration. As for those chapels which are not of the established church, we do not know that having wine-vaults under these would be any objection whatever.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Kisse's Cours.—On Monda, His Alinesty held a Court, his Ralace, in Pall Mall, which was attended by the Lord Clanscellor, the Lord Press (Series of the Lord Clanscellor, the Lord Press Series of the Lord Clanscellor, the Lord Clanscellor, the Lord Cline Justice of the Series of State for the Home First Lord of the Irrasury, his Secretaries of State for the Home First Lord of the Administry of Character of the Court of King's Bench. His Aging the Lord Cline Justice of the Court of King's Bench. His Aging the Lord Cline Justice of the Court of King's Bench. His Aging the Lord Cline Justice of the Court of King's Bench. His Aging the Proceedings of the Bench. His Aging the Proceedings of the Series of the Court of King's Commands upon them. The Princess Sophin has book the King's commands upon them. The Princess Sophin has book the King's commands upon them. He had been the middle of next month. Her Royal Highness of the Justice of the Market of the High Clans of the High Lord High Hamman and the High Lord High Hamman and the High Lord High Hamman and the High Lord Hig the second in the property of the first war.

J. Consession

MPN CANOVINGIAL INTELLIGENCE.

The section of the second commence

The state of the same of the s

The colled himself William Smith. The Coroner returned a verdict of insurity.

Barrow.—A most daving burglary was lately ecomutated at the Microsel House, St. George's, Glowcester. The williams, after a fruitiens attend to enter at the doors of the house, accomplished their grapases by posetrating a stone wall, three feet thick, and cutting out a portion of a bolted door which impelled their progress; May ransacked every part of the fower floors, pantry, Sc., and stole awares bigees of plate and other articles.

Mississ—A basis storm/ accompanied with heavy peals of thunder and the most vivid lightning, wisited this city, on Friday (16th incl.) bout seven wheleas in the surrounding neighbourhood, generally, it may not heard to the extens of many miles.

MUNICORAN.—As some work non were lately employed in diggings, cellar on the alope of the Church Hill, they discovered a part of the foundations of the Oft. Castle; whim formerly existed there, and which was built, according to the Sasse Chronicle, by Edward the Elder in the year 21%. The wall their was of very considerable thickness, and was composed of unhawn stones of the cornivache limestone kind, which still abounds in the weighbourged for the resistance kind, which still abounds in the neighbourged for the manages.—Last week two brathers. Subsequents at one of the cornivache limestone kind, which still abounds in the neighbourged.

Belgerd the Ridger in the year 28. The wall theelt was of very considerable thickness, and was composed of unhawn stones of the cornivaste limestone kind, which still abounds in the meighbour; beginness. An attention with the still abounds in the meighbour; beginness. An the sensity wentain a gig to spead the day at Newmanziet. In the sensity, wentain a gig to spead the day at Newmanziet. In the sensity, wentain a gig to spead the day at Newmanziet. In the sensity, wentain a gig to spead the day at Newmanziet. In the sensity, wentain a gig to spead the day at Newmanziet. In the sensity wentain, on which the younger brother sent to self-leathe room he heard the report of a pistel; and, returning, he found that his brother had shot himself through the head! The sinterest and ageny of the survivor are indiscribable.

Brings, and treating to the survivor are indiscribable.

Brings, and the sendin locapeance took place at Gounhill, in the Ring's County on Monday last. Two young men, brothers, named Feter app Aliobsel. Smith, hering, some altercation at breakfast, Michael took up a knife, and stabled his brother to the heart, of which wound he sied in a few manatos.

Spanish the stock up a knife, and stabled his brother to the heart, of which wound he sied in a few manatos.

Spanish the stones contiguous suffered considerably. The accident smars of the houses contiguous suffered considerably. The accident smars of the houses contiguous suffered considerably. The accident smars of the houses contiguous suffered considerably. The accident smars of the houses configuous suffered considerably. The accident smars of the houses contiguous suffered considerably. The accident smars of the house score manifested with a drawer of guspowder.

Lavanous—Lat. Palmeraton, the Secretary at War; swrived him change shoot for a guarantee days.

Man brown—A scriber examination of lots, who was implicabled in the snugging transaction at Singless, took place on Theresiay, before Wan. Deedes, Esq. when he was fully committed for trial, cha vivid fishes of lightning, for about two hour; the wind and cain, which latter fell in torreins, beat in one of the windows of the garrison chapel.

Prynogri.—Fine large fewls were selling last week here, for Is. 4d. a couple; butchers' meat upon equally cheap terms. Pour lat thece, were purchased at the Withendige fair, on the 7th instant, for sixteen shillings.

Preserve.—A distressing unsident took place at the wind-mill, when to Kirkhaea. Thomas Waddington, the soiller, observing a greyhand in dauger of being struck by the fails, can towards him, and, when in the act of drawing the dog from danger, received himself a blow from one of the sails, which shivered his arm from the clow to the fagers, and it was found necessary to amputate the limb; since which, we understand the man is doing well.

Reading the forms the ride of a hill, fell into the valley beneath. The trees now stand with the roots uppermost, and the whole gives the appearance of an earthquake. The pigstics and officience at the hack of Bosher's-square are buried, and some pigs killed. The moving mass was stopped by the dwelling houses in the square, the doors of which were forced open by the shock.

Stafford a the doors of which were forced open by the shock.

Stafford a the doors of which were forced open by the shock.

Stafford with the banne of matrimony of four papers in the poor-hance, wit. Richards drownword, aged 74, to Sarah Gater, aged 24, and John Clews, a blind man, to Ellen Heath, rather insule, and under the care of the Governor of the said poor-house.—

Staffords are the last or suffer and under the care of the Governor of the said poor-house.—

Standard Paper.
Standard Pa

Carriers—Several gargs of pickpiockets have, within the last few days, infested the vicinity of the Exchange and St. Paul's. One of these light-fugered gentlemen accosts the passenger, and calls away his attention by offering for sale a gilt watch chain, which he states is gold, and offers to sell as a hargein, and whilst he shows the chain a companion picks his pockets.

deligations accidents, offences, to on a many

5 11 - 72 1 6

On Wedweeday alternoom, Ann Cripule, about four years of age, in the abstnce of her mother, went to amuse herself near Waterloo Bridge; and her bonnet falling off into the water, she, in endea-vonuing to take it out, overbalanced herself, and fell head-foremost into the mater water.

Bridge; and her bonnet falling off into the water, she, in endeavoncing to take it out, ornebalanced herself, and fell head-foremost to take water, and was drawned.

On Tuesday afternson four young men named Thomas Fenner, Wilfam Worder, Robert Childs, and William Black, were drowned in the Mill River at Sasines, by the overturning of the boat in which they were towing for pleasure.

Wednesday afternoon, a traderman, holding the situation of Tax collector, at Whotstope, man robbed in a bay-rand, leading from Barnet to Colwey Hatch, by three men, knacked down, and his pockets rifled of 60 guineas and his watch. They beat him severely, one of than proposed to "rip his grats open;" upon which another took out a knife, and made a contact his belly, but the knife penetrated his clothes only. They then left him lying on the ground much bruized.

On Saturday seemilikat a most during robbery was committed between Eghau and has been fully committed.

At the orleods on Manday eventure a fire broke out in the manufactory of Mr. Colvins, King seatrest, Clerkenwill. Several engines were on the spot in a short fine, and being well worked and suppiled with water, the figures were confined at the prepare where they begun, which were totally destroyed.

Tresday hight, about nine o'clock, a destructive fire broke out in the workshop of Mr. Willis, Wood-street, Spitalfer'is Church, which destroyed the same, togefter with two adjoining tenements.
One man, named Squires, who lodged on the first floor, over the workshop, jumped out of the window, and stappily received little og no injury. The greatest outrages were committed by a most formidavie and of the window, and stappily received little og no injury. The greatest outrages were committed by a most formidavie and of the property of the window, and stappily received little og no injury. The greatest outrages were committed by a most formidavie and of the property of the window, and stappily received little og no injury. The greatest outrages were committed by a most the East, near-80 years old, was sitting by the fire, her clothese sought the flamo, and she was no dreadfully burnt, that the expired in a few hours.

Cononer's Impursts.—On Tuesday, an inquest was taken at the Stross Keys Tavern, Theobald's-road, on the isoderof Sarah Jubry, aged 40, found grad in her bed, at her tedgings, No.62. Theobald's-road. The decreased had formerly live I servant on noblemen and graticular characters. She had for her test situation with the intension of being matried to a men of small fortune, but subsequently the match was set aside. For the last fortunish site had not been shown beat week, the immates of the house where the lodged, were rainoyed by a most disagreeable smell, and finding that it issued from the apartment of the sast week, the immates of the house where the lodged, were rainoyed by a most disagreeable smell, and finding that it issued from the apartment of the sast week, the immates of the house where the lodged, were that as surge me could approach the test was fund in such a dreadful state that as surge me could approach the test reference of its state of the house where the pillow, it was the surgeonic opinion she had drank the contents, which cansed her death.—The Jury, therefore, returned a wisciel—That the decreased death mediation she abitate of demangraent.—On Mennay, the Coroner resument the indurmment, had inspected the saffolding. Two more witnesses were examined: the forement and the start accident would not have becomed. The Coroner thought there had been a warred die, precaution. The Jury said, that the foreiture of the saffold.

En SIX EASS LESSONS OF ONE HOUR EACH.—Mr.

IN SIX EAST LESSONS OF ONE HOUR EACH.—Mr.

C. BRADBURY, Private Tutor of twestminister school, solicits they attended on the latter and certifement of his uncrealed and infallible system of beautiful PRNM abisider; whereby the predeer intendit of teach persons as all upes to write with case, classage, and expectation, which ever may be the deformity of their present weiting? in six regular-beasons, or he will forfeit all claim to revenuemeration. This system, as if equally promotes the attainment of a hold-and netwelling hand-calculated for hastness, and of a night and graceful assumering adapted to Dudries it also secures to the Papil the certainty of writing attain, without lines, with wonderful dispatch and socuracy. Operated of two thousand specinens, and numerious recommendatory letterantsymbolation, and references given to persons of the dist distinction, some of whom are specialed after years of age.—Frivate tuition at home. Ladies and teartiemen attended at their own residence. A new and cractical system of Short Hand, taught in a few lessonss—dapply, (or direct, postpatio) but the Academy, 64/Strand, near Charing Cross.

honce. Ladins and Control and transfer in a few lessons—apply, for direct, part, paid but the Academy, 464, Strand, near Charing Cross.

LASE and COMPORT in SMAVING. To those Gerniethien who acxperience inconvenience in Shawing from a tender fare ar arrong beard. J. T. Riffer most paticularly recommends his celebrated MAGNETIC RAZER EAGLET, wideh, with its late improvement, he energes will produce so keen as edge as to supersede all grinding, honing, &c. and render the sparation of shaving as easy and signed the stress them to separation of shaving as easy and signedable as it was before unpleasant and paintul. Its use is simple, its effect certain; price 7s. 6d. J. T. Rigge's Armandel-Shaving Sonp will also be found an invaluable addition. Manachartes Shaving Sonp will also be found an invaluable addition. Manachartes Shaving Sonp will also be found an invaluable addition. Manachartes Shaving Sonp will also be found an invaluable addition. Manachartes Second HAND PLATES, are now on Sale, attoor Rigge's adminishly atapted for, large distinguishes on the large assortment of inch faished Chimney, Plar, and Chesal frames, with New Glasses of superior colour and brilliancy; the prices reduced beyond all former presedent. Plate Glass for Windows, Carringes, &c.—This article may also be seaming stuned as, high as 18th by 73. Inches, 126 by 80, or to any Styn dimension. Nohiemen, Genticanen, Sancyars, Propristors of Hotels, and story, will add this Warehouse, deserving attention, from its extensive Vuriety of excellent Callost and Chair Work. The upholstery arrangements diplay some new specimens of peculiar neatures and elegance, with the still greater, advantage of oversamy in the shangy. Furthbure delivered to any part of the country, without risk of injury, or excellent Callost and Co. 16, Tickhorn-street, opposite the Caunty Fire Office; Sanger, 150, Oxford-street; Hawkins, 11, Old Boud-street; Ward, Holtorn; Stradling, Royal Exchange; and most re effectable Medicine Venders, in boxes, at 1s. 1d. each.

ATENT 'ECONOMICAL' and UNIVERSAL. LAMP. In contemplating the lives and properly that have been escribed to the use of candles. It is natural to concern the time of the lives and properly that have been escribed to the use of candles. It is natural to concern the time of the lives and properly that have been cound difficult to invent a complete substitute, or that its her ortance has excaped observation, and it is not a triffing gratification to the Patontee, that, in this invantion be has so far succeeded in the at empt as to produce a light that embraces every perfection, and is alike applicable to every domestic use, and can he an regular of a to still every occasion. Its safety is such that no person on seeing it can doubt for a moment its security against danger of fire, and, bearing any motion without agisting the dame, conders it highly valuable as a moving light. As a Chamter or Night Light, it can be regulated to but a the homest it is wanted, disappearing in the morning without smoke or smell, superacting the Bed Candle, and, in its general tands, los, and in biopze, 15s. to 20s. The same principle applies, and the Lamps equally portable, on pedestals, varying in size and elegance, for the dining table, sideboard, study, bracket, door, or fan-light, &c.: and also Glass Grecian Hanging Lamps, for the hall, staircase, passages, conservatory, drawning-room, manifejecc, uistrees, &c.: and for the accommodation of those who have square, wase, or offer ball lanthorns, the turners of which are so universally complained of for the oil they consume, and the insufferable spoke and smell they emit, the latentee, in ecompliance with the request of many, now applies this principle to such, with all its advantages, at 12s. to 14s. each. Families in the country, who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity, have only to send the exact size of the aperior at the bottom of the lamforn in which the huper is introduced. It is a most ossessial acquisition in all these Lamps, that they require no attention when in use, ATENT ECONOMICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP. - In CIOLOWAL GOFFEE ESTABLISHMENT and THAWARE MOLOGISAL GOFFEE ESTABLISHALENT AND TEAWARE.

LIGHER. No. 16. Enachurch-street. AMBROBE TWEEN, bear to inform the Nobility and Gentry, that he continues to sail the best West india and other COFFEES, and svery-description of TEA, of the best quality, on the lowest taxus for ready money, viz.—Tea—Congou kind, be addity, on the lowest taxus for ready money, viz.—Tea—Congou kind, be add, so the form of the continue of the form of the continue of the form of the distribution, 7s. to 9s.; fines ditto, 10s.; Twankay, 6s. 4d. to 9s. 6d.; fine ditto, 7s. to 7s. to 7s. dt; fine ditto, 10s.; Twankay, 6s. 4d. to 19s. 6d.; fine ditto, 7s. to 7

The state of the state of the state of

And the Proprietors of Taretas, lane, and Breakfast Momes, ane suppliedoes the most advantageous terms.

ALL'S sublime: TURKISH PASTE, CIRCASSIAN and LL'S sublime: Turking the first rank and fashlor, as the most invesent and becasting assument to nature, by impairing to the skin that 1991, and inconceivable fairness, is now prepased, in the highest sates of 1991, and inconceivable fairness, is now prepased, in the highest sates of 1991, and inconceivable fairness, is now prepased, in the highest sates of 1991, and inconceivable fairness, is now prepased, in the highest sates of 1992, and 1992, and 182. Street, sorters of the greatest satisfaction for many years.—Warehouse, 182. Street, sorters of the many-steps, london.—The original Fish Sance Warehouse.

182. Street, sorters of the Mayar Street, london.—The original Fish Sance Warehouse.

182. Street and the Royal Farrity, gives strength and a beautiful glossy appearance to the Hair; imparts to it the most delightful perfume, and prevents its falling off or turning grey to extreme old age. Hair dressed with this celebrated this society of the sorter of the street, and turning grey, will be restored, by a few applications, to its natural colour, brilliance, and beauty.—Sold by the sole Preprietors, and only Importers, PRICEs and OSN Mish., Perimmers to His Najesty, No. 12, Three Kings-court, Lombard-signatume on the label in red ink.

CAUTION.—Messus, PRICEs and GOSNELL beg to cantion the Nobility and Geratry against a spurious Macassar Oil, injurious to the hair, imposed upon the public by hair-dressers (falsely styling themselves importers) who are equally incompetent to ascertain the danger of what they exto), as they are to discover what might be useful.—Ask for Price and Gosnell's Macassar Oil.

1830 The TOOTH-ACHE. and producing REALTIPETER.

are to discover what n.ight be sasful.—Ask for Price and Gasnell's Mac. cassas 641.

TOR the TOOTH-ACHE, and producing BEAUTIFUL.

TRETH.—ROWLAND'S ALSANA EXTRACT, patronised by her Royal flightness the hat Duchess of Vork, their Excellencies the Dukes Della flightness of the Duches of Vork, their Excellencies the Dukes Della flightness on in fight salimation many sears, and recommended by the first physicians as a sovereign seach, give the Took Ache, Gasse Under Stein flight salimation many sears, and recommended by the first physicians as a sovereign seach, give the Took Ache, Gasse Under those that are loose, makes the registration of the least of the decaying, fasters those that are loose, makes the registration besulting white, cleanses the sourch given the guine, rounders them firm and healthy, refreshes the mouth ducing disease and after medicine, imparts a sweethers to the breath, is so perfectly himocent that, a child may take it indeed, is often used as a stomachie, yet contains those invaluable properties, that, if constantly used, will render the teeth and gunns sound, beautiful, and free from pain, to the latest period of life. Price 28, 94, 48, 64 and 108, 64, per bottle. None, is genuine unless signed on the outside in red ink, 64, per bottle. None, is genuine unless signed on the outside in red ink, 64, and 108, 64, per bottle. None, is genuine unless signed on the outside in red ink, 64, per bottle. None, is genuine unless signed on the outside in red ink, 64, per bottle. None, 65, 71, Rings, 33, New Bondustreet; Banger, 150, Oxford-street; Ballon, Stradling, Hoyal Exchanget; Johnson, 68, Talte, 41, Cornhill; Newberr, 43, Rdwards, 46, St., Paul's Church-yard; Colley, Bishopsgate-street; Ballon, Fleet Market; Buller, 4, Cheaphde; Berry, 17, Johnsone, 18, streek-street, Sohe; Sutton, Bow Chard-syard, Rowney, 106, riatton Gardens Control of the part of the McDorer Chamiler, 78, Oxford-street.

ALDNESS or GREY HAIRS will not be seen, aithough there are arbicles for the Hair dally puffed in the Newspapers. There are thousands of Ledies and Gentlemen have a good Head of finit by using Frince's cedebrated Russia Oil. But some Ludles being persuaded to use sther Oils, they soon found the difference, as their Hair began to fall off, or getting grey. In, short, Prince's celebrated Russia Oil is the best of for dressing, preserving, shd promoting the growth of Hair, and if constantly used, not a Hair will fall off or turn grey; clears the Scurf, and keeps the Head and Hair clean, and by using it regularly for a few months. Will restore the Hair on the bad part, if the least signs of roots are remaining, which has been preced by fundreds. Promotes eye-brows, whiskers, & which has been proved by fundreds. Promotes eye-brows, whiskers, & the propulation has so improved the Russia Oil, that it will always be picarant, and will keep in all climates. Ask for Prince's Russia Oil, at 4st the and the propulation of the street saving; and observe. Prince' on the wrapper and seals of each bottle; without, it is not genuine, and cannot answer the purpose.

purpose.

Proved by Affidavit, the 24th of Nov. 1814, before the Lord Mayor, that A. Prince is the original Proprietor in the Universe of the Russia Oil; therefore if any Perfumer, Medicine-vender, Hair-dresser, or any one else, sells Russia Oil, that is not Prince's, they are imposters, as they sell countries to really analysis and the self-countries of the self-countrie sells Rossia Oil, that is not Prince's, they are imposters, as they sell counterfeits to their customers.

27 Ladies and Gentlemen will be particular, as there are unprincipled persons intown and country who sell counterfeits, and say they are genuine. Sold wholessele, retail, and for exportation, by the sole Proprietor, A. Prince, III removed to No. 9, Poland-street, Oxford-street, near the Paintacon; and by Mr. Smyth, Perfumer to his Majesty, New Bond-streets and hy most principal Perfumers and Melécine Venders—Also Prince's celebrated Russia Dye, for changing red or grey hair, eye brows, and whisters, to brown or black, with ease, in a few minutes.—Half a Guinea perbottle, or two bottles One Pound.

two bottles One Pound.

CONVULSION PITS, EPILEPTIC FITS, HYSTERICS, NERVOUSapid SPASMODIC COMPLAINTS, EPFECTUALLY CURED BY

TR. MADLEY'S POWDERS.

F all Discares incidental to the Human Frame, none are more afficient than Conyulsion Fits, Epileptic Fits, &c. The powerful vigrace of this POWDER in a short time refleves the sufferer; and by due perseverance in its application, completely extirates Convulsion Fits in Infants and Adults; also Epileptic or Falling Fits, Hysterics, and Nervous and Spainmodic Complaints. The Powder is a grant restorative in Alt cases of relaxation, debility, and weakness in children and adults; it gradually strengthess the stemach, increases the appetite, promotes digestion, and in a short line restores the patient to perfect health, without confinement or afteration of diet.—The late Dr. HADLEY, of Derby, (the discoverer of this valuable medicine) success in the various complaints, which is proved by incontovertible facts. Its hestimable virtues are patroused by the followleg distinguished Nobility, and many others, too numerous for an Advertisement:—

Har Green the Duchess of Rutland i Lady Catharine Waltude

g distinguished Nobinty, and sent in the property of the prope

Dr. Hadley,

Sir.—I this morning received your letter, mentioning your intention of bringing your Convilsion Powder into more general notice. I have so very high an opinion of it, from the cases I have seen performed, that I think you will be doing a public service. I remain, Sir, yours, &c. E. EGERTON.

From the Right Hon. Lady Lismore. Sept. 2, 1820.

This is to certify, that I have used Hadley's Convulsion P. weders in my family and many others, and approve of its officers. FRAN. LISMORE.

Prom Lady Walfole.

Dr. Hadley,

Illilingdon, Uxbridge, Jan. 26, 1819.

Sir.—I shall have great pleasure in desiring you to make use of my name when you publish the Convulsion Powder. Its great officers you now family and friends, and to the poor, I have experienced for many years.

I am, your animble servant,

CATIERINE WALPOLS.

Sold in bottles, at 4s. 6d. 11s. and 21s. cach, by appointment of the Propretor, No. I, Kirky-street, Hatton Garden; by Mr. Sanger, Medicine Warethouse, 150, Oxford-streat; Messers Barclay and Sons, 95, Piett-market, Messers Newbery and Sons, 45, 81, Paul's Church-yard; Edwarde, 66, 81.

Paul's Church-yard; Sutton and Co. Bow Church-yard; Edwarde, 66, 81.

Paul's Church-yard; Sutton and Co. Bow Church-yard; Sutten and Sirading and Nix, Royal Bachange; Johnstone, Cornhill; and, by their appointment, by most respectable Medicine Venders in every town the sphout the United Kingdom. Ask for "Hadley's Convention Powder."

Digitized by GOOGLE

COURT OF KING'S BENCH .- SATURDAY.

THE KING D. SHACKELL, ARHOWSHITH, AND WHAVER. on the sitting of the Court this morning, the Solicitor-General said these defendants had been in attendance several days waiting their Lordships' judgment.

The defendants having taken their stations on the floor of the Court, Mr. Scarlett, on the part of the prosecution, put in affidavits

The defendants having taken their stations on the floor of the Court, Mr. Scarlett, on the part of the prosecution, put in affidavits n aggravation.

The affidavit of Sir John Wrottesley was first put in and read, and stated that the deponent married Lady Caroline Bennett, daughter of the Earl of Tankerville, in 1795; that her Ladyship died in 1818, having lived happily with the deponent from the time of her marriage to the time of her death, in which period she had burteen children, ten of whom survived her. The deponent further stated that there was not the slightest foundation for the libel published by the defendants in the John Bull. Newspaper of the 14th of January last, imputing to her Ladyship a criminal interacus a with her menial servant. A similar affidavit was put in by the Countees of Tankerville. The affidavit of Lord Osculston, the brother of the deceased, also described the late Lady Wrottesby as a lady of the strictest honour and virtue. The affidavit of Sir. Harmer, solicitor for the prosecution, stated that he made application at the office of the John Bull, and that the defendants acknowledged themselves to be the printer and proprietors of that Paper, but declined to give up the author of the paragraph; and further, that by the statement published on oath of the sale of the Paper, it appeared that 10,220 copies of the libel were circulated. On the part of the defendants, Mr. Weaver's affidavit was put in, which stated that he was only the printer and publisher of the John Bull, and had no controll over the literary department of the Paper; that controll rested with Mr. Cooper, the chitor, who alone had the power of adopting or rejecting any matter offered by inserting. The deponent also urged, as a politation on his part, the hurry and confusion which always attended the making up and publishing a Public Journal. The deponent declared his ignorance who was the author of the paragraph, nor did he know the hand-writing. The manuscript, he believed, was not in existence, as it was the practice family.

Mr. Arrowsmith and Mr. Shackell also put in affidavits, in which they stated, that though proprietors, they took no active part in making up the paper; they declared their utter ignorance where the paragraph came from, and their regret that it should have found its way into the paper. They were ignorant of its existence till pointed out to them by a third person, and as soon as it was so pointed out, they took steps to prevent any larther circulation, and caused a second edition of the paper to be struck off, omitting the objectionable paragraph, of which second edition 4,000 and upwards were circulated. They denied that either directly or indirectly with their knowledge or consent, any papers had been circulated in the neighbourhood of Sir J. Wrottesley's family or elsewhere, as stated in the affidavit of Lord O-sulston. They expressed their regret that such a paragraph should have found its way into the paper, for which they were convinced there was no foundation, and declared they had no teclings of malice whatever towards Sir J. Wrottesley or his family, and had since taken every means in their power to head the wounded feelings of those individuals.

A second affidavit of Mr. Harmer was then put in, stating that hose individuals.

A second affidavit of Mr. Harmer was then put in, stating that puragraph containing a similar insinuation regarding Lady Frottesley had appeared in a previous number of the paper.

The Solicitor-General then addressed the Court in mitigation of unishment. He should not attempt to defend the libel, much less instifut to defend the libel, much less A second affidavit of Mr. Harmer was then put in, stating that a paragraph containing a similar insimuation regarding Lady Wrottesley had appeared in a previous number of the paper.

The Solicitor-General then addressed the Court in initigation of punishment. He should not attempt to defend the libel, much less to justify it; to do so would be contrary to his principles, and equally contrary to the instructions he had received from the defendants. The defendants had been anxious from the first moment they discovered their error, to do every thing in their power to repair it. With that view they instructed him not to oppose the rule for a criminal information, with the same object they also instructed him to allow a verdict of guilty to pass against them, and to take that opportunity of expressing their regret, and he was now instructed by them to repeat the same sentiments on their parts. The Learned Gentleman then proceeded to urge on the Court the consideration of the arduous situation in which a proprietor of a newspaper stood, who was compelled to trust to other individuals for making up the paper, in consequence of which, it frequently happened that paragraphs found their way into such publications, which would be rejected by those placed in the situation of the defendants, had they time for consideration, or opportunities for making such rejection. The matter staged in the affidavits must, he submitted, no far in mitigation, and went to shew there was no malice; the great ingredient of aggravation in the character of a libel. And he was fully persuaded in the absence of maine, taking the facts stated in the affidavits into consideration, and the whole libel facts stated in the affidavits into consideration, and the whole libel facts stated in the affidavits into consideration, and the whole libel. And he was fully persuaded in the affidavit singular persuaded in the situation of the facts stated in the affidavits into consideration, and the whole libel. The paragraph and the proceeding to the facts of the either to this or any other lady. The affidayits, however, were wholly stlent as to any remonstrance with Mr. Cooper, either as regarded the insertion of this first paragraph, or of that which constituted the present libel, or as to any continuous given him for his future guidance; and Mr. Cooper gave the Court no information whatever on the subject, it he possessed any. It did not appear that any application was made to Mr. Cooper respecting the author, or that when the prosecutor made his application to the defendants, Cooper was given up, as the conductor of the paper; or that any effort was made to discover the manuscript. It was a most improper mode of proceeding, to allow any manuscript to pass the hands of the editor, unless the writer was known to him, much less should the manuscript of such matter be afterwards destroyed. The affidavits stated, that the defendants, on being informed, that this paragraph had found its way into their paper, collected all the remaining unsold copies, and took care to prevent further circulation; and that they published a second edition, amounting to seme thousands, omitting the libellous matter. This was a circumstance operating in their favour; but the Court would have been better satisfied it the affidavit had gone somewhat further, and stated, that they did this of their own accord, and without any remonstrance being made to them on the subject. That such paragraphs must be repressed, no one would attempt to deny. In the present case, the individual livelled was no more. She was gene to another place to account before a higher tribunal for all offences committed here, and it would have been good to have suigene to another place to account tenere a maner constitute of here, and it would have been good to have sui-lered the dead to sleep in peace. The Court had taken all the circumstances of the case into their consideration, and the judgment he was directed to pronounce was, that the defendant Weaver should pay a fine of 1001, to the King; the other two defendants each a fine of 5001; and that they should severally be imprisoned in the costody of the Marshal of the Marshalsea for nine months; and at the expiration of that period find security for their good behaviour for 5 years, themselves in 5001, each, and 2 sureties in 2501. The King v. John Williamson, Esq.—Mr. Jervis moved the judgment against the defendant, the late Mayor of Chester, who was convicted before Mr. Baron Garrow at the last Shrewslany Assizes, upon an information charging him with having, In his official character of Mayor and Chief Magistrate, refused to admit certain citizens of Chester to their freedom during a contested popular election of members to serve in parliament for that city, with a view, by that refusal, of giving advantage to, and procuring the election of, a particular candidate.

The Court, after hearing Mr. Scarlett in mitigation and Mr. Jervis in aggravation, sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of 1001, and to be imprisoned in the custody of the Marshal of the Marshalsea for six months.

We are authorized to state, that the read name of the young man

We are authorized to state, that the roal name of the young man executed at the Old Bailey, (as noticed in our Columns) on Wednesday last, was not Edmund Sparrow, but Edward Piplin.

**Advertisement.]—Last Tuenday, another 30,0001, was sold in Shares by CARROLL. No, 11,488, was the lucky Ticket, and the fortunate holders may receive their Mouey on demand. This reminds us, that the very last 30,0001. Consols, was also sold by CARROLL; and it is confidently anticipated that, as Carroll is so peculiarly fortunate in seiling 30,0001. Prizes, that another will also be sold by him, before the close of time present Lottery, at his fartunate offices, 19, Cornblit, and 26, Oxford-street.

property in the London with and 26. Unford-street.

PROSPECTUS of the London Wine Company, No. 141, FLEET-STREET, to commence on Thursday next, 29th November.

PROSPECTUS of the London Wine Company next, 29th November.

Property magnitude, the Proprietors feelit proper to aubmit to the consideration of the Public the following view of its objects and arrangements.

The London Wine Company, after having occupied the greater part of the Present year in building and atting-up appropriate Premises, take leave to announce their intention of commencing Business on the 29th instant. These-fremises are situated in the extensive Court, the entrance to which is by the Gateway, 141, Fleet-street; and comprehending the whole of the inner Court, are formed upon a scale fully adequate to the transaction of business of the union magnitude. The Cellars, which are peculiarly dry and spacious, are at present stocked, and will always contain from 30,000 to 40,000 Dozens of the cholosot Wilnes, of every class and country.

But although this Company feel it necessary thus to conform with the usual mode of giving publicity to the nature and extent of their Establishment, they would rather invite disect and personal examination of its merits, as they aim at no other preference than that which they may be really found to deserve; and having taken the utinest care to be furnished with none but genuine Wines, of the best flavour and quality, they offer that invitation with peculiar confidence. As they cannot, however, calculate upon general attention to any invitation or address on intere anonymeus authority, especially after the frequent delusions to which the Public have been subjected, the Company thisk it prepar to declare, that with them originated, and by them is at present conducted, the LONDON GENUINE TEA COMPANY, 23, Ludgate-hill, with all its extensive ramifica ions. The success of this Company have chought proper to honour it with their patronage, the Prepitetors feel assured that they may refer on this occasion for they supe to those, then, who, during the existence of that Company, have thought proper to knoment it with their patronage, the Prepiletons feel assured that they may refer on this occasion for the superior character of their articles, soul the consistent rectitude of their dealings; and resolving to make the same system the rule of their conduct in their new Establishment, they cannot doubt of success.

But having sensibly felt the good effect of that system, it would be a dereliction of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as an assume the public of the control o

 Old Port in wood
 per | Ipe £90 to £126

 Fine old Sherry
 per dozen 46s

 Superior old Paleditto
 54s. to 60s.

 Particularly solt-flavoured Amontillado
 60s. to 65s.

 Curious old Sherries in wood per pipe £95 to £126

 Pine West India Madeira per dozen 50s. to 60s.

 Bast India dit.o.
 70s to 84s.

 Most curious ditto, 6 to 16 years in hot; le
 6 to 10 Guineas

 Madeiras in wood
 per pipe £110 to £126

 Very fine Teneriffe per dozen 42s. to 46s.

 Bucel as 48s.

 Calcavella
 45s.

 Lisbon
 45s. de. &c.

 Light-flavoured Ciaret
 per dozen 72s.

 Very fine Claret
 90s.

ı	Latour 5 Guineas
l	White and Red Hermitage 5 Guiners	1
l	Saute ne 75s. to 9ffs.	1
ı	Barsac 75s. to 90s.	1
ı	Coti Retie£5 10s.	1,
l	Frontiguac	Г
١	Champagne	ľ
l	Superior curlous Burguidy 5 to 7 Guiness	1
Į	Hock 4 to 8 Guineas	1
	Huselle 60s. to 72t.

Very fine Claret 90s. Clarets, first growth, Margot and Laftte ...... £5 to £5 15s.

TO ALL WHO VALUE THEIR COM ALL WHO VALUE I INDAM survey and the perfect field aged restored, the weak flight aircogheed, and the perfect field preserved to extreme old age, upon morring cridities, by BRADBERRY's PATENT. SPECTACLES, established borry years. To be lead only at 21. Helies street, Unford street, (opposite Hancver situary), the first door out. 23, Halies street, Oxford street, (opposite Hancev ship of Oxford-street, on the left tend, asking no other place dom. Orders from the country will be itsmediately a from 332, Oxford-street.

LONDON MARKETS.

CORN EXCHANGE, FRIDAY, Nov. There has been a fair supply of Wheat since Monday; and excissiderable portion of that day's arrival remaining over on account of its inferior quality, the sales were exceedingly heavy and for this description full is, per quarter lower; the basics assumed also barely support Monday's prices.—Fine Barley maintains its price, but the coarse ordinary sorts can scarcely be got off at a reduction of is, per quarter.—The Oat trade is very dull, and about is, per quarter cheaper, the arrival this week being rather large-to-in Beans and Pease there is little alteration in value.

Themse with a cupe or	wie is notic sitelshou iu asi	110
RETURN P	RICK of GRAIN, on board Shi	n acutton 7
Report Red Wheat (not	m) 40e 4de Mente
Energy and in many (Ma)	W/ 108. MADIO
F 1100	a
UIQ	GOO BAO   Brilana
Brow White (new)	An. As . O. II P
The state (new)	Sos. Small Boans	· processing
1000 . d d	58g. 60%. Old
Buperline	50s. 55s. Small Boans 58s. 60s. Uld 61s. 62s. Tink Beans (new
012	70s. 74s. Old
Bank Control of the C		<sub>.</sub>
*	YOS, 306.   Feed Oals
Bariey	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	104 914
Fine	261. 27s. Poland ditte	10- 10-
Innering	are I brand ditto or ber was	28a. 29a. Fine
#416	Sec. 60s. Potatne ditto	- 48- 27-
Mine	63a. 66s. Fine	AT- 04-
Hog Peare	VIDAGE BUILDING & BOTTHE	3 Mail: 74
TUP CONVENTAL	MINACIE BELLENO A DECEMBER

HE GENERAL AVERAGE PRICES of BRITISH CORN, as weekly from the Inspectors in the Maritime Cities and Towns in Bad and Water, according to the Gazette of the 24th of November, calledge.

ORNBAL AVERAGE WHICE SEVERES IMPORTATION.
Wheat, 55s 4d.—Barley, 25s 5d.—Oats, 19s 8d.—R. e. 94s 4d.—Ban 304 7d.

PRICES OF GOL  s. d.  Portugal Gold, in Coinc 0 9,04.  Portiga Gold in Bars 3 17 104  New Doubloons 0 0 0	New Dollars
COURSE OF EXCHA Amsteriam	NGE —FRIDAY Nev. 22 Trieste Madrid 26 Cadir 3 Bilboa 353 Bayeelona 35 Seville 354 Gibratar 3 Leghera 47 Genea 4 Venice 27 60 Malta A Vaples 304 Palerne 14 Lisbon 50 Opogte 3 Rio Janeiro 4 Bahia Dublin 6 Cork

COMMERCIAL REPORT

19TH NOVEMBER, TO THE 24TH HOVE

Such a continuance of gloom and despondency, has per been experienced in the Commercial world, and the rep calamitous consequences, is truly appalling; but, as per descriptions of produce, are now settled so extremely for there is evidently an increased demand, we have every there is evidently an increased demand, we have every ground for anticipating a gradual improvement in all the tions of business.—We have again to record an active Plantation Sugars. Good scale qualities are difficult to the scale qualities and have commanded an advance of 2s, per cwt. below 58s. sustain the full prices of last week. The casks less than last season, and prices 6s. to 7s. per Cws, very favourable opinion still attaches itself to this commendated by the prices of the comments of fined goods have enjoyed more attention. Large Lumps, 1. Single Loaves, Brown, 75s. to 80s.; Middling, and Goods 62s. to 86s.; Fine Middling and Fine, 89s. to 96s. Creating immediate shipment, 33s. to 40s.; extensive contracts entered into for the spring delivery. Molasses, 23s. insignificant sales of Coffee have taken place, from the basiness done by private, Plantation Description stated 2s. higher, and foreign without alteration. Running request, at the extreme prices of last week, which is with Brandies. The Cotton Market remains in a quick with Brandies. The Cotton Market remains in a quick without however any depreciation. Advices from Livery that more business was doing, with some prospect of an accurrency. The latest accounts from the United States, a the Cotton Crop as having sustained very considerable in heavy rains. Extensive operations have taken place in which heavy rains. which have established an improvement of is, per cut. Candle, 43s. 6d.; Petersburg, Soap, 38s.; Archangel, 40s. all appearances the value of this article has not only. minimum point, but is on the eve of a considerable advan-

HOME CONSUMPTION—DUTIES PAYABLE UPON THE POLICE

Sugar, British plantation, 27s. per cwt.; ditto East India. 3a.; Coffee, British plantation, 1s. per lb.; ditto East India. 3a.; Cocoa, ditto, 1s.; Pimento, 10d.—Cotton, 6 per cent. ad a coca; ditto West India, free; Tobacco, 4s. per lb.; Rice, from Aberica and Java, 15s. per cwt.; ditto from other parts, 5s.; Tallow, 3s. 2d.; Tea, under 2s. per lb. 100 per cent.; ditto, above 3s. per lb. 96 per cent.; Rum, 11s. 74d. per gallon; Brandy and Conevs, 18s. 10d.; Wine, Port, 7s. 7d.; ditto Madeira, 7s. 3d.; ditto Cape, 2s. 64d.; ditto Sherry, 7s. 7d.

					the s
PRICE	t to E	he PUB	LIC FU	NDS.	4
STOCKS.	Mon.	Tues.	Wad.	Thur.	Frid.	Bal.
Bank Steck	5 to	210}	810	233	2392	: i i —
3 per Cent. Reduced	771	773	77	77	777	772.2
3 per Cent. Consols	7 × 1	781	76	7%	73	7P 8
34 per Cent Consols	6.5	678	87 Á	78	67	67
Consols for Account	78	ે¢ા	78	774	7844
4 per Cent. Consols	969	96	961	964	967
5 per Cent. Navy		111	111	1104	110	MALE I
Bank Long Annuities		194	194	193	191	191
India Bonda	73 p	73 p	72 p	66 p	76 p	(A)
Exchequer Bitts, 2d!	4 p	5 P	4 p	ו יקו	5 p	13p.
Ditto, 24d	_	· - ` '				F% — "
Omnium	 .	- 1		- 1		r

At Rathmines-read, on the 15th inst, the Lady of Captain Muray, Royal At Ballinasioe, on the 13th inst, the Lady of James Stanley Ireland, Ecc.
6th Royal Veteran Battalion, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

On Thursday, the 22d inst. by the Rev. G. T. Bilson, George Stebbing
Sadler, Esq. of Langham, in the county of Essex, Captain in the West Essex Militia, to Louisa, eldest daughter of Peter Firmin, Esq. of Dedisam, in the Militia, to Lonisa, eldest daugater of reter rivinin, may be accepted in a same county.

On Tuesday last, at South Stoke, near Bath, Captain George-Goaling. R.N. to Felicia Jame, daughter of the Rev. Chas. Johnson, Prebend of Wells, On Tuesday, at Melksham, Henry, youngest son of the Hop. Col. Seymour, to Charlotte, youngest daughter of the late Sir Samuel Whitcombe.

On Tuesday, the 13th inst. at St. Mary's, Carlisle, Sir F. T. Morshead, Bart, to Jame, second daughter of Robert Warwick, Esq.

DIED.

Bart. to Jane, second daughter of Robert Warwick, Esq.

DIRD.

On Friday, the Right Hon. Sir J. Mannfield, ared 68, late Chief Funtice of the Common Pleas.

On Wednesday last, at Lie seat, Thornton Hall, Bucks, Sir Thes. Sheppard, Bart. in the 76th year of his age.

On Friday last, in Ennis. Lieut. Crabb, of the 40th Regt.

On the 8th last at Nice, Mary Anne, the wife of Major Ste, ney Cowell, of the Coldstream Guards.

LONLON: Printed and Published by R. T. WEAPER, at No. 11, JOHNSON'S COURT, FLEET-STREET. only Communications to the Editor, (post paid) are received.

No. 51

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1821.

Price 7d.

NEW MUSIC.—THE CORONATION.

THE OVERTURE, with the favourite AIRS in the GRAND CORONATION, as performed with unbounded applause at the Theatre ayal, Drisry Lane, composed and arranged for the Piano Forte, by T. Cooke, ice 32.—Pullished and cold by Chappell, and Co. Music Sellers to His alesty, No. 50, New Bond-street.

NEW MUSIC.

Set published by CLEMENTI and Co. 25, Cheapside: a Second Edition of ORENZO TO JESSICA. An Original English Air, now singing with unbounded applause, by Mrs. Salmon: the (words from a cause in the Merchant of Venice), by W. F. Cullard: the Symphonies and scompaniments by J. C. Cliffen. Price 28.

rwelve Monferrinas, for the Piano Porte, composed by Music lements, Op. 49. Price 5s.

The Three parceable rand familia style of three little pieces, who be found seeptable to all classes of periormers.

Three Sonatas, composed for the Piano Porte, and dedicated to Cherathin, by M. Clements, Op. 59: Price 10s. 5d.

NEW MUSIC.—Published by MAYHEW and Co. 17, Old Bond street.

TEW MUSIC.—Published by MAYHEW and Co. 17, Old Bond street.

TEW MUSIC.—NIALLMARKY Suniversally-admired Variations on the flavourite Air, "Cease your Punning," adapted for two externas on the Plano Forte, by D. Bruguier, price 3s.—The relebrated terman Air," Miss Sherrard's Recreation," so much admired as a Plano Forte erman Air, "Miss Sherrard's Recreation," so much admired as a Plano Forte ease arranged as a Duct for the Harp and Plano Forte, by the Author, can Paddon, price 5s.—Latour's favourite "Le Retour de Windsor," arranged and Duct for two Performers on the Plano Forte, by D. Bruguier, rice 5s.—The popular Hungarian Air, arranged with interesting Variations, or two Performers on the Plano Forte, by T. Jay, M.D. price 3s.—Boieldieus, awardie Overture. "Ba Galife de Bagdad," arranged as a Duct for two performers on the Plano Forte, by T. Guodhan, price 4s.—The above Duction of price particularly recommended to the notice of the Musical World, being arranged by the first Masters of the present age.—London: Published by Maynew and Co. Music Sellers to her Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent, 17, eld Bond-street, where may be obtained every New Musical Publication.

ld Bond street, where may be obtained every New Musical Publication.

NEW MUSIC.—Inst Published by MONZANI and HILL, Music Sellers in ardinary to His Majesty, No. 28, Regent-street, Piccadilly.

UL MARGINE, with Variations for Flute, and Piano Rorte Accompaniments, by Berbiguier, price 4s. Call's Sepenata, No. 1 for Flute and Piano Forte, 5s. Di tanti papiti, eth Variations, by Mazzni, 3s. A Fourth Set of 24 insourite Melodies, arranged as Trios for two Flutes and Piano Forte, by H. Hill, Jos. 5d. Dussek's Giand Trio, 9p. 65, far Place Poste Flute, and Violoncello, 7s. Muzzar's Sonatas, Op. 2, Nos. 110 6, sar Piano Forte Flute, and Violoncello, 7s. Muzzar's Sonatas, Op. 2, Nos. 110 6, as Trios for Ditto, price each 4s. Bitto, No. 1, Op. 15, for Ditto, 4s. Ditto, Price, Nu. 44, for Ditto, 4s. Parecred et L'Italiana, in Algieri, arranged as Trios for three Fintes, by Kuffner, price 2s. Mozart's Opera, Il Dougles Striot for three Fintes, by Kuffner, price 2s. Mozart's Opera, Il Dougles and 12s. The Above two Operas may also be had as Quartetts for two Violins, Teoor, and Violoncello. Bussinis Diamatic Overturers, Nos. 1, 2, 3, arranged as Quintetts, with an additional Bass or Plano Forte, by H. Hill, price 12s. Roubers's Symphonies, Nos. 4, 5, and 6, arranged as Ditto, by Ditto, price 21s.

THE HUSSARS.—Just pablished, a New Edition of MIF. HUSSARS' QUADRILLES, composed and dedicated to the Right Hos. Gen. Lord Stewart, R. G. by M. C. Mortellari, 3s. The 17th No. of Paine of Almack's Quadrilles, 4s. New Editions of PANR is ALMACK'S QUADRILLES, from 1 to 1s, each No. separate, 4s.; the whole complete, bound, 1l. 15n.—The following NEW DUETS for the HARP and PIANG TORTE:—Four h Edition of Zitit, Zitti, Piano, Piano, 4s.; and Di tanti paighti, 4s by Stell. Fra tante Angoacie palpiti, by Anselt, 4s. Third Edition of O Pescator dell'onda, by F. Latour, 4s.—Published at Falkner's Opera Music Warehouse, 3, Old Bond street.

Third Edition of O Pescator dell'onda, by F. Latour, is —Published at Falkner's Opera Music Warehouse, 3, Old Bond street.

**NEW MUSIC-FOR THE PIANO FORTE.**

IS MARESTV'S WELCOME HOME, a Set of now Quadrilles, in which are introduced the celebrated La Gigne, La Gavotine, and La Majestinese; sixo King George the Fourth's Hanoverian Waltz, as denced at the Foreign Coarts, selected and arranged, with proper figures, by David Johnstone, price 3s. La Paur de Hanover, Madia a la Falca-esta, pescad by J. W. Hoider, Mus. Bact Oxon, price 3s. Sestetto, will accompaniments for two Violins, Viola, Violoncello, and Bass, composed by Freik Ralebrenuer, Op. 58, price 8s. "Tu set el mio dolte amore," Afr. with Variations, composed by J. Maschells, price 3s. 6d. "When thy bosom heaves a sigh," composed by Mr. Braham, arranged as an Introduction and Roado, by 6. Kialimurk, price 2s. 6d. "Chatouiller Foreille," or petit Divertieement, by J. W. Holder, price 2s. 6d. "A Solder's Grantude, Afr.," by Bieböp, arranged as at Roado, by T. H. Butler, price 2s. 6d.

Published by Goulding, D'Almain, Potter, and Co. 20, Soho-square.

NEW VOCAL MUSIC.

In a few days will be published by Goulding, D'Almain, and Co. Soho-square, MELODIES of VARIOUS NATIONS, with Symphonies and Accompaniments for the Plano Forte, by H. R. Bishop; the Puetry by T. Bayley, Es., (Author of Rough's Sketches of Bath), price, to Subscribers, 12s. to Non-Subscribers, 15s. Also, the whole of the Music as performed at the Theatre Royal, Covent Garden, in "The Two Gentlemen of Verona, composed by H. R. Bishop, price 15s." As above may be had Parry's Selection of Scotch Songs, with Symphonies and Accompaniments for the Plano Porte, several of which are harmonized for two and three voices, in three Books, price each 5s.

Books, price each 5s.

Just published, price 5s. 6d. boards.

THE DISCOURSES of SIR WILLIAM JONES, delivered before the Asiatic Society, on the Religion, Poetry, Literature, &c. of the Nations of India.

London: Printed for W. H. Carpenter, Lower Brook-street.

IRISH PILLAR TOWERS.

Just published, in royal 8vo. illustrated with Plates, price 10s. boards, N. HISTORICAL and CRITICAL INQUIRY into the Origin and Primitive Use of the IRISH PILLAR TOWER.—By Col. DE MONTMORENCY MORRES.

London: Printed for Sherwood, Neely, and Jones, Paternoster-row; and C. P. Archer, Dublin.

Just bublished, by Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, price 18st PRIEST, a Novel. In Three Volumes.

Just published, by Baidwin, Cradack, and Joy, price 18s.

AURICE POWELL; an Historical Welsh Tale of England's Trophles. In Three Volumes.

The British Review, No. XXXVI. published Dec. I, contains the following Subjects: -1. Don Juan, Cantos 2, 4, and 5.—

If Sketches of the Domestic Manners and Institutions of the Romans.—

BI. Lady Morgan's Italy—IV. Sir R. Ker Porter's Travels into Georgia, Persia, Armenia, &c.—V. A Brief Memeir of the late Rev. Wm. Richardson, of York.—VI. Dr. Copleston's Pugnity into the Doctrines of Necessity and Predestination.—VII. History of George Desmond.—VIII. Travels of Cosmo III. through England, in 1669.—IX. Vindicite Apocalyptics. Gauntlet's Exposition of the Book of Revelation.—X. State of the Process Slave Trade, Reports of the Directors of the African Institution, and numerous other Works.

London: Published by Baldy in Cradack and the Doctrines of the Control of the Cont Works, London: Published by Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, Paternoster row; and Hatchard and Son, Piscadilly.

STOCKDAILE'S CALENDAR for 1822, containing—I. The Royal Calendar.—II. The Almanack.—III. The Companion to the Calendar.—IV The Peerage, with the Arms of the Baronetage, with the Arms of the Baronetage and Baronetage contain the late creations.

Just published, in 8vo. printed on the best paper,

N improved DIARY; or, LAW and COMMERCIAL

REMEMBRANCER for 1822, containing, besides the Divry, a variety of useful and authentic information. Price half bound, 38 6d.; enlarged Edition, containing half a page for each day, 4s. 6d.; extra colurged, containing a page for each day, 7s.

London: published and sold by Edward Dunn, No. 9. Fleet-street, nearly opposite Charcery-lane, and may be had of any Bookseller or Stationer.

Just published, hand-somely printed in 2 vols, royal 4to, embellished with Portaits and other Engravines by the inst Arista price 5t. 15a, 5d. bds.

M. E.MOIRS of JOHN EVELYN, Eso, the celebrated Author of Sylva, &c. Written by HIMSEL! builed by W.M. BRAY, Esq. Fellow and Treasurer of the Society of Authorities, &c.

This extremely cursous and interesting work is printed from the original MSS. in the Library at Wotton, at remprises the diary, with observations on men and manners; the pullives literature was delence of his age, during his travels in France and Italy; his residence the Logiand towards the latter part of the Protectorate, and his comexion with the Courts of Charles II. and the two subsequent reigns, interspersed mens aveat number of original ancestoles of the most celebrated pussons of at period. To the Memoirs are subjoined original letters from Sir Roward indials. Secretary of State to King Charles I. during some important beinds of that reign, with the kings answers; also selections from the cores spondence of John Breign, and numberons letters from Sir Edward Poise to did Charles II. Skiw. Nicholas, and to Sir Richard Brown, Amban who to France during the extle of the British Court.

Printed for Heary Colbura and C. Condult-alreet.

Printed for Heary Colburn and C. Condulf-street.

Printed for Heary Colburn and C. Condulf-street.

Preface; by the Rollor, on the conclusion in appear;

I. Preface; by the Rollor, on the conclusion in the 12th No. 12, for Dec. 1, contains the following Original papear;

I. Preface; by the Rollor, on the conclusion in the 12th No. 11, On the Superstitions of Hirhlanders and Londoners. If The Traveller. IV. Milk and Honey, or the Land of Fronies. V. D. ads.—VI. Serman Popular, and Traditional Literature.—VII. On the Hunery of the Middle Ages, by M. Sismondi.—VIII. Social Converse.—VI. appeal of Torrist.—V. On Affectation in Portraiture.—XI. On the Hunery of the Middle Ages, by M. Girlmin's Ghost, Letter s.—VIII. Elgent Letter of Don Leucadio Dohaldo.—XIV. Hints to Young Authors.—XV. Christmas Keeping.—XVI. Lines written in the Country.—XVII. Johress to the Alabaster Narcophagus lately deposited in the British Miss. 20.—XVIII. Lines written in a small Yolume; the gift of a deceased from .—XIX. Soniet by Afferi.—XX. To Lelia.—XXI. Fortune's Fickleness.—XXI. Song.—XXIII. Thanks for a Place.—XXIV. Song from the Italian.—XV. Sonmets by Monti, &c. Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Condular reset; and sold by all Hooksellers.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Ca. Conduit street; and sold by all Hooksellers.

Lately published, in 3 to a price 18s.

THE HERMIT in the COLN 18th. By the Author of

"The Hermit in Locarin."

"Quite weary ground.

Of all the follies of the town.

And seeing in all jublic plat.

The same vain tops, and pal set faces.

Printed for Henry Colburn and So. Conduit street.

Just published, in 2 vois. 8vo. embellished. th 18 Portraits, price 31s. 6d.

CEORGE THE THIRD. HIS ODERT and FAMILY.

This work will be much to about its relations of those seculiar trans of character for which his Majeste. and sistinguished during his long and eventful roign, and which have subserted his personal history so remarkably attractive. It also contains at the collection of original ancedates of illustrious and distinguished personal financial contains a time collection of original ancedates of illustrious and distinguished personal financial ancedates and a second financi

History, and relation to Art, Science, and Arthur of the Ponantian Britains and Arthur of the Ponantian Britains.

The Work to be printed in a xole it its 6d, boards. The wobscripton is Subscribers manner received by the Aulician Market and Arthur and Co. Conduit steel Aulicians and Co CETABLES, comprising of Chemical Qualities, Natura nurce.—By HEN, PHILLIPS bey of Fruits known in Great al Svo. price, to Subscribers, paid on delivery of the copies, neen's House, Bayswater; and Anat published, price as, 40, a New Edition of GUIDE to MATRIATIONIA. APPINESS, in a Series of Letters, written by a Lady of instinction to her Relation, shortly after her marriage.

Convenies:—Of the Disposition of a Wur.—Disposition of a Justiand.—Finders of Commany.—Intimate Acquairing ones.—Continuance of Affection.—Weakness of Temper.—Disposition.—Of Temper.—Disposition.—Of Temper.—Disposition.—Of Temper.—Disposition.—Of the Concerns of Life-General Behaviour and Deportuent.—Conformity of Tempers and Secrets.—Natural Imperfections.—Agreement of Thoughts in the Concerns of Life-General Behaviour and Deportuent.—Conformity of Tempers and Secrets.—Natural Imperfections.—Agreement of the formity of Tempers and Secrets.—Natural Imperfections.—Agreement of a final of the Management of Conversation.—Of the attangement of a Family, No. No. Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Conduit-street.

Just published, in 3 yes, price 21.

PRECAUTION; or, the M. RIMONIAL BALANCE.

This novel will please foth the company and the old: the former will like it because it is full of managers, and the inter-because it inculcates in every page the value of precaution on easy ing the materino and stale. —New Monitaly Management.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Conduit-street, who have also lately published.

published.
2. COUNTRY NEIGHBOURY; or, The SECUET. By Miss BURNEY,

Second Edition, 2 vols. 16s.

3. SCHEMING, a Novel, 3 vals. 21s.

4. PALMYRE et PLAMINE. Par Med. DE GENDAS, 2 vols. 8s.

5. PETRARCH and LAURA, by the same Author, 2 vols. 10s. 6d.

4. PALMYRE et FLAMINE. Par med DE GENIMS, 2 yols, 3s;
5. PETRARCH and DAURA, by the rane Author, 2 yols, 10s; 6d.

Just pablished, pice 4s, 6d.

THE MOTHER'S MEDICAL ASSISTANT, containing Practical instructions for the Trevention and Treatment of the Diseases of INFANTS and CHILDREN. By Sir ARTHUR CLARKE, M.D. &c. Author of an Essay on Bathin; on Diseases of the Skin, &c. In this little treatise the Author has emeravoured to communicate the results of considerable experience and observation in an unadorned and familiar manner, with a view of producing an useful compondium for mothers, as far as possible divested of technical or scientific language.

Printed for Henry Colbura and Co. Conduit-street.

LETTERS OF EMINENT PERSONS.

Lately published by Henry Colbura and Co. Conduit-street, and sold by Bell and Bradfute, Edihistryh, and Join Cumming, Dublid.

CORRESPONDENCE of DAVID HUME, the HISTORIAN, with several distinguished Persons; pow first spiblished from the Originals in the possession of the Editory 4to. 1, 11s. 6d.

2 CORRESPONDENCE of HENRY WALPOLE, EARL of ORFORD, complete in 4 has isome vois; 8sm, with Porirait, price 21, 8s.

3. CORRESPONDENCE of BENJA WAN FRANKLIN, Light F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by all Grandson; 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

4. CORRESPONDENCE of BAICON DE GRIMM and DIDEROT, from the years 1755 to 1793; selected and translated from the French. Second Edition, in 4 large vols. 8vo. 21, 16c. boards. The French Edition, complete in 7 vols 8vo. 31, 13s. 6d. Any of the Volumes may be had separately, to complete sets.

"The stores contained in this work are inexhaustible."—Monthly Rev.

5. CORDESPONDENCE de MADAME D EPINAY, on elle donfie des Details sur see Linisons avez Ducley, E. J. Rousseau, Grimm, Diderot, le Barron d'Holbach, Saint Lambert, Madas of Bloutetot, et autres Personnages calobies du dishinitione Siecle, 2 vols. 8vo. 200.

Details sur ses Linisons avec Bucles, E. J. Rousseau, Grimm, Diderot, le Barron d'Holbach, Saint Lambert, Madan e d'Houtetot, et autres Personnages celebres du dix-huitleme Sicele, 3 vols. seo 30s.

6. LETTERS of KLOPSTOCK and his FRENDS. With a Biographical Introduction, by Miss BENORIE. Porning a Sequel to Miss Smith's Life of Klopstock, Svo. 10s. 6d.

Life o' Klopstock, 8vo. 10s. 6d.

**TENTILATION of CLOSE, TARRIAGES His Majesty's Letters Patent have been obtained for a MODE of VENTILATING CLOSE CARRIAGES. By this neeted the air in the Carriage is resinitiated in as pure a state when the Glasses are up as when down. Carriages may be Ventilated upon this plan, at a very trifling expence, by application at No. 20. Ludgate Hill. nearly apposite Old Bailey.

SMIRKE'S SHAKSPEARE, No. 3.

On Breamber 16, will be problemed.

BLUSTRATIONS of MERRY, WIVES of WINDSOR, being the Third Number of LLUSTRATIONS of SHAKSPEARE, from Pictures painted expressiv for this work by ROBERT SMIRKE, Esq. R. A. Engraved in the finest style by the most emipent Historical Engravers. The Play illustrated is published at the same time.

No. 4. "Twelfth Night," will appear early in February.

Printed for RodwellandMartin, New Bond-street; and sold by Colsaghide Cô. Cockspur-street, and the principal Booksellers in the United Kingdom.

PLATES to those Published by himself, and not in his Works more recently republished by the late Mesers. Boydell and to: in his Works more sheets of grand Engle Paper, price Five Guineas.—Published by Robert Wilkinson. 125, Fenchurch-street. Where also may be had, the following Grignal Works of Mr. Hogarth, first included in the above, viz.—The SEALANG of the SEPULCHRE, ALTAK-PIRCE of ST. MARY RADCLIFF in the CITY of BRISTOL, 22 inches by "disches, price 15s.—The RESURRECTION of CHRIST, in ditto, same size, price 15s.—CHARLEMAGNE'S EROWN, price 2s. 8d.—FRONTISPIECE to ARTIST'S CATALOGUB, price 3s. 5d.—TAIL PIRCE to ditto, price 2s. 6d.—Likewise Copies of some of his Original Works, and we Plates Burleaque of that Artist; the subjects are, Hog—mss, Wi—k—s, and Courch—ill, price 2s. each.

Just published.

of his Original Works; and two Plates Buriesque of this actist; the subjects are, Hog—ass, Wi—k—s, and Church—ill, price 2s, each.

**Discourage of the Church—ill, price 2s, each.**

**LACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE, No. LVII.**

**If the Church of the Church of Seamen, No. III.—II. Primes Church of No. III.—II. Primes Church of Seamen, No. III.—II. Primes Church of the Church of Seamen, No. III.—II. Primes Church of the Church of the Church of Seamen, No. III.—II. Primes Church of No. III.—In Man in the Bell.—IV. On Coplesione's Ingular into the Doctrine's of No-cessity and Predestination, Letter II.—V. Song, by Morgan O'Duberty.—VI. Latia Promoty from England.—VII. The Voyages and Travels at Columbus Secundus, Chapter's Xv. and XVI. Letter finces. Chapter's XVII. Christopher Colombus is disturbed by a Ghost!—VIII. Private Note, to all whom it may convern.—IX. Treason.—X. Learning and fiberality of the Blue and Yellow.—XI. The Frue Pedaint, a Sketch.—XII. Letter from Bull Track to Christopher North, Esq.—XIV. The Man-of-Ways Man. Chapter II.—XV. Letter from Fegarty O Fogarty. Esq.—XVII. Desire II.—XV. Letter from Pegarty O Fogarty. Esq.—XVII. Desire III.—XVII. The Pall of Water.—XVIII. Brief Abstract of Mr. O Fogarty's Journal.—XVIII. The Yellow Leaf.—XIX. Letter from Mr. O Fogarty's Journal.—XVIII. The Yellow Leaf.—XIX. Letter from Mr. Stafflebotham.—XX. A True and Perfect Account of the Landing of King George the Fourth in Ireland.—XXII. The Guod Town.—XXII. On the Scholastic Doctors.—XXIII. Works preparing for Publication.—XXIII. Monthly Letter for The Guod Town.—XXII. Monthly Register &c.

**Frinted for T. Cadell, Strand, Loudon; and Wm. Blackwood 17, Prince's street, Ediphorgh.

**In order to please all our Friends, whether Cor espondents or Patrons we shall Industry them with another extra Number, to oron

Brown, Paternoster-row,

IUVENILE LIBRARY and GENERAL DEPOT of BOOKS,
And other instructive and samsing Schemes my Youth.

ARRIS and SON having, in several recent Advertisements, announced the numerous Publications they have completed for the Instruction and Amusement of Yuana, moveley to solicit the attention of the Public, to impect them at the CORNER of SAINT PAUL'S CHURCH, YAEB, where the usual variety of CHRISTMAS PRISENTS and NEW YEAR'S GIFTS may be had.

If I Blocksellers, Stationers, Toy Shops, and other dealers, in Juvenile Works, are informed, that a Catalogue of their Publications may be had by application as above, and a liberal abovance made on all orders reserved.

FOR, YOUNG PERSONS.

Just published, armamented with 24 Copper-plate Engravings, price 5a, plain, and 7a, 5d, colourer, in near half binding.

RETITS of ENTERPRIZE, exhibited in the Travelskif Belrous in Exper and Subla, intersystated with the Observations of a Mather to her Children.—By the Author of the Station Cabinet.—Printed
just published.

THEORIESE, or, the CRUSADERS, by Mes. HOFFLAND, with 24 for Harris and Son, Corner of St. Paults unuren-yara, just published,

2. THEODORE: or, the CRUSADERS: by Mrs. HOFFLAND, with 24
Engravings, price 5s; plain, and 5s, 6d, coloured.
3. POLAR SCENES, exhibited in the Voyages of Heamskirk and Barenz to the Northern Regions, with 36 Engravings, price 5s, plain, and 6s, 6d, coloured.

LAST NIGHT'S GAZETTE.

WAR: OF I'CE, 30th Nov. 1821.
3d Regt. of Drag. Guards-Lieut. Hon. G. R. Abercromby to be Lieut.

vice Grav.
7th Ditto Cornet G. T. Greenland to be Cornet, vice Kelly.
4th Reg, of Light Drags: Ass. Surg. R. Greig, M.D. to be Ass. Surg. vice 7th Dilto—Cornet G. T. Greenland to be Cornet, vice Kelly.

4th Reg. of Light Drags—Ass. Sarg. R. Greig, M.D. to be Ass., Surg. vice Gardiner.
9th Ditto—Sub-Lieut. Lord F. Conyugham to be Lieut. vice Ellis.
12th Ditto—Cornet J. R. Broadhead to be Lieut, vice Hay.—A. Davies, Gent. to be Cornet, vice Kennedy.
18th Ditto—Lieut. G. Schreiber to be Captain, vice Western.—Cornet J.
Insile to be Lieut. Vice Schreiber to be Captain, vice Western.—Cornet J.
Insile to be Lieut. Vice Schreiber.—W. B. F. Skarpe, Gent. to be Cornet, vice Leslie.
19th Ditto—Lieut T. Walker to be Capt. vice Georges.
7th Regt. of Foot—Hosp. Ass. I. James to be Ass. Surg. vice Barry.
41st Ditto—Cornet H. A. O. Neil to be Ensign, vice Grant.
55th Ditto—Lieut. P. E. Crazic to be Capt. vice Dickens.—Sec. Lieut. Lord
E. Hay to be Lieut. vice Craigie.
69th Ditto—Lieut. N. Wilsen to be Ensign, vice Lord Carmarthen.
99th Ditto—Ensign W. Thobasa to be Lieut. vice Buchapan.
99d Ditto—Lieut. N. Wilsen to be Capt. vice Alexander.
2d West India Regt.—Capt. C. Delahoassy to be Major, vice Macpherson.
Lieut. J. Maclean to be Capt. vice Delahoussy.—Ensign H. P. Williams to be Lieut. Vice Maclean.—W. M. Pherson, Gent. to be Ensign, vice Williams.
Ass. Sarg. P. Duigan, M. D. to be Surgeon, vice Hasking.
Brevel—Major G. Disbrowe, of the list or Gren. Foot Guards, and Major
Hon. A. J. H. Flüzgerald De Roos, to be Lieut. Cols. in the Army—Capt. J.
W. Henderson, to be Major in the Army—Capt. D. Denham to be Major on the Continent of Africa only.
Hospital Staff—Ass. Surg. W. Harry, M.D. to be Surg. to the Borces, vice Gilder.—Hosp. Ass. W. White has been superseded.

Erratum in the Garette of the 17th ullimo.

4tst Foot—For Lieut Hon. W. Horae, to be Lieut. read Lieut. Hon. W.
Home, to be Lieut. and C. Brockman, Gent. to be Ensigns.

Lieutenant of the County of Warwick.

J. B. Smyth, Gent. and C. Brockman, Cept. to be Ensigns.

BANKRUPTCLES SUPERSEDED.

RICHARD BINGHAM, clerk and banker.—ROBERT WROOTS, Sleaord, finen-draper.—ROBERT SEATON, Wentbridge, cotton-spinner.

BANKBUPTS.

ord, finen-draper. -ROBERT SEARON, West-oringe, conconsisting BANKRUPTS.
LONGSTER. C. Highbary Terrace, merchant.
ATTWOOD, A Lymington, surgeon,
MONKHOUSE, R. New Shoreham, timber-merchant.
PAINE, E. Little Chart, Kenf, paper maker.
CAMPART, W. H. Croyden, batter.
CLARKSON, J. Gracechurch street, batter.
NIBLOCK, J. and LATHAM, R. S., Bath, woolles-drapers.
BRAY, D. Plymouth Dock, victualier.
ARMISTEAD, J. Clapham, catton spinner.
CROPPER, J. Great Peter-street, brewer.
HOUNSFIELD, J. calico-manufacturer.
LONGRIGG, E. Liverpool, linen-draper.
FISHER, jun. F. Leicester square, surgeon.
KAY, T. Lambridge place, Walcot, auctiencer.
HOWARD, J. St. Martin's court, cordwainer.
CELLA, P. Moleford-court, Penchurch-street, wine-u erchant.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE

ARTNERSHIPS DISSOLVED Box and Chaplin, Buckingham, drapers.—J and J. Hooman, jun. Howarth, and Pardoc Kiddermioster, worsted-manufacturers.—Binyon and Catforth, Newcastle upon Tyne, insurance-brokers.—Best and Martyr, Craven-street, Strand, wine and spirit merchants.—Miles and Read, Little Britain, clothworkers.—Turner, Hysiop, and Gurrett, Percambuse, commission-merchants.—Hobday and Johnson, Birmingham, pasm-brokers.—Sandell and Newell, Newport, Isle of Wight, brawers.—Holland and Isherwood, Rochdale, straw bonnet-makers.—Crowder, Lavie, and Oliverson, Frederick place, attornies.—Bleakhorn and Heppenstall, Wadworth, Yorksbire, famers.—Barfoot and Wakeham, Prymouth, manufacturers.—W. and to Lyon, Wigan, Ladeashire, printers.

Bankkuppts.

rers.—Barfoot and Wakeham, Plymouth, manufacturers.—W. 200 C. Lyon, Vigan, Ladensure, printers.

BAN ISS. T. Curdworth, Warwickshire, dealer.
BULLTBEE, B. and COLE, J. W. Peterbarough, bankers.
COOPER, C. Upper North-place, Stay's Inn-road, grocer.
DENZILVE, M. K. Bridport, bookseller.
EASTWOOD, R. Leeds, drapper.
TOWLER, J. Mark-lane, tea-dealer.
JACKSON, R. Cannon street, merchant.
KIRKHAM, G. Lancaster, merchant.
LEVI, H. Nelson-square, merchant.
MOCTON, P. Sulford, Mambeater, merchant.
MICOLSON, J. Cummerstate, Combediand, iron-founder.
PARKER, 4t. Whitehurch, Salop, sta-Joner.
RFFCHEE, J. and J. and BICHARDSON, F. Watting-street, ware-towenen.

STAFF, C. and W. W. Norwich bombasine samulacturers.

Dec. 28, J. Dingle, Charlestown, St. Austell, Conswall, ship samer—Bec. 19, H. Wheatley, Coventry, slik dyer,—Dec. 19, R. Clements, Coventry, ribbon manufacturer,—Dec. 48, J. Hollis, Goswell-street-loost, stone smason,—Dec. 19, S. Wood, Bofton, banker—Dec. 21, M. Hattersley, Bilton with Harrasque, Yorkshire, Inskeeper,—Dec. 22, S. Garton, Woodstreet, slik manufacturer—Dec. 22, R. C. Mart, Rathbone-place, linea-draper—Dec. 27, T. Littie, Bodham, Sussex, grocer—Dec. 2, J. Harris, Redwinger, vicualier—Dec. 18, L. Grand, S. Grand, G. Grand, S. Grand, S. Grand, S. Grand, G. Grand, S. Grand, G. Grand,

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

Paris, Nov. 25.—M. Latour Manbourg, our Ambassador to Constantinople, has proceeded to Toulon, where he will embark. He bears, as a present to the Grand Seignior, two splendid crystal candelabras, eight feet high.

An article from Augsburg states, that the Minister of Hanover had, previous to the departure of his Majesty, presented him, in the name of the country, with 10,000 pieces of gold newly coined, intended to pay the expences of the Monarch, which they whimsically enough state Lord Sidmouth had refused to do out of the public treasury of England.

The first of Mazian, for the conspiracy of the 19th August, terminated yesterday, whenthe Chancellor of the House of Peers pronounced the sentence in a public sitting. Mazian is condemned to five years imprisonment, and to pay the expences of the process against him.

Previous to his departure for St. Heiena, Napoleon deposited the sum of four millions francs in a banking-house. He has distributed it, by his will, between General Montholon, to whom he bequeaths two millions, and the Generals Bertrand, Drouot, Gourgand, and M. Las Cases, Doctor Automarchi, his Almoner, and several other persons who were statched to his service.

We learn from Berlin, that the rumours of peace; at least of its continuance for this season, become daily more consistent: but that in the event of a war between Russia and the Porte, the Count of Berlin has engaged to mrinish an auxiliary corps of 30,000 men, or an equivalent in money.—Constitutionness.

Nov. 17.—The Duke de Cadiz, the King's nephew, and son of his Royal Highness Don Francois de Paule, and Donna Louisa Charlotte, of Naples (sister of the Duchess de Berrir), died on the Lith insta at the Royal recidence of the Escurial.

Extract of a private letter:—At nine o'clock yesterday evening, a throng assembled at the Puerta del Sol, and shouted incessantly, "Down with the Ministers!"—"Riego for ever!" The officer of the neighbouring post begged them to retire, otherwise he should be obliged to force them to disperse. One of the some person of the mob, on which the guards turaed out, and, surrounding them, took about 30 prisoners, amongst whom was a Lieut. Colonel.

Capt: Delamothe, sentenced to five years imprisonment, summoned to give evidence on the trial of Maziau, effected his escape from the custody of his conductors. The Captain, in alighting from the fiacre, and in the act of entering the prison of St. Pelagie, observed the traiteur, ordered his dinner, and then shutting the carriage door upon the two gendarmes, instantly took to his heels as fast as he could. They stared at each other, and during their embarrassment the fugitive had got clear off. The haissier, who was not, like his companions, encumbered with huge boots, and a ponderous sword, set out first, and the soldiers hobbled after him, They had not proceeded many yards before a curious mistake occurred. The soldiers asked an itinerant fruit woman, if she had not just seen a person dressed in black running along the street. Yes!" replied the female, "there he goes—there?"—politing to the Rue St. Victor. The gendarmes instantly set up the hue and cry against the poor huissier, who was hunted down by the populace like a wild beast, and got very roughly handled before his sluggish companions could get up to rescue him from the perilous situation in which they had inadvertently placed him.—The police are making domiciliary visits for his apprehension, but they have hitherto proved fruitless.

Stock holm, Nov. 2.—The following account has been in circulation here since yesterday:—"A very loud noise was lately heard during the night in the castle of Upsal. It was discovered that a stone having become loose, had fallen down, by which an opening was disclosed that led to a vault under the castle, the existence of which was entirely unknown. There have been found, it is said, two large iron cheets, with considerable treasures. Near these cheets was found the skeleton of a person who had been hanged, with some old articles of clothing; the skeleton, as well as the clothes, crumb valley of Muda was covered in an instant with earth, rocks, and trees. It is not known how many persons have suffered by this frighful catastrophe.

A private letter from Madrid, dated Nov. 14th, has the following paragraph:—"We appear upon the verge of a dissolution of our monarchy; well-informed persons say openly, that not only Cadiz and all Andalusia, but the provinces of Valencia, Arragon, Catalonia, and Galicia, are on the noint of separating from the Capital, to form themselves into Federative Republics. Our Clubists of the Fontana d'Or parade the streets by night, shouting 'Long live Riego, Emperor of the Spanish Republic!' The Echo de Padilla, Journal of the Descamisadas (sans culottes), of this day, announces that the real revolution will take place in a month at the latest. This news may be premature, but it does great injury to the Loan."

The Spanish papers state that a dreadful accident occurred on the 31st of October. A case relative to the liberty of the press was to be tried before the tribunal. It order to admit a great number of persons, it was thought advisable to hold the Court in the Convent of the Franciscans. The keeper of the Convent intimated his apprehensions, but he was not listened to. The floor soon gave way, and seventy persons were buried in the ruins.

Havannab papers state that the atmosphere was pure and the weather become cool, the cases of fever had consequently diminished; the number of cases was 32.

Deaths at New Orleans for three days preceding the 28th ultimo, seven.

The advices from Pernambuco, brought by the Active, within these few days past, represent that place as in an extremely agitated state. The insurgents, who, it is said, are three thousand strong, had cut off ull communication with the interior, in consequence of which provisions had become excessively dear, while all business was totally at a stand, and the merchants' stores closed. Fall or Lima.—This event took place, according to the following despatch, which is dated head-quarters, Lima, July 19th, ou the 10th of that month:

"Bespatch of the General in Chief of the Liberating Army of Peru, to the Most Excellent Supreme Director of the Republic.

"Most Excellent Supreme Director of the Perus, to the opposition to the oppression which they have suffered, testified in an unequivocal manner the class of freemen to which they belonged. The public papers which I have the honour to enclose, will afford your Excellency a more extended account of the eyents which have taken place. The enemy continues his flight through the mountains, pursued by our cavalry and various parties which hang upon him. Desertion from his ranks has been immense, in spite of the precautious which have been taken to avoid it. The army under my commissed proceeds in conformity with the confidence which your Excellency has placed in it; and the sacrifices of Chili have not been useless to the liberty which it has confered on its brothers in Peru. The Castle of Caliao, in which there was left a garrison of 800 lmen, is closely blockaded by land and by sea."

"Head-quarters in Lima, July 18 1821.

"To his Excellency the Castle of the State of Chili."

"DOSE DE SAN MARTIN."

"Head-quarters in Lima, July 18 1821.

"To his Excellency the Capitain, deneral, D. Bernardo O' Higgins, Supreme director o

IRELAND.

DISTURBED DISTRICTS.

Wecken scarcely resolute an sustance of more horrible arrocity since the burning of Scullaboege in the last frish rebellion; than the which soctired on Monday, micht, at or, near "the Soven Laters," a farm so called, between Thorny Bridge and Glogheen, with foot of Sewenama, in this course, at the sound of the miderant and cotters on his farm having refused either to pay their, rent in mone, or to labour for him is it discharge, to discovered the course of the miderant and cotters on his farm having refused either to pay their, rent in mone, or to labour for him is it discharge, to discovere them, and to bring labourers to dis his potatoes from a neighbouring village. On the might of Monday last, his house and outsides were currounded by an armed lamiliti, sho set fire to both at one and the same moment. In the form, in the latter five he was a support of the course of th verdict of "Wifful Morrow was returned. The Stebt of the verdict of "Wifful Morrow was returned. The Stebt of the verdict of "Wifful Morrow was returned. The Stebt of the Count." In the country of the ble; they were repeatedly commanded to hurry, from a voice without.

A written notice was posted on the Chapel door of Rookinil, near Brury, on Sunday last, which was immediately forn down by the Rev. Henry Bevan; it cautioned all persons from paying rents, and particularly not a fraction to be paid to the Rev. Mr. Bevan for tythes—no landlord to attempt distraining cattle or goods for rents; if they do, they are to suffer the death of Mejor Going. It also commanded Mr. Bevan to return the sledge to Myn. Kelly, and not deniate from his promise made the night he was visited—The Field Olicers of i.e. 79th Regiment, stationed in this Garrison, have received the Commission of the Peace for the County at large.—Captain Drought, appointed to command the Police, under the Peace Preservation Act for this Gity and Inberties arrived here yesterday; Lieut. Goslett, late of the $2d, is appointed his Secretary; and Mr. Dames, Chief Constable.—On Thursday wight, the houses of John O'Brien, Patrick Hayes, and Matthew M'Namara, at Coonagh, in the North Liberties of this City, bordering the County of Clare, were attacked by a large number of piersons; who took from each house a gam. They also searched other houses in the neighbourhood.—On Thursday, hight last, at eleving o'clock, the house of Edmond Hinchy, wood-ranger to the Countres Downger of Ormond, at Ballynacourty, near Kilfman, was assailed by six armed men, who, in a most peremptory manier, demanded his arms; he declared he had none, but those belonging to Lady Ormond, which he would surrender only with his life. On this they fired into the house; he returned the fire, on which they departed, but returned in about two hours with an increased party, and again demanded his arms, when he gave the same answer as before. They then attacked the doorwith a sledge, and fired in through the window shutters. Hinchy returned the fire, when they went to the rear of the house with crow-bars and sledges, to make an inlet there, while another party fired occasional show through the doors and windows. Hinchy still continued firing, and, after some time, they thought fit to depart, asking him for 2s. 6d. to buy powder, which he also refused. On Sunday, as a party of the Dragoous passing through Kildorrery to Kilmallock, were refreshing themselves at the former village, two of their cartines and one sword were taken from the car. The same night, a large party of insurgents traversed from Kildorrery into this county, and bruke open time or ten houses, between Red Chair and Castle Diver, in two of which they got arms, and swore the inhabitants of the other houses as to the place where their arms are concealed, and where they knew any others to be.—On Thesday night, though nine Magistrates and Major Wilcocks had met at Eliot that day, to consider the best means of, tranquillizing that part of the county, the insurgents had the audacity to assemble in a large body and attack the house of Mark Lynch, of Ballyfruirs, for his arms, which has a long time he refused, though repeated shots were fired into the house, he did not surrender until the house was actually on fire in two places.—On Thursday night last, a party of Major Wilcocks's Police apprehended, near Glanduff, in this county, James Jourdan, charged with taking arms in the middle of the day, on the 14th inst. from Mr. George Sparling; there were about two pounds of gunpowder found concealed in his house, leting more than the apparent value of all the rest of his property. And en the same day, one individual of that corps succeeded in apprehending, in a house in Newcastle, Thomas Hinchy, tharged with the murder of James Buckley, on his return fr

Digitized by GOGLE

COURT OF CHANCERY.

TRURSDAY.—The Lord Chancellor having declared his intention to sit every day after term, (which ended yesterday) until the next seal; his Lordship accordingly came into Court this morning at 10 o'clock. In consequence, however, of the petition in the matter of Howard and Gibbs' hankruptey being to be discussed in the Vice Chancellor's Court, the attendance of Counsel was extremely thin. Several causes having been called on, and the Counsel concerned in them being absent, the Lord Chancellor at length observed, that, in order to accommodate the suitors of the Court, he had appointed the time intervening between the last day of Term and the ensuing scal, to the hearing of Bankrupt petitions. It appeared, however, that his wish to get through the Bankrupt Petitions was likely to be defeated in consequence of the other branch of the Court having appointed to hear a Bankrupt Petition in the matter of Howard and Gibbs on that day. His Lordship directed the Registrar to strike out of the paper every petition in which Counsel did not appear when it was called on.—Upon rising to leave the Court, lits Lordship again declared, that in future he would direct every petition in which Counsel did not appear, and would not allow it to be again restored. No man, he said, regarded so little as he did the want of any marks of respect to himself personally; but whilst he had the honour to hold the Great Seal, he thought it was due to his office, and to those who might succeed him in it, that he should not permet himself to be treated in the manner he had been. He did not should have been left almost all the morning without the attendance of either Solicitors or Counsel?

COURT OF KING'S BENCH.

Monday.—The King's Richard Blacon, Clerk.—This was an information filed by the Attorney-General against the defendant, a Lancashire Clergyman, for a libel on the late Queen.—The trial came on before Mr. Justice Holroyd at the last Assizes for the County of Lancaster, when the libel (which was first preached by the defendant in the church of St. Mark, Liverpool, and afterwards printed under the title of "Substance of a Sermon preached by the Bev. Richard Blacow, &c.") was read in Court.—The Jury found a verdict of guilty.

The Chief Justice, addressing himself to Mr. Blacow, asked him if he had any affidavits which he was desirous of submitting to the Court?

Mr. Blacow.—None, my Lord.
The Chief Justice.—Mr. Denman, have you any affidavits?
Mr. Denman.—No, my Lord; as the defendant offers no affidavit, neither shall I.
The Chief Justice.—Has the defendant any thing to offer in mitigation of punishment?
Mr. Blacow (bowing respectfully)—No, my Lord, nothing what-

Mr. Denman Under the circumstances in which this case stands, my Lord, I certainly shall not trespass on the time of the Court.

Mr. Denman—Under the circumstances in which this case stands, my Lord, I certainly shall not trespass on the time of the Court.

The Court sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of 1001.; to be imprisoned for six months in the King's Bench Prison; to find sureties for five years, himself in 5001, and two sureties in 1001, each. The King v. Davie and Another.—These defendants, David Graves Davie and Samuel Adam Snowden, who were before the Court on the 16th inst. to receive the sentence, for the offence of wilful and corrupt perjury (the particulars of which have been already stated), and the case having been then adjourned until this day, they were now brought up, and after hearing affidavits as to character, in mitigation of punishment, and Mr. Adolphus on their behalf.—The Court adjudged them to be imprisoned in the Middlesex House of Correction for one month, and at the expiration of that time to be severally transported for seven years.

The King v. Richard Forces.—The defendant, who had pleaded guilty to an indictment for publishing an obscene print, was called up for judgment. He was ordered to be imprisoned nine months in the House of Correction, and to enter into sureties for his good behaviour of five years, himself in 1001, and two sureties in 101, each.

Tuesvay.—Mr. Gurney shewed cause against a rule obtained last year, calling on the Marshal of the King's Bench, to answer the matter of an affidavit made by Col Bayley, a Prisoner in the said prison. The Learned Gounsel observed, that Mr. Jones, the Marshal, had managed the King's Bench Prison upwards of thirty years; and never during that time, had his conduct been called in question under a complaint so malicious as this. An affidavit of Mr. Jones, stated, that Col. Bayley was taken by his order within the walls of the King's Bench, in consequence of having been seen out of the rules. He never had any dispute previously with the Colomel, but on every occasion had done all he could to accommodate. When he heard of the complaint respecting the irregul ordered that he do report next Term what measures he may have taken in compaliance with their order. At she time they made this regulation, they thought is due to the Marshal to say, with respect to his general conduct, that they considered him a very meritorious officer. He had been able and discreet in the discharge of the duties of his office, obliging to persons placed in his custody, and very charitable and kind towards the poor. The Act of Parliament, they were obliged to say, compelled him to reside in the prison, or the rules.—All that related to Col. Bayley personally had been answered to the satisfaction of the Court. A short affidavit on the points might have been made, and if it had appeared that no i regularity could be traced in the conduct of Col. Bayley, the Court would have considered him entitled to the costs, but the Court did not feel themselves justified, under all the circumstances, in giving the costs.

v. and - Pillingham

The King v. Lewis Lewis—This defendant (in company with Mosely Woolf, Kinnear, and others) was convicted in the year ISI9 of conspiracy, and was sentenced to a fine of 5000l, and to two years imprisonment in Gloucester gaol.—A writ of habeas corpus was moved for in order that the custody of the prisoner might be changed. The sentence of the Court-ran thus:—"The defendant was to be imprisoned two years in Gloucester gaol, to pay a fine of 5000l, and to be farther imprisoned antil such fine was paid." An affidavit was produced from Levi, stating his extreme bad health, and the opinion of medical men that change of air was necessary to his life; the deponent further declared that his wife was dying, and that his children were in a state of beggary; and prayed that he might have effect in another quarter.—The Lord Chief, Justice observed, upon the defendant's affidavit, that the contents, if true, might have effect on another quarter.—This was an action to recover the amount of an apothecary's bill for medicine. The Plaintiff, who resided at Bromprom, supplied the drugs, which constituted his born, Mr. De Schrimer went abroad, but returned to England and paid for the lodging.

It appeared upon the cross-examination of the witnesses, that Mrs. De Schrimer was living in the house of the Portuguese Ambassador, and it was reported that the child was also kept in the establishment of that Minister.

Mr. Scarlett submitted that no cyidence had been offered to make the Defendant liable to pay this bill. The lady hired the lodging and the Defendant paid for it after his return to England, but there was no wife.

but there was no proof she was his wife.

The Lord Chief Justice said the Defendant treated her as his wife, and if a professional man under the circumstances of this case was fold the Derson was a married woman, he had a right to look to the husband for payment. There was no proof the defendant was not her husband.

The Jury found a verdict for the Plaintiff.

bus is suctain COURT OF EXCHEQUER Tersday Mr. Taunton moved, on behalf of Mr. Parkins, formerly Sheriff of London and Middlesex, for a rule to shew cause, why the books of the Under-sheriffs, so far as they related to Mr. Parkins's sinjevalty, should not be open to his inspection, for the purpose (as we understood) of impuring into the appropriation of certain sums alleged to be due to the Crown. The Learned Counsel was proceeding to state the grounds of his motion, when the Court interposed, and observed that they had no jurisdiction, in consequence of the length of time which had clapsed since Mr. Parkins went out of office.—Motion refused.

VICE CHANCELLOR'S COURT.

THURBDAY.—Howard and litbs Bankrupter.—This cause again occupied the attention of the Court from ten o'clock in the morning until six in the evening. It came on to be argued on the application made by Mr. Horne, on behalf of Mr. Shaw, one of the Assignees under the former Commission, and others, praying that the Assignees under the new Commission might not be continued, and that a new election might take place. The grounds on which the application was founded were, that the Bankrupts had interfered against the Act of Parliament in the election, and that threats had been held out to induce certain creditors not to vote; and also that Mr. Bridges, one of the creditors, had abstained from doing so in consequence of what had been said to him. Mr. Horne, Mr. Blake, and Mr. Treslove, were heard in support of the application; and against is Mr. Hart, Mr. Montagu, Mr. Wetherell, and Mr. Agar.

The Vice-Chancellor said he should take the opportunity of the Court not sitting on the following day to read over all the facts of this case, and when they met again he should deliver his opinion; first, however, informing the Counsel on both sides whether it would be necessary for him to hear any more arguments.

Wednesday.—George Elphick, a tailor, in Jermyn-street, was charged with having in his possession a quantity of snuggled wines and spirits. Two officers of Excise deposed, that on the 28th of July last, they found in his cellar two snaugled tubs full of brandy, and also some Hollands in similar vessels: likewise claret, Madeira, Burguady, and Champaigne, in bottles, for none of which the defendant had permits. There were also is the cellar some wines and spirits, for which the defendant produced permits.—The defendant, in answer to the charge stated, that he generally bought his wines and spirits from different wine merchants, in such small quantities as did not require a permit; and though he had received permits with part, he did not think it worth while to preserve them, which was the reason of his having so few. The spirits contained in the tubs he had bought from a person he did not know. The Commissioner who pronounced judgment, expressed his regret that respectable persons should subject themselves to the loss of property that had paid duty, by buying from strangers what had been smuggled. The judgment of the Court in this case was, that all the wines and liquors found in the cellar, except the Champaing and the rum, should be condemned, and that the defendant should pay a fine of 101. BOARD OF EXCISE pay a fine of 101.

MISCELLANEOUS

His Majesty is so gratified at the loyal attentions which he received from the inhabitants of Ramsgate, both on his embarkation to, and disembarkation from, his late voyage, that he has conferred on Ramsgate the rank and distinction of a Royal Har-

His Majesty's steam packet Dasher, and also a sailing packet, are ordered to be at Calais, for the conveyance of her Royal Highness the Princess Augusta, from that port to Dover.

On Tuesday, the Duke of York, as Commander-in-Chief, held a levee at his Office in the Horse-Guards, which was attended by between forty and fifty personages.

PROROGATION OF PARLIAMENT.—On Thursday between forty and fifty personages.

Prorogation of Parliament:—On Thursday, in the House of Lords, the Commissioners, the Lord Chancellor, the Duke of Montrose, and Lord Melville, net, and having required the attendance of the Commons (Mr. Ley and Mr. Rickman, and other officers, appearing at the Bar.) the Lord Chancellor stated, that they had it in command from His Majesty, further to prorogate the Parliament till Thursday, the 3rd of January next. The next prorogation, which will take place shortly, will be by Proclamation; and it will give forty days notice of the time when the Parliament is to meet for the "dispatch of business."

Among the numerous presentations to His Majesty at Hanover, we observe the name of Madame Kestner, who is described in the recently published "Letters from Wetzlar," as being the real Charlotte of the Sorrows of Werter.

Royat, Huxt.—On Friday se'nnight, about ten o'clock, His Mijesty's stag-hounds started a remarkably fine deer, for a day's diversion, on Maidenhead Folly. The deer being closely pursued, made for the Thanges, and swam across it, into Buckinghamishire, to the right of Burnham, took towards the Thames again, and crossed the River between Surley Hall and Clewer. The Sportsmen and hounds pursued through Eton, over the bridge, through Windsor, and renewed the chase towards the Ferest, where the deer was taken.

deer was taken.

A Proclamation was issued on Monday, by the Privy Council, in Ireland, offering a reward of Two Thousand Pounds for the discovery of the persons concerned in the murder and burning of the Sheas and their inmates.

On the evening of Thursday last, a general illumination took place in the interior of the King's Bench Prison; a spontaneous tribute of gratitude to W. Jones, Esq. the Marshal, for the uniform kindness and urbanity evinced by him towards all classes under his care in that place.

form kindness and urbanity evinced by him towards all classes under his care in that place.

There are several counterfeit sovereigns in circulation, well executed. The reverse side of some of them seems worn, and they have no sound. Others, supposed to be composed of a mixture of platina, and other metals, ring when struck against wood, but the sound differs totally from that of the genuine sovereigns.

Tuesday, Rear-Admiral Sir John Poo Beresford, Bart. K.C.B. and K.T.S. Member for Coleraine, Ireland, hoisted his flag (red at the mizer) on board the Dover flag-ship, in Leith Roads, as Commander in Chief on that station, in the room of Rear-Admiral R. W. Otway.

The Apollo frigate, in Portsmouth harbour, is ordered to be taken into dock; foundergo such alterations as are necessary to her being

The Apollo frigate, in Portsmouth harbour, is ordered to be taken into dock; to undergo such alterations as are necessary to her being fitted up as a wach for the King's personal use.

The East India Campany's ship Vansittert was all well in lat. 32. S. long. 2. W. on the 14th of July.

From various parts of the country, we have accounts of the dreadful situation of the roads, in consequence of the late heavy rains. At St. Peter's Chalfont in Buckinghamshire, on Wednesday, the flood was so great that a chaise or coach passing the rivuler at the ead of the town, was obliged to have both doors of the vehicle opened to let the water pass through. At Thame, in Oxfordshire, the waters are so much out, that passengers are ferried over each way in a punt.

way in a punt.

A collection of antiquities from Egypt is stated in a French Paper to have been recently brought to Paris, by M. Thedena Duvent, son of the French Consul at Grand Cairo. Amongst other articles is a great quantity of papyrus, found in minimus, cases, and written upon partly in hieroglyphics and partly in the minimus of the paper of the paper of the paper.

other articles is a great quantity of papyaus, found in minimuscases, and written upon partly in bieroglyphics and partly in the cases, and written upon partly in bieroglyphics and partly in the minimusciphered.

On Thursday, the sancophagus, containing the remains of the late Major Andre, brought from Aperica, was deposited in front of the cenotaph in Westminsten Abbey, which was erected by his late Majors to the memory of that gallant officer. The re-interment took place in the most private manner.

Cambridge, Nov. 30.—The following gentlemen were on Wedinesday last admitted to the undermentioned degrees:—Doctor in Divinity: The Rev. John Jeffery, of St. John's College.—Master of Arts: Edward Florne, of St. Peter's College.—Bachelor in Civil Law: Edward Florne, of St. Peter's College.—Bachelor in Civil Law: Edward Florne, of St. Peter's College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Canis College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Win. B. Damell, of Majorian and Salarday, at Salarday, at Salarday, at Salarday, at Salarday, at Nash Mill, near King's Langley; at ten.—The East Canis Can cumstances of great argravation. A respite, during His Moiesty's pleasure, was received at Newgate for Amy Steel and John Jarobs, who were ordered to be hung with these unfortunate persons.

**Allertizement.**]—The Country everus London.—Measure, Rivington have this day (Safurday, Dec. 1.) received from Bristol the Second Number of the Country Constitutional Guardine, and Literary, Magazine.—Contents:

1. The Age of George the Third, (the Succession.) 2. Stanzas on the King's Return from Ireland.—3. Reply to, Cato's Letters on the Countification.—I Comparis no in a Child to Cupid.—5. Bill Cobweb, er Spider Lace.—5. "The Woods." a Parody on Cowper's "Rose."—7. Tristram Shandy a Political Opinions. (continued.)—8. The British Martial, containing a little to the most disconsolate Woman on earth, and various Episgrans.—9. Political Enigmas for Christmass.—10. Advice to the DisaBce ed.—11. Heroes of renown, Ancient and Modern.—12. Pharmacopoia Radicalls.—13. The Agricultural Question, (camaenced.)—14. A Prophecy Infalied.—15. The Lovs of the Hunt's Brisle.—16. The Church and the Ciergy, or the Obligations of Society to the Ecclesiastical Orders.—17. The Coronation.—18. Lady Morgan's Italy.—19. Hint's to young Mr. Lambton, in a Letter, with a Posta-ript, containing—20. The Saving Many a new Song.—21. How the Papers are read in the Country.—Appendix: I Agricultural Report, (finished.)—Poor's Rate Returns Report.—3. Case of the Agricultural Report, (finished.)—Poor's Rate Returns Report.—3. Case of the Agricultural Report, (finished.)—Poor's Rate Returns Report.—3. Case of the Agricultural Report, of the Saving Many and Son, 93, Bishopsgate-street Within, where is exhibited an Assortment of new and secund hand Plate Unisses, admirably suited to severy description of drawing or diring-rooms. In the fermiture department is comprised every, new and elegant article of bipholstery, cabinet, and chair work, the prices of which are reduced to such a scale of economy as to attract and ensure the patronage of rask and fashion.

Butchell, surgeon, accountent, who resides at No 3c, Southesteen, square, continues to perform curies of the most dangerous cases by the same method, and is as completely successful. Both rich and poor, who are this afflicted, will do well to observe, he requires no remmeration-until they are satisfied a cure has been performed; in fact, the poor are relieved gratis, if prespectably recommended.

Advertisement—The ollowing discoveries, if attended to, will effectually supersede the necessity of a Den ist. Hudson's Botanic Tooth Powder, and Botanic Thoethre are stare remedies for all disorders of the month: they not merely cleaned and leastify the Teeth, but preserve them from decay, to the latest period of life. They are an antidote for Gum Boils, Swelled Face, and the Tooth Ache; they remove the Senryy from the Gums, Isaxing them firm, and of a healthy reduces; they intallibly arrest the progress of Caries in the Teeth, refrestles the Mouth, and sweetens the Breath; they both possess the same virtues, and may be used alone or together; but the Tincture acts more speedily in fastening loose freeth, removing the Scurvy, &c, and it is an infallible remedy for the Tooth Ache. They are so perfectly innocent, that a chid may take the contents of a box of the Powder, and the Tincture is, an excellent Stomachic, price 2s. 9d. each.—Also, Hudson's Tooth Bru, he, in sets of three, made ou scientific principles, price 3s. and in ivory, 4s. 6d. The following Agents are appointed:—Mr. Atkinson, (wholesale Agent). 4d. Gerrard street, Soho square; Sanger, 150, Oxford, street, Gattie, 5f. Rigge, 35. Bondestreet, Howell and Jamusa 9, Regentstreet, I-vout, 229, Strand: Rigge, 5s. Cheapside: Johnston, 8s. Tsiccati'ty, Ward, 324, High Holborn; Barelays, Fleetmarket, and most Medicine Vernders and Perfumers.—N.B. Hudson being a very general mans, of further security, pthe Vholesale Agent a name and address is also an exed to the label.

NOTICES TO GURRESPONDENTS.

The only Office for receiving Advertisements for this Paper is of No. 11, Johnson's Court.

If that he for Soffolk friend for his presentation.

A CITERIN OF LONDON has been received.

G. G. must not fancy we have furgisten him.

He have received several letters on the subject of the papellal and adjusted of the Papellal and the subject of the papellal and adjusted before Newscale on Westmandon witnessed. In the accounts of the circumstant in the letters of suprempropadants, it appears to hape been owing to the absence of sufficient anisatance. We mention the circumstance as invention been laid before us, and certainly worthy of attention from the Sheriffs.

commitance as hiving been laid betweens, and certainly worthy of attention from the Sheriffs.

We'recommend to the motion of hundred families, and of larger esthiliablements, the present thatlague of Mades and Tracts affered for sah to the public, at reduced groung, by the Secrety for Promoting (Misselian Rejustedge, and soive particularly those for the counternation of blashbemous and inflat faiblications.

The now correspondent of the Administ throught, on the Catholic Gilletion, is to many the masse of Rass, she keeper of a caffee husse with a French name in Hegant-street. Although rather about the solution found in the masse of Rass, she keeper of a caffee husse with a French name in Hegant-street. Although rather about the solution found in the familiar to the promotion of the solution of the solution of the family through the person one what insultions to breach his political opinions—not to say successively impositioned.

The Blux shall be remembered.

In imperiment.

There Heller shall be remembered.

If a will keep D.'s secret most arrupulously.

N. Q. agust excuse our non-insertion of his communication, because the do not comprehend it.

S.E. will, we assure our solves; credit what we stated on the subject that gentleman of wham he spraks, when we delicion it was light the pertient hemselves we heard it.

A Manny-Tanky, Footham, Bouverue, The Ghost of Macausle, Sal from Cambridge, The Follyhoer and Catherillan, Puyl, Little Nooder, The Premins Bardens, Mass and Tun, The Suppersion Ber., Wilston, Persins, Mass and Tun, The Suppersion by the what he desired, be fined for all received, but must be dealt out by degrees, besides, by have more serious present, and store a history in highly important, but must be held buck for the name reasons. The parses offered to in the fourth paragraph is dead.

The letter about the Dun or Pourland's equical has been received, by has that from Gobront, which shall be attended to.

The consure upon Mal. Libron in Libron falls into our therefored teparament, and as our friend Decrease will are the house of it has suffered more from a new piece going off bally than is small with those hard-heard-heard-critics, we must delay it fill his return.

From a paragraph with the anywered.

enferred more from a new piece going off badly than is usual with those hard-hearted critics, we must delay it till his vetwen. From the property rather dull.

Pro Patria shall be answered.

The letter from Berinida is an expanse statement; but we can assure the writer that the language of it is ill suited to the affair—affair the glory of the British Constitution sullied.—"the purity of the language of it is ill suited to the affair—affair the glory of the British Constitution sullied." the purity of the language of it is ill suited to the affair—affair the wever the magnanism of the language of its place to pure spirit of Tru!" the wever machinations of the hidden inquisitor." Is a really a summan seems the fact, we are bound to say that there columns of Bush would be ill spirit upon a matter—how what there columns of Bush would be ill spirit upon a matter—how what there columns of Bush would be ill spirit upon a matter—how what is make traken in the writer, but too long. The energy of it have Bushnesses, is a well written, but too long. The energy of it have been about the world.

We shall take up Woo's almost impurimetely—the poor dear fullbur is quite furpation—he has been about the country, and has been howed, and hus had all mantage and thing a happen to him. We shall prove a full account of himpungery in a short time. He is very eather of Wilmon's papularity, and offects to shirk publicity;—but more off the oron.

We should wish to hear regularly from Cuito.

of Wilman's pupularity, and offects to shirk publicity;—par more up this anon.

We should wish to hear regularly from Chito.

There is an ameedate as record of a certain celebrated Chevalier, who boasting once that he had never been in any country in the Continent, without receiving an order, some one asked him'ly his had Continent, without receiving an order, some one asked him'ly him had worder it in Prinsis "-" 'ses," replied the Chevalier." 'And what worder it did the King of that country give you?" asked his fraud-order it did the King of that country give you?" asked his fraud-order it will the Chevalier. '' 'did, he gave me an order if quit his diminishes in trelve hours after I entered (hem." - Wilson, it is another words as well as worder as well in the magnassimous Alexanden in which he reflected gently upon the magnassimous Alexanden in return for which (if he had waited for it, which he predictly did not) he might have received a similar fuvour from that Rusperor.

preserved and not) he might have received a similar fuvour from that Reserver.

We must say, in answer to Cuenicus, that we think the want of verpect shown to the LOHD CHANCILIAN in his Court, on Thursday, the most discretified thing ever done collectively by the bar. We wish his Lordship could make them for an they ought.

The letter from Lunerers is under consideration, as well as Mr. Brider's second packet.

Many other communications must stand over.

We will look into the matter Curreauna alludes to.
Paul Potter's Letter (No. V.) is postponed till next week.

NEW LITERAL TRANSLATION of HOMER'S ILIAD,
Just published, in 2 vols. 8vo. price II. is: boards, Ilierally as the different Idioms of the Greek and English Languages will allow, with Explanatory Notes.—By a GRADUATE of the University of Oxford.
Printed for G. and W. B. Walson.

of Oxford.

Printed for G. and W. B. Whittaker, 13, Ave. Maria-lase, London; and Sinnlay and Slatter, Oxford; of whom may be had,

2. MARTYN'S GRORGICKS of VIRGIL, with an English Translation and Notes, 8vo, price 16s, boards, or 11, 1s, with coloured Plates.

3. MARTYN'S BUCOLICKS of VIRGIL, with an English Translation and Notes, 8vo, price 16s, boards, or 11, fs, with coloured Plates.

Dictionary of Quotations,
Just published, in Isno price 7s. 6d. boards. a New Edition of Dictionary of Quotations, in most frequent the, taken chiefly from the Latinand French, but composing many from the Greek, Spanish, and Italian Languages, translated in English; with Illustrations flittorical and Idiomatic.—By D. E. MacCoonsist, of the Middle Temple. The Eighth Edition, revised and corrected.

"He has been at a great feast of impuages, and stolen all the scraps?"

Shakeneare.

Printed for G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Maria-lane, London.

BLEMENTS OF MORALITY.

Just published, in 12mo, price 5% beards;

YILEMENTS of MORALITY, for the use of Young Persons.

To which is preferd, an Address to Parents.—From the German of the Rev. C. S. SALZHANN. A new and Improved Edition, embellished with Englavings.

Printed for G and W D Western magnetimes.

Printed for G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Maria-lane; and H. Hailes, Pic dilly, Lendon; and Oliver and Boyd, Edinburgh.

NEW NOVEL.—Just published, dedicated (by permission) to Mrs. Joanna Baillie, price 21s. boards, the Second Edition of Baillie, price 21s. boards, the Second Edition of Julies, Price 21s. boards, the Second Edition of Julies, Jano.

This is a well-written Novel, in which female character, and an intimate knowledge of the human heart, are ably pourtraved. The vices of the tich and gav are well sketched, and the late of their youthful victim, Eliza Rivers, is such as must deeply affect the sensitive mind."—Monthly Mag. Mpril, 1821.

lyinted for G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Maria lane; of whom may be had, tarely published.

2. BUCH is the WORLD, a Novel, in 3 vols, 12m2, price 21s.
3. LOCHIEL; or, The Field of Gulloden; in 3 vols, price 21s.
4. A LEGEND of ARGYLE; or, The a Hundred Years Since: a Novel.

4. A LEGEND of ARCHAD; on, and a summer the Cottages in the 5. WINTER BYENING TALES, collected among the Cottages in the South of Scotland. By JAMES HOGG, Author of "The Queen's Wake," Second Edition, in 2 vols. 12000, price 14s. boards.—(n) the press, and nearly ready.

6. The VILLAGE COQUETTE, a Novel in 3 vols.

THE LITERARY CHRONICLE of yesterday, Dec. 1, contains basilous Reviews, Original Articles and Miscellankes, an entire Poem—"Adminis," (469 lines,) by P. B. Stelley, on the Death of Keats. The stamped edition of the Literary Chronicle has a brief notice of Folitical Events, and circulates post tire, price 104; the unstamped edition is 6d, only. Published by Lindbird, 355, Stand, Itwo, doors dant of Excter Change; Published by Lindbird, 355, Stand, Itwo, doors dant of Excter Change; St. Paul's Church vard; Sy the Booksellers, Royal Exchange; and by all Verd, re of Peucolica's.

PRICE OF STOCKS AT THE CLOSE, SATURDAY.

The November Account, which closed on Wednesday, with I no means two Midl. exhibiting a fluctuation of laner cents, and closing with Consols at 771, and for next Account Consols were done at 781 f; since which they have been a little deprissed, the closing price this average being 781 buyers. Very little is doing in any description of Foreign Funds: Spanish with difficulty approx 5611; French & per cents. 89 and 90; Fruesian Bonds 20; Danish 81 (nominal.) 81 (nominal.)

FRENCH FUNDS, Nov. 22.

BULL.

JOHN

LONDON, DECRMBER 2.

WE are much inclined to opticism.

"Whateverite, to right." And, although a fine of ELBVEN HUNDRED POUNDS and NINE MONTHS IMPRISONMENT, inflicted not on one, but on three, fathers of families, are a severe trial of patience and principle, we still see so many motives of consolation, that we readily repeat, "Whatever is, is right."

Of these motives of consolation, let us begin at the smallest and the meanest. Every one who reads newspapers Knows, that the greatest philanthropist in England is Ma. HANRY GREY HENNETT—the most violent advocate of liberty—the most strengous censurer of criminal informations—the most tender-hearted of prison-visitors; and yet this is the second time that at the suit of MR. HENRY GREY BENNETT, three of us-tradesmen, whose business is suffering fathers and husbands, whose wives and families are pining—are incarcorated because this generous friend of mankind was displeased at the mode in which we talked of him and one of his sisters.

We are not been going to defend what we said of either of the illustrious members of the irreproachable family of PENERVILLES we dare my we were very wrong, because we have had pretty convincing proof that Junian BAYLBY thought us so. But the naked fact itself is worth poordings and we entreat all the friends of LIBERTY, whether metional or errational, whether moderate or radical, to recollect that there is but one private man in Enc-Last whe has twice consigned four of his fellow-creatures to jail, for offences connected with his view private feelings.

That it will do some good, and we think it would do still more if a stabiling could be traight to repeat our names, and flist at the first close of his next speet him favour of liberty, and in consure of juils, the approachme bird should exclaim, "Remember WAAYMR," and at the second, " Remember COOPER," and at the third, "Remember SHACKELL" and at the fourth, " Remamber ARROWSMITH." And if, after these interroptions, he should still persist in his oration, and should attempt to entertain his auditory with his tones of compassion, and those crocodile tears for which he is renowned, it would not be amissithet he should be further reminded, that three whole families with many others depending upon them for business and a livelihood are thrown into misery and desolation to vindicate the purity of his noble name, and to gratify the nice delicacy of his personal honour.

We believe, we do no more than justice in giving MR. HENRY GREY BENNETT the chief, if not the sold honour of this exploit: it is true that other members of his family figured (and a strange figure they made,) in the affidavits against us, but every one who knows them, is well as we do, must be satisfied that the beneficent and compassionate HENRY GREY was the real leader on this heroic occasion.

But we love to be just. There was one person of that Noble family who did not swear against us-her heart was really tender-and with the genuine dignity of virtue and of an irreproachable life, declined to apply to the dry and unsatisfactory remedy of the law, when she had conscious innocence and her own character to appeal to.

Let it not be said that we again unnecessarily introduce a female on the scene. The TANKERVILLE family have themselves brought their ladies forward, and we believe that it is wholly unparalleled in the annals of tenderness and family delicacy, that a mother should have been brought into a Court of Justice to swear an affidavit of the nature that appeared on this occasion under the name of LADY TANKERVILLE.

We are not comfortable in our prison; it was not comfortable to hear, the very day after our sentence, that an execution for the fine might be sent into our house, and that the implements of our trade, the beds of our wives, and the cradles of our children, were under the grasp of the law. But we solomnly declare, that we would not exchange conditions, humble and depressed as we are, for that of the RIGHT HONOURABLE the LORD OSSULSTON, and the Honourable Henry Grey Bennett, who vindicated their sister's fame, by such a mode of action, AND WHO DRAGGED THEIR AGED MOTHER INTO COURT TO SWEAR AN USBLESS AFFIDAVIT, ON SO OVER-WHELMING A SUBJECT.

We beg our readers not to mistake this last consideration as one of our grounds of consolation : we are not yet have been sufficient at the stamp-office too; secure reduced so low as to price durielves upter being a LORD Question, or Mr. Brunstr. We are not Democrats, nor Levellers with well due respect for the Nobles of the land? But williand amongat them such things as these, we look upon the like maggets in amper, whose loathsome deformity is tendered more visible, and more lasting, by the medium historic by a fune nature, they happen to be placed. " Just money.

"The things, God knows, are negative new norther rates to But we wonder how the devil they got thereof so lo sook But we have wasted too many these on melana But we have wasted too many these on maken miliging, our only excuse for such garrelity is to may to like hely. NETT, AS COLONEL TITUS said to CROMWELL-MA " leisure you have given us, Sir, we think it but right to " employ in celebrating your worth."

But we now come to more important matter. -being We are fined and imprisoned for a libel; an exact sufficiently disagreeable to us we need hardly say hat the a toad, ugly and venomous,

"It wears a precious jewel on its head plan tentronte and that jewel is, that the Judges have, in our man along the public a measure by which they may antickely punishment that awaits repeated and resterated bless against Gon, Hools upon the Soveness, attacksuppe in CONSTITUTION, and slanders upon the private life of any public man.

our crime ludde for The legal amount and extent of our crime 1996 The legal amount and extent of our erises in the Lar has measured, perhaps, with more intitle him. should have done; but of moral guilt the intention of the heart—we are better judges than he s and showing loging authority which has punished us as guilty, we heritale not to declare, that, in the eye of a Superior Justice, we are into cent. That is to my, that we were actuated by no perse malice and that we said what we did with the hope and design of checking a system of profligacy, which we thought dangerous to the morals of the country, and to the purity of the best and most beautiful part, pf. English ne > ad in this

Why then, will it be asked, did we plead sutter ! Our mower is very simple. Our lawyers advised us, that in the form in which the Bunnerrs had put the case, lbe TRUTH or PALSEHOOD of our assertion was purfectly indifferent, and that in point of fact the only question that could go to a jury was, whether we had published that, which the law designated as a libel.

We confess we had a great mind to bring this topp and to enter on a defence;—we had collected materials for that purpose. JUNIUS says somewhere, " That he had eollected facts that would have made the old Digs of 4 BEDFORD shake in his grave." We would not talk of our evidence in the same hyperbole, but we think me, may say, without exaggeration, that it would have made the living shrink luto the dust. Service Safer.

Again, however, we were advised by our consett, that all this would only make matters worse; and that any attempt to establish our moral innocence, thight very much aggravate our legal guilt. Race motions.

But though we could not produce this moral exculpation in the KING's BENCH, we owe it to outselves, as honest Englishmen, to state it to the world.

Of the facts imputed to the late LANE CAROLINE WROTTESLEY we (it is hardly necessary to say) were personally ignorant; we had not witnessed with our arm eyes or cars any part of the alleged transaction; has we solemnly declare, that we did not invent one tittle of it; that we had heard it from an hundred mouths; that we had read it in newspapers, and had seen it in caricutums. and had never read or seen a contradiction of it.

We have those newspapers and those caricatures, and we hould have produced them in the Court of King's Beach, but that our counsel, in his discretion and knowledge of the technicalities of the law, held them to be inadmissable.

LADY CAROLINE WROTTESLEY is therefore insocrat,but it does not follow that we are guilty. We were charged with maliciously inventing the story. We assert, and we are prepared to prove, that, however false and however malicious the story may have been, it was not invented by us. We found it, as we before said, distinctly announced, and never, to our knowledge, contradicted, and we therefore repeated it as a matter almost of hisjery.

Again-we beg not to be misunderstood; we do not attempt a legal justification. Thus pure and clear as our motive was, we confess that the peace and honour of families, and above all of families coronetted with hereditary. ought not to be invaded on the authority of mererumours; and we are not disposed to quarrel with the law, which preserves from idle tittle-tattle the reputation of man or Nothing can

But in the eye of REASON, in the scale of Justica, is the nicety of HONOUR, there is a wide distinction between him who maliciously invents a falsehood, and him who, for a moral purpose, and without personal malice, repeats a story which he considers to be true, and which he relates as instructive; and we put ourselves in a more solemn manner, on our trial before Gon and our Chuntay; and we confidently trust that in the minds of all dispussionale men we shall meet with a moral acquittal.

With these sentiments, it is impossible to deny, that some punishment ought to have been awarded to us, but we should be contemptible hypocrites, if we did not say, that we feel the measure that out to us was excessive. For see what it that the later measure would sive. For, see what it was one of our names would

HOAX UPON BULL.

in the goodness of our intentions, we involved every indi-vidual of our partnership in the responsibility. It was shown to the Court, on affidavit, that only one of us know of the paragraph before it was inserted—that immediately estime and that we writt to the expence of publishing a were adition, with that omission; that this was our first Monce; that none of us had ever been questioned in a Court of Justice before; and that the libel (such as it was) involved some of the higher interests of society—neither blasphemthe Gon, nor sinkenousing the King. We, therefore, ask those who may have attended to the scale, of punishment esually awarded in such cases, whether they were not surprinted to see Thank PERSONS, under such circumstances, so heavily fined, and imprisoned for such long and equal periods. leffone of un had been even more heavily fined, and the other more heavily imprisoned, we still might have been enabled, by the exertions of him, whose confinement wer shortest, to carry on our trade, to put bread into the mouths of our children, and to make efforts for discharging the while but in the matter has been arranged, if it had been designed not to runish as temporarily, but to ruin us outright, the thing could have hardly been more effectually done.

Two of us, SHACKELL and ARROWSMITH, are printers oh an extensive scale: we had, as is well known to the liter-Wolfeld; several most valuable and manual publications in Hand minorest others, a Polyglott Bible and Prayer Book, "the hyle of which, we flatter ourselves, would deserve approbation; yet for this single paragraph in John Bull, We are Thired with a punishment which paralyzes our Appendix; and condemns our property to the waste, if not to bothe with, which must be expected from the sudden absence of all the proprietors.

ALL This seems to us (but we may be wrong) somewhat hard What follows seems still harder. It was stated by the Counsel who was hired to speak in aggravation of our punishment, and who, it must be confessed, performed the difficial office with a zeal that seemed to want no stimulus from pay-it was stated, that after all, we were not the guilty persons that we were poor "men of straw?" in threehes who knew not what we did; but who the Advo-.to cate confessed, had the obstinate integrity of not betraying the real author of the paragraph.

Now it scoms to us but we are no doubt prejudicedstrange kind of logic to charge us with one kind of by defined, and punish us for another. We were charged with 4 Being keen and cutting satirists—with having invented, but of more malice, a gratuitous falsehood, and of having The bowingly and artfully circulated it. That was the and charge and

When Lawyer SCARLETT invoked the vengeance of the Court upon we, it was for a set of offences, not only different, but compnant. He said that we were ignorant tradesthen, inexpable of writing such a libel; that we probably knew nothing of parties so exalted in life; that we therethe Mire wave met mountated by malioe ourselves, and, in fact, had is the stare tirthe road guilt, but that we deserved the whole vengeance of the Court because we persisted in shielding from furtice the real criminal.

7%, 7: Now; this latter may be a very serious and punishable erse offence, but do is now the offence for which we were in-This Blood was is not the offence to which we pleaded guiltyon 150 is not the offence for which we nominally were punished hashey thanks be to GoD, it is not an offence of which we

Though in humble life, we are Englishmen, and, w beherefore, men of honour; and it is not the venal prating with the dorid manity as SCABLETT, nor even the awful to leftners of the Bench itself, which shall ever make us betray a confidence that is reposed in us, or seek for self-security in the sacrifice of a friend.

We know not how far the latter circumstance may have The been dwelt on by the Court in pronouncing their sentence; we combes we were not enough at our case to attend critiseally totall that fell from the learned Judge. The awful tio rigiditional Erayen Hundred Pounds-Confinen to a matter wine mouths, and to be farther confined. THIL SUCH PIER WAS PAID, AND SECURITIES TO BE FOUND IN FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS EACH, were not lost upon us.

We beg pardon of our readers for taking up so much of relating solely to ourse as we are imperied thereto by an instinct common to human mature, we hope we shall be excused; and thus we Beg leave-to exemplify it :-

Nothing can be less amusing than a broken leg; and yet, A you happen to fall into the company of a person who has one suffered that misfortune, you must observe with what apparent satisfaction he gives you a lengthened history of the accident. So it is with us;—our situation is far from agreeable—the sentence of the King's Bench has in fact broken six legs amongst us; not one of us can stand—we are all prestrate; and the little consolation which we have is to tell owr readers, even to the minutest particular, the strange coincidence of accidents by which our legs were broken.

We trust that we shall be forgiven for this explanation; is is, we hope, excusable on account of our sufferings; if is, we believe, necessary, to our personal reputation;—and we trust that we shall make this imprisonment of ours almost as useful as our former efforts have been, even by the avoral of our antagonists.

THE TIMES, gladly catching from young LAMBTON'S Paper, the DURTIME CHRONICLE (upon which Paper, MR. SCARLETT so bitterly animadverted the other day, while moving for a criminal information against it) inverts the following paragraph in its columns of Thursday.

The following letter has been received by a publican in Gates head, from the publisher of the notorious Joun Burn newspaper What an eagerness to discover something! It unfortunately hap pens that the publican to whom the letter was addressed is not a tenant of Ma. Lameron, and the John Bull never, to the know-ledge of the landlord, was seen within his walls. Ma. Lameron has no temant of the same name as that of the person to whom the letter was addressed, who keeps a public-house :-

" Sin-It having been represented to me, that you have been or dered to quit the Black Ball Inn, in which you have been for many years a tenant of Mr. LABSTON's, in consequence of a copy of John Bust having been seen on the table in your house, I shall feel particularly obliged if you will inform me by return of post whether that is a fact.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

"R. T. WEAVER."

"Office of Jone Burn, Johnson's-court, Fleet-street, London,

Now, as we admit the letter, let us come to the facts. We received, on the 10th of last month, a communication, of which the following is a copy:

SIR—I think it proper to inform you of a chreath-white which has lately taken place in this county. Mr. ROBINSON, the tenant of the Black Bull, in Chester-least-rective per-SOE, the tenant of the Black Bull, in Cheater-least of the son who has many years rented the above. In from MR. LAMBTON, M.P. has lately been ordered to quit possession of the hu, on account of it coming to the ears of MR. L. that the John Bull had been seen lying on the table in his lam, yours, &c. Durham, Nov. 8.

Declining, with even our opinion of young LAMSTON, to give credence to such an arecdote, and yet unwilling to suffer our circulation to be checked by threats and oppecasion should it have been true; we took a step which, we think, the bitterest of our enemies will allow was pres tial, and which shows that we are now to be housed, and that we are not induced hastily to insert information, whether it arrives from an Italian Doctor in Paris from his residence in Leicester-fields, or from a Scotch folloud with a flaming account of the conflagration of a nobte Lady in the North, without some anthemicated confirmation. We wrote to the person mentioned in the first communication, the letter above quoted, signed R. T. WEAVER.

To this letter we received, would Mr. Rominson, the handlord of the Black Bull, the following cery ciril and proper answer.

" Black Bull Inp. Gatesbead, 19th Mev 1921. A letter from you addressed to Min: Rosinson. "SIR—A letter from you addressed to Mrt. Box Inson, flick Bull Inn, Chester-le-street, dasied $3th inst, has been forwarded to meikere; and an there is no person of the name of Robinson, who keeps any inn or public house, with the sign of the Black Bull, in Chester-le-street, or the neighbourhood, but myself, your letter, I suppose, has been meant for me; and in answer to it, I have to inform you, that the house I occupy, does not belong to Mr. LANGE TON, nor is he in any way connected with it; and the John Box newspaper is not taken in at my house, nor to my knowledge has a copy of it ever been within my doors.

and and Ma. Lampton is not the Buck Bull; and the sign of the Buck Bull; and the information you have received; as stated in your letter to me, must bave bern false. - I am, yours, &c. ROBERT ROBINSON.

Here (as we see) there is no joke against us yet, and we are quite satisfied that our readers will confess we acted as we cought to have done in the affair.

But there is a joke behind-which is, that for all we know the facetious yellow LANBTON tried to play off the trick upon us himself, and inveigle us into a quarrel wherein he might have the laugh against us—here he was mistaken, and we think we may chance to raise a smile against him-for it so happens that we have discovered the authors of the first letter, signed Thomas Sty, conveying the false information.

The two persons who attempted this deception are, Ale-FRED HEALY JOUNSON, clerk to MR. BROWN, barrister in DURHAM, a protegé of LAMBTON, and EDMUND CRAS-TER, son of MR. LAMBTON'S steward, a clerk in the office of MR. BROWNLOW, of Durham, MR. LAMBTON'S lawagent!

Considering the nature of the communication, and the object it had in view-there is a frequent recurrence of LAMBTON'S name in it,-we say nothing-we only venture to observe, that we were determined not to be honzed, and that we never were housed during the whole affair; and that neither the DURHAM CHRONICLE nor its satellite the LONDON TIMES, appears to us to have taken anything by its melion.

The Dublin Journal received yesterday mentions the murder of Capt. Waters, who lived near Newmarket; and that an attempt was made to assessmate a Mr. Wigglesworth, near Rescommen. The Courser of last night states, that Earl Talbot and Mr. Grant ore to retire and to be succeeded in the offices of Lord Lieutenaut and Chief Secretary for Ireland by the Marquis Wellesley and Mr.

Mescrivemental Letters are daily pouring in from all parts of the country with orders for pext Tuesday Week, when a Pive Thousand Pound Prize is sure to be drawn, and must be gained at the very triding Rink of Two Pounds on a Whole Ticket, and Four Shillings a Sixteenth-a riceumstance tecer knewn before,-Hazard and Co. Contractors,

COURT OF KING'S BENCH, TURSDAY

The King va. The West Middlesan Water Works. This was an argument on a Rule Nia, calling on the company of Proprietors of the West Middlesex Water Works to show cause why a Writ of Mandamus should not issue, directed to the Company, commanding them to lay on and join again to their Water Works, the pipes haretefore used for supplying water to the premises in the occupation of the inhabitants of the several purishes of St. Pahcras, St. Mary-le-hone, and Paddington, and to allow thotal to apply the supply of water heretofore enjoyed by them, at the rates heretofore paid.

Mr. Scarlett, Mr. Denman, and Mr. Holt, this day shewed cause against the Rule; and Mr. Littledale, Mr.

Brougham, and Mr. Cooper, were heard in support of it.

The Lord Chief Justice was of opinion that the Mandamus ought not to be granted—he thought it very probable that Parliament and the Public might have been disappointed in one of the hopes entertained from the com-petition among the Water Companies, but a very little attention might have enabled all persons to see that that competition was calculated to lead to the ruin of all the companies. It was manifest, from all that had been addressed to the Court on the one side and on the other, that the contest on the present occasion was the amount of the rate:-in that respect the present case differed entirely from that referred to in the argument (the Severn Railmay;) in that case the Company had been required by Act of Parliament to lay down, and for ever maintain, a certain railway in a certain manner; no question did, or could, arise about the rate to be paid for the use of it, be-cause the amount was fixed by the Act of Parliament; but the Company, in violation of the Act, took up the road, and altogether refused to allow the public the accommodation of it on any terms whatever: the Court thought under the directions of that Act, (notwithstanding the pairties were indictable) that a proceeding by Mairtamus with a more prompt and speedy remedy. The great distinction between that case and the present, was, that there they refused to do what the Act required—here the refusal was not absolute, but a refusal only on the geomed that they insisted on a higher rate than had been before said, and than the Proprietors thought ought to be paid.

The Court could not make this Rule absolute, and direct a supply at the former rate, unless they were of opi-nion that the sum the Company had agreed to take, was a sum from which they could not depart without the consent of the inhabitants—(the point was thesefore presented to the Court in that way by Mr. Littledale)—that would be to say the Company should go on to receive a rate by which they would be ruined; it was better them should be an abundant supply of water at 100 high: a rate than no supply; it was impossible, therefore, for the Court to make the Rule absolute in the terms asked. It was, however, competent to the Court, in they thought proper, to vary the terms of the Rule, and direct a Mandamus in another form: then the next question for consideration was, whether the Court could direct the Company to supply water at a "re-sonable" rate. Now, without saying whether the Court could find what was reasonable, and what was not, they ought not to grant a Mandamus, unless the Company had refused to supply at what they might does a genousle rate. The Court had no evidence of that kind at present. for the applicants relied principally on the rates originally The Company say they found those rates would taken. The Company say they found those rates would lead to their ruin, and therefore they were obliged to abandon them. There was some somundiction in the affidavits as to what was a reasonable rate. He did not, however, think the Court could be called on to grant the Writ in that form; it was enough to say that, to dispose of the present motion. But he did not hist that the Court could, in any case, in the exercise of its discretion, grant a Mandause in that them ennishering that that which might be damus in that form, considering that that which might be a reasonable rate in respect of one man (regard being had to the nature of his trade, or to the exigencies of his family) might be very unresonable in respect to another; and the difficulty the Court would have of saying what was a reasonable rate would be found probably insuperable. ,

For these reasons the Court could not act in the way now asked, or in any other way,—and when the matter was ori-ginally before the Court, they all thought that Purliament was the only source of apposite remedy. It may, perhaps, be lamented, that when the act passed, some provision was not made fixing a maximum; if that had been done, these disputes could not have arisen; —whether it may be necessary hereafter to do it; it was for the wisdom of Parliament to consider, but it did not belong to the Court to intimate, much less to dictate upon. For these reasons the rule must be dis-charged ;—he would say one word more,—admitting that the public hope had been disappointed as to the effect of com-petition, in another way it had been fully realized, for the supply which had been obtained by the introduction of the New Companies, was regular and abundant, and it was conveyed into the houses to a level to which it never was carried before, to the great convenience of the public .- Rule discharged.

We mention an imposition which was prartised very generally at the west end of the town, on Friday evening, by various newscryers, who paraded the streets with a pretended second Edition of the Courier, announcing the assassination of the Earl Thibot in Dublin, by which false pretence thoy fraudulently sold many copies of the Paper, which proved to be nothing but the common edition of the evening. We think it right to bring this to the notice of the proprietors and conductors of the Journal in question, that they may devise some means of checking a practice, which, to a less respectable publication, would be seriously disadvantageous. We are happy to find that all the charity of the Whigs is not engrossed by Wilson and Wood—a new subscription is started in yesterday's Chronicle for the orphan of the late Mr. Davidson, who was hanged for high-treason with the much-respected Mr. Thistlewood, the year before last. We are unable to express the anxiety which we feel for the success of this patrictic undertaking. A good martyr, like a good horse, cannot be of a bad colour, and we are confident, that to ensure it patronage, we need only mention, that among the partizians of this noble Black, who perished in his country's cause, the following mamos stand conspicuous—

Mr. Lambton

One Pound

Lord One Pound

Intention is everything, and this tribute of respect to the memory of departed viernal and many highly cadded to the Whigs

Z. Sixpence
Zintention is everything, and this tribute of respect to the memory of departed virtue is, we must say, highly calitable to the Whigs in general, and the illustrious personages whose names we have quoted in particular.

We have often selected pas Mahed some years back, and opp sold thom to others which is has more recently given to the world, and the effect of their contradictory character has been striking enough but we could not have anticipated anything in the way of and we could not have anticipated anything in the way of absurdity and inconsistency equal to that which follows:

"EADMAN".

"He conducted himself after the order for execution had arrived with beaming firmness, and would have been perfectly resigned, had not his reflections been embittered by the recollections that he was about to suffer the severest sentence of the law, while many potenciary forefert, after a long carper of guilt, had been suffered to ease p ; but for this consideration, he said, he could have heave heave in the low's which has hithere heavy embed to the utterers of the low's which has hithere heavy embed to the utterers of forest which has hithere heavy embed to the utterers of forest on the research material and declared that the recoproperation of the research material of the sufference of the said of the interest of the present merry by the Jury should receive consideration." But there are a few only of the anomalical arising from penalties of exceeded for the anomalical arising from penalties of exceeded severity, see See Lee. Times, Thursdan, Nov. 22, 1981.

ON THE SAME SUBJECT.

FROM THE SAME SUBJECT.

From THE SAME SUBJECT.

From THE SAME SUBJECT.

From THE SAME SUBJECT.

We are anxious agot to be missing the execution of Codynes. As if we were emposed to pure reference of mer general order or to the missing against of capital pusishments. On the contrary, we have in various articles exposed the mischiels resulting from a too severe system of criminal law. All that we reperture contrary we have in various articles exposed the mischiels resulting from a too severe system of criminal law. All that we reperture the first form he forestive to the mischiels of the first the forestive of the second of the contrary.

system of criminal law. All that we necessary contenues for man, that while, capital pusishments existed for the forestry dank bills, that unsuper han and his fellow suffered were the most propers observe that would be necessary man and the Verdict on the OLD TIMES-Inservity.

MORNING CHRONICLE.

IT is with reluctance we notice the poor old Caroniche but as it crows a little on Monday at our see in take the liberty of casting our eye lowards it.

It calls us an infamous Paper, in a secret gang of literary miscreauts in the pursuit of their detectable labour.

Now, what noundness all this is ; does the CHRONIGIA verthe the names of those who contribute to its columns at the foot of their communications?—Are not all pays paper writers "a search gang about they were not all in their bornbrations would be quite under him Ma, PIRIR, were to stand up in a coffee-room, and talk the language of the Monning Genouscae, we have very little doubt but that spinebody would stop time; and we are quite sure at all mineboly would stop in it, and we are quite said it and interest to or perindical by him. "It is the magical apprecious word, you like it the gapain of these persons, which gives he weight and corresponds what it is in the principle of the Chromosoph what is the continue of the chromosoph and continue of the chromosoph was a formation of the chromosoph when the continue of the chromosoph was a continue of the chromosoph when the continue of the chromosoph was a continue of the chromosoph which is the continue of the chromosoph was a continue of the chromosoph was a continue of the chromosoph which is the chromosoph was a continue of the chromosoph was a conti or any of his "gentlemen assistants," at an argument, but there are hundreds of them who would not have the temority to question what they new in print.

The Monwine Curemician is may too stupid to be angry with, and therefore we shall not enter into a serious angry with, and therease we should call a " literary miscreant;" but we think the CHROMERIA itself might furnish out a specimen or two of the animal in the highest state, of per-

That our labours are detested by the CHRONICLE we can early imagine, at least judging by a reciprocity of feeling; for we most candidly declare, that to us, men who labour to bring the Sovermen into contempt to vility the hespes who have saved and exalted us-to spandalise ladies of the highest blood with falsehoods of their own inventionand to lampoon and ridicule all "that are put in authority are the most detectable of Gon's creatures. over them,

But we will come to a planer and easier understanding with this Chrontcum. Healls Bulk is samous:—let them take every paper we have published, since the death of that unhappy woman, with whom indelicacy and inde-cency were inseparably associated, and point out to us, one paragraph objectionable (except to them on the score of politics) which has appeared in our columns.

The CHRONICLE thinks that BULL is beaten, but the CHROWICLE is mistaken—woefully mistaken. Under the impression that some direful accident would beful us, the Chronicle is both and impudent 1, and dares us; " he talks of the peace of families!" We have warned him once, and we now warh him again, and he may rely upon our keeping our word: although the REVEREND_DOCTOR'S hand is difficult to decypher, our compositors will be able to make it off, and out the correspondence we before alluded to shift come; a correspondence which will place the Whig character on its proper level. We have withheld it in pley to private families; but if we are galled, or if the Chronicle calls names, we will rip up the whole affair, and show to the world, not only the LITERARY, but the POLI-TICAL MISCREANTS of WHIGHISM.

MR. WILSON.

WE have the satisfaction of laying before our readers a distinct admission and positive proof under MR. WILSON'S OWN HAND, of the truth of all that we have said about his unjustifiable assumption of the style of SIR ROBERT. We have under our eyes his famous work upon Egypt, printed in 1803, two years after the alleged Knighthood.

Now, this work, which was brought out in the largest quarto, on the finest paper, and with every circumstance of Charletoniem, upon which Wilson could at that time venture, bears upon its ample title that it is written by "ROBERT THOMAS WILSON," Enight of Maria Theresa, and Lieutenant-Colonel of Hom-peach's Hussars.

No one ever denied that he was Lieutenant-Colonel of Bompesch's Hussars, and a Knight of Maria Theresa; but what we have always asserted, and what he in this titlepage confesser is, that he was not, and did not at first pre-tend to be a Knight of these realms, by the style and title be now assumes. of

" SIR ROBERT TWOMAS WILSON, KNT!."

THEATRICALS

WE are serry to inform our readers that the gentle main who furnishes us with critiques on the theatres, has met with a most severe accident by the bursting of a gun, which deprives us of our weekly notice of the drama for the information which has reached town, that his speedy recovery may be looked for, in the mean time (to use the cant of the stage,) we beg of our readers " their usual indulgence."

IRELAND.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR,—I observe that you published my last communica-tion as one from a correspondent, although I had written tion as one from a correspondent, although I had written it in the assumption of the person of the editor; you are the best judge of these matters, and I now address you in the way which I think you like best.

The lefter which I wrote to you us the 18th of Ootsber was received, as far at lawe bein able to learn, with complete acquirescence in IRREASON, and with some show of doubt in England.—The Mountage Canonican, of which one copy comes to this city. I have read at the News moon, and I have discovered that without maining you or mo, it sheered at us both; as it sheered at us I regret it did not name us" its succes are the best sort of fame that such a newspaper can give.

But, I ask you, did I not tell you truth? has not every word which I write in anticipation been proved in fact? The Morning Chronicle and its wretched associates talk of these unhappy disturbances as connected with politics, and they would make my LORD LIVER FOOL responsible for the municipal pLMR, GOING.

if it, were true, why are all intermediate steps to be jumped over and why are LORD TARBOT and MR. Grant to be improved and MR. Grant to be improved by the logical control of the control bences in IRELAND are anything but political, or to be cyred by political remedies; they are nothing but political, or to be cyred by political remedies; they are nothing but, and naid, rebbling and marden, and only debecared by the Kallows.

Our country gentlemen cry out for traspes, thoops, will restrain if they cannot pacify the district shey occupy; but we have had murders committed within sight and hearing of the troops, and even the troops themselves have been anaclously attacked.

They have aquable is about the price of land—what you call RENT in Director, which in traspant the landlend care.

people contains as plunder, and which the landled carries office if it were booty.

You will have fine writers on both sides of the question, an will account for these disturbances by party reasons. I write to you by the light of the burning houseaust my makehours, and protest to you before Gon, that there are the burning marties in the affair than those who live on the light mad want to pay no rent, and those who live by the land, and wish to get some income from their estates.

tank, and wish to get some income from their estates.

A family of screntess persons have been burned alive; in other times I could not like written upon a line with an extend alive; in the line of the line of

I do not like to dwell on these more atrocious transac-fions; they give you in English a wrong impression of the subject—you cannot anderstand a lowering of south effected by burning a whole family to death, and from such a horrid consequence you are inclined to argue, that the original motive must be equally despesses. It is no such thing; Shika and his innocent family were burned to death.

Aye, in the year 1821,—in the boars of our admirable nation of IRELAND—the flower of generosity—courage. and chivalrous feeling, seventeen men, women, and chil-dren, and the majority women and children, were burned to death, because SHEA offered live and twenty shillings an acre for land for which the landlord before could only obtain twenty-one.

Why need I waste your paper or your patience—the principles which I give you are clear and distinct—every body can understand them, and every body can compare them with the results; and neither you not the Morning Chronicle can persuade mankind out of their senses, or pershade its that a horde of rollbers are an assemblage of political traitors. "As to the local Government of IRELAND, I acquit it in a great measure of all this mischief.—MR. SHANT has never done anything—LCRD TALBOT was never capable of duing anything—their influence, therefore, (if sny) must have been negative.—I care not how soon they are both restored to that private life for which they seem fitted; but, I will do them the justice to say, that if they had been men of spirit and talent, and in every respect the reverse of what they are, they could not now arrest the progress of the mischief, which, as I have said, has its roots in a soil not within their domain.

The great fault of the Government was MR. GRANT's ridiculous praises of the Catholic Priests, and his insidious lowering of the Magisterial authority; he is now reaping the bitter fruits of his popularity—but unfortunately source we.

I wish you would suggest to Mr. GRANT the reads no Irish letters, but perhaps reads John Bull, I wish you would suggest to him to issue a virtular to those well-disposed Catholic Priests who have the tranquillity of Ireland in their hands, requiring them forthwith to pacify the country; and instead of shoeting and burning, to have recourse to the mitigated vengeance of tarring and feathering-it would be too much to ask them to keep the country quiet altogether.

You shall hear from me occasionally if I survive the collection of the Michaelmas rents, but I have great, doubts on that point; I must starve if I do not get them, I shall be murdered if I do; in either case you will lose a correspondent, and obtain an additional proof of the truth of your argument.—I am, Sir, Limerick. Nov. 22, 1821.

PRMALE BIBLE SOCIE

Sin,—Your resilier generals is according to a good thing. It however, who are always hing a shirty look out! that way, have had notified her omission of your's, which I can't reside to heading you up! about.

In some appoint of the proceedings of a Meeting of the some appoint of the proceedings of a Meeting of the some are cat this barren scaten) landally in the solution.

the fleshre of from rigating the Sasindara, and have strainedly conitted to inact, the following two which is story florally, and send you for the all Damacla and officery.

"Resolved. That the Computite he eguel number of Liefles, and Scatteness, with passed to their aumbers?"

"And to their aumbers?"

"And to their aumbers?"

"And to their aumbers?" FIGURES Rome to ver preventing a CASTA

The good do not be the state of SIR,—I kave taken in your paper from its first tion, and have frequently fought actors battles in you behalf with friends whose pentiments have not quest coincided with game, your paper of yesterday has an anished with game, your paper of yesterday has seed as an appleasant, situation, and already lawely to asked by more than one individual what I have been too for my friend a Joint Bull.

for my trees. John Dull.
In Your able exposure of the varialistics of the with respect to Capman, you say, if they have toolight mongh to believe an attorney. I have put paragraph again and again, and do not see that if the say, other construction, than that an atterney is an affectively. I am convinced you are too liberal to say the world present to say the compensation. a whole prejection; became some of the component of the Corrupt, for were such a principle to preyait, what is of then would be extempt? Whether your, expressing them a whitteness construction, or whether it probable from inadvertence, I think in justice to yourself its the parties attacked, some explanation is due. It would be folly to enter into a windrest word the perfect of the parties attacked to your own good sense, and that of the residers, must resider it unrecessary; my sale object and how your attacked.

realers, must render it unnecessary; my sale coper and draw your attention to the remark, feeling assured the you; will take the earliest opportunity of removing that unqualified censure, which, I am convinced it was from your intention to pass by the expression in the limit of the convinced in the limit of the convinced in the limit of the

We are quite glad that this goatleman has write as it affords us an opportunity of explaining away ar an rent illiberality—we respect the profession of the liberality—we respect the profession of the liberality of the lib and are above all vulgar prejumees. purply the risen to the highest brades in that profession, and the Beach itself exhibits proofs of the injustice of accepting but an Irish confliction is the page. consists against them; but an Irish gentlisten is the different from an Irish labourer, than a respective from a disceputable one. When we will the a telleving an attorney—we mean them at the labourer than a confidential correspondent of his we are very anxious.

TO JOHN BULL DRAW JOHNNY On the part of mines of this guarter of the kingdow, the first the purpose of obtaining some illustrations.

We have observed, that it has been sured in the Radical papers, namely, the Old Times and the Mulia Chranicle, that in consequence of the late Quinn which the Committee appointed for conducting the adversaries for purchasing a service of plate to be presented to the listerious lady, have put an end to the collection in having paid all the money so collected just the believe a Musaus. Courts and Co, in the Strand, have

Resolved—That the service of plate being sto-longitation quired, in fact, being weless, a stately and elegant illumination in the service of plate being sto-longitation with the service in some conspicuous church or bigging ing, it may be 3t. Paul's Cathedrul, in memory of the present which distinguished that exalted personners what we wish to know it. The names of the particular way what we wish to know it.

Now, JOHNNY, what we wish to know is, the names the subscribers to the plate subscription in each city and town of the united kingdom—the sums subscribed by person, and the total amount paid into the basing beuse of Misses. Courts and Co. and by whom paid in. If all or any part of this information could be obtained through mr widely circulated paper, it would grafify, wonderfully, the public at large, and none more so in nutricina, than your constant reader.

Plymouth, 17th November, 1821.

TO JOHN BULL. Sin — Can you, or any of your correspondents, when me whether " the Greslam Committee" are serious, or only joking, when they advertize that "Lecture will be revery day during Perni, over the Royal Fuchange Being au kiler in town, I have attended very regulariyat the top of the stairs leading to the apartment where the words "Lecture Room" are inscribed, but have not hitherto had an opportunity of being edified by hearing, or even seing the Lecturer.—Your obedient servant, Sweeting's Alley

CORONATION OF HIS MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTV OF USER IV.

Patronised by the Royal Family.—Shortly will be published.

New, elegant, and precise Propostal REPRESENTATION of the Order of PROCESSION to the CORONATION of his breest of the Royal Family and of the Nobility is general. This highly interesting production, which extends to the length of ten yards, contains faithful representations of every individual in the Procession, together with the such and portable Box; or it is calculated for framing.—A Specimed may be seen, with a Light of Subscribers, at the Publisher's. W. Sandy, Box and Sandy and Highness the Duke of York, 7, St. James a street, by a particular of the Corona of Subscription to the Library may be had on application.

Jant published, in Syo. price 12s. in beards, evaluated by periodician, to the BRIEF DISPLAY of the ORIGIN and HISTORY of ORDEALS; Trials by Battle; Courts of Chivairy or Honour; and the Decision of Private Quarrels by Single Combas: also, a Chrosological Engineer of the Principal Ducia tought from the Accession of his her Engineer to the Principal Ducia tought from the Accession of his her Indicated for the Author, by W. Bulmer and W. Nico; Clevelandrew, St. James's; and sold by W. Sams, Bookseiler to H. R. stake Duka at York, St. James's street.

a side of the section of

December 2.

TO SIX EASY LESSONS OF ONE HOUR EACH......Mr. C. BRADBURY, Private Totor at Westminster School, solicits the attention of Ladies and Gerdlemen to his unrivalled and infallule system of beautiful PRNMANSHIP; whereby he pidages himself to teach persona of all seas to write with case, elegance, and expentitor, whatever, may be the deformity of their present, writing) in six regular Lessons, or he will do for the control of th paper, printing, and illustration. The A, ther's Notes also, which have eigh been omitted, archere introduced, and render this Edition pocularly desirable.

3. As ESSAY on HUNTING; in which a great variety of most important information is communicated under the heads Hunting Lawfulness, Benefits, Pleasure, Bastine, Gauc, Seent, Hounds, the Horse, Huntsman, Sagacity, &c. &c. Third Edition. In Sve. 7s. boards,—in 4to, 12s.

4. BRITISH FIELD SPORTS; embracing Fractical Instructions in Shooting, Hunting, Coursing, Racing, Fishing, &c.; with Observations on the Breaking and Training of Dogs and Horses; also, on the Management of Fording pieces, and all other Sporting Implements.—By W. H. SCOTT, Second Edition; elegantly printed, and illustrated with upwards of Sixty highly-finished Engravings. Price II. 18s. 5bards, drun Swo. 7s. 6th Shooting Flying.

—By W. DOBSON, Esq. of Eden Hall, Cursberland. Second Edition, in Swo. 19s. 6d boards.

4. The SPORTSMAN'S PROGRESS; a Poem, descriptive of the Pleasures derived from Field Sports; with Instructions for Shooting Flying.

—By W. DOBSON, Esq. of Eden Hall, Cursberland. Second Edition, in Swo. 19s. 6d boards.

5. The SPORTSMAN'S PROGRESS; a Poem, descriptive of the Pleasures derived from Field Sports; with Memoirs of the Author; and an Essay on the Chase, by EDW. TOPHAM, Esq. Iflustrated with Engravings by Mr. SCOTT. Price 8s. in boards.

9. SPORTSMAN'S PROGRESS; in Second Edition, In the Art, with Rules to choose Fishing-rofs, Lines, Hooks, Flosts, Baits, and to make Artificial Flies; Receipts for Partes, &c.—By T. P. LATHY, Esg. With upwards of Twenty Wood Cuts. 10s. 6d, boards.

9. SPORTSMAN'S VOCA, LIBRABY; containing nearly 4096 the best Songs relating to Hunting, Raeing, Shooting, Angling, Hawking, Archery, &c. Price 9s in boards.

1. THOGRAPHY.—RODWELL and MARTIN have to analysis and to make Containing a complete Delineation of the Sporting to Hunting, Raeing, Shooting, Angling, Hawking, Archery, &c. Price 9s in boards.

THOGRAPHY—RODWELL and MARTIN have to and sources to the admirers of LITHOGRAPHY, that in consequence of the great improvement and increased demand for works in that art, they have opened a separate establishment at 40, Argil-street, where will be found an extensive Collection of the heat works in that art, they have opened a separate establishment at 40, Argil-street, where will be found an extensive Collection of the heat works in progress, which will be found an extensive Collection of the heat works in progress, which will be duly announced: they have lately published the following:

ROMAN COSTUMES, drawn from Nature by PINELLI. Containing 21 Plates, price 42s, coloured, and 24s, plain.

PARISIAN COSTUMES, drawn from Nature by J. J. CHALON. Parts I. H. and III. This work will consist of four Numbers, each containing six Coloured plates, price 12s, oblong folio.

COSTUME of PERSIA, drawn from Nature by ORLOWSKI and SWEBACH und engraved by C. HULLMANDEL and D. DIGHTON. To be completed in 6. Nambers, each containing 5 Plates, beautifully coloured, imperial 5 lio. Nos. 1.to IV. 18s, each.

VIEWS illustrating the ROUTE of the SIMPLON. Drawn from Nature by Major COCKBURN, and on Stone by J. HARDING. Nos. I. to V. 18s. each.

VIEWS illustrating the ROUTE of MONT CENIS. Drawn from Nature

Mr. To be completed in 12, each containing five Plates, price 8s. each, royal folio.

VIEWS illustrating the ROUTE of MONT CENIS. Drawn from Nature by Major COCKBURN, and on Stone by C. HULLMANDEL, Nos. I. to X. To be completed in 12, each containing five plates, price 8s each, royal folio.

THAMES SCENERLY. Twenty-five Views on that River, from Richmond to Oxford. Drawn by W. WESTALL, A.R.A. No. I. To be completed in five Numbers, super royal folio, 9s. each.

ITHOGRAPHIC IMPRESSIONS from SKETCHES of BRITISH SCENERY, by FRANCIS NICHOLSON. Super royal folio, No. I. containing six plates.

SELECTION of FLOWERS, drawn by BARTHOLOMEW: principally adapted for Students. To be completed in six Numbers, imperial tie, each Number containing six Plates. Nos. I. II. and III. price 5s. each, or beautifully coloured, 12s. each.

ORNAMENTS and DESIGNS, from the Antique, highly useful, and pendiarly adapted to Architects, Silversmiths, Uphoisterers, Cabinet-makers, Paper-Stainers, ornagental House-Painters, Carpet-Manufacturers, Manufacturers, Carvers, Gildens, Bookbinders, Ladies, Fancy-Works, &c. &c., containing 100 Plates, imperial tto, price 4l. half bound.—Any Number may be had separate, price 7s. 6d.

RODWELL and MARTIN'S DRAWING BOOK. No. 1 to 12, each containing four Plates, from Drawings by HARDING, PROUT, HULLMANDEL, &c. &c. royal 850, price 5d. each. To be completed in 20 Nos.

TWENTY VIEWS, characteristic of the Coast and Inland Scenery of England, designed and drawn on Stone by W. COLLINS, R.A. The first two pst published.—The PRAWN FISHER, and the BIRD CATCHER, price 7s. proofs on India, 10s.

If A great variety of other works in Lithography may be seen at 40, argyli-street Bookselling and publishing, as usual, at 46, New Bond-street.

street Bookselling and publishing, as usual, at 46, New Bond-street

CONOMY in WINES.—The ROYAL EXCHANGE WINE COMPANY, No. 10, Poultry, (near the Mansion House,) feel great pleasure in submitting to their numerous Customers and the Public in general, the following list of choice Wines, which they can warrant as being of the finest qualities, at the undermentioned very Reduced Prices.—Estathe finest qualities, at the undermentioned very Reduced Prices.—Established in 1814.

Good Cape Madeira per Doz. 20s. Very Superior Old Ditto per Doz. 42s.

Very superiar old Ditto 25s. Port of the Vintage 1812 and 44s.

Rich total Bucellas 36s. 1815.

Rich total Bucellas 36s. bottle Port, two years in 50s.

Fine Old Hock 46s. Ditto, Ditto, five years in bottle 56s.

Ditto Red Pontage 30s. Old West India Madeira 45s.

Graf Regard Burgundy particus Fonte Madeira 45s.

Intly fine 42s. Fine Teneriffe 46s.

Fine Pale Sherty 38s. Fine sparking and creaning 66s.

Good Port 38s. Inch Constantia 34s.

Good Port 38s. Rich Constantia 34s.

Fine Mainsey Madeira 25s. Rich Constantia 30s.

For the recommodation of families residing in town and country, the Company engage to a 3d six dozen free of carriage, and all other expects to any part of England; Mirce dozen within fifteen miles, and one dozen delivered free to any part of England; Mirce dozen within fifteen miles, and one dozen delivered free to any part of England; Mirce dozen within fifteen miles, and one dozen delivered free to any part of England; Mirce dozen within fifteen miles, and one dozen delivered free to any part of England; Mirce dozen within fifteen miles, and one dozen delivered free to any part of England; Mirce dozen within fifteen miles, and one dozen delivered free to any part of England; Mirce dozen within fifteen miles, and one dozen delivered free to any part of England; Mirce dozen free of carriage, and all other expects to any part of England; Mirce dozen free of carriage, and all other expects to any part of England; Mirce dozen free of carriage, and all other expects to any part of England; Mirce dozen free of carriage, and all other expects to any part of England; Mirce dozen free of carriage, and all other expects to any part of England; Mirce dozen free of carriage, and all other expects to any part of England; Mirce dozen free of carriage, and all other expects to any part of England; Mirce dozen free for any part of England; Mirce dozen Pine Pale Sherry
Old East India Ditto

JOHN BULL

TENERAL BENEFIT INSURANCE COMPANY, 129, Aldersgate-street, for the Insurance of Weekly Allowances, Medical Attendance during Sickness, Sums of Money payable at Death, Annuites immediate and deferred, and Eulowments. Capital £50,000.

PATRON.

PATRON.

His Royal Highness the DUKE of GLOUCESTER.

PRESIDENT.

NIS Grave the PUKE OF BEDFORD.

VICE, PRESIDENTS.

Eved UCHN RUSSSLL, M. P.

Sir ROBERT BAKER.

Sir ROBERT BAKER.

Sir ROBERT BAKER.

WILLIAM WILLBERFORCE, Esq. M. P.

GEORGE WATSGN TAYLOR, Esq. M. P.

SAM CHAS, WHITBREAD, Esq. M. P.

SAM CHAS, WHITBREAD, Esq. M. P.

JOHN THOMAS THORPE, Esq. and Alderman.

Rev. J.W. CUNNINGHAM, Vicar of Harrow

TREASURERS.

Rev. J. W. CLNNIN GHAM M. Vacan of Martow.

And Pilleres Dispections. In control of the Control

RITING PAPER of the next quality, made by the justly colobrated J. WHATMAN of Turkey Mill; to be sold at the following law parties:—Excellent copy, 7d. the quire, or 12s. 13s. 6d. and 15. 6d. the ream; superfine Bath, 5d. 4 dito, hat pressed 16d.; and is the quire, or 13s. 15s. 6d. and 15. 6d. the ream; superfine Bath, 5d. 4 dito, hat pressed 16d.; and is the quire, or 13s. 6d. 15s. and 47s. 6d. the ream; very best thick Bath gill, 1s. 1d. the quire, or 20s. the ream; thick foolseap. 1s. the quire, an analysis of the ream; the fools of the quire, or 20s. the ream; best thick lined brief, 1s. 4d. the quire, or 20s. the ream; best thick lined brief, 1s. 4d. the quire, or 20s. the ream; best thick lined brief, 1s. 4d. the quire, or 20s. the ream; they good copy books, 35; 6d. per der., best scaling wax; 5a the 1b.; also forsale, the new-invented steel inibbed pen; if has the challenty of the guill, with the durability of the steel pen pice 1s. 4d. each; strong brown, 3d. 10d. and 1s. 6d.; small hand, 4d. the quire at H. and W. SMITH'S, 192, Strand, apposite Bt. Clement's Ehurch.—Account Books made to order, stany size or pattern, equally how in price:

BY THE KINGS PATENT.

CHANGE of RESIDENCE induces the Fatentee to acquaint the Nobility and Gentry, that in consequence of the counterfeits under he same name, he has commed the sale to such respectable banases (only) who deal in genuine articles. The PATENT VIOLET'SOAP having a decided price of the counterfeits under he same name, he has commed the sale to such respectable banases (only) who deal in genuine articles. The PATENT VIOLET'SOAP having a decided price even in the sale to such respectable banases (only) who deal in genuine articles. The PATENT VIOLET'SOAP having a beautifying, saftening, and balsamine, properties on the skin, that it was in consequence of the sale of the analysis of the patent. It should invariably, e-acked for as "halfs patent, violet Soap. It is sold in squares at 25. 6d. and it is forwarded to all parts of town or country, warranted to

Waschouse, 107. Strand, corner of the Savoy-steps, London.—(The original Fish sauceWarehouse.)

PRENCH PERFUMERY.—JEAN DEVEREAUX'S ESPRIT DE LAVANDE AUX MILLEFLEURS, possesses all the baimy fragrance of the freshest flowers; its aromatic, eephalic, and nervine virtues are instantly diffused through the most spaceous apartments, while, the fragrance of its acent revives every person around.—Sold in bottles, price 2s. 6d. and 5s. at the Deput for French Perfumery, 2s, Lombard-street, Landon; where is to be had JEAN DEVEREAUX'S MONTPELLIER, Landon; where is to be had JEAN DEVEREAUX'S MONTPELLIER, Landon; where is to be had JEAN DEVEREAUX'S MONTPELLIER, Landon; where is to be had JEAN DEVEREAUX'S MONTPELLIER, Landon; where is to be additionally perfumers, a vivifying grateful perfume, and giving to the skin a most delicious feel and luxurions beilliancy. Price 2s, 5d, per packet.—Sold retail at 8s, Cornbill; No. 9, Regent-street, Pall Mail; 129, Oxford-street; 5s, 5t Janies's-street; 22, Hatton Garden, and wholesale by Price and Gosnell Perfumers to His Majesty.

ETA Agratuitous sample (on a handkerchief) of Jean Devereaux's celebrated Esprit de Lavande aux Millefleurs, will be presented to any Ladyor Gentleman, which will prove its pleasing and re reshing properties, by applying to any of his Agents, or at his Depat, No. 28, Lombard-street, Lendon.

To Means, EOW LANDON CONTENT of the Savon Conte

Applying its any of his Agents, or at his Depst, No. 23, Lombard street, Lendon.

To Mesars, ROW LAND and SON. Preprietors of the Marassar off.

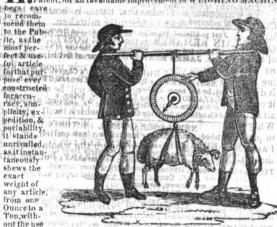

Take the earliest opportunity of relating the surprising virtues Loyout Oil on two of my chidren, the one 7, and the other 9 years of age. In November 1897, their Hair came off in small parts, and continued so to do until it was very much reduced. Alarmed at his circumstance, as there was no appearance of it coming again, I cried several offs, compositions, &c. without effect, when a Lady, who had witnessed the extraordbary effects of your Oil, entreated me, to try it, which I did, and in using four bottles of the Macassar Oil, I have the gratification to say their heads use completely eavered with thick and strong hair. You thate liberty two make this public, and you may refer any one to -Yours, &c. LOUIS A JOHNSON.
Newlaston-greeu, Middleacs, Nov. 14, 1898. Vienna, Dec. 29, 1816.

To Mesars, Rowland and Son, Kirby street, Hatton-garden, London. Gentlemes, -In consequence of the good effects of your Macassar Oil, I have it in sommand from his Imperial Majesty the Emperor of all the Russins, that you will, without delay, send the sum of ten gamess wort to the Emperor of Russia, St. Petereburgh, and receive the amount of the same from his Excellency Counted Eleven, his Majesty's Ambassador at the Court of Great Britain. I have the honour to be, &c. JAMES WYLIE.

A. ROWLAND and SON respectfully author the Public against spurlous Macassar Oil. Thier's is the original and genuine, which for many years has been universally admired for improving the growth of hair, producing beautiful curls, and tendering it soft and glossy; in short, it adds to the hair a superlative healty. Price 2s. 6a; 7s; 10s.6d; and One Guinea per bottle. Sald, wholesale, retail, and or exportation, by the sole Proprietors. A. RowLaND and SON, No. 1; corner of Kirby street; the first turning on the right in Hatton-garden, Holborn, London; and by appointment, by Messas Hendries, Titchborne-street; New B

DIAL WEIGHING MACHINES.

MARRIOTT having obtained His Majesty's Royal Letters
Patent, for an invaluable improvement in WEIGHING MACHINES,

Ounce to a Ton, with our the use of Weights, thereby saving time and labour. Being perfectly portable, it may be used in any si nation—its universal utility must therefore be undeniable for Domestic purposes; its Shops, Warchouses, Goach Offices, Market Houses, Rarns, on Whaifs, at Races and Fairs, for Cattle, Corn, Hay, &c. or fer loading heavy Articles: it may be attached to the chain of a Crane, and shew the weight a the time of craning; it is also peculiarly well adapted for the Foreign Markets. From its extreme simplicity, it is accarcely massible to be inaccurate; yet if it ever should be so, there is an adjusting Soriew, which will instantly correctit.

44. MARRIOTT having also made considerable improvements in bis PATENT KITCHEN COOKING APPARATUS, feels a confidence is recommending it to the Public, as a most complete Article for Hoasting Faking; Boiling, and Steaming, with economy in fuel, by one moderate-sized file, and with a constant supply of from Twelve to Twenty Gallons of Hot Water; also Warm Closels for airing Linen, keeping Dinner hot, heating Plates, Diskey, &c.; the Cooking Utensis are never soided, and it is a positive Cure for a Smokey Chimney. Kitchens fitted up, with Steam Apparatus, embracing allthe lee improvements; also Baths, Comervatories, Halls, Staircases, and Buildings, hea'ed by Steam, upon a principle of perfect seedrity; and equal diffusion of the accessity, of weights or publics.—The whole may be seen daily in use at the Palence's Manufactory 84, Fleet-8 reet, London; or had of most of the respectable Frommoners throughout England. N. B. Smokey Chiuntes cared anythiosophical principles.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED.

J. and T. Mills, Stroud, clothers.—Mudford and Williams, Ridgeway, carriers.—J and U. Sungs, Little Guliford street, Borough, timber-merchants.—J. and T. Torner, Minores, littlend-dapers.—Turnbull and Runaley, Bristol, architects.—R. and C. Bosweil, St. Marin's-courf, hosfers.—P. J. and J. Boxtos, Manchester, butchers.—Surith and Noble, Liverpool, publishers.—O. Cooper, Tutbury-mill, and T. Weodroff, Foston, millers.—Grand and Staff, Narwich, attorneys.—Otway, Outlewaite, and Baylis, St. James's street, inilliners.—Morris and Dlekinson, Great Baling, surgeons.

BENTLEY, J. Curtain-road, hardwareman.
BINOHAM, R. Gosport, banker.

BURRELL, J. Newcasile-upon-Tyne, merchant.

HANDSWORD, M. Great Winchester-street, merchant.

HEADSWORD, M. Great Winchester-street, merchant.

MEADWAY, R. Bosminster, burcher.

SAVERY, C. South Bford, Devonahire, lime-burner.

WARD, J. Londom, dealer in foreign fruits.

WOOD, J. Birmingham, broker and gun-maker.

Dec. 22, P. Smill, seu. P. Smith, jun. and W. Smith, Burnden, muslin-monificturers.—Nov. 27, J. Nailer, Jefferier-square, merchant.—Dec. 16, G. R. Whelley, Basinghali-street, weiden-draper.—Dec. 1. H. Fuller, Bethnat-Green read, pargeon.—Dec. 20, W. Brade, Preston, liquor-microhant.—Dec. 20, J. Woods, Jun. Portses, baker.—Dec. J. H. Friend, Southwark, angineer.—Dec. 12, G. Hague, Sheffield, plater.—Dec. 18, A. Ross and J. Marray, Leadenhail-buildings, merchants.—Dec. 15, M. Tüdy, Southgate, corn-dealer.—Dec. 19, J. Foster, Sheffield, ironmongr.—Dec. 11, T. and J. W. Whalley, Friday-street, ware-bousemen.—Dec. 11, J. Robinson, Birmingham, factor.—Dec. 19, J. Foster, Sheffield, ironmongr.—Dec. 11, T. and J. W. Whalley, Friday-street, ware-bousemen.—Dec. 11, J. Robinson, Birmingham, factor.—Dec. 12, J. Luke, Exceler, ironmonger.—Dec. 14, R. Prite, Tewkesbury, corn-factor.—Dec. 16, J. Honser, Greater, Gender, M. Street, Woods, Molomy, dealer, J. and J. Rower, Branday wested animars.—W. Southgate, corn-dealer.—J. and J. Rower, Randayd wested animars.—W. Sout Movbray, druggist.

CERTIFICATES—Dec. II.

S. Weston, Heanor, hosler.—r. Jenks, Bromyard, dealer.—M. Tidy, Southgate, corn-dealer.—J. and J. Bower, Bradford, wested spinners.—W. Pigest, datcliffe-highway, grocer.—J. Mason, Manchester, hat-manufacturer.

—J. Kwing, Liverpool, merchant.—IL. Anthony, Plymouth, bronmonger.—P. Wood, Kingaton, gardener.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

Paris, Nov. 17.—A considerable number of Deputies are prevented from attending their duties by illness.—Journal de Paris.—An official statement respecting the fever at Barcelona, which has been published at Bourdeaux, observes—"The mortality has rather decreased; but this result is owing to the flight of a portion of the people, and the ravages already made by the comagion."

A disturbance took place on Thursday, in the prison Bicetre; 500 of the prisoners refused to work, on the pretext that they had not their money at their own disposal. A detachment of the Gendarmeric was dispatched to the prison to assist the ordinary guard in maintaining order.

darmeric was dispatched to the prison to assist the ordinary guard in maintaining order.

Nov. 18.—1 esterday, the King entered into his sixty-seventh year. His Majesty received the congratulations of the Princes and Princesses of the Royal Family on the happy occasion.

Notwithstanding the alarm created by the pretended discovery in the Bois de Boulogne, Madame, the Governess of the children of France, did not deem it requisite to countermand their accustomed premenade. When her Royal Highness the Duchess de Berri was informed of the resolution of the Governess, the august Princess said, "She has acted perfectly right; the Duke de Bourdeaux ought never to recede (reculer;) not even at the age of one year."

deaux ought never to recede (seeker;) not even at the age of one year."

M. Jabat, Ex-Minister of Marine in Spain, has just arrived in Paris. It is affirmed, that he is charged to request some French ships of war to be sent to the Colonics.

The Gazelte de France, in relation to the Convent of Mount Athos, states, that more than 12,000 Monks have shut themselves up in it. Eight thousand of these are courageous and well armed; their ramparts also possess artillery; and the isthmus, which is narrow, is tolerably well fortified.

Accounts from Trieste, of the left of November, state, that several vessels from Zante, Corfu, and Calamata, have confirmed the taking of Tripolitza, adding, that it had been taken by assault, and that the whole garrison had perished, with the exception of three Turkish Chiefs, who were spared as hostages.

A letter from Bayonne, states, that a courier from Madrid had passed through the town, with important dispatches; he stated, that on his departure from Madrid, agitation was very great in that capital; that General Morillo had called out the troops, and the they had orders to fire upon those who manifested an intention of disturbing the peace.

that on his departure from Madrid, agitation was very great in that capital; that General Morillo had called out the troops, and that they had orders to fire upon those who manifested an intention of disturbing the peace.

Vienna, Nov. 6.—Athens has been abandoned by the Greeks, and on being taken possession of by the Turks, became a prey to the flames. There is, however, ground of hope that only the new town, which, as is known, consisted only op oor cabins, has suffered, and that the venerable remains of antiquity have been spared. The Divan has ordered 106 Greeks of Cyprus and Candiz, who were at Constantinople, to be beheaded.

On the arrival of the Turks at Athens, the inhabitant took to flight; 500 men only, barricadoed in the houses, fired upon the Turksh troops, who fought foot to foot in the streets. Flames presently issued from some of the houses, but it could not be correctly ascertained by which party the fire had been kindled. The lower town is almost consumed.

Advices from Lisbon communicate the recent proceedings of the Cortes. That legislative body has decreed, contrary to the unanimous opinion of the Deputies from Pernambuco, that some of the troops to be sent to Rio Janeiro, should be landed at the former town. The individuals who were arrested there in July and August, on suspicion of being concerned in the attempt mon the life of the Governor, have arrived at Lisbon, and applied to the Cortes to be set at liberty. Their application, and all the papers relative to the complaints against, the above-mentioned public functiceary, have been referred to Government, "in order that the matter may be duly investigated."—By the debates in the Cortes, it appears that the audacity and number of robbers in Lisbon are such, that they have lately a-sailed private houses in the principal streets, even at noon-day.—Pursuant to a Decree of the Cortes, foreign brandies manufactured in Portugal, or in the same islands, is reduced to 2,400 reas per pipe.

Accounts from Barcelona, in the French papers, state, th of, and is now fitting out five to go against the Greeks: he has four fine ships building, two under a Fronchman, the others under the direction of Turks; but it will be a long time before they are ready for sea. Not one of his fleet escaped the gale; they were all totally lost, with about 2000 officers and :- amen.

Advices from Gibraitar to the 30th uit. State, that an epidemic fever-has broken out in the settlement of Alhucemas, on the coast of Africa. Private letters received at that place from Cadiz, confirm the existence of the yellow fever in that city; at Port St. Mary's, ships, persons, and effects, coming from any point of the bay of Cadiz are debarred admission into Portugal; and those coming from the other ports of Syain between Gibraitar and Ayan onte are not to be admitted any where else than at Lisbon, subject, however, even there, to at least thirty days' quarantine.

Borasy Bay.—Capt. Biggs, of the American ship General Gates, was condemned in the Supreme Court of New South Wales, to pay 60001. for laving taken from the Colony ten convicts and one free-man, and having quitted the harbour without a clearance.

Ouzne, Oer. 18.—The absence of all denand for wheat has compelled sever: farmers in the district of Montreal to resort to this market in boats, with regetables and oats. Large quantities of hy have also been brought down by water. In some of the parishes, which used to sell great quantities of wheat for exportation, farms, with a log-house and barn, have been sold at the Sheriff's sales for less than the usual law expences, incurred to effect the sale.

Accounts from New Gelegies, to the 20th of September, by the mail, state, that information from every part of the State, but particularly the interior, confirmed the statement that not more than half a crop of cyton would be made this season.

The Wathington City Gazette supposes the amount of claims presented to the Commissioners on the Spanish spoliations to be 15,000,000 dollars, and that it is hardly possible 5,000,000 dollars can pay the principal of actual losses embraced by the treaty—The whole number of Memorials already presented exceeds 500.

Washington, Oct. 17.—We hear that the hero of New Orleans, General Jackson, has arrived at his seat near Nashville. It is also reported, that he has resigned, or intends resigning, his appointment of Governor of Florida; that, indeed, he never meant to hold the office an re than long enough to organize the territorial Government. Whether the collison with Judge Frénaentin has accelerated his retirement, we know not; nor shall we here undertake to pronounce, whether the Constitution of the United States could be introduced there, but through the medium of an act of Congress. We incline to the negative side of the question.

Accounts have been received from the Facilic Ocean, by the Government at Washington, representing the serious inconvenience that had accrued from the detention of vessels belonging to the United States by the Chilian squadron. The Franklin 74 gun-ship had been dispatched instantly, to alford protection in those reas. The commander had instructions to use every means in his power to give relief, and, if necessary, to compel Lord Cochrane to raise the blockade of the coast.

From the St. Cheistopher Gazette, Sept. 15.—It is our painful duty to announce the particulars of a most devastating lurricane experienced here; several stores were levelled with the ground, many small houses in other parts of the town have been entirely destroyed, fences, trees, &c. Every estate in the parish, as welf as throughout the island, has received more or less injur

IRELAND.

The toletion has

Chair, the Adjutant-General, Lord Aylmer, Comband to Antaloga proposition from Government, whether they comband in advasable to call out the police in the disturted distance of the country, authorized it advasable to call out the police in the disturted distance, and an antalog of the country, authorized defence, aided by the loyal and active inhabitants, and and assistance from the police; from a general feeling lightly and active inhabitants, and and a session octureal marandor'd deserve to suffer any pensity, it shad in a session of the police of the policy and active inhabitants, and and a session octureal marandor'd deserve to suffer any pensity, it shad in a session octureal marandor'd deserve to suffer any pensity, it shad in a session of the session octureal marandor'd seerve to suffer any pensity, it shad in the districts infested with these layers are to be found in the districts infested with these layers are to be found in the districts infested with these layers are to be found in the districts infested with these layers are to be found in the districts infested with these layers are to be found in the districts infested with these layers are to be found in the districts infested with these layers are to be found in the districts infested with the set of the set of considered by his rural sports, and conduced with her on her resistance of her inability sejon in such sports. The state of her inability sejon in such sports, and the state of her inability selections of the state of her in t which reachey and George Purk, to be imprisoned for four mentions and all the thofosdants to enter into security for their good between these years.

The Assay we Millia and another.—On the motion of the Solicitor-General, these defendants, William Millis and Richard Lowe, who were gravited at the last Assizes for Berkshire, of a riot and assault upon David Deadman and Thomas Pike, who had been witnessed as a Exchequer suit for smuguling, were sentenced to four manifestar Exchequer suit for smuguling, were sentenced to buy a few of 504, and both defendants were required to give security for good behaviour for three years.

These defendants, John was a few of the court, having been convicted, at the last histories for Lancashire, of assaulting two Excuse officers, in the greenion of their duty, at Liverpool. They were sentenced to pay a few of the sent, and to be imprisoned for one meanth in the Mid-disc, times of Correction.

The Attorney-Lenevel & Parameter The Lord Chancellor gave judgment in this lease, which occupied the attention an appeal Train the Decree of the Vice Chancellor, relative in an appeal Train the Decree of the Vice Chancellor, relative in the Grammar School founded by Sir Andrew, build, in 1458, in behalf of the proof of Tumbridge. The bill amongst other things, prayed that the funds, now so considerable, might be appropriated to the surproses of the charity, and that an account of the rent and profits might be taken and appropriated to the same purposes. Having taken a general review of the leading features of the case, his Leadhan and the question materially turned on the meaning to begiven to the will of Sir Andrew Juda; and, his opinion therefore was, that the Decree of the Tdoour should be confirmed; but, in order to obviant refrain difficulties, the words "will," or "Intended will," should be infroduced, and an order to that effect was accordingly made:

Frankey—The Ring x: Heorge Bere.—The Solicitor-General moved the judgment of the Court upon this defendant, for publishing a number of the Republicas, at Carlile's sloop, in Fleeterest, in July last.—Several affidavits were put in by the defendant, and read by the Clerk of the Court:—Mr. Cooper addressed the Court on behalf of the prisoner at great length.

The Solicitor-General replied; and Mr. Justice Bayley delivered the judgment of the Court, which was, that the defendant be imprisoned in Winchester gool for the term of six months; and at the expiration of that period find sureties to keep the peace for seven years, himself in 500. and two sureties in 50t. each.

Barnes, a shoemaker, at Horsham, was brought up for judgment for attempting to bribe an officer in the Preventive Service, to pay a fine of 50!.

— Barnes, a shoemaker, at Horsham, was brought up for judg-ment for attempting to bribe an officer in the Preventive Service, to allow some smugglers to land a cargo. He had suffered judgment by default. He was sentenced to be imprisoned four months, and to pay a fine of 501.

Board of Excise.—John Morton and Henry Hust were charged with having manufactured soap at an unentered place, and, upon several other counts, with having incurred penalties to the amount of 600!. The latter defendant alone appeared.—B. R. Gardner, an Officer of the Excise, stated, that on the 17th of Sept, he discovered in White Hart-place, Kennington, a complete and extensive soap manufactory, with apparatus and a large quantity of imperfectly formed soap and some materials, the whole of which he seized.—From the evidence adduced, the Court expressed themselves satisfied that Mr. Hunt had not been engaged in the undertaking.—Mr. Hunt was then sworn, and examined as a witness. He said that he met the defendant, John Morton (whom he knew some time since, and who was known in Lambeth by the name of Irish Jack), soon after the seizure had been made. The witness was extremely angry with him for making use of his name (in taking the premises where the soap manufactory was discovered), when Morton asked him in reply, what occasion he had to be angry, since there were more John Hunts than one?—The Court said, this was an implied acknowledgment on the part of Morton, that he was the owner of the premises, they, therefore, pronounced judgment generally on all the courts against I. Morton, and condemned the apparatus and woods found upon the premises.

POLICE.

named podement experience of the course against f. Morton and condemned the appiratus and coude found upon the premises.

**POLICE.**

Manaton Horms.—On Thursday, a man named Thompson, was charged with liaving stolen a pair of bosts, the property of a labouring rana.—The complainant stated, that he was at work in America-r-nuare, in cleaning the sewer, and had left his mud page close by for the space of in minute, and on turning round loward, where they lay, he raw the prisoner take them up and make oil with thems, where having handed one of them to mactomplice.—The prisoner, in his defence, said, that he was a Scotaman from Aberday where to get work, but without access it, he had offered to labour for his food glone, but could not get even that, or any relief is condition, he said, was at length to much reduced, that he had only the akternative to starre or to stead, and he did not hesitate in choosing the latter.—The prisoner was naked why, if his condition was auch as he described, he did not prefer robbing a baker's shop, for he could not extend the present of the state of the present of the state of the present of the state of the present was naked whether his companion, to whom he had been apportunity. I have subsisted in his way for more than a yeak. "The prisoner was naked whether his companion, to whom he had been from the present was a stated to he had about in medicinely lasked him; I had urere seen him before.—The Lord Mayor convicted the prisoners as a common pillerer, being found at large without any visible means of obtaining his livelihood, and sentebeed him to be imprisoned to hard labour in the House of Correction for two months, and during the time to be whipped. Bow-Straar.—On Wednesday, Mr. R.—B.—, well known in the sporting circles, appeared to put in bail to answer to an indictment, which had been found against him and Frederick Old-field (under the statute prolibiting gaming for noney above a certain amount). For having won at one time a sum exceeding IN. Indicate the state of the presen in the penalty of M. and 10t. costs.

LAM STR-STREET:—Thursday, Israel Alexander, driver of Mr. Moss's dishop Stortford Stage Coach, appeared to an information at the sait of George Markin, wherein he was charged with driving his employer's coach at a turious rate, so as to endanger the lives -The Magistrate convicted the defendant of his Majesty's enhicely.

MARLEUROUGH-FERRET:—Monday, the driver of a backney-coach was charged by the Hou-George Hervey, son of the Earl of Bristol.

Mr. Hervey stated, that on Wednesday night, as he was returning home in his cabriolat, flow Draw, land Theatre, in Regent-street, his cabriolet was middenly stopped by the prisoner's hack-

Mr. Hervey stated, that en Wednesday night, as he was refurning home in his cabriolet, flow Design law of the cabriolet, flow as the flower of the first cabriolet was suddenly stopped by the prisoner's hackney-coach, which scemed to have been placed across the road, for the purpose of obstructing the passage of the street. The sole of the trackney-coach violently struck the side of the cabriolet, and the footnan jumped off fo remonstrate with the coachman as the postion he occapied. The latter refused to stir, alleging that Mr. Hervey's coach was on the wrong side of the way, abused the footnam in gross language, and ho was hustled by againg of fellow's forman in gross language, and ho was hustled by againg of fellow's forman in gross language, and ho was hustled by againg of fellow's forman, in defence, insisted that Mr. Hervey's carriage was on the wrong side of the road, and that he was justified in maintaining his position. He disclaimed all knowledge of, or participation is, the the acts of the bye-standers. The Magistrate scatteneed him; to pay a fine of 20s. and costs for obstructing the public way. The coachman paid the fine, and was discharged.

MARY-LE-BORK OFFICE,—There are nine persons in custody, charged with a burglary, at Mr. Orde's, in Berkeley-square. The house was left in the charge of a female, who had a suitor, a man of the name of Jago, a principal in the robbery. He was before known to the Police; to carry his plans into execution he married the servant in care of the house, and introduced the other prisoners are various times, five of whom are youths, and the others females. Part of the stolen property is traced to the shops of pawnbrokers and others, and unany of the prisoners are identified. The proporty lost amounts in value to several hundred pounds.—The prisoners were remanded for another examination.

Worship-Trager.—On Wednesday, eight fellows, forming part of a most formidable gang of pickpockers, were charged with committing robberies, attended with great violence, at the configu

Correction for three months; Haswell, Letter, and Showell were permitted to find good bail; and Castles was discharged.

Reconder's Report.—On Monday the Recorder made his report to His Majesty in council, of the prisoners who were capitally convicted at the October Sessions, when the following were ordered for execution on Tuesday, the 27th instant:—Ann Norris, and Amey Steele, for robberies in dwelling-houses; Samuel Hayward, for a burglary at Somers-town; Joseph South, for uttering a forged 101. note, and John Jacobs, for a highway robber at Whitechagel.

Executions.—On Wednesday morning, the eight following malefactors were executed at the Old Bailey:—Josiah Cadunan, for attering forged 51. notes; Edmund Sparrow, for uttering forged 51. notes; Edmund Sparrow, for uttering forged 51. notes; Thomas Tapley, for a similar crime; George Ellis, for masing a forged ten pound note, and others to a large amount. This unfortunate young man belongs, we understand, to a respectable family; W. Garton, for stealing in a dwelling-house in Regent-street. Vincent-square; George Smith, for a highway robbery. William Harding, for stealing in a dwelling-house in Regent-street. Vincent-square; George Smith, for a highway robbery. William Harding, for stealing in a dwelling-house in persuasion and two friends. At half-past eight o'clock, the platform fell, and the unfortunate sufferers were no more.—The eight unlumpay men, with the exception of the Jew, were attended in their last moments by the Ordinsry, and by Mr. Baker.—Cadman, when the fatal rope had been placed round his neck, addressed the spectators in a firm, deliberate, and unfaultering manner, nearly as fullows:—"My friends and fellow Countrymen—it is with the agontized feelings of a luishand, who has braught his wife into the same disgraps with himself, that I now add. css you. I have drawn down upon myself the sentence of the law—to that I now salamist. Let it be told to my King; to my Sovereign, that I revers him in the sistantion of a King; and ardently do I hope, the world that 2 die in peace with all men. I feel mulnosity to-none. I love my wife—I love my King—I love my country—I love my God."

The astonishing difference between the present prices of the best London printed Chints Furnitures, Moreens, Merino Dannseks, &c. and the same description of Goods produced in former years, is beyond all conception. No old Establishment can possibly afford to seel a Stock which has been great secundating, within at least 30 per cent. of Mites and Edwards's immense Assertment, every piece of which has been manufactured within the last few menths. The new ... in dishlomable article of French Stripes, in crysy shade of colouring, can only be procured at their New Chintz Parniture and Moreen Warcheuse, No. 134, Oxford-street, nearly opposite Hanover.square.

Adverticement.]—The Country versus London.—The second Number of "The Country Constitutional Guardian, and Literary Magazine," published at Bristol by J. M. Gutch, will be received in town by P. C. and. J. Birlington, on Saturday the ist Decamber, and to be by them supplied to the Trade and the Public on Start day. Amongst a variety of subjects, the Second Number will contain "A Reply to Cato, on the Constitutional Association—An Ode on the English Return—A Continuation of the Ace of George the Third; subject, The Sucression; The British Martial—A few Hints to young Mr. Lamb's an Observation on the Acricultural Report," &c. &c.—The First Number will shortly be repristed, price 2s.

Adverticement.]—If the reader is afficied with Fistula, or similar diseases, we svould sak, has be ever hoard of the last Martin Van Butchel; who used to treat these completies in a way peculiar to himself, and to effect sure asinostuniversality without having recourse to either Cutting, Caustic Confirment, which is it is usual practice. We find his son, D. D. Van Butchell, surgeon, acconcibett, who reades at No. 49, South-atreet, Berkeley-square, continues to performent in a way peculiar to himself, and to effect with the produce and the near the surf

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We will next week search for an answer to Honestus.
We think of reserving G. G.'s communication till Parliament
meets, when it may be wanted.
Mm. Colbumne's letter in the Chronicle of yesterday, might seem to deny that the paragragh which appeared is John Bull about Ladd Mobuan was paid for; we must therefore beg to repeat, that nothing but the consideration of one pound would have secured her Ladyship a place in this Paper, even among Simped Furniture and Chrising Phisis, in whose society, after all, the flourished in our coligious.

We thank Baistolin.

Ne thank Bristolis.

1. B. is too diffuse for a subject so sparkling.

Shigle Z. has been received.

Dugit pin liket same uppith—188.—

We do not quarret with Cavendo Tutus, but he must allow the joke was a good one.

Ton Pipen Pipes may be assured that Lambton dare do no such thing—woe be to the Yellow Boy, if he does.

A. G. S. will see we have storted some enquiries.

Tweren, Oliver Holdpart, Pro Patria, Trute, the Fraquentia of Covent Garden Theatre, X. Y., Crito, True Blus, and Reflector, have been received.

The subject J. H. G. B. witness to, is too delicate to be touched spin yet, at all events.

We are obliged to our friend J. B.

Ceersitar shall be attended to.

Alles in our next.

MILES in our next.

Mr. Bridle's second letter came too late for insertion.

Muny other communications have been received, but from our peculiur situation this week we are unable to reply to them in detail; and we trust that any other omissions which may strike the readers of this Number will, upon the same ground, be treated with indul-

TO SOLICITORS, STUDENTS. MERCHANTS, TRADESMEN, and OTHERS.—Just published for 1822, on fine large post 500, price sewed

OTHERS.—Just published for 1822, on five large post five. Prios sewed, Js. half bound, 4s.

THIOMAS'S DAILY REGISTER; or, LAW REMEMBRANCER for 1892; containing a large space for Memorandama or Appointments, Bills, payable or receivable; Lists of Stamp Datice; Soliciters' Tables of Terms and Returns; Public Holidays; Law and other Publis Officers, and other useful matter.

Published and sold by R. Thomas, 203, Pleet-street, thase deexs from Temple Bar; and may be had at all Stationers and Booknellers.

Also may be had as above, Thomas's Publican's Journal; and Pamily, Gentlemen's, and Ladics' Washing Books.

Lately published, 8ve. price 8s. in boards.

Lately published, 8ve. price 8s. in boards.

N INQUIRY into CERTAIN ERRORS relative to INSANITY, shewing the Proportion of Issene Persons sured, and the Probaillities of Recovery. With REMARKS on the alleged increase and prevalence of Menial Derangement; on the influence of the Locality and Recnomy of Lunait. Asylums; on their results; on the Condition of the Epileptic, Fatuous, and Idiotic in England; ou Religion, as a cause, or an effect, of Insanty, &c. &c. By GEORGE MAN BURROWS, M.B. F.L.S., &c.
Sold by T. and G. Underwood, 32, Fleet-street.

New MONTHLY MAGAZINE, for Nov. 1, contains, besides the usual varieties, the following Original papera.

1. The Continuation of Mr. Campbell's Lectures on Postry.—II. On the History of the Middle Ages, by M. Slamond!.—III. Orecec.—IV. Gymnastics of the Studions.—V. Sunday in Paris.—VI. Modern Pigrimages—Auburn.—VII. On Hats.—VII. Grimm's Ghost.—IX. The Srat Spring.—The Cat Painter.—XI. On Persian and Arabic Literature, No. I.—XII. The Raid of Cille-Christ.—XIII. The Triton of the Minnows.—XIV. Letters from Spain.—XV. Fennel Gowardise—XVI. Jonathan Karturky's Journal. No. VI.—XVII. The Littery.—XVIII. Coversation—XIX. Lines addressed to Ugu Foscolo.—XX. Cain on the Sea Shore.—XXI. Diege for Mungo Park.—XXII. On the Novels of La Payette.—XXIII. Pariting.—XXIV. German Literature; the Mines of the Kast.—XXV. Stanzas, Sonnet, &c.

Printed for Heary Colinars and Co. Conduit-stroet,

Printed for Heary Colharm and Co. Conduit.-street.

Printed for Heary Colharm and Co. Conduit.-street.

Lately published, in / vols. Wo. price 31. 12a. 6d. beards.

T.A.L.Y. By LADY MORGAN, Author of "France," This is a book-that will largely occupy public attention. It is by farther most important work which its author-has as yet undertaken. It is not a classical tour, nor a pictureaque teur; but it contains a rich harvest of "middle age" anecdote, abo inding with such traits of the domestic, acciai, and political life of the great Republica of Italy, as cannot fall of exciting an intense interest. The gravity and smassiveness of the subject have not however, prevented the author from indulging largely is, these humourous and striking details of real life, which form the charm of her more recent novels. Her views of society have been more intimate than those of any other recent traveller. Her literary reputation has operied wide the door of continental hospitality to her; and this streum-stance has given the same cort of interest and originality to her narration which made the reputation of her work on France, and distinguishes if from all other books on that country."—Dublin Wackly Register.

Printed for Henry Colbarn, and Co. Condait-street; Bell and Bradfute Edinburgh; and Jehn Cumming. Dublin.

Just published, price 7a. 6d.

Edinburgh; and Jehn Cummine, Dublin.

Just published, price 7s. 6d.

PRACTICAL ECONOMY; or, The Application of Modern Dishoveries to the purpose of Desnestic Life.

"This Work will be found equally suspfut to those who are wise enough to enter into the practice of the rules which it lays down, and entertaining to others, who may merely wish to annues themselves with its theories. It cuntains a sariety of new and useful information, calculated at once to increase our comforts, and diminish our expenses."—New Montrale Mac.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Conduit street.

MR. JOHN SCOTTS FOSTHUMOUS WORK.

Just published, in Svo. price 1s. boards, the Second Edition of KETCHES of MANNERN, SCENERY, &c. in the FRENCH PROVINCES; with an Essay on French Literature. By the late 10HN SCOTT, Ess., Author of the "Visit to Paris," &c.

Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, London; of whym may be had, by the same Author.

2. A VISIT to PARIS in 1816; Fourth Edition, 8vo. 12s. boards.

Just published.

all Booksellers.

Just published, in Svo. price 12s. in beards dedicated, by permission, to His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

BRIEF DISPLAY of the ORIGIN and HISTORY of ORDBALB; Trials by Battle; Courts of Chivalry or Honour; and the Decision of Private Quarrels by Single Countat; also, a Chronological Register of the Principal Duchs fought from the Accession of his late Majesty to the present time.—By JAMBS P. GHAHRIST.

Princed for the Author, by W. Bulmer and W. Nicol, Cleveland-row, St. James's; and rold by W. Sams, Bookseller to H. R. H. the Duke of York, St. James's street.

CARIDS of Terms of a respectable CLASSICAL BOARDING SCHOOL for YOUNG GENTHERES, in the Neighbourhood of Camden Hill, Kerslington, may be had at Messrs. T. and G. Underwood, Booksellers, 32, Pleet-street, and at Mr. Halles's Museum, Piccadilly.

PRICE OF STOCKS AT THE CLOSE, SATURDAY.

Our report of the operations in the Funds is altogether uninteresting; prices have been stationary, almost without precedent. Corsols for the account terminating on Wednesday next, have continued at 7%, and for January, 781, at which there have alternately been huyers and sellers. The Five Per Cent. Navy Annuities have declined to 1101 i.

Owing in a great measure to the new strival of the Mails, very little business has been transacted in Foreign Securities, and the value is unvaried, except Columbian Bonds, which have risen from 48 to 50.

5 per Ct. Cen. 23 Sept. . . 89-95 Bahk 5hi Div. 1 July . 1585. Rec m. Div. 28 Sept. . . . 89-80 Ex. Lond. 1mo. 2:-50 7mio. 25-30

THE GRAND HISTORICAL PRINT, representing the PRO-CESSION from WESTMINSTER HALL to the ABBEY, thewing LEBSION from WESTMINSTER HALL to the ASBET, shawing the appearance of the surrounding limidings, &c. on the 19th of July, 1821, the day of the Coronation of this Most Gracious Majeaty Ring George the Pourth, is now ready for delivery at the Publishers, G. Humphey, No. 37. St. James's street, London. Prize tl. 1s. beautifully coloured, aise of the Print le 44 inches by 9 ditto.

ROWE and WALLER, Stationers, beg leave to acquaint the Dublic, that the ALMANACKS, COURT KALENDARS, with every Annual Publication for the next Year, are ready, and may be Lad at streir Housein great variety. Paper, Rationery and Account Books at Wholesale Prices.

No. 49, Frest-street.

JOHN BULL.

LONDON; NOVEMBER 25.

WE have to announce to our readers that the sentence of the Court of King's Bench was yesterday past upon Mr. WEAVER the present, and MESSES. SHACKELL and AR-ROWSMITH, the late proprietors of this paper, for having inserted a libel upon the late LADY WROTTESLEY, the daughter of the EARL of TANKERVILLE, the wife of SIR JOHN WROTTESLEY, and the sister of the HON. HENRY GREY BENNETT, the present member for Shrewsbury.

We had intended to-day to have laid before our friends some observations upon the case, our own ignorance of the Lady's death, our anxious and immediate suppression of the words charged as libelious, and some remarks upon the sentence itself. As it may be supposed our minds are not in a fit state to discuss (as calmly as it should be discussed) such a question—a question so vitally important to our interest, we therefore have determined to let the week pass over, and defer till next Sunday that which we may have to offer to the public.

Philosophers tell us, that there is a satisfaction in all ills, and that good grows out of evil-fur as we are and ever shall be from complaining of injustice from such courts and such judges as ours in ENGLAND, we must hope, that the charge made against us of being hirelings or tools of the Government, (which we have always repelled with disdain,) will at least be done away with, by the sentence the three parties implicated have just received :- an imprisonment of NINE MONTHS each, and a fine to the amount of 1100 POUNDE, are no marks of Court favour; but we have promised ourselves and our readers to postpone our reflections upon this matter till next week, quite sure that the support our INDEPENDENT and UN-BOUGHT efforts in the cause of the King and Constitu-TION have hitherto met with will not fail us now, and that, though we pledge ourselves not to go braying also to pay our fines, the friends of LOVALTY and GOOD BROER will continue that encouragement which they have hitherto so decidedly given us, during the privation and confinement which one tine, written in a moment of zeal, has justly (we have no doubt) brought upon us.

THAT stendy going humilable paper, the TIMES, in which were published the speephantic letters of Vertus about LORD WELLESLEY, some years since, has, in its about LORD WELLESLEY, some years since, has, in its columns of Wednesday, a pretty sharp stap at his Lordship; while on the other hand, in opposition to their sickening flummery about WILSON now, we have the following paragraph in the same paper respecting him, which appeared in the year 1816:—

lowing paragraph in the same paper respecting him, which appeared in the year 1816:—

"Of the affair of Sin Remar Wilson, Bauer, and Tengenting, we have been extremely cautious of speaking, from a respect for some of the parties, and likewise from a general wellog of bamanity towards men who were suffering, however, alignity, the ponalties of the law. There is, in truth, only one of them whose political consequence renders him deserving of notice; and his friends, unluckily, will force his name upon public attention. They are, says a morning paper of yesterday, happing arrived in England, after their long and pandul generalized. Whigher this is really meant to make Sin Romer Wilson and his friends look ridiculous or not, we cannot tell; but we are sure it can do them no good. Three months' imprisonment a long and painful persecution of men who had rescued ito. purhishment a criminal that had done all he could (and that all not a little) to oversthrow the Government of his country! No one questions, however we and others may pallighe the conduct of the three persons is question by the plea of humanity, that they acted very wrong—that they did that which they had no business to do. What I'vit may be said, had they no business to be humane? Ohyes; as shuch their said, had they no business to be humane? Ohyes; as shuch their and he had no business to do. What I'vit may be said, had they no business to be humane? What leave no right to make that plea of humanity a motive for violating the laws of any sountry wherein they may reside: or if they do, they have no right to complain of sustaining the penalties of those laws.

"But if Sin R. Wilson and his associates had a right to be immore that they are the world have been convended, they were rentered to the least possible grandwhen convicted, they were rentered to the least possible grandwhen convicted, they were rentered to the least possible grandwhen the convention of persecutions? What should they have had even the very slightest award of the old law set aside for

On FRIDAY the TIMES advocates the CHURCH, and makes a quotation from BISHOP WATSON-" to shew (as "they themselves may) that they are na enemies to that esta-blishment, although some," they add, "(but more espe-"cially one rancorous erroping requiression,) have cuden-"voured to represent them." This is hard language, and not elegant, but it evidently alfudes to the Monning CHRONICLE, and though strungly put, is certainly not more than that paper deserves.

There is in another part of the article in question, are allusion to "the day of trouble; when the nobility and their families will "need support, and when consequently ploded, but we and it still launting the publication ploided, but we and it were mannering two perfect out madern ing house agains. We shall shortly lay before out madern the opinion the TIMES newspaper has most liberally unequivocally expressed upon such subjects you and

No man of feeling can contemplate the hopester capital punishments in this country, without seem and regret; and no man, we should think, would be so micel ing as to recur to the part conduct of those who have paid the last great forfeit of the law; but the tone recently adopted by the Hadicals upon this subject, galls for a words.

We have had occasion before, to remark the sensitiveness of the Radicals, upon the subject of hanging, ULIDASLAUS JESKILO, did not more dread the smell of apples, nor JACOBUS FOROLIVIENSIS, look with greater suspicion upon garlick, than these men, when they talk in fear and apprehension of the gallows: it is always upper. most in their thoughts; and, as the TIMES is the leader of the faction, we find the "danger of the subject," perpetually treated of. HIS MAJESTY could not go to HANOYEE but they were all of a fume, lest the Lords Justices should hang somebody; who it was, for whom they particularly trembled, we never exactly made out; and, in short, wherever they can, they express a very strung feeling upon the subject.

But latterly, a new use has been made of their persons fears, or rather, they have taken a new line whereon to rexpress them. They have a double object in their remarks upon executions, and with a sucaking false shew of pity arraign, not the justice of the law, but the humanity of the SOVERRIGN.

The TIMES newspaper gives two accounts of the care tion of CADMAN on Wednesday, for uttering forged note. and a long article of its own upon the subject, to which we must call the notice of our readers.

After describing the noble and heroic manner the unfortunate person was ridded of his irons, the Time ・コウェックの力で発展を

"When Carman appeared upon the platform, these was which are yet must be seen of mander?" in the crowd. The vast multitude ground along and frequently cried out, 'Shame, shame, no mercy; God by the seen of the

This, if true-which is PALSE-means what !- WES ly need not answer the question.

With respect to the cries of " murder," and " God bles" you," they were used by one or two of the mob when BEL-LINGHAM was hanged, for that murder about which the CHRONICLE made droll verses, and were even heard when that martyr to the CAUSE, MR. THISTLEWOOD, surred. dered his brave spirit in the same place. To be sure, with men of such politics as those the TIMES professes, this learning men of such politics as those the TIMES professes, this legnot wonderful. But, knowing the TIMES as well as we doed we would ask them, if they cared one straw about bin, if they cared one straw about bin, with him as their old Pay-mistress CABOLINE of direction putable memory did with SARAH PRICE—lng him for a want to prove, if possible, a want of mercy in the heart of our Sovenneger—in a heart full of tenderness, grace, and funding a To be anywithen did, and to forward this sense.

patable memory did with SARAH PRICE—Ing him for our Sovemess. in a heart full of tenderness, grace, and feeling? To be sure they did; and to forward, this great end, they go out of their way to illustrate the Newring of end, they go out of their way to illustrate the Newring (allowed). Another of the sufferers, Cadman, sustained, while their severelent character. His talents were considerable. He had served and been severely wounded in the service of his country, and was weduced to the commission of ordine by the pressure of distress, arising from the want of employment. When he so sumitted the crime for which he has suffered, his wile lay dangerously ill, and be had not the means of procuring for her the common necessaries of life. He conducted himself, after the order for execution had arrived with becoming firmness; and he would hence been prefetly resigned, had not his reflections been embittered by the proculetim that he was about to suffer the soverest sentence of the law, this wan known of the north interest of the law of the north have borne his doon with tranquility. In it not strenge that the prity which has hitherto been extended to the sufferest of instance, from one so young, previously so respectable, argent and seduced by circumstances so peculiar, and so unpractised in trous actions of this nature, and after a learned Judge had declared that the recommendation of his case for mercy by the Jury should receive consideration. But these are a few only of the anomalies arising from penalties of excessive severity. It is, indeed, snacounstable that enactments so sanguinary in their character should continue to be vigornasly entirered, when they have been bound to fall in their intended effect, when it is evident that crime is increasing under them, and when their execution is revolting to the best feelings and interests of the community. The public opinion on the inhumanity, inefficacy, and inapolicy of capital punishments, has been decidedly expressed during the last session of Parliament by the nume private his station, can forcese the extent of the benefits which he individual exertions may produce. Let no one delude himself with the impression that others are engaged in that course which his own feelings dictate to be his duty, lest he should find, too late, that human life has been sacrificed through his surmanus and indifference!!"

What the inference intended to be drawn from all this is there can he little doubt—what the particular mode in which "every one is to exert himself" to save the there. and other convicts ordered for execution next Tuesday. we are at a loss to understand; the caution against timidity looks strange, and the rousing "call to action somewhat less cautions than the Out Times generally is a rousing. The whole of the story, however, is not yet told dainy of our readers who do not sen the Tears, and we believe and trust There are thousands of them who never do see it, will perhaps be drawn away by the falseholds contained in the paragraph we have quoted, to feel that more which the paragraph we have quoted, to real that more which the treat object of the whole attack, to person so Rut "they and their consections can only import weakness to I where might have been shown by the illustrious persons any body to whom they belong."

We really had thought that this cant was utterly ex- bet perfected and young in crime as Man Candah. But on the soldewing day, the wares likely successful in the sound of its little reputation, consents to admit the following extence from an Evening paper, with a little-agentation of its own: 🚓

IT IS NOT THUE, as generally supposed (from a statement that meaned in a morning saper) that Cadman had only twice utter-depend on the life had for a considerable period been engaged in only in the unlaught pursuit, and she (under an assumed life selling the foreign molecute the utterers, who paid them is. The selling the foreign molecute the utterers, who paid them in the life selling the foreign foreign foreign in the first insigned, that caused the life is a life in the first insigned, that caused the life is a collection of The statement was sent to the Times by a most respectable solilight, who certainly believed what he arms to the respectable solilight, who certainly believed what he stated chor, who certainly believed what he stated.

The statement was sent to it into it into the stated.

As for the respectable solicitor who sent the account to the Times, we think he would be found with some difficulty; and as to the readiness with which the Times takes upon itself to vouch for what they "are sure he believed," we think it highly meriforious. The truth we really think is, that the Times lugged forward Mr. Cadman, as an object for mercy, because they knew, mercy could not, in justice, have been extended the precisely (as we said health) upon the same principle as the Queen interceded for the old offender, PRICE: but, if they have been foolishing in believe an attorney, and were really innocent of knowing any thing about Cadman of themselves, then they deserve to be handed over to the care of their own friend, who dined with Dr. Automarchi, in Paris, while he was living in Leleoster-aquare; or to the Morning Chronicle, who reduced the Countess of Laurender to ashes without any ceremony. LAUDERDALE to ashes without any ceremony estimated, however, with simply contradicting them-selves on Friday, the OLD TIMES renews the subject yesdelday; and having exposed their ignerance with respect to shew up their entire ignorance of his partner in crime and punishment, ELLIS; upon this person they put forth an eulogium of the most flourishing nature, talked of his genius, his parentage, &c. when lo and behold, out comes a communication from some person who was at school with tim, shewing that he was a dunce, dissolutely and viciously

Tim, shewing that he was a dunce, distorticily and viciously inclined, and to crown all, that his name was not Ellis ! and this appears in yesterday's TIMES.

After all this detection, the TIMES thinks it necessary to make out a kind of article upon the subject, and beaten, defeated, and skewn up in its efforts, to impress its readers with the obdurate hard-heartedness of the Monarch, it is a short round upon the dead victims of the law, and of the law, and of the law, to fire out to while it shought it would be accept the law. CAPMAN its favourite (while it thought it would answer sairy piurpose in the cause) it declares, that—"they believe all the tales they have since heard about him," and, lost have no hesitation in saying, that he was a MURIDERER but of the most atrocious and deliberate kind, and that the bit of the most atrocious and deliberate kind, and that the facts of his case, (of that case which eight and forty hours before, they declared to be one of particular interest and hardship) if really known, will be found to strengthen the hardship of the abolition of capital punishments rather and identifies friends."

Min: Carman? where are the grouns of the vast multitude; the cries of minder? they are gone the same way as the strength, respectability, virtue, and ingennity of the object of sections; they have remained but in "HE TIMES; and really we have my that of all the exposures that Paper has subjected in the say, that of all the exposures that Paper has subjected plants say, that of all the exposures that Paper has subjected blatsoult to, this last is perhaps the most striking and the most striking and the most striking and the most striking and then bullying Munisters upon his own wrong data, has (however winner) mere folly in it than knavery; but to puff off the lives and characters of two hurdened offenders against the zan law, (of whom it is evident they knew nothing), merely for the sake of creating an interest in their favour, and casting political and convincing an interest in their lawout, and casting with stigms by a quarter whence it was impossible, from the patter of their crimes, they could expect mercy, is a mark of a system of political attocity, the existence of which, or even in the Out Times Newspaper itself, nothing but its tielder and convincing detection could have led us to have continuous. believed.

POLICE.

enorities of the Manday's Times appeared an elaborate detail of an Profile In Monday's Times appeared an elaborate detail of an engagement committed by the coachman of LORD GLENGALL, and if Coverit Carden Theatre, accompanied by a recapitulation of cheinnstances of rather an extraordinary nature, and which, knowing LORD GLENGALL, we confess, survive prized as. On Tuesday, we find the following letter from 18th Londship in the Times newspaper:—

Ais Lordship in the Times newspaper:

Life 300 TO THE BOTTOR OF THE TIMES.

And all partial TO THE BOTTOR OF THE TIMES.

And all partial TO THE BOTTOR OF THE TIMES.

All partial Transports is your paper of this morning, a paragraph in the system of the same to my coachman the sound of the same to my coachman the same time of the same time and such directions, nor did I write to the sitting Magistrate Magistrate Magistrate Magistrate Magistrate Magistrate Magistrate Magistrate Magis

Tion 18xt Tunsday, We wibimit tentaga e 11.

HUMBUG.

tailuniffe is quite entraordinary that men supposed to be conversant with the kistory of their country, and who ought, version with the flatory of their country, and was ought, public as public journalists, to be able to apply the revisionless of their knowledge to the benefit of the existing we openeration should appear to be utterly blind to the danger-mos applications which are growing up and becoming recognized and prolifie; at they accumulate the means of rangegression against four enablished institutions, in Chaptil, we count State. Who would believe that fourse a squared for a little processing country of the state o projected of their knowledge to the benefit of the existing present persent persent date:

- consideration should appear to be uttenly blind to the danger of the danger of their with other special papers, to Lord Warwick's core, for Chive, my grand-daughter, when I am no more. Not to present and profile; as they accumulate the means of the king's denies.

- The Princess of their knowledge to the benefit of the capacity of the king's denies.

- The Princess of the British until not desert her in her present persent persen oe so blind as to submit to tus problems (we have no doubt well paid for) pair pompous title of "Behridos and Monasite Amond THE SOLDIERS?"

"RELIGIOUS AND MORALITY AMONGER THE SOLDIGME.—SAMITERY EVENING, A VETY NUMBER AND MORALITY AMONGER THE SOLDIGME.—SAMITERY EVENING, A VETY NUMBER AND HIGHER THE CHARLES OF TREETING A FRIENDS, to take into consideration the best means of raising a Friendly Society and Hothel Union, for the purpose of promoting Religion and Abrality anionists Soldiers. The Rev. Mr. Serra, of Pennance, took the Chair, and was supported by several respectable and eminent individuals. The most conspicuous feature of the meéting was that of two of the Life Guards Being present, whig delighted spiaches of a very interesting description, in support of the measures should be adopted to raise an institution for the purpose remained, and which met with great applause. Several other persons delivered their sentiments, and various resolutions were framed. The meeting lasted till a late hour, when the assemblings contributed towards the object for which they had met, and departed."

The Beav. Mr. Sentru is a very gouvenient personage—

The Bay Maching is a very gouvenient personage and whether became from Pennage, or from John o' - I reat's house, is a matter of very little importance, as he may be found in any intervening city, bordagh, village or hander, by dozens—we mean his name—and that is all that was wanted upon the above occasion. We have no pleasure, our readers may rest assured, in bringing furward men to our reatters may rest assured, in surpring as water men to public notice in new characters, or fa stripping these who have long worn borrowed plumes of their usurped qualifications; but it is equally our pledge, and our duty to speak truth in the hour of danger, and to put our Countryism on their geard against the wilds and antidious of ambitious and mischlessous Agitators. Our opinious of Max. WILDHRUDGE we have reluciantly been compoled to give to the world—and the single anexdote (if, no other existed) of his having procured Mr. Overton the York living, is sufficient to stamp his character for every it. conclusive—it is a volume!

This Hethel Goat Tavera Meeting is another engin either of this person, or of his numerous dependants and allies, who have risen into notice by taveru conventicles, and by eulogizing each other in every town where they borrow or hire a room for their purpose; their object is Church schism, and this they have effected to a lamentable extent; by following implicitly, slavishly, and to the letter, the old:Puritank. They, like thom, have told the people, as LOHD GRRY, and other amiable reformers of the State, in their vocation, are in the constant habit of doing, that Churchmen in general are dumb dogs, and themselves the exclusive recipients of Divine grace. We have only to read and compare the writings of these dissenters within the Church, with those of these models during the laster period of Excess assets, when they were creeping into their designs, to perceive at once what is their ultimate object. They are too subtile in their generation to allow us for a moment to suppose this extraordinary coincidence is accidental; and they are too zealous and active in the adaptation of their worldly policy; and the acts of political chicamery, to admit a doubt of their insention to play the whele game. The Bible Societies have established their influence from one end of the country to the other. The command of money, raised under the form of contributions to this seeiningly philanthropic and, abstractedly, merkorious design, when united with the Charch for the perpase professed, has given them the roumend of the press; and the liberty of couscience, like the legitimate rights of men, is perverted into a means of overflirowing our establishments, rivil, political, and eacles astical.

Our attention has been drawn to this subject with re-newed apprehension, by this open attempt (for it has long been carried on by intrigue, and private modes of conver-sion) to draw the soldiery into their shares. If Government continue blind or inntientive to these proceedings, a very few years will put it out of the power of any Govern-ment to check them.

We need not recur to our munch for proofs in aid of this We need not recurs to our annual for proofs in and of this assertion. A praying army, and a synod of military saints, are not new things in our history. Hume tells us, in openking of the atrocious acts and sanguinary dispositions of the Roondheads in general, that— The army itself was infected with like humours. Everard, a disbanded soldier, having perached that the time was now come, when the community of goods would be renewed among the land; and being carried before his General, he refused to industry, he refused to be inductive.

salute him, because he was but his fellow creature."

Look at this, ye rulers of the land, and if the thing be suffered to go on, at least, condescend to let us know how the consequences which formerly ensued, are to be averted from our still happy and prosperous country; or whether these who are in the opposite extreme of licentious insubordination to all civil authority, and prepared to set the forch to our holiest institutions, are to be looked to as auxiliaries our notiest institutions, are to be noticed to as auximates against the encroachments of spiritual pride and intolerance?—Politics, as well as misery, brings a man acquinted with strange bed-follows. Mr. Wilberforch is proud to cult the Honourable Gentleman (Hebry Brougham!!!) his friend! and any other honourable gentleman, no doubt, who, without any very great zeal in the cause of divine truth, may find it convenient to court popularity in a School Committee, or exhibit his powers of oratory on the arena of a Bible Society Meeting.

MRS. SERRES.

THIS great buly, like the American steam frigates, is armed at all points, and now first she is even cast off by Mr. Double-Ex-SMERIFF PARKINS, as far as her claims to the dignity of our Royal Family go, out she comes with some more documentary ovidence, to shew that she is a Polish Princess ! | 1

Her. Husen Bes has put forth a state paper upon this subject, of which the full tuning is a copy:—

"The Princes of Camberland, anyious to satisfy the public as to the instice of her claims, gives the underwritten copy of one of her grandfather's letters, which she pledes the honour has only been seen by four or five individuals. Having experienced a sewere illness, she traits that the British nation with not desert her in her lemnly attest, that you are the hast of that affects the Almighty guide you to all your distinctions of birth been a life of trial, but not of crime."

"Jen; 1791."
This document possesses the same peculialty which marks all her important papers—all the parties mentioned are dead, and, like her other histories, the point of this one is to be kept secret till they are so. J. W.'s advice is not to be seen till he is "no more," nor acted upon "fill the King's demise." LORD WARWICK, the KING of POLAND, the Princess, and old Johnny Wilmor, himself are all gone now, and here, therrfore, we have a claim to the Polish dignity exhibited, equally absurd and contemptible with that made to English rank.

We have no patience with this HUMBUG. The BRITISH nation would be fallen indeed, if it were to be moved by the persecutions of a posson whose only enemics are her lawful creditors, and whose only sufferings have been brought upon her by a wanton incurment of debts which she knew she had no means to defray. Government (who, we must say, soom eccasionally to slumber, even when their best interests call loudly upon them to act) should put a stop to this poor creature's nonsense; by the reiteration of her absurdities we shall, by and bye, have some fools believe that she really is something more than that, which we knows she ix.

TO JOHN BULL.

Sin,—I send you a second specimen of my intended "Editio Expurgate," of MR. THOMAS MOORE'S inimitable byries. You will perceive that I have carefully expunged all the indecency of the original; and that inch affording a poctical licence to my young female friends for going undrest. I have deduced examples, from amongst the great and illustrious patriots of the country, of ingenuity and industry employed by them for the acquisition of rick as well-as well

> LESBIA HATH A BEAMING EYE. ... Art - Nora Creina.

LEBERA both a beaming eye,

But no one knows for whom it beameth,
Right and left its arrows fly,
But what they aim at no one dreameth!
Bweeter 'tis to gaze upon
My Nora's lid, that seldom rises;
Few its looks, but every one
Like unexpected light surprises!
Oh! my Nora Creixa, dear!
My gentle, bashful Nora Creixa!
Beauty lies
In many eyes,
But love in your's, my Nora Creixa!
LEBERA wears a fole of gold.

But love hi your's, my Nobe Chrina!

Lebria wears a fole of gold;

But all so close the nymph hath lac'd it;

Not a charm of beauty's mould

Presumes to stay where nature plac'd it!

Oh! my Nobe's gown for me,

That floats as wild as numerican breezes,
Leaving every beauty free

To-sink or swell; as Heaven pleases!

Yes, my Noba Carina, dear!

My simple, graceful Noba Carina!

Nature's dress

Is loveliness

The dress you wear, my Noba Creina!

LESBIA hath a wit refin'd,

LEBNIA hath a wit refin'd,

But, when its points are gleaming round us,
Who can tell if they 're design'd
To dazzle merely, or to wound us?

Ripow'd on my Nora'm heart,
In snfer slumber love reposes;
Bed of peace! whose roughest part
Is but the crumpling of the roses!
Oh! my Nora Carina, dear!
My mild, my artiess Nora Carina!
Wit, the' bright
Hath not the Hight
That warms your eyes, my Nora Carina!

PARODY

TUNE-CRONY CREEVY.

Ma. George Trenney sings.

BLESSINGTON liath a beaming eye But no one knows for whom it beameth: Right and left it seems to fly, But what it looks at, no one dreameth; Sweeter 'tis to look upon CREEVY-though he seldom rises;

Few his truths-but even one, Like unexpected light surprises. Oh, my crony Cazzvy, dear, My gentle, bashful, graceful Cazzvy, Others' lies

May wake surprise, But truth, from you, my crony CREEVY.

Ensuing wore a mbe of gold But ah-loo loosely he had lac'd it, Not u rug retnins its hold, On the back where Grizzle' plac'd it. But oh! VANSITTART'S gown for me! That closer sticks, for all our breezes; Were it mine—then whiggery Might sink or swim, as heaven pleases. My simple, gentle, crony CREEVY, Office dress,

Is gilded lace,

A dress you'll never wear, my CREEVY. Hornousz bath a wit refin'd. But when its points are gleaming round us, Who can tell, if they're design'd, To dazzi s merely, or confound us. On the Treasury Bench, at ease, LONDONDERRY still reposes; Bed of peace !- Whose roughest place, Is still, my CREE-a bed of roses.

Oh |-my cromy Carry, dear-My hungry, craving, crony CREEVY! While on roses

He reposes,

What's the use of counting nones ! CREE CREE CREEVY. (Affettuisso) P. P. RANG GREV, We presume. - EDITOR.

THEATRE.

We have little to notice in this department this week, we have fittle to notice in this department this week, except the comicality of Kran's Hamler, on Friday, which was really too good to be boshe. To enter into eriticism upon it would indeed be wain; it was however, fully worthy of the OPHELIA of the night, which, in Main's Krilly's hands, was most unhappily marred. We not only never saw OPMELIA to such a deadwantage; but we here saw Miss Krilly to such dishily antique. Her features and maner are all adapted to comedy, and an attempt to throw the delicate melancholy of OPMELIA into her countensate, is about as finite as an affort to left up, with welcome is about as furile as an effort to light up with serious of pression the face of a Chinese Mandarin.

At Covent Garden Miss BAKEWELL has been allowed to depict Mas. HALLER—we say repeat literally—we mean to repeat the words—she is cold and stiff—uncongenial and uncomfortable. The play itself is a horror, ml we know no proof of bad taste more convincing to us than the selection of is for a first appendance.

Mass THES is growing into something like self-possession. The Exite is still attrability, and all other thea-ston. The DATER is still intraceing, and all other theatrical things tremain nearly in static quo:

From the Minor Phentres, architect At the Adelphi, a gendeman sat to work to sharp his neighbors in the pit. gendemias at to work to shamp his neighbours in the pit, and at the Coborg Theatre, another gentleman was drawed out of the house and oventually formed out of the house and menaced with hand-cuffs, because the lady who with him, had a cold, and declined taking off her honnert. This, independent of the impertinence of the managers, is curious, increase the very place fixed upon for this overdelicate accupations about dress, is the very place where chimney sweepers take their sacks upon their backs into the galleries in order to have a fair chance of peppering the the galleries in order to have a fair chance of peppering the audience in the pit.

We confess we were surprized at the tone the Magistrate used on the occasion. It would be better far, if these worthies were more cautious as to the licenses they grant, and less flippant in their decisions.

TO JOHN BULL,

SIR-The assertion of your Ilchester correspondent A. B." that I conveyed the deputation from Hichester, te present an Address to the late Queen, is a base and wicked lie! to prove which, I will plainly state the facts: In the month of July, 1820, I received orders from the Secretary of State, for the removal of certain convicts from my gaol to the Ganymede Hulk at Chatham, and also to the Penitentiary at Milbank. On my way to the coach office, to secure places for the prisoners by the Exeter and London coach, I encountered the two inhabitants of Inhester who formed the deputation, and was informed by them of their intended journey, they having actually taken their places by the same coach, for that purpose. Knowing the risk attendant on the removal of a set of desperadoes, glally (though by mere chance) availed myself of the opportunity of strengthening my escort by the addition of these men, and " the very head and front of my offending hath this extent," that I travelled on the same coach with my neighbours, who were conveying the address, with which I had no concern whatever, either in the preparing, passing, signing, or presenting it. This trifling adventitious circumstance (for the deputation cost neither the County of Somerses or myself a shilling,) was at the time tortured into a criminal charge by the wretches who have so long conspired against me, by the insertion of a paragraph in the Courier newspaper, wherein I was represented as one of the deputation with the Ilchester address. As soon as that document met my eye, I wrote to my Lord Sidmouth, calling his Lordship's attention to the paragraph, declaring it to be false and maticious. I wrote to the Editor of the Courier to the same effect, desiring he would eend me the manuscript, which he very politely complied with; by which means, I was enabled to discover the libelling offender, who I most certainly should have prosecuted, had he not been removed out of my reach. In fact, I desired that this valuable production may be sent to W. Melliar, Esq. then under-sheriff, that the same may be by him presented to the Sheriff and Grand Jury at the assizes, to be holden there in a few days; the copies of my letters being then in his possession. Thus then, at the time, and without any delay, was this falsehood refuted by me, both before the Grand Jury of Somerset, and in the public papers of the day.

I trust, Mr. Editor, that I have sufficiently explained these facts, and I can assure you that I can as easily refute all the calumnies which have been so lavishly heaped upon me. You will greatly oblige me by enclosing me the manuscript of the letter in question, as it may enable me to know the villainous author, and to give you and the world his name, and I doubt not but I shall prove it to be the act of one nearly allied to the original offender, who was so timely removed from the correction he so truly deserved .- I am, Sir, your most obedient servant.

W. BRIDLE. Devonshire-buildings, Bath, Nov. 20, 1821.

We insert this letter with pleasure, but a rule we have when inserted, prevents ou complying with the request of the writer.

PRISON RECULATIONS.—Visitors are now only admitted to the House of Correction, Cold Bath Fields, once in every week during their imprisonment. Male visitors to be admitted every Monday, and females on every Saturday.

Monday night, Mrs. Moore, the wife of the Keeper of the Lock of the Regent's Canal, at Camden Town, was accidentally drowned. She went out with a jug to fill it with some water out of the Canal, and losing her balance whilst she was raising the pitcher, she fell into the water.

and losing her balance whilst she was raising the pitener, one lend into the water.

The storm on Friday se'nnight, around Battle-bridge and Gray's Inn Lane, was lamentable. On the following morning, the cellars of the houses were filled with water, and in some, the water had gained a considerable beight up the stairs. In the road leading from Bandigre-wells to Islington, the sewer overflowed into the main road. The gardens were washed away, the furniture carried off in the stream, and the foot-path on the side of the sewer was destroyed. A little child belonging to one of the cottagers, was driven down the stream, under the arched sower, and drowned.

DOMESTIC LITERATURE.

WE have an invincible projectly to hip, and we know that a great many of our readers have a similar turny-The following are genuine and literal copies of two letters, which passed some years since between two ladies in a -village within fifty miles of LONDON. The correspondent to whom we are indebted for them has been good enough to authenticate them; and since the most unimportant epistles of great men are carefully collected and preserved, to display the characters of the writers, we see no reason against giving a place to these relics, as REAL illustrations of the modern style of domestic correspondence.

"MRS. PITTS' compliments to Miss (lozens; she was in hopes to have found her at home by this time, as she wishes to speak to her about a little had workmanship in wishes to speak to her about a little had workmanship in her house since she went away, by a board or something put upon it, in what her maid salls her little, which, by being ill-done, the nails come almost through Mas. Pirrs' passage, and there being no partition wall, only thin paper, between the houses, which is very dangerous, and she is very sorry to find it being so unsafe, and she hopes her maids are very careful, for we are both in danger, especially from her frameant large washes, which never were so before from her frequent large washes, which never were so before though there has been four different families in that house since Mas. Pirrs has been at Weet, and none of them had such washes with all their great things, only their smalls, which Mas. Pirrs has; it not only is dangerous, but extremely disfiguring to the place, and might be taken for a machine moment. washer-woman's place, rather than any body's else, and almost wonders Miss C. can like it herself, only she is seldom if ever at home, she does not find it so disagreeable, especially when the things hang out on both sides; and she must excuse my mentioning her donkey frightened her very much one day as the gate was opened, and she went there to throw some rubbien, and dropt her scissats, which she was some time in looking for, in the meantime she falt something touch her face, which proved to be this creature; on looking up saw the measter, she screamed, and hes maids heard her.—I am, Madam, your hundle servant, "Is. Perrys."

A true copy-G. H.

To this we have the following rapty from Miss Cazens:-

" MISS COZENS'S compliments to MRS. P.; is sorry the entition wall should be only than paper, will put up so fault washing great things should be so very offensive and so nacommon at W***; I have always been used to clean sheets and table-cloths. Mass. C. is should be find Mass. Prers so alarmed at the sight of my ars; thought you had seen it often before; can't guess how it came to touch her face, tis very quiet in general, and was never called a monstertill now; but as MRs. Pirrs and lost her seissers, cannot stertill now; but as Alks. FFT busic research suggest, wonder she was so terrified. Mrss C. will take care in future her maid shall hang out all on one side.—I am, Madam. vour humble servant, "M. Cozuns." dam, your bumble servant, A true copy—G. H.

OLD BATLEY, JULY 13, 1683.

WILLIAM HORE, having been arraigned, the day before for conspiring the DEATH of the KIKE, and the gubyresson of the Gospiring the DEATH of the KIRS, and the SUBVERSON or the GOVERNMENT, dec., such, after some frisolous evasions, pleaded Not. Gesily, (though he confessed himself then guilty of the compiracy, but not of providing arms); he desired now to retract his plans, and confessed the indictment; still denying that he had provided arms, but owning that his deposition before Sir William Turner was true, and that he was asked by Mr. Richard Goodenough to go alance with him but was not told whither, though he understood it along with him, but was not told whither, though he understood it was to kill the King and the Dube of York!!! This not being taken for a full confession, he was put upon his trial.—[Herefollow the names of the Jury.]

Mr. Keeling deposed, that he saw the prisoner at the Dolphin Mr. Keeling deposed, that he naw the prisoner at the Dolphia Tavern, where the arms were agreed upon; and the King's coming from Newmorket discoursed op; and about the goose-quiller, swan-quills, crow quills, sand, ink, &c. After which he took so-quaintunce with him, and after some time told him, he was one of them that was to go down to the Rye to assassingle the King. And since, at a Coffee-house in Swithen's Alley, he told him, it would never be well 'till the Blackbird and the Gotsfack were knowled on the head, meaning the King and the Duke of York.

Sir Nicholas Butler denosed, that he had long knows the prisoner.

Bir Nicholas Butler deposed, that he had long known the prisoner Sir Nicholas Butter deposed, that he manions known the prisoner, and that he was almost ready for plotting such purposes as urre now laid to his charge; for that, when Sir Francis Chaplain was Lord Mayor, and the King stood at Mr. Waldo's, the prisoner came to his house, and told him, that now they had a fair opportunity to take off the King and the Duke at once. To which purpose there were to be half a dozen with cross-bows at a window in Bowsteeple, just opposite to the balcony.

Capt. Richardson deposed, that he was by while the prisoner was under examination as to the crime he now stood charged with; and that he said, Mr. Goodenough exme and told him he wanted "Labourers," and that it was to kill the King and the Duke of York, politices, and that it was to rule the ring and the inner of rore, and confessed that he agreed to be one that would undertake it.

To all this the prisoner said little to the purpose, only that he did not know the place where nor when it was proposed about the Rye; and that he was drawn into it by Goodenough; that as to the cross-hows he was only told of it. And being askedwhat are tallow he professed? he answered, that he heard sometimes Raptists, sometimes Independents, and sometimes Presbylerians!

After a short charge, the Jury (without stirring out of Court) found him GULLTY. And sentence was pronounced upon him (the next day) to be drawn, hanged, and quartered; which was carried into full effect on Friday, 20th July, 1883, at Tyburh.—Vide Abridgement of all the Trials, &c. printed for J. D. for Jonathan Robinson at the Golden Lion, St. Paul's Church-yard, A. D. 1690.

Cant names for instruments of destruction, powder, balls, &c.

Departure of His Majesty for Brionton.—On Tuesday, at a quarter past one o'clock, His Majesty left Carlton Palace, in his private travelling carriage, accompanied by Sir B. Bloomfeld, and escorted by a party of Lancers, for the Pavilion, at Brighton, where he arrived in the evening, about its o'clock. His Majesty was received by a large assemblage of the inhabitants, who had been waiting to welcome him, with loud huzzas. A guard of honour, composed of the 10th Royal Hussars, and the 2d regiment of Foot, formed into line on each side of the road, from the Palace attes to Gloucester-place. who had been in attendance from four o'clock, and received him under arms, the bands playing "God save the King." The bell: rung a merry peal, and the tone of animation to the town can be scarcely conceived. The mess-house of the officers of the 2d regiment, was illuminated in the evening. His Majesty is not expected to reside in town again till after the Christmas Holidays. On his leaving Brighton, it is said, that he will occupy the cottage in Windsor Great Park.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR, In perusing your paper of Sunday and the orincipal chiese tions which you made to the appropriate of the principal chiese of the upwards of chiese validation of wine-cellars, accounts the use of wine-cellars, accounts the use of wine-cellars, accounts to the use of th for the use of wine-cellars, acc.

I allude to the passage, in which you had the life ground on which the chapels stand is consecrable and that, it fills consecrable had the consecrable and that, it fills consecrable had the consecrable had the property of the beingly indecorous to appropriate fire your will had, upon a slight investigation, that there you will had, upon a slight investigation, that the metropolic secrety one of the humerous chapels in the metropolic secrety one of the humerous chapels in the metropolic secrety one of the humerous chapels in the metropolic secrety one of the humerous chapels in the metropolic secretary in secretary in the high secretary in secretary in secretary in secretary in secretary in the secretar

We insert this letter upon our avowed principle at artiality, but it is hardly necessary to observe (we should think, that no chapel whatever where the service of these established church is performed can be opened without the Episconal consecration. As for those chapels which are wellnot of the established church, we do not know that having wing-vanits under them would be any objection whether

MISCELLANEOUS.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Kene's Court.—On Monday, His Majesty heist a Court in his Palace, in Pall Mail, which was attended by the Land Court in Lord Prevident of the Council, the Lord Privay Seal, they are all of the Treasury, the Secretaries of State for the times and Poreign Departments, the Chancellor of the Exchedite the First Lord of the Treasury, the Secretaries of State for the times and Poreign Departments, the Chancellor of the Exchedite the First Lord of the Admiralty, the President of the Board of Their Junior of the Exchedite the Admiralty, the Farl of Caincart, and the Judge Admard and Admiralty of Lordonderry, the Farl of Caincart, and the Judge Admard Marquis of Lordonderry, the Farl of Caincart, and the Judge Admard Marquis of Lordonderry, the Farl of Caincart, and the Judge Admard Marquis of Lordonderry, the Farl of Caincart, and the Judge Admard Marquis of Lordonderry, the Farl of Caincart, and the Judge Admard Marquis of Lordonderry, the Farl of Caincart, and the Judge Admard Marquis of Lordonderry, the Royal Hightest in the Marquis of Index Seal of Liverrool High Marquis of Index Seal of Liverrool left town for Walnes Cashe, and Dardonderry will fix her abode at Fregmers.

On Thursday, the Karl of Liverrool left town for Walnes Cashe, and Dardonderrow of Liverrool left town for Walnes Cashe, and Dardonderrow of Liverrool left town for Walnes Cashe, and Dardonderrow of Liverrool left town for Walnes Cashe, and Marquis and Children and Cashe the Marquis Seal of Liverrool left town for Walnes Cashe, and Liverrool left town for the last the Marquis and Cashe the Admiral Parties and Cashe to Liverrool left at the East India House, when the following Commanders took leave of the Court of Privious to departing for their respective destinations, viz:—Caph Margue Land Children and Call and Call and Children and Call and Call and Call and Call and Call and Children and Call and Call and Call and Call and Call and Call a

Thomas Chestes, for Mindres was Bishine, the part of the Mindrey of the Service of Bengal and Chipus. Capt. T., Shunders and server bengal and Chipus. Capt. T. Shunders bengal and the Market and Chipus. Capt. Ca

्रा केला हा ताल स्वरान होता है के स्वरान स्वरान के स्वरान के

और १, १८ १५ १ । १५ १

(:i)i-

A PROVINCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

William Witchell, his brother-in-law, residing at Bernside, in the papiers of the property of the papiers of the papers of th their unhippy parent. At the moment of embracing one of his space, the shipted a written note into his hand, wherein he expressed his eigences with that he might speedily convey to him such posson as might, be most effectual in deswiving him of the. Information of this last effort of despair being communicated to the preparation with last effort of despair being communicated to the preparation with six is now, ask by turns other two always remained with him, until the day of his execution served.—A bout two o'clock the eximinal was brought down, when his shroud was put on, and his arms prinoned.—He was then brought into the old Court. He was supported to the drap, which-fell about three o'clock, and he died without a struggle.

Assume was rem.—A suckle was committed at the Talbot Inn, on Baturday selanight. A young man, about 20 years of age, put re end to his existence, by shooting himself with a piscal, which he destanged into his ear, and died instantly. Another loaded pistol was found on him. It appears from the contents of a letter which was found in his pocket, that a brother of his lives near. If kinder of he called himself William Smith. The Coroner returned a verdict of insanity.

be called himself William Smith. The Coroner returned a vordict of insarity.

Brisgot,—A most daring burglary was lately remainted at the Wiscarge House, St. Goorge's, Glourester. The villains, after a fruitiess attempt to enter at the doors of the house, accomplished their grappes by penetrating a stone will, three fret thick, and cutting oner a portion of a boiled door which impelled their pregress; likely ransacked every part of the lower floors, pantry, &c., and attend any part of the lower floors, pantry, &c., and attend any part of the lower floors, pantry, &c., and attend any part of the lower floors, pantry, &c., and attend any part of the lower floors, pantry, &c., and attend any part of the lower floors, pantry, &c., and attend any part of the evening; it was of short duration and particles.

Burgers and the soundations of the Oht Castle; which formerly existed party of the foundations of the Oht Castle; which formerly existed party the Edward be Eddey in the year 9/8. The wall itself was of very considerable thickness, and was composed of unharm stones of the confidence of the chickness and was composed of unharm stones of the confidence of the confiden

Belgyrd the Edder; in the year 9/8. The wall theelf was of very considerable thickness, and was composed of unhawn stones of the cornivastic limestone kind, which still about in the seighbour-libration of the importance of the cornivastic limestone kind, which still about in the seighbour-libration of this University went in a gig to speak the day at Newmastice. In the grouning, when the gig was receipt to the door for effect return, one of the lamps went out, on which the younger brother went'to see it re-lighted. The instant, however, that he had left the room he heard the resort of a pixtel; and, returning, he found that his twother had shot himself through the head! The distress and again of the survivor are indissorbable.

Business, a dreadful occuprence took place at Goushill, in the Edge County on Monday last. Two young raen, brothers, named Petergap Michael Smith, hearing some altercation at breakfast. Michael took up a knile and stabled his brother to the heart, of which wound he died in a few sainastes.

Gainamonous.—A dreadful occuprence took place at Goushill, in the Edge of the survivor are indisposed on the preakfast. Michael took up a knile and stabled his brother to the heart, of which wound he died in a few sainastes.

Gainamonous.—A dreadful accident happe and last work by an elaphonion of guapowder, in the shop of Mrs. Farmer, in the Markety last stable and the sain stable of the heart of the sain stable of the heart of the sain stable of the heart of the contract of the contract of the heart of vivid flashes of lightning, for about two hours; the wind and cain, which latter fell in torrents, heat in one of the windows of the garrison chapel.

Phynopen.—Fine large fewls were selling last week here, for Is. 4d. a couple; butchers' meat upon equally cheap terms. Rour fat where, were purchased at the late Witheridge fair, on the 7th linstant, for sixteen shillings.

Prestroy.—A distressing aroident took place at the wind-mill, when to Kirkhara. Thomas Waddington, the sails, san towards him, said, when in the set of drawing the dog from danger, received himself a blow from one of the sails, which shivered his arm from the clow to the fagers, and it was found necessary to amputate the limb; since which, we understand the man is doing well.

Headmiss.—On Priday we might, a garden at the back of a house in Castle-street, which forms the ride of a hill, fell into the valley beneath. The trees now stand with the roots uppermost, and the whole gives the appearance of an early quake. The pigstics and offices at the back of Bosher's—square are buried, and some pigt killed. The moving mass was stopped by the dwelling houses in the square, the doors of which were forced open by the shock.

Staffban.—Last Sunday week were published, in the parish church of Woolstanton, the banne of natrianony of four papers in the poor-hance, wir. Richard Brownsword, aged 74, to Sarah Gater, aged 23, and John Clews, a blind man, to Ellen Heath, pather insule, and under the care of the Governor of the said poor-house.—

Staffbalary A. addier. named Pearse, belonging to the list or sufe, and under the care of the Governor of the said poor-house.—

Stational under the care of the Governor of the said poor-house.—
Stational Paper.
Stational

Cauvage. Several gangs of picknockets have, within the last twisting, infested the vicinity of the Exchange and St. Paul's. One of these light-fingered gentlemen accests the passenger, and calls away his attention by offering for sale a silt watch chain, which he states is gold, and offers to sell as a bargein, and whilst he shows the chain a companion picks his pockets.

ACCIDENTS, OFFENCES, &c. SE TELEMENT

1 the - 12 1 30

ACCIDENTS, OFFENCES, &c. 22 112001.

On Wedresday alternoom, And Cripple, about four years of age, in fine absence of her mother, went to annue herself near Waterlob Brildge; and her, bonnet falling off into the water, she, in endeay conring to take it out, overbalanced brevelf, and fell head-foremost is to the water, and was dispuned.

On Tuesday afternoon four young men named Thomas Fermer, Wilfiam Worder, Refert Childs, and William Black, were drowned in the Mill River at Staines, by the overturning of the load in the Mill River at Staines, by the overturning of the load in which they were rowing for pleasure.

Wednesday afternoon, a traderman, holding the situation of Tax Collector, at Whotstope, was rebbed in a tay-would, leading from Barnet to Colwey Hatch, by three men, knowled down, and his pockats rifled of 60 guiness and his watch. They beat him severally, one of them proposed to "rip his grass open;" upon which another took out a lonife, and smale a cut at his belly, but the knife penetrated his clothes only. They then left him lying on the ground much bruized.

On Saturday se'might a most daring robbery was committed between fighau and Staines, on the person of a poor old wordan, named Cavey, nearly fly years of ages. The villate on meeting her gave her a violent blogsmith his fist, knowled her down, and drew her, into a field, he then stripped her, and left hear for dead. The willing mandade on the stripped her, and left worked and supplied with water, the flomes were confined at the premises where they begun, which were totally destroyed.

Tresday hight, about nine of look, a destructive fire broke out in the workshop of Mr. Willis, Wood-street, Spitalifer's Churcii, which destroyed the same, togefirer with two adjoining tenements. One man, named Squires, who longed on the first floor, over the workshop, junged out of the window, and earpuily received little or no injury. The greatest outrages were committed by a most formities whe hours.

On Monday metat, as Mrs. Float, of John-street, St. George the East, near-80 years old, was sitting by the fire, her dethems the fast, near-80 years old, was sitting by the fire, her dethems the fast, near-80 years old, was sitting by the fire, her dethems as few hours.

Cross Keys Tay, man, Theobald's-road, on the leader Sanah Jebry, aged $4, found dead in her bod, at her leadings, No. 22. Theobald's-road. The deceased had farmerly lived servant on noblemen and gentlemen's families at the west end of the town, and bore an exception of being married to a men of small fortune, but subsequently the match was set aside. For the last fortuicht sie had not been seen. Leat week, the inmares of the house where the lodged, were cannoyed by a most disagreeable smell, and finding that it resued from the apartment of the deceased they desired the door to the opened on Saturday, when she was found in such a dreadful state opined on Saturday, when she was found in such a dreadful state opined on Saturday, when she was found in such a dreadful state opined on Saturday, when she was found in such a dreadful state opined on Saturday, when she was found in such a dreadful state opined on Saturday, when she was found in such a dreadful state opined on Saturday, when she was found in such a dreadful state of the saturday when she be suffective opinion she had draink the content, which caused her death.—The Jury, therefore, returned a westict.—That the deceased destroyed the real formation the scalledge at Sc. Paul'so. The formation of the satiournment.—On Monary, the Coroner resument the insquence of the satiournment and issuered the satiournment was the scalledge, without any directions so in do, and shad it not been so removed, the fatal accident would not ave occurred. The Coroner thought them had been a warried die precention. The Jury said, that there want of caution, which the hoped would not again occurs and they returned a verdict of Accidental Death, with the foreiture of the scallold.

N SIX EAST LESSONS OF ONE HOUR RACH....Mr. C. BRADBURY, Private Vafor kit Westminster thehos. Rolicits they attended to halder, and Genifemen to his wherealled and infallible system of beautiful PRNM ANSIMP; whereby he piedger himself to teach persons of all uses to write with eate, cleamer, and expedition, whatever may be the deformity of their present welling? for six regular Lessons, or he will forfeit all claim to tremmeration. This system, as if equally promotes the ataminent of a bold and makedime hand calculated for hadiness, and of a sight and graceful manuscript adapted to Ludies; also recurred to the Papil the certainty of writing-straight, authors lines, with wonderful dispatch and so tracky. Upwards of two thousand specimens, and numerious recommendatory fetters may be seen, and references given to persons of the first distinction, some of whom are awards of kry vers of age.—Frivate tuition at home. Ladies and Gentlemenastended at their own residences. A new and practical system of Short Hand, rought in a few lessons—dipply, (or direct particular system of Short Hand, rought in a few lessons—dipply, (or direct particular system of Short Hand, rought in a few lessons—dipply, (or direct particular system of Short Hand, rought in a few lessons—dipply, (or direct particular system of Short Hand, rought in a few lessons—dipply, (or direct particular system of Short Hand, rought in a few lessons—dipply, (or direct particular system of Short Hand, rought in a few lessons—dipply, (or direct particular system of Short Hand, rought in SMAVIMO. To This so Gentlessed when the second control of the system of the system of Short Hand, rought in SMAVIMO. To This so Gentlessed who pact, and on the Acadery, 464, Strand, near Charing Cross.

ASE and COMPORT in SHAVING. To those Gentlether who act perience incorporation on Showing from a tender fare or a rook beard, J. T. 2 1002 most particularly recommends his calchrated MAGNETIC RAZERT. Tables most particularly recommends his calchrated MAGNETIC Large statements of shaving accessy and ingreable as it was before unpleasant must pairful. Its use is simple, its effect certain; price 7s. 6d. J. T. Rigge's Armentic Shaving Song will also be found an invaluable addition. Hange-facetory, 45, Cheapaido, and 32, Park-street, Grosvenor-square OOKING GLASES AND FURNITURE. Several large SECOND HAND PLATES, are now on Sale, attCOOPER & SON'S Manufactory, 65, Bishopagnate spreet, Within.—Some of the targer sizes are animirably adapted (or, large dissing, sooms and elegant, drawing reoms. A large assortment of 1sth fanished Chinneys, Plus, and Cheval-frames, will former precedent. Plate Glass for Windows, Carriages, &c.—This article may also be manufactured as high as 180hy 73. Inches. 190 by 80, of to any tity and incension. Nohlemen, Gentionen, Bauvayers, Proprietory of the legal and others, will find this Warehouse deserving attention, from its extension variety of excellent Cablest and Chair Work. The uphoistery arrangements display some new specimens of peculiar neaturess and elegance, with the still graph of the country, without rack of injury, or excellent Cablest and Chair Work. The uphoistery arrangements display some new specimens of peculiar neaturess and elegance, with the still graph of the country, without rack of injury, or expenses of packing.

In the country, without risk of injusy, or expense of packers.

VINTER COUGHS, &c. The ... NODYNE EXPECTORANT LOZENGES are recommended to the Public as a Mcdieine of univalled efficacy in the Cure of Coughs, Asthmas, Spre Throats, &c. &c. The Proprietors do not consider an enlogium necessary, a single trial having invariably established their superior claims in the Cure of the above Complaints. Sold by the Proprietors, Howe and Co. 16, Tichborn-street, opposite the Caunty Fire Office; Sanger, 150, Oxford-street; Hawkine, 11, 121d Bond-streef; Ward, Holtorn; Stradling, Royal Exchange; and most respectable Medicine Venders, in boxes, at 1s. 14d, each.

Firefable Medicine Venders, in boxes, at 1s. 14d. each.

ATERT ECONOMICAL and UNIVERSAL. LAMP.—In contemplating the lives and property that have J.gen. sacrifixed to the use of cantelles, it is natural to coinclude, that it has either been found difficult to invent a complete substitute; or that it has either been found difficult to invent a complete substitute; or that its importance has escaped observation, and its not a tribing gratification to the Patontee, that, in this invention he has so far succeeded in the at empt as to produce a light that embraces every perfection, and is alike applicable to every domestic use, and can be so regulated as to snit every occasion. Its safety is such that no person on seeling it can doubt for a moment its security against danger of fire, and, bearing any medion without againsting per ause; renders, it highly valuable as a moving light. As a Chember or, Night Light, it can be regulated to but the housest or shorteer night, giving a sever-falling bithiant flame, ready at the moment it is wanted, disappearing in the morning without smoke or smell, superseding the Bed Candle, and, in its general use, a preserver of the capets from tallow or wax; the price, in neat Japan Stands, 10s. and in hours, 15s. to 20s. The same principle applies, and the Liamps table, sideboard, study, bracket, door, or fan-light, &c.; and also Ginas Grecian Hanging Lamps, for the hall, stair, see, passagea, conservatory drawing-room, mantlepiece, lostress, &c.; and for the accommodation of those who have squarely was, or other hall tanthorrs, the turners of which are so universally complained of for the oil they consume, and the insufferable spoke and small they easier, the Patentee, in compliance with the request of many, now applies this principle to surk, with all its advantages, at 12s. to 14s. each. Families in the country, who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity, have only to send the exact size of the aperture at the bottom of the lauthorn in which the buyner is introduced. It is a mo DATENT ECONOMICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP .- In and the Preprieture of Tavetus, lune, and Ressiring Momentary are supplied on the most advantageous terms.

The state of the state of

ALL'S sublime TURKISH PASTE, CIRCASSIAN indicated the property of the first rank and fashlor, as the most invested and beautiful analogue to nature, by independing to the skin that invested and heaviling analogue to nature, by independing to the skin that seek, and inconceivable fairness, is now prepared, in the highest sand of septence of the property invested a quantity of the necessary incredients, will prexent in fature any possible disappointment.—One Pound Note, Packages, capitalsing two large Pots and two Packets of the Powder, or four small Pots and four small Pots and four work of Country, and warranted to arrive safe.

N. B. Observe the above are only to be had of the most respectable Desfers as Perfumery or Millimers in the Country, in single Pots, at 198.6d, and Saiddet, and the Powder in Packets, 2s. 6d, and 1s. 6d, and should be aked for the country of the name of the Proprietor, whose signature is on the outside of each part of trapent, busidens, Laboratory, No. 28, Hadden-street, Button Crapent, London.—J. B. HALLING.

Button Craycont, London.—J. B. HALL.

DURGESS's NBW SAUCE for general purposes, having given the start of the property of the start of Strand, server, of the Savey-steps, londen.—The original Fish-Sauce Tarbayce.

Particular of the Hoyal Parsity, gives strength and a beautiful glossy appearance to the Hair: impacts to it the most delightful perfume, and presents its falling off or turning grey-to extreme old age. Hair drassed with this celebrated Gil soon becomes soft, curly, bright, and luxuriant in its growth; and burnta has been fujured, made barab, and turning grey-will be restored, by a few applications, to its natural colout, brilliancy, and beauty.—Sold by the sole Preprietors, and only Importers, PRICE and GOSN ELL, Perfumers to His Majesty, No. 13, Three Rings-count, Lombard-street, London, in bottles at 2s. 6d.; 16e, 6d.; and Ta. each, bearing their signatume on the label in red link.

CAUTION.—Mesers, PRICE and GGSN ELL beg to cantlon the Nobility and Gentry against a spurious Macassar Oil, injurious to the hair, imposed upon the public by hair-dressers (falsely styling themselves Importers) who are equally incompetent to ascertain the danger of what they extol, as they are to discover what a light be useful.—Ask for Price and Gasnell's Macassar Gel.

are to discover what a slight be useful.—Ask for Price and Gonnell's Maccamus 761.

TOR the TOOTH-ACHE, and producing BEAUTIFUI.

TRETH.—ROWLAND'S ALSANA EXTRAST, patronized by her Royal disputements he hat Duchess of York, their Excellencies the Dukes Delinfantadound Sans Carlos. This Botanized Specific has been in high self-mation many wears, and recommended by the first physicians, as a soverelge senegal for the Tookh Ache, Gunz Botte, decreases in high self-mation many wears, and recommended by the first physicians, as a soverelge senegal for the Tookh Ache, Gunz Botte, and the latest price in the first physicians as a soverelge senegal for the Tookh Ache, Gunz Botte, and the latest price in the first physicians in a soverelge senegal for the foreign senegal physicians in the senegal for the first physicians in the senegal for the outside in red ink, and free from pain, to the latest period of life. Price 2s. 9d., 46, 6d. and log. 6d. per bottle. None, is genuine unless signed on the outside in red ink, and free from pain to the latest period of life. Price 2s. 9d., 46, 6d. and log. 6d. per bottle. None, is genuine unless signed on the outside in red ink, and free from pain, to the latest period of life. Price 2s. 9d., 46, 6d. and log. 6d. per bottle. None, is genuine unless signed on the outside in red ink, and Picte, 37, D. Riggs, 35, New Bood-street; Sanger, 150, oxford-street; Gattle and Picte, 37, D. Riggs, 35, New Bood-street; Sanger, 150, oxford-street; Bolton, 9trading, Hoyal Exchange; Johnson, 68, Talle, 41, Cormbill; Newbery, 45, Rdugarie, 36, St. Paul's Church-yard; Coley, Bishopsgate-street; Barden, Yese: Market; Butler, 4, Cheapside; Berry, 17, Johnstone, 18, streek extreet, Sohe; Sutron, Bow Charch-yard; Rowney, 106, faitton Garden; Low, 30t, Prout, 229, Btrand; Ward, 324, Swift, 29; Sutton, 127, High McCorm, 15, and 15, and 15, and 15, Mc. borur; Chandler, 78, Oxford-street.

PALDNESS or GREY HAIRS will not be seen, although there are Arkicles for the Hair daily nuffed in the Newspapers. There are thousands of Ladies and identifemen have a good Head of Itial by using Primos's cessebrated Russia Oil. But some Ladies being persuaded to use other Oils, they soom found the difference, as their Hair began to fall off, or getting grey. In, short, Prince's celebrated Russia Oil is the best Oil for dressing, preserving, shot promoting the growth of Hair, and if constantly used, not a Hair will fall off or turn grey; clears the Scurf, and keeps the Head and Hair clean, and by using it remularly for a few months will restore the Hair on the bail part, if the jeans signs of roots are remaining, which has been proved by Kundreds. Promotes eye-brows, whiskers, and The Propision has so improved the Russia Oil, that it will always be pleasant, and will keep in all climates. Ask for Prince's Russia Oil, at & the annual bottle; are a bottle, containing the quantity of nearly five small ones, at its, which jax great saving; andobserve "Prince" on the wrapper and scala of each bottle; without, it is not genuine, and cannot answer the purpose.

purpose.

Proved by Affidavit, the 2ith of Nov. 1814, before the Lord Mayor, that A. Prince is the original Proprietor in the Universe of the Russia Oll; therefore if any Porfumer, Medicine-vender, Hair-dresser, or any one close, sells Russia Oll, that is not Prince's, they are imposters, as they sell countries or the substances.

sells Russia Olf, that is not Prince's, they are imposters, as they sell counterfeits to their customers.

ET Ladies and Gentlemen will be particular, as there are unprincipled persons intown and country who sell counterfeits, and say they are genuine. Sold wholessale, retail, and for exportation, by the sole Proprietor, A. Prince, [LT removed to No. 9, Puland-street, Oxford-street, near the Pantheon: and by Mr. Smyth, Perfumer to his Majesty, New Bond-street; and hy most principal Perfumers and Medicine Venders.—Also Prince's celebrated Russia Dyr, for changing red or grey hair, eye-brows, and whisters, to brown or black, with ease, in a few minutes.—Half a Guinea perbottle, or two bottles One Pound.

two bottles One Pound.

CONVULATION PITS. EPILEPTIC FITS, HYSTERICS, NERVOUSapid SPASMODIC COMPLAINTS, EPFECTUALLY CURED BY THE HADLEYS POWDERS.

Fall Diseases incidental to the Human Frame, none are more of this POWDER in a short time relieves the sufferer; and by due perseberance in its application, completely extirpates Convulsion Fits in Infants and Adults; also Epileptic or Falling Fits, Hysterics, and Nervous and Beanwolic Complaints. The Powder is a grank restorative in all cases of relaxation, debility, and weakness in children and adults; it gradually strengthess the stomach, increases the appetite, promotes direction, and in a short lime restores the patient to perfect health, without confinences or afteration of diet.—The late Dr. HADLEY, of Derby, (the discoverer of this valuable medicine) used it in private practice for upwards of fifty years with the most flattering success in the various complaints, which is proved by incontravertible facts. It inestimable virtues are patrouised by time followleg distinguished Nobility, and many others, too numerous for an Advertisement:—
Her Grace the Duchess of Rutland

Her Grace the Duchess of Rutland Right Hon. Lady Amherst Right Hon. Lady Lismore. Right Hon. Lady G. Cavendish.

Lady Catharine Walpole. Lady C. Dundas. Hon, Mrs. Bathurst. Hon, Mrs. Egerton, Hon, Mrs. Grey, &c. Extracts from Letters addressed to Dr. HADLEY

Lady Caroline Lamb.

Extracts from Letters addressed to Dr. HADLEY:

From the Hon. Mrs. Rgerton.

Dr. Hadley.

Sir.—I this moraing received your letter, mentioning your intention of bringing your Convulsion Powder into more general molice. I have so very high an opinion of it, from the cases I have seen performed, that I think you will be doing a public service. I remain, Sir, yours, &c. K. EGRTON.

From the Right Hon. Lady Lismore.

Sept. 2, 1820.

This is to certify, that I have used Hadley's Convulsion Powders in my family and many others, and approve of its efficacy. FRAS. LISMOIRE.

Dr. Hadley.

Sir.—I shall have great pleasure in desiring you to make use of my name when you publish the Convulsion Powder. Its great efficacy in my own family and friends, and to the poor, I have experienced for many years.

J alm, was numble servant.

CAT-IERINE WALPOLE.

Sold in bottles, at 4s. 4d. 11s. and 22s. each, by appointment of the Proprietor, No. I, Krity-sizzer, Hauton Garden; by Mr. Sanger, Medicine Warelinuse, 150. Oxford-sireet; Messers, Barclay and Sons, 95. Fleet-market; Messers, Newbery and Sons, 45. 81. Paul's Church-yard; Edwards, 66. 81. Paul's Church-yard; Butter, 4. Cheapside; Evans, Long-lane, Smi hfield; Prout, 229. Strand; Stradiing and N. Roysi Exchauge; Johnstone, Cornhill; and, by their appointment. In respectable Medicine Venders in every town theory ghout the Unitedom. Ask for "Hadley's Conversion Poyder."

Digitized by GOGIE

COURT OF KING'S BENCH .- SATURDAY.

THE KING V. SHACKELL, ARROWSMITH, AND WEAVER .- Libel-On the sitting of the Court this morning, the Solicitor-General said these defendants had been in attendance several days waiting their Lordships' judgment.

The defendants having taken their stations on the floor of the Court, Mr. Scarlett, on the part of the prosecution, put in affidavits

The defendants having taken their stations on the floor of the Court, Mr. Scarlett, on the part of the prosecution, put in affidavits a aggravation.

The affidavit of Sir John Wrottesley was first put in and read, and stated that the deponent married Lady Caroline Bennett, daughter of the Earl of Tankerville, in 1795; that her Ladyship died in 1818, having lived happily with the deponent from the time of her marriage to the time of her death, in which period she had fourteen children, ten of whom survived her. The deponent further stated that there was not the slightest foundation for the libel published by the defendants in the John Bull. Newspaper of the 14th of January last, inputing to her Ladyship a criminal intercours with her menial servant. A similar affidavit was put in by the Countess of Tankerville. The affidavit of Lord Ossulston, the brother of the deceased, also described the late Lady Wrottesby as a lady of the strictest honour and virtue. The affidavit of Mr. Harmer, solicitor for the prosecution, stated that he made application at the office of the John Bull, and that the defendants acknowledged themselves to be the printer and proprietors of that Paper, but declined to give up the author of the paragraph; and further, that by the statement published on oath of the sale of the Paper, it appeared that 10,230 copies of the libel were circulated.

On the part of the defendants, Mr. Weaver's affidavit was put in, which stated that he was only the printer and publisher of the John Bull, and had no controul ever the literary department of the Paper; that controul rested with Mr. Cooper, the editor, who alone had the power of adopting or rejecting any matter offered for insertion. The deponent also urged, as a palliation on his part, the hurry and confusion which always attended the making up and publishing a Public Journal. The deponent declared his ignorance who was the author of the paragraph, nor did he know the hand-writing. The manuscript, he believed, was not in existence, as it was the practic falsehood of which he entertained no doubt; and denied that he had any malice either against Lady Wrottesley or any of her family.

Mr. Arrowsmith and Mr. Shackell also put in affidavits, in which they stated, that though proprietors, they took no active part in making up the paper; they declared their utter ignorance where the paragraph came from, and their regret that it should have found its way into the paper. They were ignorant of its existence till pointed out to them by a third person, and as soon as it was so pointed out, they took steps to prevent any larther circulation, and caused a second edition of the paper to be struck off, omitting the objectionable paragraph, of which second edition 4,000 and upwards were circulated. They denied that either directly or indirectly with their knowledge or consent, any papers had been circulated in the neighbourhood of Sir J. Wrottesley's family or elsewhere, as stated in the affidavit of Lord Ossulston. They expressed their regret that such a paragraph should have found its way into the paper, for which they were convinced there was no foundation, and declared they had no feelings of malice whatever towards Sir J. Wrottesley or his family, and had since taken every means in their power to heal the wounded feelings of those individuals.

A second affidavit of Mr. Harmer was then put in, stating that a paragraph containing a similar insinuation regarding Lady Wrottesley had appeared in a previous number of the paper.

The Solicitor-General then addressed the Court in mitigation of punishment. He should not attempt to defend the libel, much less to ustif it: to do so would be contrary to his principles, and punishment. He should not attempt to defend the libel, much less to justify it; to do so would be contrary to his principles, and equally contrary to the instructions he had received from the defendants. The defendants had been anxious from the first moment punishment. He should not attempt to defend the libel, much less to justify it; to so would be contrary to his principles, and equally contrary to the instructions he had received from the defendants. The defendants had been anxious from the first moment they discovered their error, to do every thing in their power to repair it. With that view they instructed him not to oppose the rule for a crimial information, with the same object they also instructed him to allow a verdict of guilty to pass against them, and to take that opportunity of expressing their regret, and he was now instructed by them to repeat the same sentiments on their parts. The Learned Gentleman then proceeded to urge on the Court the consideration of the arduous situation in which a proprietor of a newspaper stood, who was compelled to trust to other individuals for making up the paper, in consequence of which, it frequently happened that paragraphs found their way into such publications, which would be rejected by those placed in the situation of the defendants, had they time for consideration, or opportunities for making such rejection. The matter stated in the affidavits must, he submitted, go far in mitigation, and went to shew there was no malice; the great ingredient of aggravation in the character of a libel. And he was fully persuaded in the absence of malice, taking the facts stated in the affidavits into consideration, and the whole line of conduct adopted by the defendants since the publication, notwithstanding the arguments which might be adduced by his Learned Friend, for the purpose of exciting a different feeling in their Lordships' breasts, they would not consider this, as regarded the defendants, as an aggravated case.

Mr. Scarlett, on the part of the prosecution, addressed the Court. It was, the Learned Coursel said, always an unpleasant, frequently invidious, and in some cases, it might be a duty attended with danger, to press for judgment against defendants. He would, however, learlessly perform his duty. He then proceede wholly silent as to any remonstrance with Mr. Cooper, either as regarded the insertion of this first paragraph, or of that which constituted the present libel, or as to any continuity of the present libel, or as to any continuity of the present libel, or as to any continuity of this further guidance; and 'Mr. Cooper gave the Court no information whatever on the subject, if he possessed any. It did not appear that any application was made to Mr. Cooper respecting the author, or that when the prosecutor made his application to the defendants, Cooper was given up, as the conductor of the paper; or that any effort was made to discover the manuscript. It was a most improver made, of proceeding to allow any manuscript to pass the any effort was made to discover the manuscript. It was a most improper mode of proceeding, to allow any manuscript to pass the hands of the editor, unless the writer was known to him, much less should the manuscript of such matter be afterwards destroyed. The affidavits stated, that the defendants, on being informed, that this paragraph had found its way into their paper, collected all the remaining unsold copies, and took care to prevent further circulation; and that they published a second edition, amounting to some thousands, omitting the libellous matter. This was a circumstance operating in their favour; but the Court would have been better satisfied if the affidavit had gone somewhat further, and stated, that they did this of their own accord, and without any remonstrance being made to them on the subject. That such paragraphs must be repressed, no one would attempt to deny. In the present case, the individual libelled was no more. She was gone to another place to account before a higher tribunal for all offences committed here, and it would have been good to have suf-lered the dead to sleep in peace. The Court had taken all the circumstances of the case into their consideration, and the judgment he was directed to pronounce was, that the defendant Weaver should pay a fine of 1001, to the King; the other two defendants each a fine of 5001,; and that they should severally be imprisoned in the costody of the Marshal of the Marshalsea for nine months; and at the expiration of that period find security for their good behaviour for 5 years, themselves in 5001, each, and 2 sureties in 2501. The King v. John Williamson, Esp.—Mr. Jervis moved the judgment against the defendant, the late Mayor of Chester, who was convicted before Mr. Baron Garrow at the last Shrewsbury. Assizes, upon an information charging him with having, in his official character of Mayor and Chief Magistrate, refused to admit certain citizens of Chester to their freedom during a contested popular election of members to serve in parliament for that city, with a view, by that refusal, of giving advantage to, and procuring the election of, a particular candidate.

The Court, after hearing Mr. Scarlett in mitigation and Mr. Jervis in aggravation, sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of 10001, and to be imprisoned in the custody of the Marshal of the Marshalsea for six months.

We are authorized to state, that the real name of the vounce man.

We are authorized to state, that the real name of the young man executed at the Old Bailey, (as noticed in our Columns) on Wednesday last, was not Edmund Sparrow, but Edward Fiders.

Advertisement. J.—Last Tuckday, another 30,000l, was sold in Shares by CARROLL. No, 11,485, was the lucky Ticket, and the fortunate holders may receive their Mouey on demand. This reminds us, that the very last 30,000l. Consols. was also sold by CARROLL; and it is confidently auticipated that, as Carroll is so peculiarly fortunate in seiling 30,000l. Prizes, that another will also be sold by him, before the close of the present Lottery, at his fortunate offices, 19, Cornhill, and 26, Oxford street.

PROSPECTUS of the LONDON WINE COMPANY, No. 141, FLEET-STREET, to commence on Thursday next, 29th November.

PON the announcement of an Undertaking, of no ordinary magnitude, the Proprietors feelit proper to submit to the consideration of the Public the following view of its objects and arrangements.

The London Wine Company, after having occupied the greater part of the Present year in building and fitting up appropriate Premises, take leave to announce their intention of commencing Business on the 29th instant. These, Premises are situated in the extensive Court, the entrance to which is by the Gateway, 141, Fleet-street; and comprehending the whole of the inner Court, are formed upon a scale fully adequate to the transaction of business of the ulmost magnitude. The Cellars, which are peculiarly dry and spacious, are at present stocked, and will always contain from 30,000 to 40,000 boxens of the choicest Wines, of every class and country.

But afthough this Company feel it necessary thus to conform with the usual, mede of giving publicity to the nature and extent of their Establishment, they would rather invite direct and personal examination of its merits, as they aim at no other preference than that which they may be really found to deserve; and having taken the utmost care to be furnished with none but genuine Wines, of the best flavour and quality, they offer that invitation with peculiar confidence. As they cannot, however, calculate upon general attention to any invitation or address on inter anonymous authority, especially after the frequent delusions to which the Public have been subjected, the Company think it preper to declare, that with them originated, and by them is at present conducted, the LONDON GENUINE TEA COMPANY, 23, Ludgate-hill, with all its extensive ramifications. The success of this Company is confessedly without parallel in the annals of trade. For although them is at present conducted, the LONDON GENUINE TEA COMPANY, 23, Ludgate-hill, with all its extensive ramifica ions. The success of this Campany is confessedly without parallel in the annals of trade. For although it commenced business so late as 1818, it is at present notwithstanding the importance and respectability of its competitors, at the head of the Tea Trade: its utility is indeed admitted, and its establishment company, have thought proper to honour it with their patronage, the Prayrietors feel assured that they may refer on this occasion for the superior character of their articles, and the consistent rectinude of their dealings; and resolving to make the same system the rule of their conduct in their new Establishment, they cannot doubt of success.

they may refer on this occasion for the superior character of their articles, and the consistent rectitude of their dealings; and resolving to make the same system the rule of their conduct in their new Establishment, they cannot doubt of success.

But having sensibly felt the good effect of that system, it would be a dereliction of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to themselves, to hazard their obvious interest by any departure from its principle, or by any relaxation of its character. Looking, in deed, to permanent reputation, which is essential to permanent print, they cannot allow any temporary expedient to interfere with their purpose.

Of course, then, they can never descend to obtrude any such promises as daily appear in the imposing placards which are so ostentationsly exhibited in almost every thoroughfare in tewn, with regard to "Cheap Wines," those Wines, though offered at a price for which they could not possibly be sold, were they really of the character or quality which they purpor to possess. But the solicitude of the LONDON WINE COMPANY shall be, in their new undertaking, what it has uniformly been in the Tea Trade, namely,—to render their Stock comparatively cheap rather by the superior quality of that Stock, than by disposing of an inferior article at a low price, which at any price mins the dear to the con-amer.

Thus, while the London Wine Company disclaimall affectation, their object being to establish an equitable reciprocity by securing a fair article for the Public, with a fair profit for themselves, the Proprietors hope to reduce that system of imposture, which, under the alluring guise of cheapness, has been too long prevalent; and thus, to accomplish that with respect to Wines, which they unquestionab; effected with respect to Teas.

The lamentable practice of adulterating. Wines, has, outset, that on no consideration shall Cape Wines ever be admitted into their Cellars.

The London Wine Company are amply supplied with PORTS of the generally esteemed best vintages, among which, they have a large Stock that has been from 1, to 32 years in hottle; while, to insure a supply of the finest FRENCH Wines, they have had a special Agent in that country upon whose skill and industry they can confidently rely, from the Wines which he has already forwarded.

But since this establishment has been in contemplation; and especially since preparations have commenced for bringing let to maturity, the Company have availed themselves of every opportunity that offered, for selecting the oldest and finest Wines from the cellars of the most eminent merchants in the City. They have happily too, met with occasions, peculiarly favourable to their object, among merchants retiring from business, and private gentlemen about to break up their establishments; and there is scarcely any eminent shipper, for the last thirty years, from whose importations the Company have not made purchases, under the guidance of the most competent judges of their new Establishment.

The London Wine Company will always keen a Stock of Foreign Spirits.

their new Establishment.

The London Wine Company will always keep a Stock of Foreign Spirits, which may be depended upon as being of genuine and superior qualities, and which will be sold at equitable Prices; both wholesale and retail.

Such are the grounds upon which the Proprietors of this Company take leave to solicit the patronage of the Public.

The Character of the London Genuine Tea Company affords it is presumed, a sufficient guarantee to gentlemen resident in the Country, or to families occasionally visiting Town, for the punctual and faithful execution of any orders with which they may be pleased to favor the London Wine Company.

of any orders with which they may be pleased to favor the London Wine Company.

This Company think it project to state, that they can execute no orders for less than one dozen of Wine.

The following is a statement of the Company's Wines, with their Prices; Fine Port (old in the wood)

Ditto, warranted vintage [1915 (ditto)

Crusted Bottled Port

State To 2s.

Superior of didito, 5 to 8 years in bottle

State Of Guineas

Old Port in wood

Port old Sherry

Per dozen 46s.

Superior of d Pale ditto

State Of State Office

State Office

Particularly soit-flavoured Amontillado

Carions old Sherry, 15 years in bottle

Carions old Sherry, 15 years in bottle

Particularly soit-flavoured Amontillado

State Office

Particularly soit-flavoured Amontillado

Soit Soit Soit Soit Soit Soit Particularly soit Soi

arets, first growth, Margot and Lafitte £5 to £5 158.
atour 5 Guineas lite and Red Hermitage 5 Guines aute ne 75s. to 90s.
areac
oti Rotie £5 10s.
rontignac£4
hampagne 90s. to 7 Guineas uperior curious Burgundy 5 to 7 Guiness ock 4 to 8 Guineas

TO ALL WHO VALUE THEIR SIGHT.—The Sight of the aged restored, the weak Sight strengthened, and the perfect Sight preserved to extreme old age, upon unerring principles, by DRADBERRY.

PATENT SPECTACLES, established thirty years.—To be had only at 28, Holles street, Oxford street, (oxposite Hanover square), the first door out of Oxford-street, on the left hand, and at no other place in the United Kingdom. Orders from the country will be immediately attended to. Removes from 332, Oxford-street.

LONDON MARKETS.

CORN EXCHANGE, FRIDAY, Nov. 23.

There has been a fair supply of Wheat since Monday; and a considerable portion of that day's arrival remaining over on account of its inferior quality, the sales were exceedingly heavy, and for this description full is, per quarter lower; the better soris also barely support Monday's prices.—Fine Barley maintains its price, but the coarse ordinary sorts can scarcely be got off at a reduction of is, per quarter.—The Oat trade is very dull, and about is per quarter cheaper, the arrival this week being rather large.—In Beans and Pease there is little alteration in value.

BETURN PRICE of GRAIN.

RETURN PRICE of G	RAIN, on board Ship, as under.
DASSAN MECH AN HEAL ( DOWN) 404	for Mania
J AME 4 . 1.5 . 3 . 4 . 4 . 4 . 4 . 4 . 4 . 4 . 4 . 4	55. White ditto
Cold at a case of the case of the case of the f	the Railers
MOREN TE MILET DOWN	he i Amali Rainy
* Association	Os. Clid
Department of the second of th	Man Tark Hearns (many)
Rye	74s. Old
Barley	10s. Feed Oats
Fine 26s	27s. Poland ditte
Superiume	294   Pine
Medit	Os l'estatne ditto
F 410	069 1 170
1105 1 0000	And the experience has been proportionally been a second
THE PARTY OF THE P	THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE

HE GENERAL AVERAGE PRICES of BRITISH CORN, as re-weekly from the Inspectors in the Maritime Cities and Towns in En-and Wales, according to the Gazette of the 24th of November, calcula-follows:—

follows:-eenbaal average which governs importation.
Wheat, 55s 4d—Barley, 25s 5d—Oats, 19s 8d—Rye, 24s 4d—Beaus, 25s
Pease, 30s 7d.

	A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR
PRICES OF GOI	D AND SILVER.
Portugal Gold, in Coino 0 9 p. 62. Poreign Gold in Bars 3 17 101 New Doubloons 0 0 0	Silver in Bars Stand 0 0 A
COURSE OF EXCHA	NGE FRIDAY, Nov. 23.
Amsterdam   12 13 C.F.  Ditto at Sight   12 10  Rotterdam   12 14  Antwerp   12 7  Hamburgh   37 6  Altona   37 7  Paris, 3 days Sight   25 60  Ditto   25 90  Bordeaux   25 90  Frankfort on Main   156  Petersburg   3 U  Vienna   10 18 Ess. 60	Trieste

COMMERCIAL REPORT, FROM THE 19TH NOVEMBER, TO THE 24TH NOVEMBER.

Such a continuance of gloom and despondency, has perhaps never been experienced in the Commercial world, and the repetition of the been experienced in the commercial world, and the repetition of the calamitous consequences, is truly appalling; but, as prices of all descriptions of produce, are now settled so extremely low, and as there is evidently an increased demand, we have every reasonable ground for anticipating a gradual improvement in all the ramifications of business.—We have again to record an active demand in Plantation Sugars. Good scale qualities are difficult to be met with, Plantation Sugars. Good scale qualities are difficult to be met with, and have commanded an advance of 2s. per cwt. The qualities below 58s. sustain the full prices of last week. The stock is 4,321 casks less than last season, and prices 6s. to 7s. per Cwt. lower; a very favourable opinion still attaches itself to this commodity. Refused goods have enjoyed more attention. Large Lumps, 75s. to 76s. Single Loaves, Brown, 78s. to 80s.; Middling, and Good Middling, $2s. to 86s.; Fine Middling and Fine, 88s. to 98s. Crusted Sugars for immediate shipment, 33s. to 40s.; extensive contracts have been entered into for the spring delivery. Molasses, 23s. Only two insignificant sales of Coffee have taken place, from which, and the business done by private, Plantation Descriptions may be stated 2s. higher, and foreign without alteration. Rums are in good request, at the extreme prices of last week, which is also the case with Brandies. The Cotton Market remains in a quiescent state, without however any depreciation. Advices from Liverpool, state that more business was doing, with some prospect of an augmented currency. The latest accounts from the United States, represent the Cotton Crop as having sustained very considerable injury by the heavy rains. Extensive operations have taken place in Tallows, which have established an improvement of 1s. per cwt. Yellow Candle, 43s. 6d.; Petersburg, Soap, 38s.; Archangel, 40s. 6d. From all appearances, the value of this article has not only seen its minimum point, but is on the eve of a considerable advance. minimum point, but is on the eve of a considerable advance.

HOME CONSUMPTION-DUTIES PAYABLE UPON THE FOLLOWING

Sugar, British plantation, 27s. per cwt.; ditto East India, 37s.; Coffee, British plantation, 1s. per lb.; ditto East India, 1s. 6d.; Cocoa, ditto, 1s.; Pimento, 1od.—Cotton, 6 per cent. ad valorem; ditto West India, free; Tobacco, 4s. per lb.; Rice, from America and Java, 15s. per cwt.; ditto from other parts, 5s.; Tallow, 3s. 2d.; Tea, under 2s. per lb.100 per cent.; ditto, above 2s. per lb.96 per cent.; Rum, 11s. 74d. per gallon; Brandy and Geneva, 18s. 10d.; Wine, Port, 7s. 7d.; ditto Madeira, 7s. 3d.; ditto Cape, 2s. 64d.; ditto Sherry, 7s. 7d.

	Es of t	he PUB	LIC FU	INDS.	STATE OF
STOCKS.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thur.	Frid.	Sat.
Bank Stock	240	5103	210	239	2394	100
per Cent. Reduced		779	774	771	274	774 1
3 per Cent. Consols	78	781	784	781	753	784 8
34 per Cent Cousols	88	275	87	88	873	873
Consols for Account	781	10.1	781	784	781	238
4 per Cent. Consols	964	96	964	963	964	2.3
5 per Cent. Navy	-	111	111	1103	1163	1107 4
Bank Long Annuities	-	193	194	193	191	191
India Bonds	73 p	73 p	72 p	66 p	76 p	69 P
Exchequer Bills, 2d	4 p	5 p	4 p	10	3 p	13p
Ditto, 21d	-	-	1		HOME !	September 1
Omntum		-	-	1400	以	100-11

BIRTHS.

At Rathmines-read, on the 15th inst, the Lady of Captain Murer, Royal Fusileers, of a daughter.

At Ballinasloe, on the 13th inst, the Lady of James Stanley Ireland, Esc. 6th Royal Veteran Battalion, of a daughter.

6th Roval Veteran Battalion, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

On Thursday, the 22d inst. by the Rev. G. T. Edison. George Stebbing Sadler, Esq. of Langham, in the county of Essex, Captain in the West Essex Militia, to Louisa, cldest daughter of Peter Firmin, Esq. of Dedham, in the same county.

On Tuesday last, at South Stoke, near Bath, Captain George Gosling, R.N. to Felicia Jane, daughter of the Rev. Class. Johnson, Prebend of Wells, On Tuesday, at Melksham, Henry, youngest son of the Hon. Col. Seymour, to Charlotte, youngest daughter of the late Sir Samuel Whitcombe.

On Tuesday, the 13th inst. at St. Mary's, Carlisle, Sir F. T. Morshead, Bart, to Jane, second daughter of Robert Warwick, Esq.

On Friday, the Right Hon. Sir J. Mansfield, aged S8, late Chief Justice of the Common Pleas.

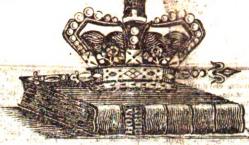

On Friday, the Hight Hon. Sit J. Andrew Holl. Bucks, Sir Thos. Sheppard, the Common Pleas.

On Wednesday last, at his seat, Thornton Hall, Bucks, Sir Thos. Sheppard, Bart, in the 76th year of his age.

On Friday last, in Ennis. Lieut. Crabb, of the 40th Regt.
On the 8th last, at Nice, Mary Anne, the wife of Major Ste, ney Cowell, of the Coldstream Guards.

LONDON: Printed and Published by R. 1. WEAVER, at No. 11, JOHNSON'S COURT, FLEET-STREET, when only Communications to the Edi'or, (post paid) are received.

· OFFICE

The second second

" FOR GOD, THE KING, AND THE PEOPLE!"

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1821.

Price 7d.

NEW MUSIC.—THE CORONATION.

THE OVERTURE,, with the favourite AIRS in the GRAND CORONATION, as performed with unbounded applause at the Theatre Royal Drikry Lane, composed and arranged for the Plano Forte, by T. Cooke, price 3x.—Published and sold by Chappell, and Co. Music Sellers to His Majesty, No. 50, New Bond-street.

Test published by CLEMENTI and Co. 26, Cheapside; a Second Edition of ORENZO TO JESSICA. An Original English Air, now singing with unbounded applause by Mrs. Salmon; the (words from a Seene in the Merchant of Venice), by W. P. Collard; the Symphonies and accompaniments by J. C. Clifton. Price 2s.

FWELVE MONPERRINAS, for the Piano Forte, composed by Munic Diementi, Op. 49. Price 5s.

FY Thragreesbi cand familia style of the little pieces, w be found seeptable to all classes of periormers.

THREE SONATAS, comprised for the Piano Forte, and dedicated to L. Cherabini, by M. Clementi, Op. 59: Price 10s. 6d.

NEW MUSIC.—Published by MAYHEW and Co. 17, Old Bond street.

FW MUSIC.—RIALLMARK'S universally-admired Variations on the favourite Air, "Cease your Funning," adapted for two performers on the Piano Forte, by D. Bruguier, price 3s.—The relebrated commant, "Miss Sherrard's Recreation," so much admired as a Plano Forte besson, arranged as a Duet for the Harp and Piano Forte, by the Author, Jahn Paddon, price 5s.—Latour's favourite "Le Retour de Windsor," arranged as a Duet for two Performers on the Piano Forte, by D. Bruguier, price 5s.—The popular Hungarian Air, arranged with interesting Variations, for the Performers on the Piano Forte, by J. Jay, M.D. price 3s.—Bieldieuie Aventic Overture, "Bu Galife de Bagdad," arranged as a Duet for two Performers on the Piano Forte, by J. Jay, M.D. price 3s.—Bieldieuie aventic Overture, "Bu Galife de Bagdad," arranged as a Duet for two Performers on the Piano Forte, by J. Jay, M.D. price 3s.—Bieldieuie are particularly recommended to the notice of the Musical World, being all anged by the first Masters of the present age.—London: Published by Maylew and Co, Music Sellers to her Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent, 17, 16 Bond-attivet, where may be obtained every New Musical Publication.

Did Bond atreet, where may be obtained every New Musical Publication.

NEW MUSIC.—Just Published by MONZANI and HILL, Music Sellers in ordinary to His Majesty, No. 28, Regent-street, Piccadilly.

UL MARGINE, with Variations for Flute, and Plano Rorte.

Accompaniments, by Berbiguler, price 48. Call's Sepenata, No. 1 for Plute and Plano Forte, 58. Di tanti palpiti, with Variations, by Mezani, 3s. 4 Fourth 8 et of 24 favourite Melodies, arranged as Trios for two Plutes and Plano Forte, by H. Hill, Ds. 6d. Dussekis Grand Trios for two Plutes and Plano Forte, by H. Hill, Ds. 6d. Dussekis Grand Trio, Op. 65, for Plane Forte Plute, and Violoncello, 7s. Muzart's Sonatas, Op. 2, Nos. 1 to 6, as Trios For Ditto, Frice each 4s. Bitto, No. 1, Op. 15, for Ditto, 4s. Ditto, Trio, Nov. 44, for Ditto, 1s. Rasett's Trio, No. 1, for Ditto, 5s. Twelve Pieces from Russin's Operas of Tancred et L'Italiana, in Algieri, arranged as Trios for three Fintes, by Kuffner, price 8s. Mozart's Opera, Il Dos Glevanni, arranged as Quartetts for Flute, Violin, Tenor, and Violoncello. Act 1 mid 2, each 12s. Ditto, Le Nozze di Figaro, for ditto, Acts 1 and 2, each 12s. The above two Operas may also be had as Quartetts for two Violins, Tenor, and Violoncello. Russin's Diamatic Overtures, Nos. 1, 2, 3, arranged as Quintetts, with an additional Bass or Plano Forte, by H. Hill, price 12s. Roubers's Symphonies, Nos. 4, 5, and 6, arranged as Ditto, by Ditto, price 21s.

THE HUSSARS.—Just pablished, a New Edition of HE HUSSARS' QUADRILLES, composed and dedicated to the Right Hon. Gen. Lord Stewart, K.G. by M.C. Mortellari, 3s. The 17th No. of Paine of Almack's Quadrilles, 4s. New Editions of PAIN R of ALMALK'S QUADRILLES, from 1 to 16, each No. separate, 4s. the whole complete, bound, 11. 15s.—The following NEW DUETS for the HARP and PIANO FORTE.—Four b Edition of Zitti, Zitti, Piano, Piano, 4s.; and DI tanti palpiti, 4s. by Stell. Fra tante Angoscie palpiti, by Anseft, 4s. Third Edition of O Pescator dell'onda, by F. Latour, 4s.—Published at Talkner's Opera Music Warehouse, 3, Old Bond street.

Talkner's Opera Music Warehouse, 3, Old Bond street.

**NEW-MUSIC FOR THE PIANO FORTS.**

IS MAHESTY'S WELCOME HOME, a Set of new Quadrille, in which are introduced the cylebrated La Gigne, La Gavoline, and Le Majestuese; also King George the Fourth's Hanoverian Waltz, as danced at the Foreign Courts, selected and navanged, with proper figures by Javad Johnstone, price is. Le Pour de Hanover, Ichada a la Valescontessed by J. W. Hoider, Mus. Bart Oxon, price 3s. Sestette, with accombaniments for two Violizas, Viola, Violoncello, and Basts, composed by Fred. Kalebrenner, Op. 53, price 8s. "Tu sei el mio dolce amore," Air, with Variations, composed by J. Maschells, price 3s. 6d. "When thy bosom heaves a sigh," composed by Mr. Braham, arranged as an Introduction and Boado, by G. Kialimark, price 2s. 6d. "Chatouilher Foreille," or petit Divertiement, by J. W. Holder, price 2s. 6d. A Soldier's Gratitude, Air, by Blebop, arranged as a Roado, by T. H. Butter, price 2s. 6d.

Published by Goulding, D Almain, Potter, and Co. 20, Soho-square.

Published by Goulding, D'Almain, Potter, and Co. 20, Soho-square.

NEW VOCAL MUSIC.

In a few days will be published by Goulding, D'Almain, and Co. Soho-square,

WELONIES of VARIOUS NATIONS, with Symphonies and Accompaniments for the Piano Forte, by H. R. Bishop; the Poetry by
T. Bayley, Esq. (Author of Rough Sketches of Bath), price, to Subscribers, 12s. to Non-Subscribers, 15s. Also, the whole of the Music as performed at the Theatre Royal, Covent Garden, in "The Two Gentlemen of Verona," composed by H. R. Bishop, price 15s. As above may be had Parry's Selection of Storch Songs, with Symphonics and Accompaniments for the Piano Porte, several of which are harmonized for two and three voices, in three Books, price each 5s.

He DISCOURSES of SIR WILLIAM JONES, delivered before the Asiatic Society, on the Religion, Poetry, Literature, &c. of Nations of India.

London: Printed for W. H. Carpenter, Lower Brook-street.

IRISH PILLAR TOWERS.

Just published, in royal 8vo. illustrated with Plates, price 10s. boards,
N. HISTORICAL and CRITICAL INQUIRY into the Origin and Primitive Use of the IRISH PILLAR TOWER.—By Col. DE MONTMORENCY. MORRES.
London: Printed for Sherwood, Neely, and Jones, Paternoster-row; and C. P. Archer, Dublin.

Just published by Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, price 18s.

Just published, by Baldvein, Cradick, and Joy, pfice 18s.

AURICE POWELL; an Historical Welsh Tale of England's Troubles. In Three Volumes.

THE BRITISH REVIEW, No. XXXVI. published Dec. 1, contains the following Subjects: -I. Don Juan, Cantos 3, 4, and 5.—H. Sketches of the Domestic Manners and Institutions of the Romans—H. Lady Morgan's Italy.—IV. Sir R. Ker Porter's Travels into Georgia, Persia, Armenia, &c.—V. A Brief Memoir of the late Rev. Wm. Richardson, of York.—V. Dr. Copleston's Inquiry into the Doctrines of Necessity and of York.—VI. Dr. Copleston's Inquiry into the Doctrines of Necessity and Predestination.—VII. History of George Desmond.—VIII. Travels of Cosmo III. through England, in 1669,—IX. Vindicite Apocalypticm, Gauntlet's Exposition of the Book of Revelation.—X. State of the Foreign Slave Trade, Reports of the Directors of the African Institution, and numerous other London: Published by Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, Paternoster row; and Batchard and Son, Piccadilly.

Just published, price II. 6s. 1 ound,

Just published, price II. 6s. 1 ound,

TOCKDALE'S CALENDAR for 1822, containing—I. The Royal Calendar.—II. The Almanack.—II. The Companion to the Calendar.—IV. The Peerage, with the Arms of the Peers.—V. The Baronetage, with the Arms of the Baronets.

Printed for William Stockdale, 179, Piccadilly.

The Peerage and Baronetage contain the late creations.

Just published, in Syo, printed on the best paper.

N improved DIARY; or, LAW and COMMERCIAL REMEMBRANCER for 1822, containing, besides the Disry, a variety of useful and authentic information. Price half bound, 3s 6d.; enlarged Edition, containing half a page for each day, 4s, 6d.; extra cularged, con-takining a page for each day, 7s.

Limion: published and sold by Edward Dunn, Ne. 9. Fleet street, nearly opposite Chartery-hance, and may be had of any Bookseller or Stationer.

Just published, handsomely printed in 2 vols, royal 4to, embellished with Portaits and other Engravings by the first Artists, price 5t. 15a, 6d. bds.

MEMOIRS of JOHN EVELAN, E.o. the celebrated Author of Sylva, &c. Written by Himself. Easied by WM. BRAY, Esq. This extremely curious and interesting work is printed from the original MSS. in the Library at Wotton, it roughtses, by disry, with observations on men and manners; the pultites itterature, and selected of his age, during his travels in France and Italy; his residence of England towards the latter part of the Protectorate, and his comexion with the Courts of Charles II, and the two subsequent reigns, interpoeraed what a vast number of original anicolotes of the most celebrated persons of the protectorate, and his comexion with the Courts of Charles II, and the two subsequent reigns, interpoeraed what a vast number of original anicolotes of the most celebrated persons of the protector of silver anicolotes of the most celebrated persons of the vast number of original anicolotes of the most celebrated persons of the protector of the Memoirs are subjoined original letters from SIF Edward the for that reign, with the kings aniswers: also selections from the cert-bondonce of John Ryelyn, and numerous letters from SIF Edward Hydron and Charendon) to SIF Rdw. Nicholas, and to SIF Elchard Brown, Ambas stor to France Graing the exile of the British Court.

Printed for Heary Colbern and Committeet.

THE NEW MONTHEY MAGAZI E., No. 12, for Dec. 1, centains the following Gragous papers:—

1. Preface; by the Rditor, on the conductors in the 12th No.—II, On the Superstitions of Highlanders and Londoners.— The Traveller.—IV, Milk and Honey, or the Land of Promise.—V. 10.

As and V. Leibran Agost by M. Sismondi.—VIII. Social Converse.—V. 10.

As V. Carlaman Sophita in the British Mag. 0.—XVIII. Charman Pophita and Traditional Literature.—VII. On the English Letter of Don Leucadio Dohlado.—XIV. Histo to Young Authors.—XVIII. Lines written in a small Volume; the giff of a d

XX. To Leita.—XXI. Fortune's Floribuses. 2.XI. Song—XXIII. Thanks for a Place.—XXIV. Song from the Italian.—XXV. Sonmets by Month, &c. Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Conduit accest; and sold by all Booksellers.

Lately published, in & See a price iss.

THE HERMIT in the COUNTRY. By the Author of "The Hermit in Logisms." Quite weary grown.

Quite weary grown.

Of all the follies of the town.

And sceing in all public plate.

The same vain fors, and public plate.

The same vain fors, and public plate.

The published, in 2 vois. Syo. **mbellished.** to 18 Portraits, price 31s. 6d. boards the Second Fifting of Country and FAMILY.

This work will be mund to about its relations of those peculiar traits of character for which his Majest wet; an distinguished during his long and eventful roign, and which have subjected bits personal history so remarkably attractive. It also continues at citer collection of original ancedotes of filastrious and distinguished becrow than has every et been submitted to the correstive of the public.

Printed for Henry Colbarn are Co. Conduit street.

Preparing for publication by subscription, blusted, by pelmission, to this Majest, and pelation to Art, Science, ander supmore.—By ISBN Phillides. A surral History, and pelation to Art, Science, ander supmore.—By ISBN Phillides. A surral History, and pelation to Art, Science, ander supmore.—By ISBN Phillides. A surral History, and pelation to Art, Science, ander supmore.—By ISBN Phillides. Subscribers has the boards. The subscription is declivery of the vapies. Subscribers names received by Des Author of the Fornation and Co. Conduit-street.

Finds de hoards. The subscription is a baying of entire for the vapies. Subscribers names received by Des Authors of persons of A flection.—Weakness of Temper.—Disputes whis a serve Prival Occasions—Also jute Quarrets.—Fickleiness of Dispussions—On the Beresco of A flection.—Weakness of Temper.—Disputes whis as an Prival Occasions—Also jute Quarrets.—Fickleiness of Dispussions—On the Beresco of A flect

2. COUNTRY NEIGHBOURS: or The SECUET. By Miss BURNEY, Second Edition, 2 vols. 16s.
3. SCHEMING, a Novel, 3 vals. 21s.
4. PALMYRE et FLAMINE. Par Med. DE GENIAS, 2 vols. 8s.
5. PETRARCH and LAURA, by the came Author, 2 vols. 10s. 6d.

4. PALMYRE et PLAMINE. Par Med. DE GENDAS, 2 yols, 3s, 5. PETRARCH and LAURA, by the rame Author, 2 vols, 4os. 6d.

Just published, pice 4s. 6d.

THE MOTHER'S MEDICAL ASSISTANT, containing Practical Instructions for the Trevention and Treatment of the Diseases of INFANTS and CHILDREN. By Sir ARTHUR CLARKE, M.D. &c. Author of an Essay on Bathing on Diseases of the Skin, &c. In this little treatise the Author, has emissioned to communicate the results of considerable experience and observation in an unadorned and familiar manner, with a view of producing, an useful compondium for mothers, as far as possible divested of technical are sejestific language.

Printed for Henry Colbura and Co. Conduct street, and sold by Bell and Bradfute, Edinburgh, and John Cumming, Dublin, ORESPONDENCE Of DAVID HUME, the HISTORIAN, with several distinguished Persons: now first published from the Originals in the possession of the Editor 4to. 11, 11s. 6d.

2. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by als Grandson, 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

4. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by the Grandson, 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

4. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by the Grandson, 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

4. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by the Grandson, 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

4. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by the Grandson, 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

4. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by the Grandson, 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

5. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by the Grandson, 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

6. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Originals, by the Grandson, 2 vols, 8vo. 28s.

7. CORRESPONDENCE OF BENJA WIN FRANKLIN, Li., D. F.R.S. &c. Published from the Original S to complete sets.

"The stores contained in this work are inexhaustible."—Monthly Rev.
5. CORPESPONDANCE de MADAME D'EPINAY, ou elle donne des Det.ils sur ses Liaisons avec Ducley & J. Rousseau, Grimm, Diderot, le Baron d'Holbach, Saint Lambert, Maday ed Houtetot, et autres Personnages celebres du dix huittene Sicele, 3 vols. Sco. 30s.
6. LETTERS of KLOPSTOCK and his FRIENDS. With a Biographical Introduction, by Misa BENUER: Forming a Sequel to Misa Smith's Life of Klopstock Svo. 10s. 6d.

blie of Klopstock, 802, 108, 64.

VENTILATION of CLOSE JARRIAGES His Majesty's Letters Patent have been obtained for a MODB of VENTILATING CLOSE CARRIAGES. By this method the air in the Carriage is traintained in as pure a state when the Glasges are up as when down. Carriages may be Ventilated upon this plan, at a serve triding expense, by application at No. 20. Ludgate Hill, nearly opposite Old Bailey.

SMIRKE'S SHAK-PEARE, No. 3.

On December 14, will be published.

ILLUSTRATIONS of MERRY WIVES of WINDSOR, being the Taird Namber of LLUSTRATIONS of SHAK-PEARE, from Pictures painted expressly for this work by ROBERT SMIRKE, Esq. R. A. Engraved in the finest style by the most emipent Historical Engravers. The Play illustrated is published at the same time.

No. 4, "Twelfth Night," will appear early in February.

Printed for Rodwell and Martin, New Bond-street; and sold by Colsaghi & Co. Cockspur-street, and the principal Booksellers in the United Kingdom.

OGARTH'S ORIGINAL WORKS.—An "Addition of PLATES to those Published by himself, and not in his works more recently republished by the late Messrs. Boydell and Co; printed on 25 half sheets of grand Eagle Paper, price Five Guineas.—Published by Robert Wilkinson. 125, Fenchurch-street. Where also may be had, the following Original Works of Mr. Hogarth, not included in the above, viz.—The SEALING of the SEPULCHRE, ALTAH-PIECE of ST. MARY RADCLIFF. In the CITY of BRISTOL, 23 inches by 25 inches, price 15s.—The RESURRECTION of CHRIST, in ditto, same size, price 15s.—CHARLEMAGNE'S CROWN, price 2s. 8d.—FRONTISPIECE to ARTIST'S CATALOGUE, price 3s. 6d.—TAIL PIECE to ditto, price 2s. 6d.—Likewise Copies of some of his Original Works; and two Plates Burleaque of that Artist; the subjects are, Hog—gas; WI—k.—s, and Church—ill, price 2s. each.

Just published.

price 3. 8d.—TAIL PIKCE to ditto, price 2s. 8d. Likewise Copies of some of his Orlinal Works; and two Plates Buriesque of that Artist; the subjects are, Mog.—88s; Wi—k.—s. and Church. ill, price 2s. each.

Just published.

LIACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE, No. LVII.

for November, 1821.

Contents:—d. On the probable Inducace of storal and Religious Instruction on the Character and Situation of Seamen, No. III.—II. Prince Charless Edward Stwart, and Ode on his Birth-Jay, 20th December, 1746. By Dr. Isaacs of Exeter.—III. The Mun in the Pell.—IV. On Copie-done's Inquiry into the Doctrines of Necessity and Predestination, Letter II.—V. Soilg, by Morgan O Doberty.—VI. Latia Prosody from England.—VII. The Vyages and Traivels of Columbus Secundus, Chapters XV. and XVI. Letth Races. Capter XVII. Christopher Columbus is disturbed by a Ghosti.—VIII. Private Note, to all whom it may concern.—IX. Treason.—X. Leuthing and fiberality of the Blue and Yellow.—XI. The #True Pedant a Sketch.—XII. Mr. Barker's Reboit Contenus, to the Expostulation Unnecessary.—XIII. Letter from Bill Truck the Christopher North, Esq.—XIV. The Man-of Wars Man. Chapter II.—XV. Letter from Pogarty of Pogarty, Esq.—XVII. Daniel PRantise, Canto VI. Tae. *Pail of Water.—XVII. Brief Abstract of Mr. O'Fogarty's Journal.—XVIII. The Xellow Leaf.—XIX. Letter from Mr. Stuffiebotham.—XX. A True and Perfect Account of the Landing of King George the Fourth in Ireland.—XXI. The Good Town.—XXIII. On the Scholastic Doctors.—XXIII. The Kingtrauts' Voyage to Casada.—XXIV. Transiation from Ossian.—XXV. Repire et Noir, a Poem.—XXVII. Monthly Lists of New Publications.—XXIX. Mentally Register, &c.

Printed for T. Cadell, Sirand, Loudon: and Wm. Blackwood. 17, Prince's-steed, Edinburgh.

In order to please all our Friends, whether Correspondents or Patrons, we shall indulge them with another extra Number, to orooncheir Christians of December.—Editor's Episte General.

Jast published, in 2 vols. 8vo. with a Portrait, price II. 1s. in boards, on a projected Restriction of w

Brown, Paternoster-row.

JUVENILE LIBRARY and GENERAL DEPOT of BOORS,
And other instructive and samising Schemes for Youth;
ARRIS and SON having, in several recent Advertisements, innounced the numerous Publications they have completed for the instruction and anuscement of Youth, now-beg to solicit the attention of the Public to inspect them at the CORNER O. SAINT PJULS CHUICH, YARD, where the usual variety of CHRISTMAS PRESENTS and NEW FEAR'S GHT'S may be had.
HZ Rootsellers, Stationers, Toy Shops, and other dealers, in Juvenile Works, are informed, that a Catalogue of their Publications may be had by application as above, and a liberal allowance made on all orders reserved.

FOR YOUNG PERSONS.

application as above, and a liberal abovance unde or all orders reserved.

FOR, YOUNG PERSONS.

Just published, or manufact with 24 Conner-plate Engravings, price 5s. plain, and 7s. 6d. coloured; in neat half binding.

FRUITS of FNTEUPERIZE, exhibited in the Travelsabi Belgranian Egypt and Nulis, intersysted with the these validation of a Medicar to her Children—By the Author of the "Indian Cabinet," Printed for Harris and Son. Corner of St. Paul's Church-yard, where may be had, just published,

2. THEODORER: or, the CRUSADERS, by Mrs. HOFFLAND, with 24 Engravings, price 5s. plain, and 6s. 6d. coloured.

Bugravings, price 5s. plain, and 6s. 6d. coloured.

3. POLAR SCENES, exhibited in the Voyages of Heamskirk and Barenz to the Northern Regions, with 36 Engravings, price 5s plain, and 6s. 6d. coloured.

LAST NIGHT'S GAZETTE.

WAR-OFF ICE, 30th Nov. 1821.
3d Regt of Drag. Guards-Lieut. Hen. G. R. Abercromby to be Lieut.

on trees vice Grav.

7th Ditto Cornet G. T. Greenland to be Cornet, vice Kelly.

4th Reg, of Light Drags.—Ass.—Surg. R. Greig, M.D. to be Ass.—Surg. vice ardiner. Sth. Ditto—Sub-Lieut. Lord F. Convugham to be Lieut vice Ellis. 12th Ditto—Cornet J. R. Broadhead to be Lieut, vice Hay.—A. Davies, likh Ditto-Cornet J. R. Friedman to S. C. Britania (Sect. to be Cornet, vice Kennedy.

18th Ditto-Lieut, G. Schreiber to be Captain, vice Western.—Cornet J.
Lesiledo be Lieut, vice Schreiber.—W. B. F. Sharpe, Gent. to be Cornet, Lesties be Lieut. vice Schreiber. —W. B. F. Sharpe, Gent. to be Cornet J. Lesties be Lieut. vice Schreiber. —W. B. F. Sharpe, Gent. to be Cornet, vice Lestie.

19th Ditto—Lieut T. Walker to be Capt. vice Georges.

7th Regt. of Foot—Hosp. Ass. I. James to be Ass. Surg. vice Bulgan.

40th Ditto—Hosp. Ass. P. Coleman to be Ass. Surg. vice Bulgan.

40th Ditto—Cornet H. A. O. Neil to be Ensign, vice Grant.

55th Ditto—Cornet H. A. O. Neil to be Ensign, vice Grant.

55th Ditto—Lieut. P. E. Crazie to be Capt. vice Dickens.—Sec. Lieut. Lord E. Hay to be Lieut vice Craigis.

65th Ditto—Lieut. P. E. Crazie to be Capt. vice Lord Carmarthen.

59th Ditto—Lieut. N. Wilsen to be Capt. vice Alexander.

2d West India Regt.—Capt. C. Delahonssy to be Major, vice Macpherson.

Lieut. J. Maclean to be Capt. vice Delahonssy to be Major, vice Macpherson.

Lieut. J. Maclean to be Capt. vice Delahonssy vice Williams.

—Ass. Sarg. P. Duigan, M. D. to be Surgeon, vice Haskina.

Brevet—Major G. Dishrowe, of the 1st or Gren. Foot Guards, and Major.

Hon. A. J. H. Fitzgerald De Roos, to be Lieut. Cols. in the Army—Capt. J. W. Henderson, to be Major in the Army—Capt. D. Denham to be Major on the Continent of Africa only.

Hospital Staff—Ass. Surg. W. Barry, M.D. to be Surg. to the Forces, vice Gilder.—Hosp. Ass. W. White has been superseedd.

ERRATUM in the Gazette of the 17th ultimo.

4st Foot—For Lieut Hon. W. Horae, to be Lieut. real Lieut. Hon. W. Home, to be Lieut. For which has the County of Warreick.

Commissions in the Warwickshire Regular Militia, signed by the Lord Lieutenaxt of the County of Warreick.

BANKRUPTCES SUPERSEED.

BICHARD BINGHAM.

J. B. Smyth, Gent. and C. Brockman, Cept. to be Easigns.

BANKRUPTCIES SUPERSBEED.

RICHARD BINGHAM, clerk and banker. -ROBERT WROOTS, Sleaord, finen-draper. -ROBERT SEATON, Wentbridge, cotton-spinner.

LONGSTER, G. Highbury Tetrace, merchant.

ATTWOOD, A. Legningto, SURGEON.

LONGSTER. 6 Highbury Terrace, merchant.
ATTWOOD, A Lymington, surgeon.
MONKHOUSE, R. Neye Shoreliam, timber-merchant.
PAINE, B. Little Chart, Keat, paper maker.
CAMPART, W. H. Croyden, batter.
CLARKSON, J. Grace-hurch street, hatter.
NIBLOCK, J. and LATHAM, R. S., Bath, woollen-drapersBRAY, D. Plymouth Dock, victualler.
ARMISTEAD, J. Clapham, catton-spinner,
CROPPER, J. Great Peter-street, brewer.
HOUNSPIELD, J. catico-manufacturer.
LONGRIGG, I. Liverpool, linen-draper.
PISHER, jon. F. Leicester-square, surgeon.
KAY, T. Lambridge place, Walcot, auctioneer.
HOWARD, J. St. Martin's court, cordwainer.
CELLA, P. Moleford court, Pen-hurch-street, wine-u ercham'.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

PARTNERSHIPS DISSOLVED

Box and Chaplin, Buckingham, drapers.—J. and J. Hoomen, pur. Howarth, and Pardoc, Kiddermiuster, worsted manufacturers.—Binyon and Catforth, Newcastle upon Tyne, insurance brokers.—Best and Road, Little Britain, eletworkers.—Turner, Hyslop, and Gurrett, Percambuce, commission-merchants.—Hubday and Johnson, Birmingham, pawn-brokers.—Sandell and Newell, Newport, isle of Wight, brawers.—Holland and Liberwood, Roch dale, straw bonnet-makers.—Crowder, Lavie, and Oliverson, Fredericks-place, attornics.—Blenkhorn and Heppenstall, Wadworth, Yorkshire, farmers.—Bayfost and Wakeham, Primouth, manufacturers.—W. 206 G. Lyon, Wigan, Lancasbire, printers.

BANKRUPTS.

BAN

HTTCHIE, J. and J. and RICHARDSON, F. Walling sirest, wave-housemen.

STAFF, C. and W. W. Norwich, bombasine-manufacturers

DIVIDENDS

Dec. 28, J. Dingle, Charlestown, St. Austell, Conswall, ship-somer—Dec. 19, H. Wheatley, Coventry, slik-dyer—Dec. 19, R. Clements, Coventry, rib-bon-manufacturer—Dec. 18, J. Hollis, Goswell-street-load, stone-massen, Dec. 19, S. Wood, Botton, banker—Dec. 21, M. Hattersley, Billon with Harnegale, Yorkshire, inskeeper—Dec. 22, S. Garton, Woodstreet, slik-manufacturer—Dec. 22, R. C. Marr, Rathbone-place, linen-draper—Dec. 22, T. Little, Bodiam, Susser, grocer—Dec. 21, J. Harris, Redbridge, victualler,—Dec. 18, R. Rateliff, Monkwessmooth, ship-builder—Dec. 18, G. Watts, Chirhester, hatter—Dec. 18, T. Merrick, Frith street, merobant—Dec. 29, J. Cornwell, Kirton Fen, victualler,—Dec. 18, L. W. Williams, Fleetstreet, wise-merchant.

CERTIFICATES, Dec. 18.

T. H. Parker, King-tod, wing-sastribants—J. J. Roy, Wolsenhampton, teadcaler—T. Hayward, Cheltenham, builder,—J. Bourke, Albemarle street, wine and brandy-merchant.—T. Vernon, Towesler, grocer.—T. Joines, St. John-airest, stationer—J. Pethurst, Graphoook, Kent, draper—J. Billinge, Bristol, grocer—G, Shoobildge, Cheapaide, baller.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

Paris, Nov. 25.—M. Latour Manbourg, our Ambassador to Constantinople, has proceeded to Toulon, where he will embark. He bears, as a present to the Grand Seignior, two splendid crystal candelabras, eight feet high.

As article from Ausburg states, that the Minister of Hanover had, previous to the departure of his Majesty, presented him, in the name of the country, with 10,000 pieces of gold newly coined, intenden to pay the expences of the Monarch, which they whimsically enough state Lond Sidmouth had refused to do out of the public treasury of England.

The trial of Mazian, for the conspiracy of the 19th August, terminated yesterday, when the Chancellor of the House of Peers pronounced the sentence in a public sitting. Mazian is condemned to five years imprisonment, and to pay the expences of the process against him.

Previous to his departure for St. Helena, Napoleon deposited the sum of four millions francs in a banking-house. He has distributed it, by his will, between General Montholon, to whom he bequeaths two millions, and the Generals Bertrand, Drouot, Gourgand, and M. Las Cases, Doctor Automarchi, his Almoner, and several other persons who were attached to his service.

We learn from Berlin, that the rumours of peace; at least affits continuance for this season, become daily more consistent; but that in the event of a war between Russia and the Porte, the Count of Berlin has engaged to turnish as auxiliary corps of 30,000 men, or an equivalent in money.—Constitutionnel.

Nov. 17.—The Duke de Cadiz, the King's nephew, and son of his Royal Highness Don Francois de Paule, and Donna Louisa Charlotte, of Naples (sister of the Duchess de Berrri), died on the 15th inst. at the Royal residence of the Escurial.

Extract of a private letter:—At nine o'clock yesterflay evening, a throng assembled at the Puerta del Sol, and shouted incessantly, "Down with the Ministers!"—"Riego for ever!" The officer of the neighbouring post begged them to retire, otherwise he should be oblighed to force them to disperse. One of th some person of the mob, on which the guards turned out, and, surrounding them, took about 30 prisoners, amongst whom was a Lieut. Colonel.

Capt: Delamothe, sentenced to five years imprisonment, summoned to give evidence on the trial of Maziau, effected his escape from the custody of his conductors. The Captain, imalighting from the fiacre, and in the act of entering the prison of St. Pelagic, observed the traiteur, ordered his dinner, and then shutting the carriage door upon the two gendarmes, instantly took to his heels as fast as he could. They stared at each other, and during their embarrassment the fugitive had got clear off. The haissier, who was not, like his companions, encumbered with hage boots, and a ponderous sword, set out first, and the soldiers hobbled after him. They had not proceeded many yards before a curious mistake occurred. The soldiers asked an itinerant fruit, woman, if she had not just seen a person dressed in black running along the street. Yes!" replied the female, "there he goes—there?"—pointing to the Rue St. Victor. The gendarmes instantly set up the hie and cry against the poor huissier, who was hunted down by the populace like a wild beast, and got very roughly handled before his sluggish companions could get up to rescue him from the perilous situation in which they had inadvertently placed him.—The police are making domiciliary visits for his apprehension, but they have hitherto proved fruitless.

Stockholm, Nov. 2.—The following account has been in circulation here since yesterday:—"A very loud noise was lately heard during the night in the castle of Upsal. It was discovered that a stone having become loose, had fallen down, by which an opening was disclosed that led to a vault under the castle, the existence of which was entirely unknown. There have been found, it is said, two large iron chests, with considerable treasures. Near these chests was found the skeleton of a person who had been hanged, with some old articles of clothing; the skeleton, as well as the clothes, crumbl frighful catastrophe.

A private letter from Madrid, dated Nov. 14th, has the following paragraph:—"We appear upon the verge of a dissolution of our monarchy; well-informed persons say openly, that not only Cadiz and all Andalusia, but the provinces of Valencia, Arragon, Catalonia, and Galicia, are on the point of separating from the Capital, to form themselves into Federative. Republics. Our Clubists of the Fontana d'Or parade the streets by night, shouting Long live Riego, Emperor of the Spanish Republic? The Echo de Padilla, Journal of the Descamisudas (sans culottes), of this day, announces that the real revolution will take place in a month at the latest. This news may be premature, but it does great injury to the Loan."

The Spanish papers state that a dreadful accident occurred on the 31st of October.

jury to the Loan."

The Spanish papers state that a dreadful accident occurred on the 31st of October. A case relative to the liberty of the press was to be tried before the tribunal. It order to admit a great number of persons, it was thought advisable to hold the Court in the Convent of the Franciscans. The keeper of the Convent intimated his apprehensions, but he was not listened to. The floor soon gave way, and seventy persons were buried in the ruins.

Havannah papers state that the atmosphere was pure and the weather become cool, the cases of fever had consequently diminished; the number of cases was 32.

Deaths at New Ocleans for three days preceding the 28th ultime, seven.

The advices from Pernambuco, brought by the Active, within these few days past, represent that place as in an extremely agitated state. The insurgents, who, it is said, are three thousand strong, had cut off all communication with the interior, in consequence of which provisions had become excessively dear, while all business was totally at a stand, and the merchants' stores closed. Fath or Lina.—This event took place, according to the following despatch, which is dated head-quarters, Lima, July 19th, our the 10th of that month:—
"Bespatch of the General in Chief of the Liberating Arbiy of Peru, to the Most Excellent Supreme Director of the Republic.

"Most Excellent Supreme Director of the Republic."
"Most Excellent Supreme Director of the Republic.
"Most Excellent Supreme Director of the Propertion to the oppression which they have stiffered, testified in an unequivocal manner the class of freemen to which they belonged. The public papers which I have the honour to enclose, will afford your Excellent's a more extended account of the eyents which have taken place. The enemy continues his flight through the mountains, pursued by our cavalry and various parties which hair upon him. Desertion from his ranks has been immense, in spite of the precautious which have been taken to avoid it. The army under my command proceeds in conformity with the confidence which your Excellency has placed in the actificate of the Sartifices of Chili have not been useless to the liberty which it has conferred on its brothers in Poru. The Castle of Callao, in which there was left a garrison of 600 men, is closely blockaded by land and by sea. I expect in a few days its surfrender. God keep your Excellency for many years.

"JOSE DE SAN MARTIN."

"Head-quarters in Lima, July 1821.

To his Excellency the Capitain General, D. Bernardo O'Higgins, Supreme director of the State of Chili."

The Frederickton Examiner of the State of Chili. The Army in the formal consent of the Board of Physicians, has ariven notice that the town is restored t

IRELAND.

DISTURBED DISTRICTS.

We had scarcely recollect an instance of more horrible atrocity since the burning of Scullabogue in the last frish rebellion, than that which occurred on Monday night, at or near "the Seven Aeres," a farm so called, between Thorny Bridge and Glogheen, at the foot of Shevenaman, in this county. A farmer, named Edmend Shea, felt himself obliged, in consequence of the undertenants and cotters on his farm having refused either to pay their rent in money, or to labour for him in its discharge, to dispossess them, and to bring labourers to dig his potatoes from a neighbouring village. On the night of Monday last, his house and out-offices were surrounded by an armed banditti, who set fire to both at one and the same moment. In the former, were Shea, his wife, seven children, and three female servants; in the latter five labourers slept. Such of these unfortunate victims of brutal ferocity as attempted to escape from the flames, were fired at by those miscreants. Shea appears to have been the first to burst out on the assultants, but was instantly shot, and thrown back into the flames; another making a similar attempt, shared the same fate, and before the mirderers departed, every soul in the house was burned to death. The confiagration, which continued until a tate hour on Tuesday morning, was seen as a great distance; and one gentleman, asking a country man, whom he met on the road, two or three miles from the place, what could occasion such a fire, was answered with perfect uning frond, "Nothing, I suppose, but satisfaction they meet the poor people to were rurned out of their houses when they have a fundable the poor people to were rurned out of their houses their day? "Chommell therida."

The mames of the above unfortunate persons are as follow: Edmund Shea, many Shea, inn. Margaret Shea, Mary Power, William Rice, and three men unknown.—After an examination of witnesses by a Coroner's Jury, they returned a verdict of "Burnt to death by the wilful setting on fire of the hobse of Edmund Shea, on the night between t

Power, William Rice, and three men unknown.—After an examination of winesees by a Coroner's Jury, they returned a verdict of "Burnt to death by the willus setting on fire of the horse of Edmund Shep, on the night between the 19th and 20th of November instant."

'No information," says the Linster Journal, "could be obtained at the Inquest, except that the occupant of the farm-house adjoining that of the Ill-lated family, hearing the noise of the rowed of people, about twelve o'clock, got up, and soing outside of the house, fixed a pistol, which was answered by another shot, and a peremptory order to retire to his bed, if he valued his life, with which he deemed it wises to comply. The Spectacle of the nurdered group was the most revolting ever beheld, particularly the body of the pregant woman. It could be ascertained that they had been dressed, from which, it is conjectured, that they had given lastle to the assailants,"

On Wednesday night last, a party of men attacked the house of Murphy, near Cullabill, in the Queen's county, dragged out Murphy, and beat him so cruelly with spades, that in a short time they deprived him of life; after which they nearly severed his bead from his body with a billhook. The reason assigned for this arrocious outrage is, that Murphy prosecuted two persons who had stolen sheep from him, and who were convicted of that offence at the last Assignes. We have learned that two persons who had stolen sheep from him, and who were convicted to that offence at the last Assignes. We have learned that they one should be enough the contraction of being concerned in this shocking murder, —Kilkenny Paper.

By accounts which reached town yesterday, it appears, that a numerous party proceeded on Monday night, to the house of Jereminh Scully, who resided near Kanturk; having dragged him to a short distance from his house, they should be articles to the head of his house, have a surrounded by a party of armed men, who ordered him to walk towards his house, and elleged gaainst Scully was his being su eredict of "Willed Murco." was returned.

Fringiblom, commanding the County Linearick coal regiment, in Fringiblom, commanding the County Linearick coal regiment, in the Charles has also deffered the Suffict the Chres Allinia, both of which we inderstand, have been accorded.—On Sunday morning house of Thomas Farions, E.g., of Bullydamels, near Nowcaste, a this county, was attacked by a week numerous aganty. Mr. Indianate the Chres of the Chres ble; they were repeatedly commanded to harry, from a voice without.

A written notice was posted on the Chapel door of Rockhill, near Brury, on Sunday last, which was immediately forn down by the Rev. Henry Bevan: it cautioned all persons from paying rents, and particularly not a fraction to be paid to the Rev. Mr. Bevan for tythes—no landlord to attempt distraining cattle or goods for rents; if they do, they are to suffer the death of Major Going. It also commanded Mr. Bevan to return the sledge, to Wm. Kelly, and not aleniate from his promise made the night he was visited—The Field Officers of i e 79th Regiment, stationed in this Garrison, have received the Commission of the Peace for the County at large.—Captain Drought, appointed to command the Police, under the Peace Preservation Act for this City and Liberties arrived here yesterday; Lieut. Goshett, late of the 22d, is appointed his Secretary, and Mr. Dames, Chief Constable.—On Thursday might, the houses of John O'Brien, Patrick Hayes, and Matthew M'Namara, at Coonagh, in the North Liberties of this City, bordering the County of Clare, were attacked by a large number of persons, who took from each house a gan. They also searched other houses in the neighbourhood.—On Thursday hight last, at eleven o'clock, the house of Edmond Hinchy, wood-ranger to the Countess Downger of Ormond, at Ballynacourty, near Kilfinan, was a stailed by six armed men, who, in a most peremptory manner, denmanded his arma; he declared he had none, but those belonging to Lady Ormond, which he would surrender only with his life. On this they fired into the house; he returned the fire, or which they departed, but returned in about two hours with an increased party, and again demanded his arms, when he gave the same answer as before. They then attacked the door with a sledge, and fired in through the window shutters. Hinchy returned the fire, when they went to the rear of the house with crow-bars and sledges, on make an inlet there, while another party fired occasional shots through the doors and windows. Hinchy still continued firing, and, after some time, they thought fit to depart, asking bim for 25. 6d. to biry powder, which he also refused. On Sunday, as a party of the Dragoous passing through Kildorrery to Kilmallock, were refreshing themselves at the former villages two of their carbines and one sword were taken from the car. The same night, a large party of insurgents traversed from Kildorrery into this county, and broke open fine or ten houses; letween Red Chair and Castle Jilver, in two of which they got arms, and swore the inhabitants of the other houses as to the place where their arms are concealed, and where they knew any others to be. On Tuesday might, though nime Magistrates and Major Wilcocks had inet at Elton that day, to consider the best means of tranguillizing that part of the county, the insurgents had the audacity to assemble in a large body and attack the house of Mark Lynch, of Ballyfrutra, for his arms, which for a long time he refused; though repeated show were fired into the house, he did not surrender until the house was actually on fire in two places.—On Thursday night last, a party of Major Wilcocks's Bolice apprehended, near Glanduff, in this county, James Jourdan, charged with taking arms in the middle of the day, on the 11th inst. from Mr. George Sparling; there were about two pounds of gunpowder found concealed in his house, being more than the apparent value of all the rest of his property. And on the same day, one individual of that corps succeeded in apprehending, in a house in Newcastle, Thomas Hinchy, charged with the murder of the late Mr. Going. He was ap

COURT OF CHANCERY.

Thursbay.—The Lord Ghancellor having declared his intention to sit every day after term, (which ended yesterday) until the next seal, his Lordship accordingly came into Court this morning at 10 o clock. In consequence, however, of the petition in the matter of Howard and Gibbs, bankruptey being to be discussed in the Vice Chancellor's Court, the attendance of Counsel was extremely thin. Several causes having been called on, and the Counsel concerned in them being absent, the Lord Chancellor at length observed, that, in order to accommodate the suitors of the Court, he had appointed the time intervening between the last day of Term and the ensuing scal, to the hearing of Bankrupt petitions. It appeared, however, that his wish to get through the Bankrupt Petitions was likely to be defeated in consequence of the other branch of the Court having appointed to hear a Bankrupt Petition in the inatter of Heward and Gibbs on that day. His Lordship directed the Registrar in strike out of the paper every petition in which Counsel did not appear when it was called on.—Upon rising to be truck out of the paper, and would not appear; to be struck out of the paper, and would not appear; to be struck out of the paper, and would not appear; to be struck out of the paper, and would not appear; to be struck out of the paper, and would not allow it to be again restored. No man, he said, regarded so little as he did the wart of any marks of respect to himself personally; but whilst he had the honour to hold the Great Seal, he thought it was due to his office, and to those who might succeed him in it, that he should not permit himself to be treated in the manner he had been. He did not wish it to be understood that he was offended with any gentleman, or class of gentlemen in particular; but he would appeal to any person present, whether if the notice he had caused to he stuck ap in Court two or three weeks ago, had been attended to, he should have been left almost all the morning without the attendance of either S

COURT OF KING'S BENCH.

Monday.—The King v. Richard Blucow, Clerk.—This was an information filed by the Attorney-General against the defendant, a Lancashire Clergyman, for a libel on the late Queen.—The trial came on before Mr. Justice Holroyd at the last Assizes for the County of Lancaster, when the libel (which was first preached by the defendant in the church of St. Mark, Livergool, and afterwards printed under the title of "Substance of a Sermon preached by the Rev. Richard Blacow, &c.") was read in Court.—The Jury found a verdict of guilty.

The Chief Justice, addressing himself to Mr. Blacow, asked him if he had any affidavits which he was desirous of submitting to the Court?

Mr. Blacow—None, my Lord.

The Chief Justice—Mr. Denman, have you any affidavits?

Mr. Denman—No, my Lord; as the defendant offers no affidavit, neither shall l.

The Chief Justice—Has the defendant any thing to affect the stabil l.

The Chief Justice-Has the defendant any thing to offer in mitigation of punishment? (1) Mr. Blacow (bowing respectfully)—No, my Lord, nothing what

Mr. Denman Linder, the circumstances in which this cast tands, my Lord, I certainly shall not trespass on the time of the

The Court sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of 1001.; to be imprisoned for six months in the King's Bench Prison; to find surctices for five years, himself in 5001, and two surctices in 1001, each.

The King v. Davie and Another.—These defendants, David Graves Davie and Samuel Adam Suowden, who were before the Court on the 16th inst. to receive the sentence, for the offence of wilful and corrupt perjury (the particulars of which have been already stated), and the case having been then adjourned until this day, they were now brought up, and after hearing affidavits as to character, in mitigation of punishment, and Mr. Adolphus on their behalf.—The Court adjudged them to be imprisoned in the Middlesex House of Correction for one month, and at the expiration of that time to be severally transported for seven years.

The King v. Richard Forcs.—The defendant, who had pleaded milty to an indictment for publishing an obscene print, was called up for judgment. He was ordered to be imprisoned nine months in the House of Correction, and to enter into sureties for his good behaviour for five years, himself in 1001, and two sureties in 101, each.

In 101, each.

Tuesvay.—Mr. Gurney shewed cause against a rule obtained last year, calling on the Marshal of the King's Bench, to answer the matter of an affidavit made by Col. Bayley, a Prisoner in the said prison. The Learned Gounsel observed, that Mr. Jones, the Marshal, had managed the King's Bench Prison upwards of thirty years; and never during that time, had his conduct been called in question under a complaint so maticious; as this. An affidavit of Mr. Jones, stated, that Col. Bayley was taken by his order within the walls of the King's Bench, in consequence of having been seen out of the rules. He never had any dispute previously with the Colonel, but on every occasion had done all he could to accommodate. When he heard of the complaint respecting the irreguout of the rules. He never had any dispute previously with the Colonel, but on every occasion had done all he could to accommodate. When he heard of the complaint respecting the irregularity in the coffee-room, he considered it his duty to dismiss Profe from the situation, and Poole accordingly quitted the house. Upon further inquiry, he was informed that Colonel Bayley had been irregular, masmuch as he refused to quit the room he occupied when requested so to do by the person who had the letting of it. He had been in the habit of visiting the prison monthly according to the rules of the Court, and had endeavoured on every occasion to preserve good order. The affidavits of Mr. Broodhoff, the Deputy Marshal, and that of Poole, confirmed the statement of the Narshal, and added, that Colonel Bayley declared he would be revenged of the Marshal for refusing to admit him to the rules. The Court said they would make an order to-morrow.

Wednersday.—The Court delivered their guidgment in this case. With respect to the minor pasts of the complaint, they were of opinion the Marshal had satisfactorily answered them. The only remaining charge was, that of not remaining in the prison. The Marshal had said a deal upon the subject, which might be taken as excuses, but after all, the Court were clearly of opinion the Act of Parliannent must be obeyed. The Act said the Marshal shall reside in the prison, or the rules. The Court had prepared a rule to make the Marshal reside in the prison, or rules; and they ordered that he do report next Term what measures he may have taken in compaliance with their order. At the time they made this regulation, they thought it due to the Marshal to say, with respect to his general conduct, that they considered him a very meritarious officer. He had been able and discret in the discharge of the duties of his office, obliging to persons placed in his custody, and very charitable and kind towards the poor. The Act of Parliament, they were obliged to say, compelled him to reside in the prison, of the rules.—All that related to Col. Bayley personally had been answered to the satisfaction of the Court. A short affidavit on the points might have been made, and if it had appeared that no i.regularity could be traced in the conduct of Col. Bayley, the Court would have considered him entitled to the costs, but the Court did not feel themselves justified, under all the circumstances, in giving the costs.

The Krig v. Lemis Levi.—This defendant (in company with Mosely Woolf, Kinnear, and others) was convicted in the year Is19 of conspiracy, and was sentenced to a fine of 50001, and to two years imprisonment in Gloucester gaol.—A writ of habeas corpus was moved for in order that the custody of the prisoner might be changed. The sentence of the Court ran thus:—"The defendant was to be imprisoned two years in Gloucester gaol, to pay a fine of 50001, and to be farther imprisoned until such fine was paid." An altidavit was produced from I.evi, sutting his extreme bad health, and the opinion of medical men that change of air was necessary to his life; the deponent further declared that his wife was dying, and that his children were in a state of beggary; and prayed that he might be removed to some prison in or near London.—The Court thought they had no power to interfere.—The Lord Chief, Justice observed, upon the defendant's affidavit, that the contents, if true, might have effect in another quarter.

Truespay.—Johnson v. De Schrimer.—This was an action to recover the amount of an apothecary's bil

Mr. Scarlett submitted that no evidence had been offered to make the Defendant liable to pay this bill. The lady hired the lodging and the Defendant paid for it after his return to England.

but there was no proof she was his wife.

The Lord Chief Justice said the Defendant treated her as his wife, and it a professional man under the circumstances of this case was fold the person was a married woman, he had a right to look to the husband for payment. There was no proof the defendant was not her husband.

The Jury Jound a verdict for the Plaintiff.

bus is sue tall courf of Exchequen Teesday.—Mr. Taunton moved, on behalf of Mr. Parkins, formerly Sheriff of London and Middlesex, for a rule to shew cause, why the books of the Under-sheriffs, so ar as they related to Mr. Parkins's shrievalty, should not be open to his inspection, for the purpose (as we understood) of inquiring into the appropriation of certain sums alleged to be due to the Crown. The Learned Counsel was proceeding to state the grounds of his motion, when the Court interposed, and observed that they had no jurisdiction, in consequence of the length of time which had clapsed since Mr. Parkins went out of office.—Motion refused.

VICE CHANCELLOR'S COURT.

THURSDAY.—Howard and libbs Bankrupter.—This cause again occupied the attention of the Court from ten o'clock in the morning until six in the evening. It came on to be argued on the application made by Mr. Horne, on behalf of Mr. Shaw, one of the Assignees under the former Commission, and others, praying that the Assignees under the new Commission might not be continued, and that a new election might take place. The grounds on which the application was founded were, that the Bankrupts had interferred against the Act of Parliament in the election; and that threats had been held out to induce certain creditors, had abstained from doing so in consequence of what had been said to him.

Mr. Horne, Mr. Blake, and Mr. Treslove, were heard in support of the application; and against it, Mr. Hart, Mr. Montagu, Mr. Wethevell, and Mr. Agai.

The Vice-Chancellor said he should take the opportunity of the Court not sitting on the following day to read over all the facts of this case, and when they met again he should deliver his opinion: first, however, informing the Counsel on both sides whether it would be necessary for him to hear any more arguments.

would be necessary for time to hear any more arguments.

BOARD OF EXCISE.

Wednesday — George Elphick, a tailor, in Jermynsstreet, was charged with having in his possession a quantity of struggled wines and spirits. Two officers of Excise deposed, that on the 28th of July last, they found in his cellar two smuggled tubs full of brandy, and also some Hollands in similar vessels; likewise claret, Madeira, Burgundy, and Champaigne, in bottles, for none of which the defendant had permits. There were also is the cellar some wines and spirits, for which the defendant produced permits.—The defendant, in answer to the charge stated, that he generally bought his wines and spirits from different wine merchants, in such small quantities as did not require a permit; and though he had received permits with part, he did not think it worth while to preserve them, which was the reason of his having so few. The spirits contained in the tubs he had bought from a person he did not know. The Commissioner who pronounced judgment, expressed his regret that respectable persons should subject themselves to the loss of property that had paid duty, by buying from strangers what had been smuggled. The judgment of the Court in this case was, that all the wines and liquors found in the cellar, except the Champaigne and the rum, should be condemned, and that the defendant should pay a fine of 101.

MISCELLANEOUS

His Majesty is so gratified at the loyal attentions which he received from the inhabitants of Ramsgate, both on his embarkation to, and disembarkation from, his late voyage, that he has conferred on Ramsgate the rank and distinction of a Royal Harbour.

His Majesty's steam packet Dasher, and also a sailing packet, are ordered to be at Calais, for the conveyance of her Royal Highness the Princess Augusta, from that port to Dover.

On Tuesday, the Duke of York, as Commander-in-Chief, held a levee at his Office in the Horse-Guards, which was attended by between Gafe and Rits personner.

On Tuesday, the Duke of York, as Command a levee at his Office in the Horse-Guards, which between forty and fifty personages.

Proposertion of Parliament.—On Thursday

between forty and fifty personages.

Prordocation of Parlament—On Thursday, in the House of Lords, the Commissioners, the Lord Chancellor, the Duke of Montrose, and Lord Melville, met, and having required the attendance of the Commons (Mr. Ley and Mr. Rickman, and other officers, appearing at the Bar.) the Lord Chancellor stated, that they had it in command from His Majesty, further to prorogue the Parliament till Thursday, the 3rd of January next. The next prorogation, which will take place shortly, will be by Proclamation; and it will give forty days notice of the time when the Parliament is to meet for the "dispatch of business."

Among the numerous presentations to His Majesty at Hanover, we observe the name of Madame Kestner, who is described in the recently published "Letters from Wetzlar," as being the real Charlotte of the Sorrows of Werter.

ROYAL HUNT.—On Friday se'nnight, about ten o'clock, His Majesty's stag-hounds started a remarkably fine deer, for a day's diversion, on Maidenhead Folly. The deer being closely pursued, made for the Thames, and swam across it, into Buckinghamishire, to the right of Birriham, took towards the Thames again, and crossed the River between Surley Hall and Clewer. The Sportsmen and hounds pursued through Eton, over the bridge, through Windson, and renewed the chase towards the Ferest, where the deer was taken.

A Proclamation was issued on Monday, by the Privy Council, in Ireland, offering a reward of Two Thousand Pounds for the discovery of the persons concerned in the murder and burning of the Sheas and their inmates.

On the evening of Thursday Inst, a general illumination took place in the interior of the King's Bench Prison; a spontaneous tribute of gratitude to W. Jones, Esq. the Marshal, for the uniform kindness and urbanity evinced by him towards all classes under his care in that place.

There are several counterfeit sovereigns in circulation, well executed. The reverse side of some of them seems worn, and they have no sound. Others, supposed to be composed of a mixture of platina, and other metals, ring when struck against wood, but the sound differs totally from that of the genuiue sovereigns.

Tuesday, Rear-Admiral Sir John Poo Beresford, Bart. K.C.B. and K.T.S. Member for Coleraine, Ireland, busted lifs flag (red at the mizen) on board the Dover flag-ship, in Leith Roads, as Commander in Chief on that station, in the room of Rear-Admiral R. W. Otway.

The Apollo trigate, in Portsmouth harbour, is ordered to be taken into dock, foundergo such alterations as are necessary to her being fitted up as a yacht for the King's personal use.

The East India Campany's ship Vansittart was all well in lat. 32. S. Jong. 2. W. on the 14th of J. 19.

From various parts of the country, we have accounts of the dreadful situation of the roads, in consequence of the late heavy aims. At St. Peter's Chalfont, in Buckinghamshire, on Wednesday, the flood was so great that a chaise or coach passing the rivuler at the cad of the town, was obliged to have both doors of the vehicle opened to let the water pass through. At Thame, in Oxfordshire, the waters are so much out, that passengers are ferried over each way in a punt.

A collection of antiquities from Egypt is stated in a French way in a punt.

A collection of antiquities from Egypt is stated in a French Paper to have been recently brought to Paris, by M. Theograp Duvent, son of the French Consul at Grand Cairo. Amoust other articles is a great quantity of papyrus, found in mining cases, and written upon partly in hieroglyphics and partly in success, and written upon partly in hieroglyphics and partly in success, and written upon partly in hieroglyphics and partly in success.

cases, and written upon partly in hieroglyphics and partly in sensing Egyptian characters, some passages of which have been eightered.

On Thursday, the sarcophagus, containing the remains of the late Major Andre, brought from Aperica, was deposited in front of the cenotaph in Westminsten Abbey, which was erected by his late Majorsty to the memory of that gallant officer. The re-interment took place in the most private manner.

Cambridge, Nov. 30.—The following gentlemen were on Wednesday last admitted to the undermentioned degrees:—Doctor in Divinity: The Rev. John Jeffery, of St. John's College.—Master of Arts: Edward R. Tunno, of Trinity College.—Bachelor in Civil Law: Edward Horne, of St. Peter's College.—Bachelor in Physic: Frederick Granger, of Emmanuel College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Wm. B. Daniell, of Cains College.—Bachelor of Arts: George Wm. B. Daniell, of Cains College.—The subject for the Chancellor's English poem for the present year is Palmyra.

Hunting Interligence.—The Sandenstrab Harriers meet Mondays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays, at kennel.—The Chippentian, Friday, at Nash Mill, near King's Langley, at ten.—Mr. Chawgrif's Hounds meet to-morrow at Brampton Wood; Wednesday, at Duston; Thursday, at kennel, Brixworth; Saturday, Dec. S, at Orlingbury Wold: at half past ten.—Lord Anson's Hounds meet to-morrow at Trunday, at Sturmer Hall; Saturday, 8th, at Great Dragon Wood; at half past ten.—The East Essex and Thrittow Fox Hounds meet to-morrow at Ringmer, Thursday, at Ditchling; Monday, the loth, at Laughton; Thursday, the 13th, at Cleyton, at half past ten.

Tarks uron Thaveellens.—The Post-boys who drive into London lave lately hitupon a new scheme for raising the wind. It appears that certain Hotel-keepers have submitted to the imposition of paying half a guinea for every family driven to their house; the consequence is, that when a nobleman or gentleman directs the post-boy to drive to any of the hotels that do not subscribe to the university of the most of the law was executed upon the Bank o curnetainers of great aggravation. A respite, during His Moiesty's pleasure, was received to he how at the these unfortunate persons.

**Alleritement.**—The Country everus London.**—Measure, Rivington-bave that ay (Saturday, Dec. 1.) received from Bristol the Second Number of the Unitary (Saturday, Dec. 1.) received from Bristol the Second Number of the Unitary (Saturday, Dec. 1.) received from Bristol the Second Number of the Unitary (Saturday, Dec. 1.) received from Bristol the Second Number of the Unitary of the Second Number of the Unitary of Saturday (Saturday, Dec. 1.) received from Bristol the Second Number of the Unitary of Saturday of Saturday (Saturday, Saturday, Satu

December 2.

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

etta all chemo

* The only Office for receiving Advertisements for this Paper is at No. 11, Johnson's Court.
We thank for Sofialk friend for his presents.
A CHIERN OF LOWDER has been received.
O. A. must not fancying have forgetten him.
We have received reveral letters on the subject of the paraful and uningeragy telliminism in the receiving it theright emissals who suffered before New Jette on We-knowled uningeds. By the accounts edificited in the letters of agreement manifest, it suggests to have been edificitled in the letters of agreement anistance. We mention the circumstance as having been laid before us, and certainly worthy of attention from the Sheriffs.

cumstance as hiving been laid betweens, and certainty worthy of attention from the Sherifis.

We recommend to the motive of known of jamilies, and of larger astably whitens, the present intelligue of hopes and Tracts affered for such to the quotie, as reduced prious, by the Saciety for Promoting Confession of bluephemous and inflat fieldicalorly those for the counteraction of bluephemous and inflat fieldicalories. On the Catholic Thirnbir correspondent of the Mosmy thronicle, on the Catholic Confession, is wearing the name of Rasin, the keeper of a coffee-house with a French name in Hegant-street. Although rather above the shall discuss contributors to that Paper, she think this person some what insulations to brack his political opinions—not to say encessively important on the hope the political opinions—not to say encessively important.

Trave Prior shall be remombered.

If a will keep D's secret most surupulausty.

TRUE HAVE shall be remembered.

If e will keep D's secret most sursupulously.

N.Q. gust excuse our non-insertion of his communication, because and do not commented it.

If S.D. will, we assure our selves, credit what see elased on the subject of the geneleman of whom he spanks, when we tell him it was topm double the parties themselves we heard it.

I SMEKY-TANKY, FOOTMAN, BOUNERIS, THE HOLLYHOCK AND CATMETT.

ALENDARY THE NOOLE, THE PREDING BARGIMAN, MEAN AND TUNN, THE SMEPPERTON BET, WILDUL PERSUEX, and HIGHTMAN HENRY, are all received, but must be dealt out by degree; besides, we have more acresses measures in agitation, with which there bijoux might interfere at present.

on have more serious measures in agilation, with which there who is might interfere at present. The letter to the Loun Curur Iworice. Amore is highly important, the must be held back for the name remove. The paragraph is dead. The letter about the Duke or Poursand's seal has been received, to has that from Goncour, which shall be attended to.

The construeupon Ma. Lieron in Likner falls into our thereford department, and as our friend Ducenors whit are the hand of it has suffered more from a new piece going off badly than in moult with those hand-hearted critics, we must delay it till his return.

Fronzensons Jake appears wither dull.

infered noise from a new piece going of Bally thing is simility those hard-hearted critics, we must delay it till his retwin.

Frought hard-hearted critics, we must delay it till his retwin.

Frought hard hearted critics, we must delay it till his retwin.

The letter from Bermuch is an expense alabement; but me can convert the writer that the language of it is ill mided to the affair—"the glory of the British Constitution sullied"—"the purity of the lyres violated in the person of our Till."—"the magnatumity of Till? "and the "pure spirit of Tral."—"the mecret machinations of the hidden inquisitors."—" the adopted erisis."—" the impending annihilation," and such aspressions, may appear all in place to one of the volunties; but pairful as may seem the fact, we are bound to say that these columns of Buill would be ill-spent upon a matter—have volunties; but pairful as may seem the fact, we are bound to say that these columns of Buill would be ill-spent upon a matter—have relieved to the world.

The essay on "I large Burnets" is well written, but too long. There is much reshoon as the uriter's arguments against the use of them; for, independent of their extense immented pagnat the use of them; for, independent of their extense two borders and have been housed, and has been housed, and has been housed, and has had all mantagrach thenga happen to him. We shall give a judy count of his prayers as a short time. If is every realous of Wilman's popularity, and affects to shirk publicity;—but more of the should wish to hear regularly from Cuito.

We should wish to hear regularly from Cuito.

of Wilman's popularity, and offects to shirk publicity; —bet into each the aron.
We should wish to hear regularly from Culto.
There is an amechde on reord of a certain celebrated Chevalier, who boasting once that he had never been in any country in the Continent, without receiving an order, some one asked him if he had not been in Prossing—"Yes," replied the Chevalier—"And what order did the King of that country pice you?" asked his friend—"Order," and the Chevalier—"Gad, he gave me an order in quit his demonstrate the trelve hours after I entered them."—Wilson, it is easily, wrote something (or got somebody to write it for his) at Pressancinous, is which he reflected gently upon the magnationis Alexancia—in return for which (if he had waited for it, which he write in did not) he might have received a similar fuvour from that Estiperor.

Presidently did not) he might have received a support of Permist say, in answer to Clericus, that we think the want of Permist shown to the Lord Charterition in his Cours, on Thursday, the most disgraceful thing ever done collectively by the bar. We wish his Lordship could make them for I as they ought.

The letter from Lunester is under gonsideration, as well as Mr. Bridge's second packet.

Many other communications must stand over.

Many other communications must stand over.
We will look into the species to Me will look into the mutter Caurenton alludes to.

Paul Potten's Letter (No. V.) is postponed till next week.

NEW LITERAL TRANSLATION of HOMBR'S ILIAD.

Just published, in 2 vols. Syo, price II. 4s. boards,

Just published, in 2 vols. Syo, price II. 4s. boards,

Ille HJAD of HOMER, translated into English Prose as Ilterally as the different Idioms of the Greek and English Languages will allow, with Explanatory Notes:—By a GRADUATE of the University of Origin.

of Oxford.
Printed for G. and W. B. Whittaker, 13, Ave. Maria-laue, London; and Manday and Slatter, Oxford; of whom may be had,

2. MARTYN'S GEORGICKS of VIRGIL, with an English Translation and Notes, 8vo. price 16a, boards, or 11, 1a, with coloured Plates.

3. MARTYN'S BUCOLICKS of VIRGIL, with an English Translation and Notes, 8vo. price 16s, boards, or 11, fs. with coloured Plates.

Just published, in Isno, price 7s. 6d. boards, a New Edition of DICTIONARY OF QUOTATIONS.

Just published, in Isno, price 7s. 6d. boards, a New Edition of DICTIONARY of QUOTATIONS, in most frequent base, trace the chiefly from the Latimand French, but controling many from the Greek, Spanish, and italian Languages, translated in Sendish; with Illustrations Historical and Idiomatic.—By D. E. MACDONNEL, of the Middle Temple. The Eighth Edition, revised and corrected.

"He has been at a great feast of languages, and stolen all the scraps?"
Shakmare.

-Shakepeure. Printed for G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Maria-lane, London.

ELEMENTS OF MORALITY.

Just published, in 15mo, price 5s, beards;

LEMENTS of MORALITY, for the use of Young Persons.

To which is prefered, an Address to Parents.—From the German of the Bey. C. R. SALEMANN. A new and improved Edition, embellished with Engravines.

Printed for G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Maria-lane; and H. Hailes, Picca-dilly, Lendon; and Oliver and Boyd, Edinburgh.

NEW NOVEL.—Just published, dedicated (by permission) to Mrs. Joanna Baillie, price 21s. boards, the Serond Edition of Baillie, price 21s. boards, the Serond Edition of FAVOURITE of NATURE. A Novel. In Three Volumes, 13mo.

"This is a well-written Novel, in which female character, and an intimate knowledge of the human heart, are ably pourtraved. The vices of the rich and gav are well sketched, and the sale of their youthful victim, Eliza Rivers, is such as must deeply affect the sensitive mind."—Monthly Mag. Mostl. 1329.

Mpril, 1821. Printed for G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Maria-lane; of whom may be Ad tately published

Bull is the WORLD, a Novel, in 3 vols. 12ms, price 21s.

Bull is the WORLD, a Novel, in 3 vols. 12ms, price 21s.

S. LOCHIEL; or, The Field of Gulloden; in 3 vols. price 21s.

A LEGEND of ARGYLE; or, The a Hundred Years Since: a Novel.

In 3 vola price 21.

5. WINTER HVENING TALES, collected among the Cottages in the Routh of Sections. By JAMES HOGU, Author of "The Queen's Wake," Re. Second Edition, in 2 vols. 12mo. price 14: boards.—In the press, and Re. Second Edition, in 2 vols. 12mo, price 144, board nearly ready.

6. The VILLAGE COQUETTE, a Novel. in 3 vols

THE VILLAGIE COQUETIE, a Novel in 3 vois.

THE LITERARY CHRONICLE of yesterday, Dec. I, contains besides Review, Original Articles and Miscellandes an entire Poem — Ademia, (460 lines,) by P. B. Styelley, on the Death of Keats. The stamped edition of the Literary Chrosicle has a brief notice of Political Evente, and circulates pret free, price 104; the unstamped edition in 66d, only. Published by Limbird. 355. Strand, Itwo doors dast of Exeter Change; beeld by Chapple, Pall Mark; Simpkin and Co. Stationers' Hall-rourt; Souter. St. Pan'le Church-vard; by the Bootsellers. Royal Exchange; and by all Vend is of Periodical.

PRICE OF STOCKS AT THE CLOSE, SATURDAY.

The November Account, which closed on Wednesday, wit by no means eventual, exhibiting a fluctuation of 18 new entry, was synchronic eventual, exhibiting a fluctuation of 18 new entry and closing with Consols at 771, and for next Account Consols were done at 784 it since which they have been a little depriment, the closing price this avening being 781 buyers. Very little is doing in any description of Foreign Funds: Spanish with difficulty appear 5611; French 5 per cents. 89 and 90; Frussian Bonds 89; Danish 81 (nominal:)

FRENCH FUNDS, Nov. 22.

BULL. JOHN

LONDON. DECEMBER 2.

WE are much inclined to opticism. "Whatever is, is right."

And, although a fine of ELEVEN HUNDRED POUNDS, and NINE MONTHS IMPRISONMENT, inflicted not on one but on three, fathers of families, are a severe trial of patience and principle, we still see so many motives of consolation, that we readily repeat, "Whatever is, is right."

eofi these, motives of consolution, let us begin at the smallest and the meanest. Every one who reads newspapers knows, that the greatest philanthropist in England is MR. HENRY GREY HESNETT—the most violent advocate of liberty the most strenuous consucer of criminal informations—the most tender-hearted of prison-visitors;—and yet this is the second time that at the suit of MR. HENRY GREY BENNEAT, three of us-tradesmen, whose business is suffering-bithers and husbands, whose wives and families are pining-are incarcorated because this generous friend of mankind was displeased at the mode in which we talked of him and one of his sisters.

We are not been going to defend what we said of either of the illustrious members of the irreproachable family of TENEBRULLE; we dare my we were very wrong, because we have had pretty convincing proof that Junian BATLEY thought me so. But the naked fact Itself is worth recordings and we entreat all the friends of LIBERTY. whether instignal or irrational, whether moderate or radical, to recollect that there is but one private man in Enu-Lawn who has twice consigned four of his fellow-creatures to jail, for offences connected with his own private feelinge. 14

That it will do some good, and we think it would do still more if a stanling could be taught to repeat our names, and this at the first close of his next speech in favour of liberty, and in consure of juils, the accusative bird should exclaim, Remember WHAYER," and at the second, " Remember Coorne," and at the third, "Remember Smackers," and at the fourth, " Remamber ARROWSMITH." And if. after these interruptions, he should still persist in his oration, and should attempt to entertain his auditory with his tones of compassion, and these crocodile tears for which he is renowned, it would not be amiss, that he should be further reminded, that three whole families with many athers depending upon them for business and a livelihood, are thrown into misery and desolution to vindicate the purity of his nable name, and to gratify the nice delicacy of his personal honour.

We believe, we do no more than justice in giving MR. HENRY GREY BENNETT the chief, if not the sole honour of this exploit: it is true that other members of his family figured (and a strange figure they made,) in the affidavits against us, but every one who knows them, as well as we do, must be satisfied that the beneficent and compassionate HENRY GREY was the real lender on this heroic

But we love to be just. There was one person of that Noble family who did not swear against us-her heart was really tender-and with the geatine dignity of virtue and of an irreproachable life, declined to apply to the dry and unsatisfactory remedy of the law, when she had conscious innocence and her own character to appeal to.

Let it not be said that we again unnecessarily introduce a female on the scene. The TANKERVILLE family have themselves brought their ladies forward, and we believe unparalleled in the annals of parental tenderness and family delicacy, that a mother should have been brought into a Court of Justice to swear an affidavit of the nature that appeared on this occasion under the name of LADY TANKERVILLE.

We are not comfortable in our prison; it was not comfortable to hear, the very day after our sentence, that an execution for the fine might be sent into our house, and that the implements of our trade, the beds of our wives, and the cradles of our children, were under the grasp of the law. But we solemnly declare, that we would not exchange conditions, humble and depressed as we are, for that of the RIGHT HONOURABLE the LORD OSSULSTON, and the HONOURABLE HENRY GREY BENNETT, who vindicated their sister's fame, by such a mode of action, AND WHO DRAGGED THEIR AGED MOTHER INTO COURT TO SWEAR AN USBLESS AFFIDAVIT, ON SO OVER-WHELMING A SUBJECT.

We beg our readers not to mistake this last consideration as one of our grounds of consolation: we are not yet have been sufficient at the stamp-office to secure reduced so low as to pride durselves uptal

LORD OSBULSTON, or MR. BENNSTY. due respect for the Nobles of the haid? His willes we see amongst them such things as these, we look with film the maggots in amper, whose loathsome deformity is remark more visible, and more lasting, by the medium historic by a lunu natura, they happen to be placed." land

The things, God knows, are neither new north and But we have wasted too many these on make the our only excuse for such garrelity is to say to Ma. Bay, NBTT, AS COLONEL TITUS said to Chomwain - themet lessure you have given us, Sh, we think it but note by

But we now come to more important matter? We are flued and imprisoned for a libel; and and imprisoned for a libel; ficiently disagreeable to us we need hardly may but like a toad, ngly and venomous, and that jewel is, that the Judges have, in annual the public a measure by which they may antipunishment that awaits repeated and resterated blass against Gop, libels upon the Sovenness, attacksupin t CONSTITUTION, and slanders upon the private life of public man. Marin Shacari Ca Cini

The legal amount and extent of our crime lynch kip. LEY bus measured, perhaps, with more justice than we should have done; but of moral guilt-the intentional the heart-we are better judges than he 1 and, howing joying authority which has purished as as guilty; we houltake not to declare, that, in the eye of a Superior Justice, see eye into cent. That is to say, that we were actuated by sa perse matice and that we said what we did with the hope and design of checking a system of profligacy, which we thought dangerous to the morals of the country, and to the purity of the best and most beautiful - part pfallegish Te = od w

Why then, will it be asked, did we plead such as answer is very simple. Our lawyers advised us, that in the form in which the BENNETTS had put the cease, the TRUTH OF FALSEHOOD of our assertion was perfectly indifferent, and that in point of fact the only question that could go to a jury was, whether we had mublished that which the law designated as a libel. A house

We confess we had a great mind to bring this way and to enter on a defence;—we had collected meterials for that purpose.—Junius says somewhere, "That he had "collected facts that would have made the old Duke of "BEDFORD shake in his grave." We would not talk of our evidence in the same hyperbole, but we think we may say, without exaggeration, that it would have made the living shrink hato the dust. TOWNS TOWNS

Again, however, we were advised by our country all this would only make matters worse; and that any attempt to establish our moral innocence, anight yest much aggravate our legal guilt.

But though we could not produce this mount axculate in the King's Bench, we owe it to outselves, to beauti Englishmen, to state it to the world. M. 10 20 gen Of the facts imputed to the late LANE, CAROLINE

WROTTESLEY we (it is hardly necessary to say) spere personally ignorant; we had not witnessed with our own eye or cars any part of the alleged transaction; but we solounly declare, that we did not invent one tittle of it that we had heard it from an hundred mouths; that we had read it in newspapers, and had seen it in caricutaus, and had never read or seen a contradiction of it. at signoff.

We have those newspapers and those recicely the we hould have produced them in the Court of King's Beach, but that our counsel, in his discretion and knowledge of the technicalities of the law, held them to be inadmissable.

LADY CAROLINE WROTTESLEY is therefore insecretbut it does not follow that we are guilty a We were charged with maliciously inventing the story. We assert, and we are prepared to preve, that, however false and however malicious the story may have been, it was not invented by us. We found it, as we before said, distinctly announced, and never, to our knowledge, contradicted, and we therefore repeated it as a matter almost of histers.

Again—we beg not to be misunderstood; we do not attempt a legal justification. Thus pure and clear as our motive was, we confess that the peace and honour of families, and above all of families coronetted with hereditary. ought not to be invaded on the authority of menerumours; and we are not disposed to quarrel with the law, which preserves from idle tittle-tattle the reputation of man or Nothing can

But in the eye of REASON, in the scale of Justice, in the nicety of HONOUR, there is a wide distinction between him who maliciously invents a falsehood, and him who, for a moral purpose, and without personal malice, repeats a story which he considers to be true, and which he relates as instructive; and we put ourselves in a more solemn manner, on our trial before GOD and our COUNTRY; and we confidently trust that in the minds of all dispussionate say, that we feel the measure thealt out to us was excessive. For, see what it was one of our names would

HOAX UPON BULL.

THE TIMES, gladly catching from young LAMBTON'S Paper, the DURHAM CHRONICLE (upon which Paper, MR. SCARLETT so bitterly animadverted the other day, while moving for a criminal information against it) inserts the following paragraph in its columns of Thursday.

The following letter has been received by a publican in Gateshead, from the publisher of the notorious Joun Bull newspaper. What an eagerness to discover something! It unfortunately happens that the publican to whom the letter was addressed is not a tenant of Ma. Lambron, and the John Bull never, to the know-ledge of the landlord, was seen within his walls. Ma. Lambron has no temant of the same name as that of the person to whom the letter was addressed, who keeps a public-house :-

" Sin-It having been represented to me, that you have been or dered to quit the Black Bill Inn, in which you have been for many years a tenant of Mr. Labers 's, in consequence of a copy of John Bull having been seen on the table in your house, I shall feel particularly obliged if you will inform me by return of post whether that is a fact .- I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

"R. T. WEAVER." "Office of Jone Bull, Johnson's-court, Fleet-street, London, Nov. 13, 1821."

Now, as we admit the letter, let us come to the facts. We received, on the 10th of last month, a communication, of which the following is a copy:

SIR—I think it proper to inform you of a circumstance which has lately taken place in this county. Mr. ROBINSON, the tenant of the Black Bull, in Chester-le-street, uperson who has many years rented the above. Inn from MR. LAMBTON, M.P. has lately been ordered to quit possession of the Inn, on account of it coming to the ears of Mr. I. that the John Bull had been seen lying on the table in his house.—I am, yours, &c. Thomas SLY: house.—I am, yours, &c. Durham, Nov. 8.

Declining, with even our opinion of young LAMBTON; to give credence to such an anecdote, and yet unwilling to suffer our circulation to be checked by threats and oppression should it have been true; we took a step which, we think, the bitterest of our enemies will allow was pradential, and which shows that we are now to be housed, and that we are not induced hastily to insert information, whether it arrives from an Italian Doctor in Paris from his residence in Leicester-fields, or from a Scotch friend with a flaming account of the conflagration of a noble Lady in the North, without some anthemsicated confirmation. We wrate to the person mentioned in the first communication. the letter above quoted, signed R. T. WEAVER.

To this letter we received, from Bir. Rominson, the landlord of the Black Bull, the following very cirl and proper answer.

Black Bull Imp Gateshead, 19th Mev 1921. SIR-A letter from you addressed to Mini Redinson, Black Bull Inn, Chester-le-street, dated 18th inst. has been forwarded to me kere; and an there is no person of the name of Robinson, who keeps any jun or public-house, with the sign of the Black Bull in Chester-le-street, or the meighbourhood, but anyself, your letter, I suppose, has been meant for me; and in answer to it, I have to inform you, that the house I occupy, does not belong to Man. LAND. rox, nor is he in any way connected with it; and the JOHN Bull newspaper is not taken in at my house, nor to my knowledge has a copy of it ever been within my doors.

will consequence of your letter, I have made enquiries, and and Ma. Lameron is not the owner of any inn or public house, with the sign of the Black Bull; and the information you have received; as stated in your letter to me, must bave been false. - I am, yours, &c.

- ROBERT ROBINSON. Here (as we see) there is no joke against us yet, and we are quite satisfied that our readers will confess we acted as we ought to have done in the affair.

But there is a joke behind-which is, that for all we know the facetious yellow LAMBTON tried to play off the trick upon us himself, and inveigle us into a quarrel whetein he might have the laugh against us-here he was mistaken, and we think we may chance to raise a smile against him-for it so happens that we have discovered the authors of the first letter, signed THOMAS SLY, conveying, the fale information.

The two persons who attempted this deception are, Al-PRED HEALY JOHNSON, clerk to MR. BROWN, barrister in Durham, a protegé of Lambron, and Edmund Cras-TER, son of MR. LAMBTON'S steward, a clerk in the office of MR. BROWNLOW, of Durham, MR. LAMBTON'S lawagent!

Considering the nature of the communication, and the object it had in view-there is a frequent recurrence of LAMBTON's name in it, -we say nothing-we only venture to observe, that we were determined not to be honzed, and that we never were howed during the whole affair; and that neither the DURHAM CHRONICLE nor its satellite the LONDON TIMES, appears to us to have taken anything by its motion.

The Dublin Journal received yesterday mentions the murder of Capt. Waters, who lived near Newmarket; and that an attempt s made to assessmance a Mr. Wigglesworth, near Roscommon. The Courier of last night states, that Earl Tulbot and Mr. Grant ore to retire; and to be succeeded in the offices of Lord Lieutenant and Chief Segretary for Ireland by the Marquis Wellesley and Mr. R. Pecl.

idescritespirated Letters are daily pouring in from all parts of the country, with orders for next Tuesday Week, when a Pive Thousand Pound Prize is sure to be drawn, and must be gained at the very triding Risk of Two Pounds on a Whole Ticket, and Pour Shillings a Sixteenth-a circumstance ever kie wu before,--Harard and Co. Contractors.

COURT OF KINGS BENCH, TURSDAY.

The King va The West Middlesex Water Works This was an argument on a Rule Nisi, calling on the Company of Proprietors of the West Middlesex Water Works to show cause why a Writ of Mandamus should are issue, directed to the Company, commanding them to be on and join again to their Water Works, the pipes hareton fore used for supplying water to the premises in the occu-pation of the inhabitants of the several parishes of St. Pancras, St. Mary-le-hone, and Paddington, and to allow theth to onjoy the supply of water herefore enjoyed by them, at the rates heretofore paid.

Mr. Scarlett, Mr. Denman, and Mr. Holt, this the shewed cause against the Rule; and Mr. Littledale, Mr.

Brougham, and Mr. Cooper, were heard in support of it.

The Lord Chief Justice was of opinion that the Mandamus ought not to be granted—he thought it very probable that Parliament and the Public might have been disble that Parliament and the Public might have been dis-appointed in one of the hories entertained from the com-petition among the Water Companies, but a very little attention might have enabled all persons to see that the competition was calculated to lead to the ruin of all the companies. It was manifest, from all that had been id-dressed to the Court on the one side and on the other, that the contest on the present occasion was the amount of the rate:—in that respect the present case differed entirely from that referred to in the argument (the Severit Ballway:) in that case the Company had been required by Act of Parliament to lay down, and for ever manufact. certain railway in a certain manner; no question did, or could, arise about the rate to be paid for the use of it, because the amount was fixed by the Act of Parliament; but the Company in violation but the Company, in violation of the Act, took up the road, and altogether refused to allow the public the accommodation of it on any terms whatever: the Court thought under the directions of that Act, (notwithstanding the parties were indictable) that a proceeding by Mandamus was a more prompt and speedy remedy. The great distinction between that case and the present, was, that there tinction between that case and the present, was, therefore they refused to do what the Act required—here the metall was not absolute, but a refusal only on the ground that they insisted on a higher rate than had been before paid, than the Proprietors thought ought to be paid.

The Court could not make this Rule and direct a supply at the former rate, unless they were of opinion that the sum the Company had agreed to take, was a sum from which they could not depart without the coasent of the inhabitants — (the point was thesefore presented to the Court in that way by Mr. Littledale)—that would be to say the Company should good; to receive a rate by which they would be ruined; it was better them should be an abundant supply of water at too high: a rate than no supply; it was impossible, therefore, for the Court to make the Rhie absolute in the terms asked. It was, however, competent to the Court, if they thought proper, to vary the terms of the Rule, and direct a Mandamus in another burn: then the next question for consideration was, whether the Court could direct the Company to supply water at a "res-Court could direct the Company to supply water at a court spineble, rate. Now, without saying whether the Court could find what was reasonable, and what was not, they company had ought not to grant a Mandamus, unless the Company had refused to supply at what they might deam a generalle The Court had no evidence of that kind at present. for the applicants relied principally on the rates originally taken. The Company say they found those rates would lend to their ruin, and therefore they were colleged to abandon them. There was some contradiction in the affidavits as to what was a reasonable rate. He did not, however, think the Court could be called on to grant the Writin that form; it was enough to say that, to dispose of the present motion. But he did not hint that the Court could, in any case, in the exercise of its discretion, grant a Mandamus in that form, considering that that which might be a reasonable rate in respect of one man (regard being had to the nature of his trade, or to the exigencies of his family) might be very unreasonable in respect to another; and the difficulty the Court would have of saying what was a reasonable in the court would have of saying what was a reasonable in the court would have of saying what was a reasonable rate in the court would have of saying what was a reasonable rate in respect to another; and the sonable rate would be found probably insuperable.

For these reasons the Court could not act in the way now asked, or in any other way,—and when the matter was originally before the Court, they all thought that Parliament was the only source of apposite remedy. It may, perhaps, be lamented, that when the act passed, some provision was not made fixing a maximum; if that had been done, these disputes could not have arisen; —whether it may be necessary hereafter to do it, it was for the wisdom of Parliament to consider, but it did not belong to the Court to intimate, much less to dictate upon. For these reasons the rule must be dis-charged;—he would say one word more,—admitting that the public hope had been disappointed as to the effect of competition, in another way it had been fully realized, for the supply which had been obtained by the introduction of the New Companies, was regular and abundant, and it was conveyed into the houses to a level to which it never was carried before, to the great convenience of the public .- Rule discharged.

We mention an imposition which was practised very generally at the west end of the town, on Friday evening, by various newscryers, who paraded the streets with a pretended second Edition of the Courier, announcing the assassination of the Earl Tulbot in Dublin, by which false pretence they fraudulently sold many copies of the Paper, which proved to be nothing but the common edition of the evening. We think it right to bring this to the notice of the proprietors and conductors of the Journal in question, that they may devise some means of checking a practice, which, to a less respectable publication, would be seriously disadvantageous.

We are happy to find that all the charity of the Whigs is not engrossed by Wilson and Wood—a new subscription is started in yesterday's Chronicle for the orphan of the late Mr. Dayidson, who was hanged for high-treason with the much-respected Mr. Thistlewood, the year before last. We are unable to express the anxiety which we feel for the success of this pativitic undertaking. A good martyr, like a good horse, cannot be of a bad colour, and we are confident, that to ensure it patronage, we need only mention, that among the partizans of this noble Black, who perished in his country's cause, the following mamos stand conspicuous—Mr. Languara One Pound

Languara Wood Ditto

Albernan Wood Or Sixpence

Thention is everything, and this tribute of respect to the memory of departed virtue is, we must say, highly creditable to the Whigs in general, and the illustrious personages whose names we have quoted in particular.

in the goodness of our intentions, we involved every indi-vidual of our partnership in the responsibility. It was shown to the Court, on affidavit, that only one of us know of the paragraph before it was inserted—that immediately after an all three concurred in stilling the offensive action, and that we went to the expense of publishing a new edition, with that onission; that this was our first affence; that none of us had ever been questioned in a Court of Justice before; and that the libel (such as it was) involved sone of the higher interests of society—neither blasphemling Gon, nor sishonouring the Kino. We, therefore, ask those who may have attended to the scale of punishment directly awarded in such cases, whether they were not surprinted to see TRANS PERSONS, under such circumstances, so heavily fined, and imprisoned for such long and equal 110 17 E. R. 202

lefficie of us had been even more heavily fined, and the charmore heavily imprisoned, we still might have been enabled, by the exertions of him, whose confinement were shortest, to carryon our trade, to put bread into the mouths of our children, and to make efforts for discharging the when; but as the matter has been arranged, if it had been designed not to punish as temporarily, but to ruin us outright, the thing could have hardly been more effectually

Two of us, SHACKELL and ARROWSMITH, are printers The an extensive scale: we had, as is well known to the literoldd; several most valuable and unful publications in diahit; maningst others, a Polyglott Bible and Prayer Book, The style of which, we flatter ourselves, would deserve ap-Probation; yet for this single paragraph in John Bull, He are visited with a punishment which paralyzes our Appeares; and condemns our property to the waste, if not to being with, which must be expected from the sudden absence of his seems to us (but we may be wrong) somewhat hard sell 3 what follows seems still harder. It was stated by the Counsel who was hired to speak in aggravation of our putrafeful office with a zeal that seemed to want no stimuus from pay-it was stated, that after all, we were not Tible guilty persons—that we were poor "men of straw!" treate confessed, had the obstinate integrity of not betraying the real author of the paragraph. New it seems to us ... but we are no doubt prejudicedis strange kind of logic to charge us with one kind of with the ware charged with being keen and cutting satisfies-with having invented, but of more malice, a gratuitous falsehood, and of having Endwingly and accounty circulated it. That was the starger at

When Lawyer SCARLETT invoked the vengeance of the Court upon us, it was for a set of offences, not only different, but coverant. He said that we were ignorant tradesmen, incapable of writing such a libel; that we probably knew nothing of parties so exalted in life; that we therethe file wave not not under by malice ourselves, and, in fact, had to Mare the the real girle, but that we deserved the whole vengeance of the Court because we persisted in shielding fidin justice the real criminal.

TM THOUS this latter may be a very serious and punishable offence, but it is now the offence for which we were in-? 1-10 Biotech a st is not: the effence to which we pleaded guiltyor 1984s not the effence for which we nominally were punished and handy thanks be to Gov, it is not an offence of which we

Though in humble life, we are Englishmen, and, therefore, men of honour; and it is not the venal prating tion of such dorid inanity as SCABLETT, nor even the awful frowns of the Bench itself, which shall ever make us betray a confidence that is reposed in us, or seek for self-security in the sacrifice of a friend.

We know not how far the latter circumstance may have been dwelt on by the Court in pronouncing their sentence; ! We comess we were not enough at our case to attend criti-Stally to all that fell from the learned Judge. The awful Timerds and ELMEN HUNDRED POUNDS-CONFINED 10 SHOW NINE MORRIS, AND TO BE FARTHER CONFINED TILL SUCH PLEE WAS PAID, AND SECURITIES TO BE FOUND IN FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS EACH, were not lost

We beg pardon of our readers for taking up so much of th matters relating solely to ourselves; yet, as we are impelled thereto by an instinct common to human mature, we hope we shall be excused; and thus we beg leavesto exemplify it :-

Nothing can be less amusing than a broken leg; and yet, A you kappen to fall into the company of a person who has n you happen to last into the company of a person who has once suffered that misfortune, you must observe with what apparent satisfaction he gives you a lengthened history of the accident. So it is with us;—our situation is far from agreeable—the sentence of the King's Bench has in fact broken six legs amongst us; not one of us can stand—we sentill asserted. are all prestrate; and the little consolation which we have is to tell our readers, even to the minutest particular, the strange coincidence of accidents by which our legs were broken.

We trust that we shall be forgiven for this explanation; it is, we hope, excusable on account of our sufferings; it is, we believe, accessary to our personal reputation;—and we trust that we shall make this imprisonment of ours. almost as useful as our former efforts have been, even by the avoral of our antagonists.

graphs from this paper, pub-We have often schooled passage lished some years back, and opp it has more recently given to the world, and the effect of their contradictory character has been striking enough; but we could not have anticipated anything in the way of absurdity and imponsistency equal to that which follows :

ADMAN.

"ADMAN.

"He conducted himself after the order for execution had arrived "He conducted himself after the order for execution had arrived with becoming firmness, and would have been perfectly resigned, had not his reflections their excitations that he was about to suffer the severest spatence of the law, while manny posteriors of guilt, had been suffered to escape i but for this ownsideration, he said, he could have been his doors with transmilling. It is not stranger that the leasts which has hilberts been spatened to the utterers of factor of the law, should have he militied, and so the order of the present instance, then one or present previously so respectable, and so unpractised in transactions of this nature, and after a Learned Judge had declared that the recommendation? But these are a few only of the anomalies arising from penalties of excessive a few only of the anomalies arising from penalties of excessive a security, See See See See .—Times, Thomas Ly, Nov. 22, 1881.—"

From the same Paper of Monnar, Nov. 26, same Year.

FROM THE SAME SUBJECT.

FROM THE SAME PAPER OF MONRAY, NOV. 26, SAME YEAR.

We are anxious not to be misinderstood in the remarks which we made in our last member upon the execution of Cochina, as if we were apposed to any referm a our principal code, or to the misinguism of capital punishments. On the contrary, we have in various articles exposed the mischiels resulting from a too severe system of criminal law. All that we necessary consenses for man, that while capital punishments existed for the forgery of sank bills, that undappy man and his fellow suffered were the most proper observe twat tools as security were the most proper observe twat tools as security was an analysis.

Verdict on the OLD TIMES -Insanitu.

MORNING CHRONICLE.

IT is with reluctance we notice the poor out CHRONICLE but as it crows a little on Monday at our scattance, must take the liberty of casting our eye towards it.

It calls us an "infamous: Paper," ... a secret gang of literary micreauth in the pursuit of their detestable labeling. Now, what nomenae all this is ; does the CHRONICLE AS verthe the names of those who contribute to its columns at the foot of their communications?—Are not all newspaper writers " a secret gang 21 off they were not, their ochbrations would be quite useless. If Ma, Piatz were to stand up in a coffee-room, and talk the language of the Morning Chronicae, we have very little doubt but that samebody would stop him; and we are quite sure at all seinebody would stop nim; and we are quite sure it. An intents that nobody would either be dictated to or per-solded by him. It is the magical mysterious word WE, which is the garrets of these persons, which gives the weight and currency to their opinion. There is not a resider of the Chronicus who does not consider himself. (and for all we know justly) a fair match for MR. PIRIE, or any of his "gentlemen assistants," at an argument, but there are hundreds of them who would not have the tecrify to question what they saw in print.

angry with, and therefore we shall not enter into a serious description of what we should call a "hiterary miscreant;" but we think the CHROMOLES itself might furnish out a specifien or two of the animal in the highest state of persistation.

That our labours are detested by the CHRONICLE we can early imagine, at least judging by a reciprocity of feeling; for we most candidly declare; that to us, men who labour to bring the Sovermen into contempt—to vilify the heapes who have saved and exalted us—to spandalise ladies of the highest blood with falsehoods of their own invention and to lampoon and ridicule all "that are put in authority ever them," are the most detestable of Gon's creatures.

But we will come to a plainer and easier understanding with this CHRONICLE. It calls BULL infamous:—let them take every paper we have published, since the death of that unhappy woman, with whom indelicacy and inde-cency were inseparably associated, and point out to us, one rency were inseparably associated, and point out to us, one paragraph objectionable (except to them on the same of politics) which has appeared in descolumns.

The CHRONICLE thinks: that Bulk is beaten, but the CHRONICLE is mistaken—worfully mistaken. Under the impression that some direful accident would befal us, the Chronicle is bold and impudent ; and deres us; "he talks of the peace of families !"—We have warned him once, and me now work him note, and we now warh him again—and he may rely upon our keeping our word: although the Rayragand Docton's land is difficult to decypher, our compositors will be able to make it off, and out the correspondence we before alluded to SHALL COME; a correspondence which will place the Whig character on its proper level. We have withheld it in pley to private families; but if we are galled, or if the Chronicle calls names, we will rip up the whole affair, and chew to the world, not only the LITERARY, but the POLI-

MR. WILSON.

WE have the satisfaction of laying before our readers a distinct admission and positive proof under MR. WILSON'S OWN HAND, of the truth of all that we have said about his unjustifiable assumption of the style of SIR ROBERT. We have under our eyes his famous work upon Egypt, printed in 1803, two years after the alleged Knighthood.

Now, this work, which was brought out in the largest quarte, on the finest paper, and with every circumstance of Charlatonism, upon which Wilson could at that time venture, bears upon its ample title that it is written by

"ROBERT THOMAS WILSON, Enight of Maria Theresa, and Lieutenant-Colonel of Hompesch's Hussars.

No one ever denied that he was Lieutenant-Colonel of Bompesch's Hussars, and a Knight of Maria Theresa; but what we have always asserted, and what he in this titlepage confesses is, that he was not, and did not at first pretend to be a Knight of these realms, by the style and title be now assumes. of

"SIR ROBERT THOMAS WILSON, KAT!."

THEATRICALS.

WB are serry to inform our readers that the gentleman who furnishes us with critiques on the theatres, has met with a most severe accident by the bursting of a gun, which deprives us of our weekly socice of the drama for the present Number; we have every reason to believe, from the information which has reached town, that his speedy recovery may be looked for, in the mean time (to use the cant of the stage,) we beg of our readers " their would indulgence."

IRELAND.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR,—I observe that you published my last communication as one from a correspondent, sithough I had written it in the assumption of the person of the editor; you are the best judge of these matters, and I now address you in the way which I think you like best.

The lefter which I wrote to you on the 18th of October was received, as far as I have been able to learn, with complete provides sence in last warms and with some show of plete acquiescence in IRELAND, and with some shew of doubt in England.—The Mountag Cumenters, of which one copy comes to this city, I have read at the Newsmoon, and I have discovered that without maining you or me, it specied at us both; as it specied at us I regret it did not hame us;" its meers are the best sort of faure that ayeli a newspaper can give.

But, I ask you, did I not tell you truth? has not ever word which I write in anticipation been proved in fact The Morning Chronicle and its wretched associates talk of these unhappy disturbances as connected with politics, and they would make my LORD LIVER POOL responsible for the murder of Mr. GOING.

if it, were true, why are all intermediate steps to be jumped over? and why are LORD TAIROT and MR. GRAWE to be irresponsible for what occurs in them own departments, while LORD LIVERPOOL is made responsible for what while LORD LIVERPOOL is made responsible our what does not occur in his?

At told you before, and I tell you sgalin; that the disturbances in ERRLAND are anything but political, or to be cured by political remedies; they are nothing but; and said, robbing and marder, and only to be cured by the MALLANES.

Car county gentlemen crysont for trappes, thoops, will restrain if they cannot pacify the district shey occupy: but we have had murders committed within sight and hearing the trappes of the trappes.

of the troops, and even the troops themselves have been audaciously attacked.

The whole squabble is about the price of land—what you call RENT in ENGLAND, which in TRELAND the common people consider as plunder, and which the landlord car-ries off as if it were booty.

You will have fine writers on both sides of the question who will account for these disturbances by party reasons; I write to you by the light of the burning houses of my neighbours, and protest to you before 6.00, that there are no other parties in the affair than those who live on the land and want to pay no rent, and those who live by the land, and wish to get some income from their estates.

A family of seventeen persons have been burned alive: in other times I could not have written such a line without indescribable horror—it is now become an article of news have it is a logical proof of my former argument, for it is coolly stated in the Leinster Journal, after a detail of this most brutal transaction, that SHEA, the hand of the unhappy family of sufferers, was a land-pubber; in other words, he offered the highest price for the hind, as others in the market offered the highest price for potates.

the market offered the highest price for potates.

I do not like to dwell on these more atrocious transactions; they give you in England a wrong impression of the subject—you cannot understand a lowering of some effected by burning a whole family to death, and from guch a horrid consequence you are inclined to asgue, that the original motive must be equally despense. It is no such thing; Shea and his innocent family were burned to death,—Aye, in the year 1821,—in the lasses of our admirable nation of IRELAND—the flower of generosity—courage—and chivalrous feeling, seventeen men, women, and children, and the majority women and children, were burned. drem, and the majority women and children, were burned to death, because SHEA offered five and "twenty shillings an acre for land for which the landlord before could only obtain twenty-one.

Why need I waste your paper or your patience—the principles which I give you are clear and distinct—every body can understand them, and every body can compare them with the results; and neither you not the Morning Chronicle can personale mankind out of their senses, or pershade its that a horde of robbers are an assemblage of political traitors.

As to the local Government of IRELAND, Lacquit R in a great measure of all this mischief.—MR. GRANT has a great measure of all this mischief.—MR. GRANT has never done anything—LORD TALBOT was never capable of doing anything—their influence, therefore, (if any) must have been negative.—I care not how soon they are both restored to that private life for which they seem fitted; but, I will do them the justice to say, that if they had been men of spirit and talent, and in every respect the reverse of what they are, they could not now arrest the progress of the mischief, which, as I have said, has its roots in a soil not within their domain.

The great fault of the diagrament was MR. GRANT's

The great fault of the Government was MR. GRANT'S ridiculous praises of the Catholic Priests, and his insidious lowering of the Magisterial authority; he is now reaping the bitter fruits of his popularity—but unfortunately soure we. I wish you would suggest to Mn. GRANT the reads no lrish letters, but perhaps reads John Bull, I wish you would suggest to him to issue a gircular to those well-disposed Catholic Priests who have the tranquillity of Ireland in their hands, requiring them forthwith to pacify the country; and instead of shoeting and burning, to have recourse to the mitigated vengeauce of tarring and feathering-it would be too much to ask them to keep the country quiet altogether. You shall hear from me occasionally if I survive the collection of the Michaelmas rents, but I have great doubts on that point; I must starve if I do not get them, I shall be murdered if I do; in either case you will lose a correspondent, and obtain an additional proof of the truth of your argument.—I am, Sir, Limerick. Nov. 22, 1821.

PEMALE BIALE SOCIETIES!

Sin.—Your readers generally chassisoland, miss "a good thing." It bowersh who an always ing a charp. "leok out! (that way, here produced in the proceedings of a Meeting the basishing you up! about.

In your account of the proceedings of a Meeting of City of London, of a certain Society of Meeting the beauty of this barren's cracen) lambally infinitely the desire of promytgating the basispates, who has stranged outsted to insert the following with a stranged outsted to insert the following with a stranged ander officers.

add to their numbers!!!! - I am, Bir, your w

TO JOHN BULE ... ... -I kave taken in your paper from its first tion, and have frequently fought serious battles in you behalf with friends, whose sentiments have not coincided with sours; your paper of yesterday his negion an manhers and situation, and already bever Plan asked by more than one individual what I have now to see for my friend "John Bull, "some of the variable as the with respect to Camman, you say, "if they have fositable mongh to believe an attorney." I have you the paragraph again and again, and do not see that I can have the contraction than the contraction of the c paragraph again and again, and do not see that if the many other, construction than that an atterney is see the delegate. I am convinced you are too liberat to signal, a whole prefession; because sometof its companied as whole prefession; because sometof its companied of men would be exempt? Whether your expression of men would be exempt? Whether your expression bear a slifenest construction, or whether it possess. Input inadvertence, I think in justice to yourself in the transfer attacked, some explanation is due. "Your the parties attacked to enter into a visition at the folly to enter into a visition and that a fee feeling of the your own good squarement that a feeling in the proof attack the see feeling the good square, and that a feeling is the proof of the

It would be lolly to enter into a visite at the second standard and feesion alluided to, your own good stand, and standard resident, must resident to the remark, feeling assignt adout will take the earliest opportunity of removing that anoughlised censure, which, I am convinced it was far from your intention to pass, by the expression in the standard from your intention to pass, by the expression in the standard from your intention to pass, by the expression in the standard from your intention to pass, by the expression in the standard from your intention to pass, by the expression in the standard from your intention to pass, by the expression in the standard from your intention to pass, by the expression in the standard from your intention to pass the expression in the standard from your intention to pass the expression in the standard from your intention to pass the expression in the standard from your intention to pass the expression in the standard from your attention to pass the expression in the standard from your attention to pass the expression in the standard from your attention to pass the expression in the standard from your attention to pass the expression in the standard from your attention to pass the expression in the standard from your attention to pass the standard from

We are quite glad that this gentleman has written as it affords us an opportunity of explaining away at apparent illiberality—we respect the profession of the line, and are above all vulgar prejudices. Many attention have risen to the highest grades in that profession and the Beach itself exhibits proofs of the injustice of a sprengar consists against them; but an Irish gentleman is not additionally from a disreputable one. When we will have the standard of the rises of relieving an attorney—we mean under the rises of relieving an attorney—we mean under the life in the life is a confidential correspondent of the life.

DRAR JOHNNY On the part of many of the this quarter of the kingdom town in the fer the purpose of obtaining some That we are very enxious.

We have observed, that it has been stated in the We have observed, that it has been started in the Medical Papers, namely, the Old Times and the Medical Chronicle, that in consequence of the late Quinn which the Committee appointed for conflucting the arbitrarious hady, have put on end to the collection of the strain and the late of Massas. Cours and Co. in the Strand, have of Massas. Cours and Co. in the Strand, have a self-late the service of plate being stocked and all the money so collected into the house of Massas. Cours and Co. in the Strand, have a self-late and the service of plate being stocked and all the service of plate being stocked and the service of plate being stocked and the service of plate being stocked and the service of the service of plate being stocked and elegant manner that he erected in some conspicuous collucted and by the members which distinguished that exalted presonage. Now, Johnny, what we wish to know is, the name of the united kingdom—the sums subscribed by each person, and the total amount paid into the basicing bouse person, and the total amount paid into the banking of Massas. Courrs and Co. and by whom peid in. It all or any part of this information could be obtained. through your widely circulated paper, it would graftly wonderfully, the public at large, and none more so in particular, than your constant reader.

Plymouth, 17th November, 1821

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR—Can you, or any of your correspondents, him me whether "the Greslam Committee" are scrious, or only joking, when they advertize that "Lectures will be real every day during Term, ever the Royal Exchange!"
Deing au idler in 10wn, I have attended very regularly at the top of the stairs leading to the apartment where the words "Lecture Room" are inscribed, but have not hitherto had an opportunity of being edified by hearing, or even seing the Lecturer.—Your obedient servant, Sweeting's Alley.

Sweeting's Alley.

CORONATION OF HIS MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY GENERAL TV. Patronised by the Royal Family.—Shortly will be published.

New, elegant, and precise Pictoria REPRESENTATION of the Order of PROCESSION to the CORONATION of the present of the Royal Family and of the Nichilty in general. This highly interesting production, which extends to the length of ten yards, conthins faithin presentations of every individual in the Procession, together with the apprehension faither presentations of every individual in the Procession, together with the same Costume, and the Batmetra Regulia. &c. Price True Guinean, in an ambiguard principle Box; or it is calculated for framing.—A Specialism may be seen, with a List of Subscribers, at the Publisher's. G. Sudicise is also and Highment the Duke of York, 7, 8t. James's street.

Terms of Subscribers, at the Publisher's. G. Sudicise is also a Royal Highment the Duke of York, 7, 8t. James's street.

Dayl published, in Syo. price 12s: in boards, dedicated, in generations, to Misseys Highment the Duke of York, 1985.

A BRIEF DISPIARY of the ORIGIN and HISTORY of ORDERALS; Trials by Battle; Courts of Chivairy or Honour; and the Decision of Private Quarrels by Single Combat: also, a Chronological Englisher to the Principal Ducis longular from the Meccasion of his late Missipal to the Author, by W. Bulmer and W. Nicol, Clevsland-rev, 8t. James's street.

December 2.

NEW and ESTABLISHED SPORTING ROOKS.

I. SCOTT'S HORSES AND DOGS.

Heautifully printed in the and embelished with 40 highly anished Copporplate Engravings, and numerous Wood Cuts, Price 3 guineas, in boards, THE SPORTSMAN'S REPOSITORY; comprising a Series of highly finished Engraving s, representing the Hurse and the Dog'is ill their varieties; executed in the line manner, by JOHN SCOTT, from Original Palntings by Marshall, Reinagle, Glipin, Stubbs, and Cooper; accompanied with a comprehensive, historical and systematic Description of the different Species of each, their appropriate uses, management, and improvement, interspersed with Anecdotes of the most celebrated Horses and Bogs, and their Proprietors, also, a variety of practical Information on Praining and the Amusements of the Field.—By the Author of British Field Sports, it may be had in Six Parts, price 10s. 6d. each.

London: Brinted for Sherwood, Neely, and Joace, Paternoster-row; exhom may also be had.

2. THOUGHTS on FOX and HARK HUNTING; in a Series of Celebrate to a Friend—By PETER BECKFORD, Esq.; elegantity printed in Sec, on fane woycepaper, and illustrated with influenced Cuts... 14s., bds.

The Publishers beg feave respectfully to recommend the present Edition of Mr. Beckmod's valuable work to the netice of Sperting Genkemen, which will be found to surpass all preceding Editions in elegance of paper, printing, and illustration. The Acthor's Notes, also, which have long been omitted, are here introduced, and render this Edition peculiarly desirable.

3. As ESSAY on HUNTING; in which a great variety of most important long been omlitted, are here introduced, and render this Edition peculiarly deribable.

3. An ESSAN on HUNTING; in which a great variety of most important information is communicated under the heads Hunting Lawfulness, Benefits, Pleasure, Bastine, Game, Scent, Hounds, the Horse, Huntsman, Sagacity, &c. &c. Third Edition. In Sve. 7s. byards,—in 4to. 12s.

4. BRITISH FIELD SPORTS; embracing Practical Instructions in the Breaking and Training of Dogs, and Horses; also, on the Management of Fowling-pieces, and all other Sporting Implements.—By W. H. SCOTT, Second Edition; elegantly printed, and illustrated with upwards of Sixty highly-finished Engravings. Price II. 18s. boards, deny 8vo. or, on royal raper, with Pinof Plates, 3l. 3s.

5. A PRACTICAL ESSAY on BREAKING and TRAINING the ENGLISH SPANIEL and POINTER: with Instructions for Shooting Flying,—By W. DOBSON, Esq. of Eden Hall, Cursberland. Second Edition, is 8vo. 10s. 6d. boards.

6. The SPORTSMAN'S PROGRESS; a Poem, descriptive of the Pleasures derived from Field Sports: with Thirteen Wood Cuts. Price 1s. 2ewed.

J. SOMERVILE'S gelebrated Poem of THE CHASE, to which is sayon the Poem of Field Sports; with Memoirs of the Author, and an Essayon the Chase, by EDW. TOPHAM, Esq. Illustrated with Engravings by Mr. SCOTT. Price 6s. in boards.

8. The ANGLER: a Poem, in Ten Cantos; comprising proper Instructions. In the Art, with Rules to choose Fishing-roles, Lines, Hooks, Fioats, Baits, and to make Artificial Flies; Receipts for Pastes, &c.—By T. P. LATHY, Esq. With upwards of Iwenty Wood Cuts. 10s. 6d, boards.

9. SPORTING ANECDOTES, original and selected; forming a complete Delinestion of the Sporting World.—By PIERCE EGAN. Price 9s. in bds. 10. The SPORTS MAN'S VOCAL LIBRARY; containing nearly 40s of the best Songs relating to Hunting, Racing, Shooting, Angling, Hawking, Archery, &c. Price 9s. in boards.

Archery &c. Price 9s. in boards.

ITHOGRAPHY—RODWELL and MARTIN have to armount to the admirers of LITHOGRAPHY, that in consequence of the great improvement and increased demand for works in that arf, they have opened a separate visibilishment at 49, Argyll-street, where will be found an extensive Collection of the best works hitherto published, English and Sorsign. R. and M. have several fine works in progress, which will be duly announced; they have lately published the following:

BOMAN COSTUMES, drawn from Nature by PINELLI. Containing 31 Plates, price 48s, coloured, and 24s, plain.

PARISIAN COSTUMES, drawn from Nature by J. J. CHALON. Parts I. II. and III. This work will consist of four Numbers, each containing six coloured plates, price 18s, oblong folio.

COSTUME of PERSIA, drawn from Nature by ORLOWSKI and SWEBACH, and engraved by C. HULLMANDEL and D. DIGHTON. To be completed in 8. Numbers, each containing 5 Plates, beautifully coloured, imperial folior. Nos. It oliv. 18s, each.

VIEWS illustrating the ROUTE of the SIMPLON. Drawn from Nature by Major COCKBURN, and on Stone by J. HARDING. Nos. It oliv. 18s. each.

VIEWS illustrating the ROUTE of MONT CENIS. Drawn from Nature

The by Major COCKBURN, and on Stone by J. HARDING. Nos. 1, to X. To be completed in 12, each containing five Plates, price 8s. each, royal folio VIEWS illustrating the ROUTE of MONT CENIS. Drawn from Nature by Major COCKBURN, and on Stone by C. HULLMANDEL. Nos. 1, to X. To be completed in 12, each containing five plates, price 8s each, royal folio. THAMES SCENERLY. Twenty five Views on that River, from Richmond to Oxford. Drawn by W. WESTALL, A.R.A. No. 1. To be completed in five Numbers, super royal folio, 9s. each.

LITHOGRAPHIC IMPRESSIONS from SKETCHES of BRITISH SCENERLY by FRANCIS NICHOLSON. Super royal folio, No. 1, containing six plates.

SELECTION of FLOWERS, drawn by BARTHOLOMEW: principally adapted for Students. To be completed in six Numbers, imperial 4to, each Number containing six Plates. Nos. I. II. and III. price 5s. each, or beautifully coloured, 12s. each.

ORNAMENTS and DESIGNS, from the Antique, highly useful, and pendiarly adapted to Architects, Silversmiths, Upholsterers, Cabinet-makers, Paper-Stainers, ornamental House-Painters. Carpet-Manufacturers, Manufacturers, Gilders, Bookbinders, Ladies Fancy Works, &c. &c.; containing 100 Plates, imperial 4to, price 4t. half bound.—Any Number may be had separate, price 7s. 6d.

RODWELL and MARTIN'S DRAWING BOOK. No. 1 to 12, each containing four Plates, from Drawings by HARDIN'G, PROUT, HULL-MANDEL, &c. &c. royal 8vo, price 5d. each. To be completed in 20 Nos. TWENTY VIEWS, characteristic of the Coast and Inland Scenery of England, designed and drawn on Stone by W. COLLINS, R.A. The first two just published,—The PRAWN FISHER, and the BIRD CATCHER, price 6s, proofs on India, 195:

127 A great variety of other works in Lithography may be seen at 40, Argyll-street Bookselling and publishing, as usual, at 46, New Bond-street, COMPANY, No. 10, Poultry, (near the Manson House), feel great (COMPANY, No. 10, Poultry, (near the Manson House), feel great ware the second to the completed in the completed in the COMPANY, No. 10, Poultry, (near the Manson Hous

CONOMY in WINES.—The ROYAL EXCHANGE WINE COMPANY, No. 10, Poultry, (near the Mansion House.) feel great pleasure in submitting to their numerous Cuatomers and the Public in general, the following list of choice Wines, which they can warrant as being of the finest qualities, at the undermentioned very Reduced Prices.—Established in 1814.

the finest qualities, at the undermentioned very Reduced Prices.—Established in 1814.

Good Cape Madeira per Doz. 20s. Very Superior Old Ditto per Doz. 42s. Pine Crusted Port, two years in Sol. 1815.

Rich (1d Ducellas 34s. Fine Crusted Port, two years in Sol. Ditto Red Pontro 43s. bottle 56s. Ditto Red Pontro 43s. Ditto Ditto, five years in bottle 56s. Ditto Red Pontro 43s. Ditto Ditto, five years in bottle 56s. Ditto Red Pontro 45s. Bronte Madeira 48s. Graf Regnet Burgundy, parlicu-1arly fine 42s. Fine Tenerife 46s. Pine Tenerife 46s. Pi

JOHN BULL. GENERAL BENEFIT INSURANCE COMPANY, 129, Aldersgate-street, for the Insurance of Weekly Allowances, Medical Attendance during Sickness, Sums of Money payable at Death, Annuithe immediate and deferred, and Endowments. Capital £50,000, in the payable of the Parance of the Paranc

PATRON.
His Royal Highness the DUKE of OLOUCESTER. His Roya) Highiress the DUKE of GLOUCESTER.

PRESIDENT.

HIS Grave the PUKE of BEDFORD.

LONG UCH, PRESIDENTS.

LONG UCHN, BUSSELL, M. P.

SIN WILLIAM CURTIS, BARL M. P.

SIN ROBERT BAKER.

SIN ROBERT BAKER.

SIN ROBERT BAKER.

SIN ROBERT BAKER.

SIN ROBERT WILLSON, M.P.

The Very Review DEAN of WORCESTER.

WHILHAM MILBERFORCE, Esq. M.P.

SAM. CHAS, WHITBREAD, Esq. M.P.

SAM. CHAS, WHITBREAD, Esq. M.P.

MATTHEW WOOD, Esq. Alderman, M.P.

JOHN THOMAS, THORPE, Esq. and Alderman,

Rev. J. W. CUNNINGHAM, Vicar of Harrow.

Rev. J. W. CUNNINGHAM, Vicar of Harrow.

TREASURERS.

Messrs. PRVS and CHAPMAN, Bunkers:

And Fifteen Directors.

This Company, established on the principles and plan of the most respectable Fire and Lite Offices, offers to the Public complete security for the fulfilment of its engagements, and the mechanical and labousing classes: are enabled to secure themselves against the casualties of life, without the waste of time, and the uncertainty which exists in the amounts of contribution required by Bonefit Societies. The younger members are sanitated and required by Bonefit Societies. The younger members are sanitated expressly for them, without contributing an unique chare farthe support of the advanced ages; and the whole of the Tables are adapted to meet the various views and circumstances of insurers, on correct and equitable principles.

and equitable principles.
Books, containing Rules and Rates of Insurance may be obtained during Office hours, from 10 to 3, and 6 to 8 daily.

adapted to meet the yanous yiews and croumstances of susurers, on obtained and read and equitable principles.

Books, containing Raiss and Rates of Insurance may be obtained during Office hours, from 10 to 3, and 6 to 8 daily.

and Jr SIVEWRIGHT recommend to the notice of their Ticke for 5 fhares for the Churce of the next Day's Drawing, the 1sth DHCRMBER, when the First Drawn Prize is sure to have an extra Sun of £5,000! The Wheel is very rich, containing a forand Prize of £30,000 Meiney; and Three of £5,000, all Money.—The cust of a Ticket is £32 18s, and may have back £22 18s, a Sixteenth, £1 4s, and may have back £21 18s, a Sixteenth, £1 4s, and may have back £21 18s, a Sixteenth, £1 4s, and may have back £21 18s, a Sixteenth, £1 4s, and may have back £21 18s, a Sixteenth, £1 4s, and may have back £21 18s, a Sixteenth, £1 4s, and may have back £21 18s, a Sixteenth, £1 4s, and may have back £21 18s, and £21

Druggists, and Stationers in town and constry, price one summe per wolve or packet.—None are genuine but those signed. T. Pryce, Restroad, London.

ESTABLISHED UPWARDS OF TWENTY YEARS.

For the SALE of IRISH LINEN by the PIBCE,
At the Factor Price, No. 4, on the South Side of Bloomsbury square four deors from the top of Southampton-street, Holborn.

THE IRISH LINEN COMPANY beg leave to announce to the Public that the above House is their only Establishment in the Country, where they continue to supply the Nobility, Gentry, and the Public with WARRANTED GRASS BLEACHED LINEN.

For Shirfs and Sheets, of the best fabric and colour, at a price considerably lower than they can be procured through any other medium.

They also engage to return the Purchase-money should any fault appear. Good Irish Bills and Bank of Ireland Notes taken as usual.

Cosnity and Town orders punctually attended to by JOHN DONOVAN, 4, Bloomsbury-square, Lendon, Lagents.

JOHN DONOVAN, 4, Bloomsbury-square, Lendon, Lagents.

JOHN DONOVAN, 4, Bloomsbury-square, Lendon, Lagents.

Persons in want of a good Watch, at a moderate price, he is enabled, owing to some recent ready-money purchases he has made in new and second-hand Watches of every description, to offer them at prices materially to their advantage, from Two Guineas upwards, many of them made by the first makers in London.—J. A. begs to state, as reputation is his object, his wish is never to sell a Watch that will not give satisfaction; to obtain that end be gives to purchasers the peculiar advantages of twelve months trial, with liberty to exchange them in that time, if not approved of—No. 423. Strand. Corner of Bedford-street.—Old Watches taken in exchange.

Strand, Corner of Bedford street.—Old Watches taken in exchance.

ASE and COMFORT in SHAVING. To those Gentlemen who experience inconvenience in Shaving from a tender fare or strong beard, J. T. RIGGI most particularly recommends his celebrated MAGNETIC RAZOR TAI BET, which, with its late improvement, he engages will produce so keen an edge as to supersede all grinding, honing, &c. and, render he operation of shaving as easy and agreeable as it was before impleasant and painful. Its use is simple, its effect certain; price 7s. 6d. J. T. Rigge's Aromatic Shaving Soap will also be found an invaluable addition. Manufactory; 65; Cheapside, and 52, Park-street, Crosvenor-square

PATENT ECONOMICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP.—In contemplating the lives and property that have been sacrificed to the use of candles, it is natural to conclude, that it has either been found difficult to invent a complete substitute, or that its importance has escaped observation, and it is not a triding gratification to the Patentee, that, in this invention he has so far succeeded in the at empt as to produce a light that embraces every perfection, and is alike applicable to every domestic use, and can be so regulated as to suit every occasion. Its safety is such that no person on seeing it candonbt for a moment its security against danger of can be so regulated as to suit every occasion. Its safety is such that no person on seeing it candoubt for a momen; its security against danger of fire, and, bearing any motion without agitating the flame, renders it highly valuable as a moving light. As a Chamfer of Night Light, it can be regulated to burn the longest or shortest night, giving a never-failing brilliant flame, ready at the moment it, is wanted, disappearing in the morning without smoke or smell, superseding the Bed Candle, and, in its general use, a preserver of the carpets from tallow or wak; the price, in neat Japan Stands, los: and in bronze, 15s. to 20s. The same principle applies, and the Lamps equally portable, on pedestals, varying in size and elegance; for the dining table, sideboard, study, bracket, door, or fan-light, &c.r. and also Glass Greeian Hanging Lamps, for the hall, staircase, passages, conservatory drawing room, manuleyiece, lustres, &c.; and for the accommodation of those who have square, vase, or other hall lanthorns, the burners of which are so universally complained of for the oil they consume, and the insufferable smoke and smell they emit, the Patentee, in compliance with the request of many, now applies this principle to such, with all its advantages, at 12s. to 14s. each. Families in the country, who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity, have only to send the exact size of the aperture at the bottom of the lanthorn in which the burner is introduced. It is a most essential acquisition in all these Lamps, that they require no attention when in use, and the exact six of the aperture at the bottom of the lanthorn in which the burner is introduced. It is a most essential acquisition in all these Lamps, that they require no attention when in use, and the exact six of the aperture at the bottom of the lanthorn in which the confidence of the Public will never be abused. Letters, post paid, from any part of the Kingdom, will meet with purpor pattention. abused. Letters, post poid from any part of the Hublic will never be prompt attention.

RITING PAPER of the best quality, made by the justly celebrated J. WHATMAN. of Turkey Mill; to be sold at the following low interest. Excellent copy, 7d. the quire, of 11s. the ream; good laid post, 8d. superfine thick; 9d. and 1s. the squire, of 12s. 13s. 6d. and 1s. 6d. the ream; superfine Bath, 8d. 4tten, but pressed, 10d. and 1s. the quire, of 13s. 8d. 15s. and 4s. 6d. the ream; superfine Bath, 8d. 4tten, but pressed, 10d. and 1s. the quire, of 13s. 8d. 15s. and 4s. 6d. the ream; superfine Bath, 9d. 4tten, but pressed, 10d. and 1s. 6d. and 1s. 6d. 5d. and 1s. 6d. and 1s.

No 23, Hadiow-street, Burton Crescent, Loudon.

DURGESS's ESSENCE of ANCHOVIES.-Warehouse, 170, Strand, corner of the Savoy-steps, London.—John Burgess and Soa, being apprized of the namerous endeavonis made by many persons to impose a spurious article for their make, feel et incumbent upon them to request the attention of the Public impurchasing what they conceive to be hech diginal, its observe the Name and Address Agressponds with the above the general appearance of the spurious descriptions will deceive the ungularised appearance at trastsight. The Genuine, but without any name or address:—some at Urstsight. The Genuine, but without any name or address:—some Burgess Rassuce of Anchovies;—others—Burgess and Son having been many years honoured with such istinguished approbation, feel every sentiment of respect towards the Public, and samestry solicit them to inspect the Labels previous of their partial and was they conceive to be of their make, which they frope will prevent many disappointments.

BURGESS NEW SAUCE for general purposes, having given such great satisfaction, continues to be prepared by them, and is recommended as most useful and convenient Sauce: will keep good in all climates.

Waschouse, 107, Strand, courier of the Savoy-steps, London.—(The original Fish sauceWarehouse.)

mactuseful and convenient Sauce: will seep good in all climates. Waschouse, 107, Strand, corner of the Savoy-steps, London.—(The original Fish sauceWarchouse.)

TRENCH PERFUMERY,....JEAN DEVERCAUX'S ESPRIT DE LAVANDE AUX MILLEFLEURS, possesses all the balmy fragrance of the treshest flowers; its aromatic, explaile, and nervine virtues are instantly diffused through the most spacious apartments, while the tragrance of its scent revives every person around.—Sold in bottles, price 2s. 6d. and 5s. at the Depot for Krench Perfumery, 28, Lombard-street, Landon; where is to be had JBAN DEVEREAUN'S MONTPELLER, Landon; where is to be had JBAN DEVEREAUN'S MONTPELLER, as a virifying grateful perfume, and giving to the skin a most delicious feel and unurious beilliancy. Price 2s. 6d. per packet.—Sold retail at 8s. Cornbill; No. 9, Regent-street, Pall Mall; 129, Oxford-street; 58, St James's street; 22, Hatton Garden, and wholesale by Price and Gosnell Perfumers to His Majesty.

E' A gratuitous sample (on a handkeryhief) of Jean Devereaux's celebrated Esprit de Lavande aux millefleurs, will be presented to any Ludy or Gontleman, which will prove its pleasing and re reshing preperties, by applying to any of his Agents, or at his Depat, No. 28, Lombard-street, Lendon.

To Mesars-ROWLAND and SON, Preprietors of the Marassar Oil.

applying to any of his Agents, or at his hepst, No. 28, Lombard-Street, Lendon.

To Mesars, ROW LAND and SON, Preprietors of the Marassar Oil.

Take the earliest opportunity of relating the surprising virtues I of your Oil on two of my chidren, the one 7, and the others years of age. To November, 1907, their Haircane off in small parts, and continued so to do until it was very much reduced. Alarmed at this circumstance, as there was no appearance of it coming again, I cried several oils, compositions, &c. without effect, when a Lady, who had withesseed the extraordinary effects of your Oil, cutreated me, to try it, which I did add in using four hotfles of the Macassar Oil, I have the gratification to say their heads are completely covered with thick and strong hair. — Your have liberty to make this public, and you may refer any one to — Yours, &c. — LOUISA JOHNSON.
Nawhatson-green, Middlesse, Nos. 14, 1898. — Vierma, Dec. 29, 1816.

To Mesats, Rowland and Son. Kirby street, Hatton-graden, London.

Gentlemes, — in consequence of the good effects of your Macassar Oil, I have it imposumand from his imperial Majesty the Emperor of altithe Russias, that you will, without delay send the sum of ten guineas worth to the Euperor of Russia, St. Petereburgh, and receive the amount of the same from his Excellency Counted Lieven, his Majesty & Ambassador at the Court of Great Britain. I have the honour to be, &c. — JAMES WYLIE.

A ROWLAND and SON respectfully caution the Public against spurious Macassar Oil. Their's is the original and gennine, which for many years has been universally alumired for improving the growth of hair, producing beautiful curls, and tendering it soft and glossy: in short, it adds to the hair a superlative beauty. Price 3s. 6d., 7s.; 10s.6d., and One Guinea per bottle.

Said, wholesale, retail, and or exportation, by the sole Proprietors, A. ROWLAND and SON. No. 1 corner of Kirby street; the first turning on the right in Hatton-garden, Holborn, London; and by appointment, by Messas, Henries, Titchbo out the use of Weights, thereby saving time and labour. Being perfectly portable, it may be used in any si nation—its universal utility must therefore he undeniable for Domestic purposes; is Shops, Warchouses, Coach, Ofices, Market Houses, Barns, on Mhaifs, at Races and Fairs, for Caidle, Corn., Hay, &c. or for loading heavy Articles; it may be at ached to the chain of a Crane, and shew the weight at the fime of craning; it is also peculiarly well adapted for the Foreign Markets. From its extreme simplicity, it is scarcely mossible to be inaccurate; yet if it ever should be so, there is an adjusting Seriew, which will instantly correctift.

DIAL WEIGHING MACHINES.

MARRIOTT having obtained His Majesty's Royal Letters
Patent, for an invaluable improvement in WEIGHING MACHINES. egal eave 1000 et to the Public, as the most per-fect & useful article forthat pur pose ever constructed plicity, expedition, & portability, it stands unrivalled, shews the weight of any article Ounce to a Ton, with.

possible to be inaccurate; yet if it ever should be so, there is an adjusting Sorew, which will instantly correctit.

Hit MARRIOTT having also made considerable improvements in his PATENT KITCHEN COOKING APPARATUS, feels a confidence in recommending it to the Public, as a most complete Article for Roasting Enking, Boiling, and Steaming, with economy in fuel, by wore moderate-sized Fire, and with a constant supply of from Twelve to Twenty Gallous of Hot Water; also Warm Closets for airing Linen, keeping Dinner hot, heating Plates, Diskes, &c.; the Cooking Utensils are never solied, and it is a positive Cure.for a Smokey Chinney. Kitchens fitted up, with Steam Ap; aratus, empracing all the laye improvements; also Baths, Conservatories, Halls, Staircases, and Buildings, headed by Steam, upon a principle of perfect seedrity; and equal diffusion of lates.—An improved Patent Spring Roasting Jacks to obviate the necessity of weights or pullies.—The whole may be seen daily in use at the Patenter's Manufactory, 64, Pleets'reet, London; or had of most of the respectable frommovers throughout England. N. B. Smokey Chinners cared anythiosophical principles.

Digitized by GOOGLE

POLICE.

POLICE.

LAMBETH-STREET.—On Wednesday, William Arthur Bret, a respectable looking middle-aged man, was fully committed for trial to the Chelmstord Sessions, charged with having feloniously forged and uttered a bill for 2101. payable at the house of Messrs. Chapman and Co. Great St. Thomas Apostle. The prisoner made no defence; he was clerk to a solicitor in the country.

UNION-HALL.—On Wednesday, Joseph Decker, a man attired in a rather primitive style; with a cloak wrapped round his body, a leather girdle round his loins, a long beard, barefooted and bareheaded, with a staff in his hand, a native of Boston, in America, was charged by the Rector's Warden of Camberwell with being an impostor and a vagabond, and with creating a riot on Monday night at Camberwell. On Monday afternoon, a female, one of Decker's followers, appointed to meet him at Camberwell, for the purpose of being there baptized by him in the Surrey canal. On the arrival of the prisoner on the bank of the canal, he commenced preaching, and he soon had a large congregation, who at first paid great attention to his address, which was delivered in a peculiar style of simplicity. On the arrival of the female who was to be immersed, he offered up a prayer on her behalf. The people paid great attention (excepting some rude boys, badwomen, and some low fellows) till he took the woman by the hand (she having fastened her clothes down to the lower, part of her legs), and led her into the canal, when they began to shout and huzza, and throw dead dogs and cats into the water. He took his station in the water by the woman's side, and having put one hand to her shoulder, and held lier bands with his other hand, he addressed her—"Art thou a believer in the Lord Jesus Christ, and that he died to save sinners?" The female answered, "I believe in Jesus, my God and my Redeenier." He then, lifting his eyes to heaven, exclaimed, "My dear sister, as a follower of the Divine example of the crucified Jesus, and as a believer in Him, I baptize thee, in the Name of the F

PRON COPFINS.—St Andrew's, Holbern, in the City of London, and County of Middlesex.

A Ta VESTRY MEETING, held on Tuesday, 27th November, 1821, an advertisement having been rend from one of the public papers, stating, that Parishes may not impose extra Pees for interment in IRON COPFINS.—IT WAS RESOLVED, That, to prevent any inconvenience to the inhabitants of this Parish, and to others, who may intend to inter their relatives or friends, in any of the Church-vards, or Burying-grounds of this Parish, that Notice be forthwith published in the public papers, that the Right Hon. Lord Stowell, formerly Sir William Scott, then Vicar-tieneral, has confirmed the table of dues in this parish, imposing a fee of 101, for a parishioner, and 201, for a non-parishioner, buried in such Iron Coffins, in addition to all fees otherwise due and pavable.—A true copy from the minutes.

NEW SYSTEM OF GEOGRAPHY.

Just published, price 7s. 6d. Part the Third, of SYSTEM of UNIVERSAL GEOGRAPHY.—By M. MALTER BRUN, Editor of the "Annales des Voyages," &c.

Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, London; and Adam-Black, Edinburgh.

The Publishers have made arrangements for combining, with a correct.

Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, London; and Adam Black, Edinburgh.

The Publishers have made arrangements for combining, with a correct translation of this aluable werk, which is now in course of publication at Paris, such additions as alterations as are rendered necessary by recent changes and discoveries, including a more accurate and detailed account of the British empire and its dependencies. The work is to be completed in the original, each containing 665 pages of letter-press, nearly double the quantity of an ordinary volume. The Translation is printed on fine demy paper, and will be published quarterly, in parts, or half vols. price 7s. 6d each.

DR. WHITTAKER'S HISTORY OF YORKSHIRE.

Just published, Part 6, in folio, on fine demy paper, 2l. 2s. and on superroyal drawing paper, with Indian paper proof impressions of the plates, price 4.4s. of

GENERAL HISTORY of the COUNTY of YORK.—By

Price 4l. 4s. of

GENERAL HISTORY of the COUNTY of YORK.—By THOMAS DUNHAM WHITTAKER, LL.D. F.S.A. F.R.S.
Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, Paternoster-raw; and Hurst, Robinson, and Co. Cheapside, London; and Robinson and Hernaman, Leeds.

and Hwist, Robinson, and Co. Cheapside, London; and Robinson and Bernaman, Leeds.

WALKER'S GAZETTEER, BY CAPPER.

Just published, in Svo. price 15s. bound, (with 14 Maps) a New Edition, of THE UNIVERSAL, GAZETTEER; being a concise Description, alphabetically arranged, of all the Nations, Kingdoms, States, Towns. Empires, Provinces, Cities, Oceans, Seas, Harbours, Rivers, Lakes, Towns. Empires, Provinces, Cities, Oceans, Seas, Harbours, Rivers, Lakes, Towns. Empires, 1998.

Towns, Capes, &c. &c. in the known World: the Government, Manners, and Religion of the Inhabitants, with the Extent, Boundaries, and Natural Productions, Manufactures and Curiosities of the different Countries. Containing several Thousand Places not to be net with in any similar Gazetteer.—By JOHN. WALKER, M.D. Revised, considerably enlarged, and improved, by B. P. CAPPER.

London: Printed for F. C. and J. Rivington; J. Cuthell: J. Nunn; Seatcherd and Letterman; Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown; Harvey and Darton; Lackington and Co.; J. and A. Arch; John Richardson; J. Mawman; W. Baynes and Son; A. K. Newman and Co.; Shetwood, Neely, and Jones; Baldwin, Cradeck, and Joy; J. Booker; R. Scholey; G. Cowle and Co.; Ogle, Duncan, and Co.; G. and W. B. Whittaker, S. R. Saunders; G. Mackie; Wilson and Sons, York; and Stirling and Slade, Edinburgh; of whom may be had, taining 27 coloured Maps, price 12s.

2. WALKER'S UNIVERSAL ATLAS; for the Use of Schools: containing 27 coloured Maps, price 12s.

Just published, price 3s. 6d. in boards, the Second Edition of

PLAIN REMARKS on the FOUR GOSPELS, for the Henefit of uninstructed persons, and adapted to the use of Schools and Families.

By the Rev. JAMES SLADE, M.A. Visar of Bolton, and Prebendary of

By the Rev. JAMES SLADE, M.A. Viear of Bolton, and Archael Chester.

Printed for F. C. and J. Rivington, St. Paul's Church-yard, and Archael Chern, Pall Mall'; sold also by Rivingtons and Cochran, 148, Strand; of whom may be had, by the same Author.

2. ANNOTATIONS on the EPISTLES, being a Continuation of Mr Elsley's Annotations on the Gospels and Acts, and principally designed for the use of Candidates for Holy Orders, 2 vols. 8vo. 16s.

Elsley's Annotations on the Gospels and Acts, and principally designed for the use of Candidates for Holy Orders, 2 vols. 8vo. 16s.

NEW GEOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY.

Just published, handsomely printed in 8vo. (doub's columns) Part XI.—9s. of HE EDIN BURGH GAZETTEER; or, GEOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY; comprising a complete Body of Geography, physical, political, statistical, and commercial; accompanied by an Atlas, constructed by A. Arrowsmith, Hydrographer to the Prince Regent.

Printed for Arch. Constable and Co. Edinburgh; and Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, London.

Conditions:—1. This work will extend to six volumes, 8vo. elegantly printed, each volume to consist of 50 sheets, or 800 pages letter-press.—2. The price of each volume will be ils. in boards; and, in order to suit every class of purchasers, the work will come out periodically, in parts, or half volumes, price 9s. each.—3. A part, or half volume, will appear every three months.—4. The Atlas, consisting of 53 maps, engraved in the first style of the art, may be had along with the Gazetteer, price 11. 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) neatly half bound; coloured copies, 21. 12s. 6d. boards.

Just published, handsomely printed on imperial 8vs. price 12s. boards; and on 4to. with Proo? Impressions of the Plates, price One Guinea in boar's, Part 3, with Plates, of a New Edition of MEE HOLY BIBLE, embellished with new Engravings, by CHARLES HEATH, from Designs by RICH. WESTALL, Esq. R. A. Published by Hurst, Robinson, and Co. 90, Cheapside, Londen.

The Engravings, which are entirely new, have been in progress nearly four years, and the whole now being completed, will ensure a punctuality of publication which, with works of Art, can rarely be calculated upon.

A few sets of Proo! Impressions of the Plates are printed for separate sale upon India Paper, on Columbire 4to. The price of those before the writing, is Sl. ss. and with the writing, 6f. 6s.—Proofs, Columbire 4to, not, on India Paper, on Columbire 4to. The Plates are printed for separate sale upon India Paper, on price 41. 14s. 6d.

"These Illustrations of Hoty Writ, are decidedly the test, both respects design and execution, which have been, as yet, offered to the Polis this form."—Literary Gazette.

CHEAP ADVENTURE.—SWIFT and Co. are selling the by which a Prize of £5,000 must, and many other Capitals may, be gained for the following small Risk, viz.:—On a Sixteenth, 4s.; an Eighth, 7s. 6d.; a Quarter, 13s.; a Half, £1. 5s.; and a Whols Ticket, £2.—Purchasers on this Plan, whose Numbers may be strawn Blanks or small Prizes on 14th December, as well as those whose Shares then remain undrawn, and who do not choose to keep them for the chance of the last Day's Drawing, may return them, and receive back the Money they cost, (except the small Sunsabove stated) at No. 11, Poultry, 12, Charing-Cross, or 31, Aldgate High street; where Two Capital Prizes of the present Lottery have been sold in Shares.

Shares.

£5,000 CERTAIN, with the CHANCE of OTHER CAPITALS—RISK only FORTY SHILLINGS, on the 11th DECEMBER.

CARROLL, the Contractor, begs to inform the Public, that all Purchasers between the 20th of November and 11th of December, will be allowed to return their Tickets or Shares a five taking the chance of the next day, when a Prize of £5,000 at least is sure so be drawn, and nearly the whole of the Money will be given back, by which the risk of loss is reduced to the following trifling sums, viz.:—Whole Ticket, 2l. Half, 1l. Quarter, 13s. Eighth, 7s.6d. Sixteenth. 4s.

The Wheel is very rich, and contains—One Prize of 30,0001; Three of 5,0001; One of 2,0001; One of 1,0001; Three of 5001; Three of 3001; loss closes other Prizes of 1901; 501. &c. &c. and Not Two Blanks to a Prize, all to be drawn in Two Days. 11th and 20 h December.

Tickets and Shares are selling at CARROLL'S fortunate Offices, 19, Cornshil, and 28, Oxford-street; where Scheimes, with full particulars, are delivered gratis.—No. 11,485, 2 Prize of £30,000 Money, drawn on Tuesday, November 20, was sold in Shares by CARROLL.

CARDS of Terms of a respectable CLASSICAL BOARDING SCHOOL for YOUNG GENTLEMEN. In the Neighbourhood of Camden Hill, Revsligton, may be had at Messys. T and O. Underwood, Booksellers, 32, Flect-street, and at Mr. Hailes's Museum, Piccadilly.

Camden Hill, Kevsington, may be had at Mesers, Tiand C. Underwood, Booksellers, 32, Flect-street, and at Mesers, Tiand C. Underwood, Booksellers, 32, Flect-street, and at Mr. Hailes's Museum, Plecadilly.

PROS PECTUS of the LONDON WINE COMPANY, No. 141, FLERT. STREET, which commence on Thursday, 29th November.

I Pon the announcement of an Undertaking, of no ordinary magnitude, the Proprietors feelle proper to submit to the consideration of the Public the following view of its objects and arrangements. The London Wine Company, arear having occupied the greater part of the stressent year in building and fitting up appropriate Premises, take loave to announce their intention of commencing Business on the 29th instant. These Premises are situated in the extensive Court, the entrance to which is by the Gateway, 141, Fleet-street; and comprehending the whole of the inner Court, are formed upon a scale fully adequate to the transaction of business of the atmost magnitude. The Cellars, which are peculiarly dry and spacious, are at present stocked, and will always contain from 30,000 to 40,000 Dozens of the choicest Wines, of every class and country.

But although his Company feel it necessary thus to conform with the usual mode of giving publicity to the nature and extent of their Establishment, they would rather invite direct and personal examination of its merits, as they aim at no other preference than that which they may be really found to deserve; and having taken the utmost care to be furnished with none but genuine Wines, of the best flavour and quality, they offer that invitation with peculiar confidence. As they cannot, however, calculate upon general attention to any invitation or address of mere anonymous authority, especially after the frequent delusions to which the Public have been subjected, the Company think it proper to declare, that with them originated, and by them is at present conducted, the LONDON GENUINE TEA COMPANY, 25. Loagate-fill; with all its extensive remifications. The success of this com and the consistent residuals of their dealings: and resolving to make the same system the rule of their conduct in their new Establishment, they cannot doubt of success.

But having sensibly felt the good effect of that system, it would be a dereliction of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the Public, as well as of the duty which they owe to the public, as well as of the duty which they owe to themselves, to hazard their obvious interest by any departure from its principle, or by any recaration of its character. Looking, indeed, to permanent reputation, which is essential to permanent profit, they cannot allow any temporary expedient to interfere with their purpose.

Of course, then, they can never descend to obtrude any such promises as daily appear in the imposing placards which are so estentationally exhibited luminost every thoroughtare in town, with regard to "Cheap Wines." those Wines being offered at a price for which they could not possibly be sold, were they really of the character or quality which they purport to possess. But the solicitude of the LONDON WINE COMPAN shall be, in their new undertaking, what it has uniformly been in the Tea Trade, namely,—to render their Stock comparatively cheap rather by the superior quality of that Stock, than by disposing of an inderior article at a low price, which a may price must be dear to the consumer.

Thus, while the London Wine Company disclaim all affectation, their object being to establish an equitable reciprocity by securing a Tair article for the Public, with a fair profit for theoselves, in Proprietors hope to reduce that system of imposture, which, under the alluring guise of cheapness, has keen too long prevalent; and thus, to accomplish that with respect to Wines, which they wines is principally to be attributed. The facilities, indeed, which these wines, both red and swiste, afford to the adepts in such reprehensible practices, are become sovery glari notoriously bad, that the London Wine Company have determined at the nutset, that on no consideration shall Cape Wines ever be admitted into their Cellars.

The London Wine Company are simply supplied with PORTS of the generally esteemed best timages, among which, they have a large Stock that has been from 4, to 32 years in bottle; while, to insure a supply of the linest FRENCH Wines, they have bad a special Agent in that country upon whose skill and industry they can confidently rely, from the Wines which his has aircadyforwarded.

But since this establishment has been in contemplation; and especially since preparations have commenced for bringing it to maturity, the Company have availed themselves of every epportunity that offered, for selecting the oldest and finest Wines from the cellars of the most eminent merchants in the City. They have bapply too, met with occasions, peculiarly favourable to their object, among merchants retiring from business, and private gentlement about to break up their establishments; and there is scarcely any, eminent shipper; for the last thirty years, from whose importations the Company have not made purchases, under the guidance of the most competent judges of Wines, whose advice and aid the Proprietors have engaged in the conduct of their new Establishment.

The London Wine Company will always keep a Stock of Foreign Spirits, which may be depended upon as being of genuine and superior qualities, and which will be sold at equitable Prices, both wholesale and retail.

Such are the grounds upon which the Proprietors of this Company take leave to solicit the patronage of the Public.

The Character of the London Genuine Ten Company affords it is presumed, assufficient guarantee to gentlemen resident in the Comitry, or to families occasionally visiting Town, for the punctual and faithful execution of any orders with which they may be pleased to favos the London Wine Company.

families occasionally viting forms of the London Wine of any orders with which they may be pleased to favor the London Wine Company.

This Company think it proper to state, that they can execute no orders for less than one dozen of Wine.

The following is a statement of the Company's Wines, with their Prices; per dozen 42s.

Fine Port (old in the wood) per dozen 42s.

Fine Port (old in the wood) for the Company's Wines, with their Prices; per dozen 42s.

Fine Port (old in the wood) for the Company's Wines, with their Prices; per dozen 42s.

Superior oid ditto 5 to 8 years in bottle for pripe £91 to £126.

Fine oid Sherry for the wood per pipe £91 to £126.

Fine oid Sherry for the wood per pipe £95 to £126.

Particularly soft flavoured Amontillado for the Company for the West India Madeira for

WAYTE, Purrier to the King, late of Panton-street, Haya market, and the Burlington Arcade, has the hosour to acquaint the Nobility and Public in general, that he has R.B.M.9VED to more extensive Premises in REGENT. STREET, near the County Pre-solice, where is collected a continuance of their favours.—C. W. has manufactured a large Assortment of all descriptions of rich and elegant Form into the most fastion able Articles of Dress for the Season.

able Articles of Dress for the Season.

COLONIAL COFFEE ESTABLISHMENT and TEA WARE.
HOUSE, 16. Feuchurch-street, London. AMBROSE TWEBN, bera to inform the Nobility and Gentry, that he continues to sell the best West India and other COFFEBS, and every description of TEA, of the best quality, on the lowest terms for ready money, viz.—Tea—Congon kind, 5, 4d per lb.; Congon, 5s, 8d.; good ditto, 6s.; dine strong ditta, 5s, 4d to 6s, 8d.
Sourhong, 7s, to 9s.; finest ditto, 10s.; Twankay, 6s, 4d. to 6s, 6d.; fine ditto,
Its.; fine ditto, 11s, 6d. to 12s.—Confoe—Plantation, 2s, 6d.; good ditto, 10s, 4d.
If Forders from the Country forwarded without delay. Captains of shipand the Proprietors of Taverus, Inns, and Breakfast Houses, are supplied at the most advantageous terms.

the most advantageous terms.

MAGAZINE OF NOVELTIES.—A. SHEARS and Co. Bee ford House, No. 11, Henrietta street, Covent garden, the Organ Importers of Irish Poplins, Tabbinetts and Velours, in the most exquisi splendour of Modern Colours, appropriated for Morning and Senin Dresses. Curious and superb Seals Down Cloth, much admired for itself gance, warmth, and textore, to be had solely of A. S. and Cs. introducers the grandest selection of French and Nowleh Cachemeres, Prince to an Angola Crapes, Satin Cloths, Satin Partoons, Paris and Pergylan Hadt Preuch Levantines, Crape Chiusers, Genoa and British Velvels, Lade beautiful Habit and Dress Cloths; also, the most choice and mamifice Designs in Edinburgh, Norwich, Seal-skin and Braganza. Shawls, from 21 20 Guineas each.

DATENT MERINO DAMASK.—That truly elegan superb Article to be had genuine only of RICHARDS and Oxford-street.—The Nobility, Gentry, and Families about to Fur respectivelly informed, the greatest variety of New Patterns, in every of colons, are now on Sale, and will be offered on very advantages. Their Autumn Stock of Furnitures embracing every novel style, a variety of designs, extent of patterns, and cheapness, are not to be in England.—Blue, yellow, green, hild, marcon, and gold colour a 9d; ell wide ditto fast colours, at 1s, At Richards and Co. a Depot, 3 street, three doors below Newman street.—Moveens from 18d, per very contractions of the colour of the colour

LONDON MARKETS.

CORN EXCHANGE, FRIDAY, Nov. 30.

The supply of Wheat since Monday has been moderate, but a very large part of that day's arrival then remained unsold. The marning there was rather more sale for the better sorts, but the ordinary qualities are particularly difficult of disposal, and certainly lower. Barley, Beans, and Pease scarcely maintain Monday's prices, and the Oat trade is very dull, and rather chape than otherwise, though the arrival this week is far from large. In other articles there is no alteration to notice.

Office with the control of the contr	a to district
RETURN PRICE of GRAI	N, on board Ship, as under.
Essex Red Wheat (new) 40s. 46s.	Maple
Fine 48s. 55s.	White ditto
Old	Boilers
Essex W hite (new)50s. 55s.	Small Beans
Fine	Old
Superfine	Tick Beans (new) 200 248,
Old	Old
Rye	Feed Oats 175. 188.
Barley 25%. 25%.	Fine 198. 210.
Fine 26s. 27s.	Polaud ditto
Superline	Fine 225. 24s,
Malt	Potatoe ditto
Fine	Fine 288.
Hog Pease26e, 27s.	· 生活的企品企业、企业企业企业 (FREX.)
THE GENERAL AVERAGE PRIC	ES of BRITISH CORN, as revelve

E GENERAL AVERAGE PRICES of BRITISH CORN, as receivedly from the Inspectors in the Maritime Cities and Towns in England Wales, according to the Gazette of the 2d of December, calculated

GENERAL AFBRAGE WHICH GOVERNS IMPORTATION. Wheat, 53s 11d - Barley, 25s 1d - Oats, 19s 1d - Rye, 23s 7d - Beans, 25s 1d Pease, 30s 3d.

PRICES OF GOL	D AND SILVER.
Portugal Gold, In Coin 0 0 0 p. e2.  Foreign Gold in Bars 3 17 101  New Doubloons 0 0 0	New Dollars 0 4 94 p.es. Silver in Bars Stand 0 0 0 — New Louis, each 0 0 0 —
COURSE OF EXCHA	NGE FRIDAY, Nov. 30.
Amsterdam	Trieste — Ess. 6: Madrid

COMMERCIAL REPORT, FROM THE 25TH NOVEMBER, TO THE 1ST DECEMBER.

Most descriptions of produce are held with augmented firmness at rather enhanced prices; this is particularly the case with Plantation Sugar, the supply of the better qualities being insufficient to meet the demand. Refined Goods are in good request at somewhat better prices. This is also the case with Coffee. Cottons are stationary. In Tallows a good deal of business has been transacted; and Yellow Candle cannot be bought under 44s.

Sugar, British plantation, 27s. per cwt.; ditto East India, 3s.; Coffee, British plantation, 1s., per lb.; ditto East India, 1s. 6d.; Cocoa, ditto, 1s.; Pimento, 10d.—Cotton, 6 per cent. ad valvem, ditto West India, free; Tobacco, 3s. per lb.; Rice, from America and Java, 15s. per cwt.; ditto from other parts, 5s.; Tallow, 3s. 2d.; Tea, under 2s. per lb. 100 per cent.; ditto, above 2s. per lb. 96 per cent.; Rum, 11s. 71d. per gallon; Brandy and Geneva, 18s. 10d.; Wine, Port, 7s. 7d.; ditto Madeira, 7s. 8d.; ditto Cape, 2s. 6dd.; ditto Sherry, 7s. 7d.

			LIC FU		F 1927 (1987)	Sect.
STOCKS.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thur.	56400	W. C.
Bank Stock	239	2394	S. Carrie	239	ra establi per Cont. Reduced	774	778	764	167	-5900	764 4
3 per Cent. Consols	784	773	773	1.027	Alice Charles	275 8 1
31 per Cent Consols	7.78	873	873	876	P. Carlott	878 4
Consols for Account	7.02	273	784	1/28/2017		284 4 8
per Cent. Consols	969	967	.964	964		164 8 4
per Cent. Navy	1106	1103	1102	1108		1102 4
Bank Long Annuities		193	193	192	12.27	19 7-16
Bank Long Annualies		67 n	65 D	- 65 p	STATE OF	66 61
India Bonds	3 p	9 10	3 p	2 p	2000000	31
Exchequer Bills, 2d	3 h	2 h	425	PARTIES.	E-0709	100 apr 1
Ditto, 21d	-	200	11000	N 5240	12 8000	-
Omnium	-	1.30.0	1.5 8 7 1.08	E.R. DESKIN	A SHALL	100

On the 29th Nov. the Lady of Isaac Cooper, Jun. Esq. of Park-place, Pinchley, of a son. On the 24th Nov. the Lady of Lieut.-Colonel Forster, half-pay 24th Regi-

On the 24th of a son.

On The 29th ult. in Gower-street, the Lady of Colonel O Connell, of the 73d Regt. of a son.

On Monday last, at Charlton Kings, near Cheltenham, the Lady of Captain Reguers R. N. of a son.

Burgoyne, R.N. of a son.

MARRIAGES.

On the 23d inst. at Mellerstain, in the County of Berwick, John Lerd Glenorchy, only son of the Earl of Breadalbane, to Eliza, eldest daughter of George Baillie, Esq. of Jerriswoode.

On the 11th inst. at Florence, the Countess of Besborough, after a short hut painful illness of two days:

LONDON: Printed and Published by R. T. WEAVER, at No. 11, JOHNSON'S COURT, FLEET-STREET, when only Communications to the Editor, (past paid) are received.

MAY AUT I

with the S Aux Cost His

" FOR GOD, THE KING, AND THE PEOPLE!"

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1821.

Price 7d.

ALCOMPANIES AND PRESSOR WITH Symphonies and Accompaniments for the Piano Fortie, by Soia, and Characteristic Poetry, written by I.R. Fianche, Resp. price 10s. &d. The Parting Moments, by Corrie, iz. &d. The Wounded Negra Boy, by Parry, 1s. &d. "I know you false," by Capt. Boyd, St. "O; that I could recall the day," by ditto, 2s.; and, The Knight and the Lady, by Latour, 1s. &d.
Published and sold by Chappell and Co. Music Sellers to His Majesty, Re. $4, New Madd-atract.

NEW MUSIC. Just published by CLEMENTI and Co. 48, Cheapside.

A TENTH EDITION of CLEMENTI'S INTROBUCTION to the ART of PLAYING upon the PIANO FORTE, price les. 64.

The Passerson Editions through which this well-known Elementary Sies has passed, and the various translations which have been made of it has purious any offer on the merity of the work, and, they trust, may very fairly justify them in most strongly recommending the present improved Edition to the attention of every Teacher destrous of promoting the advance of his Pupils.

TWELVE MONPHERINAS for the Plano Forte, composed by Muzic Clementi, Op. 49, price 5a.—The agreeable and familiar style of these little Piacet will be found acceptable to all classes of Performers.

TURESE SONATAS, composed for the Plano Forte, and dedicated to L. Cherubini, by Mr. Clementi, Op. 50, price 19s. 6d.

TENT WORKS.—Published by MATHEW and Co. 17, Old Bond street.

L. Cherubini, by McClementi, Op. 50, price 10s. 6d.

"ERW DUSCC.—Published by MAYHEW and Co. 17, Old Bond street.

"L'EW MUSIC.—KLALLMARK/8 universally-admired Varia
"L'EW MUSIC.—KLALLMARK/8 universally-admired Varia
"L'EW MUSIC.—KLALLMARK/8 universally-admired Varia
"L'EW MUSIC.—KLALLMARK/8 universally-admired Varia
"L'EW MUSIC.—KLALLMARK/8 universally-admired As a Piano Forte, by the Author, old and Paddon, price 5s.—Incour's favourite "Le Retour de Windsor," arranged as a Duet for two Performers on the Piano Forte, by D. Bruguier, price 5s.—The popular Hungarian Air, arranged with interesting Variations, far two Performers on the Piano Forte, by J. Jay, M.D. price 3s.—Boleidieu's favourite Overture, "Du Calife de Bagdad," arranged as a Duet for two Performers on the Piano Forte, by T. Goodban, price 4s.—The above Duetts it particularly recommended to the notice of the Musical World, being arranged by the first Masters of the present age.—London: Published by Maylisw and Co. Music Bellers to her Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent, 17, 61d Bond-afteet, where may be obtained every New Musical Publication.

THE HUSSARS OUADRILLES, composed and dedicated to the Right Hos. Gen. Lord Stewart, K.G. by M. C. Mortellari, 3s. The 17th No. of Paine of Almack's Quadrilles, 4s. New Editions of PAINE of ALMACK'S QUADRILLES, from 1 to 16, each No. separate, 4s.; the whole complete, bound, 11, 16s.—The following NEW DUETS for the HARP and PIANO FORTE:—Fourth Edition of Zitil, Zitti, Plano, Plano, 4s.; and DI. Lagf. palpht, 4s. by Stell. Fra tante Angoucie palpiti, by Ansell, 4s. Thing Edition of O Pescator dell'onds, by F. Latour, 4s.—Published at Falkper's Opera Music Warchouse, 3, Old Bond-street.

Thing Scition of O Peacator deli ones, by F. Latour, 4s.—Published at Palkper's Opera Music Warehouse, 3, Old Rond-street.

NEW MUSIC.—Published by the Royal Harmonic Iustitution, Lowar Saloon, Argyll Rooms.

Delife, a Divertimento for the Harp, composed by F. C.

Meyer, price 2s 6d. Sonata for Ditto, dedicated to Lady Caroline Beairelett, composed by Ditto, price 3s. The Airs in the Ballet of Nina, arranged as Duets for the Harp and Piano-Forte (Pitte ad. lib.), by Bochsa, The Gayotte in the Ballet of Armida, with an Introduction and Variations, somipsed by Ditto, price 4s. Polonaise Brillante for the Piano-Forte, composed by Lanace Moschies, price 4s. "The Birth Day," a Divertimento for the Piano-Forta, soquisting of a March, Air, and Waltz Rondo, composed by T. A. Rewings, grice 3s. A Selection of Airs from the most Favoritie Operas of Rossint; adapted for the Piano-Forte by Camille Pleyel, price 4s.

Orand Sernata for the Piano-Porte Op. 63, dedicated to Ferd. Ries, composed by J. B. Cramer, price 4s. "We're a Noddin at our Heuse at Hame," popular Scotch Ballad, with Variations for the Piano-Forte, composed by F. B. Cramer, price 4s. "We're a Noddin at our Heuse at Hame," popular Scotch Ballad, with Variations for the Piano-Forte, composed by F. W. Croutt, price 2s. "I've "ween a Face," Song composed by F. W. Croutt, price 2s. "I've "ween a Face," Song composed by F. W. Croutt, price 2s. "I've "eeen a Face," Song composed by F. W. Croutt, price 2s. "I've "eeen a Face," Song composed by P. W. Croutt, price 3s. "The Errenter" a Set of Quadrilles, Figures by D' Egytile, Missel by Callectt, price 4s. "Beroet Music Walts the Day," a Favourite Rosado, aung by Miss Blaces, the the Comis Opera of the Barber of Setlie, adapted from the Walts of Beart, by C. S. Herne.

**The Errenter** a Set of Quadrilles, Figures by D' Egytile, Missel by Calle.

**We're a Rosado Royal Research of the Barber of Setlie, adapted from the Walts of Beart, by C. S. Herne.

**The Errenter** a Set of Quadrilles, Figures by D' Egytile, Misse

TEWEY OCAL MANAGE.—"GREAT GEORGE the POURTH 18.6 Herwith" Sunase on the Cornantine of our beloved Sovereign.

18.6 Herwith" Sunases on the Cornantine of our beloved Sovereign.

18.6 Herwith Sunases on the Cornantine of our beloved Sovereign.

18.6 HEROTHES of VARIOUS NATIONS, with Symphomies and Acom
18.6 HEROTHES of VARIOUS NATIONS, with Symphomies and Acom
18.6 Herothes of Bath." price 15s.

18.7 Rough Sketches of Bath." price 15s.

Parties, Morning or Evening Lectures, &c. &c. &c.

DICHMOND.—DR. SMITH'S ANNUAL CONCERT, on

B. SATURDNY EVENING NEXT, at Eight o'Clock precisely, at the STAR AND SARTER ASSEMBBY ROOM.—Leader of the Bend, Mr.
Grames; Grand Piane Forte, Dr. Smith.—Vocal Performers, Miss Carew, Miss Vernes, Signor Teyri, and Mr. Bellamy. The Instrumental Band, from the Opera and Philharmonic Orchestras, will consist of the most entiuent Performers. In the course of the Concert, Sonata, Piano Forte.—Miss Emith, Violiao Obligato.—Mr. Cramer.—Beethoven. New Concertante, Two Violin
cellos.—Mr. Lindley and Mr. Lindley, jum.—Lindley. Fantasia.—Corno.— Bassitto.—Mr. Wilmsun, in which he will introduce the favourite Air, "Cenacy you'funning,"—Bocksa. New Solo. Harp.—Miss Smith, in which will be introduced a favourite Scotch Air, with Variations, composed expressly for this Concert by Mr. F. C. Meyer.—Tickets, 10s. &d. each, to be had at Dr.
Smith's, Greenside; or at Eling's Library, Hill-street, Richmond. Money cannot be faken at the doors.

LADY or GENTLEMAN, or Two Sisters using one Bed-room, may be received as INMATES in a private Family of respecta-ty, at Kennington. An unexceptionable reference will be required.— by at 26, Malcot place.

ACATION.—A beneficed Clergyman, within a few Miles of London, would willingly receive a YOUNG GENTLEMAN into his House, are superintend the continuance of his Studies, during the Vacation of the Public Schools or Universities—Letters to be directed for Rev. A. B. ta the care of Mr. Pearman, Library, 170, New Bond-street, London.

PRIVATE TUITION.—A Clerryman, accustomed for many years to the TUITION of a few PRIVATE PUILS, would be giad to fill up a VACANCY with the Son of a Gentleman whose health or education may require more than saugal attention. Terms, 175 Guineas per annum. Distance from London Ten Miles.—Latters to be addressed to Rev. B. L. Mr. Reynolds, Sookseller, 127, Oxford-street, London.

THEATRE OF ANATOMY, BLENHEIM-STREET.

THEATRE OF ANATOMY, BLENHEIM-STREET.

December 1, 1821.

December 1, 1

In the press, and specify will be eathered. W. Wright. E. Picet street.

The BLACOW'S DEFENCIAL pressed to the Jury in the Court at Languager, on a Trial for this against the Queen; with Notes on the Whig-Radieni Faction.

Notes on the Whig-Radieal Faction,

CARDS of Terms of a responsible CLASSICAL RUARDING SCHOOL for YOUNG SERVENIFIED, in the New November of Camden, Mill, Kassington, say in that a literature, T. and fr Universell Recognition, 22, Pleis-rightly, and the relationship because Proceedings, 22, Pleis-rightly, and the relationship because the capture acquisites, the Pablic, that the ARMA Managers, Council for Cardier Balbe, with every Ampual Publication for the next Free, are budy, notings to had at their House is great variety. Paper, Stationary and Laurant Rocks at Weeks sale Prices.—No. 49, Pleistures, sale Prices.—No. 49, FleeLstreet,

I OGARTH'S ORIGINAL WORKS.—An Addition of PLATES to those Published by htmself, and use in his Works more recently republished by the late Messrs. Beydelland Co; printed on 25 inff sheets of grand Engle Paper, price Five Guinas.—Published by Robert Wilkinson, 125, Fenchurch-street. Where also may be had, the following Original Works of Mr. Hegarth, not included in the above, viz.—The SRA LING of the SEPULCHRE, ALTAR-PIECE of ST. MARY RADULIFF, in the CITY of BRISTOL, 23 inches by 20 inches, price 15s.—The RESURRECTION of CHRIST. in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The RESURRECTION of CHRIST. in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The RESURRECTON of CHRIST. in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The RESURRECTON of CHRIST. in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The RESURRECTON of CHRIST. in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The RESURRECTON of CHRIST. in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The RESURRECTON of CHRIST, in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The RESURRECTON of CHRIST, in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The RESURRECTON of CHRIST, in ditto, same size, price 15s.—The Resulting of the Original Works, and two Plates Bullesque of that Artist; the subjects are, Hog—ass, Wi—k—s, and Church—iii, price 2s. cach.

Latelypublished, in 2 vols. 8ye, with coloured Plates, 28s. a Third Edition of
ETTERS from the COURT of TRIPOLY, written during a

Latelypublished, in 2 vols. 8ye, with coloured Plates, 28s. a Third Edition of
ETTERS from the COURT of TRIPOLY, written during a

Latelypublished, in 2 vols. 8ye, with coloured Plates, 28s. a Third Edition of
ETTERS from the COURT of TRIPOLY, written during a

Latelypublished, in 2 vols. 8ye, with coloured Plates, 28s. a Third Edition of
ETTERS from the COURT of TRIPOLY, written during a

Latelypublished, in 2 vols. 8ye, with coloured Plates, 28s. a Third Edition of
ETTERS from the COURT of TRIPOLY, written during a

Latelypublished, in 2 vols. 8ye, with coloured Plates, 28s. a Third Edition of ETTERS from the COURT of TRIPOLY, written during a

Latelypublished,

British Consul.

"This work boasts an interest peculiary its own, and not depending upon any locality of circumstance whatever. The fluished picture that is given of the Moors, Torks, and Arabs, reminds unfof the most splendid fictions of the Arabian Nights, and gives to us, arrayed in all the reality of truth, those delightful scenes, and that glowing imagery, which we had never been accustomed to consider otherwise than as the workings of a brilliant imagination."

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Conduit-street,

Lately published in 4to with a Portraft of the Author, and 12 Engravings of remarkable Scenery, price I. 2s. boards, ARRATIVE of a RESIDENCE in IRELAND,—By ANNE PLUMPTRE, Author of Narrative of a Three Years Residence in France, &c. &c.

PLUMPTRE, Author of Agriculture of the means of infrance, &c. &c.

"We beautily wish that this agreeable volume may be the means of inducing our countrymen to visit an island which they are, for the meat part, utterly usacquainted with: yet from which Enginn fills one-third of her granary with corn, half her feet with provisions, and a great part of her army with soldiers."—Literary flazette.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Conduit-street.

Army with soldiers. — Literary Guzette.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Conduit-street.

Just published, the Fourth Edition improved, price 5s. 6d.

THE ART of PRESERVING the SIGHT unimpaired to Edition of Sight units of Sight unimpaired to Edition of Sight unimpaired to Sight un Printed for J. Johnston, 38, Cheapside.

ILLUSTRATIONS OF MASONRY.—Bedicated to His Royal Highness the Duke of Souther.

Just published, price 3s. beards, the Thirteenth Rdition of ILLUSTRATIONS Of MASONRY.—By the late WILLIAM PRESTON, Eaq Past Master of the Lodge of Autiquity, noting by immemorial constitution. With Corrections and Additions, by STEPHEN JONES, Past Master of the same Lodge.

Printed for G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Naria-lane.

Printed for C. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Maria-lane.

Just published, price 6s.

FIHE NEW EDINBURGH REVIEW, No. II. for October,
1821, (to be continued Quarterly.)

CONTENTS:—1. Spurrhelm on Edication—2 Lyno's Travels in Northern Africa.—3. Letters to Heber on the Author of the Scottish Novels.—4. Sir
Thomas More's History of King Richard III.—5. Miss Baillie's Metrical Legenda.—6. Ker Porter's Trayers in Deergia, Persia, &c.—7. Stewart's Continuation of Goldensish's England.—6. Meyer's Rise and Progress of European Judicatorias.—9. Selby's Iljustrations of Ornthology.—10.
Heere's Flera Scotica.—11. The Washington and New Orleans Campaigns.—12. Origin of the "Serrows of Wester."—13. Fearn's First Lines of the Human Mind.—14. Maturin's Universe, a Poem.—15. Distillery Lawa.—
16. Sketches of India,—17. Haslam on Gound Mind.—18. Lawson's Orient
Narping. &c.—19. Maite-Brun's System of Geography.—30. Mob Power.—
11. Dr. Pye Smith on the Scriptura Testimony to the Messiah.—21. List of Publications.—Literary and Scientific Intelligences of Works in the Press or preparates for Publication.

Printed for Wargh and Innes, Mangurgh; O. and W. B. Whittaker, and John Warren, Loydon; of whom may be had, all the Numbers of the Edinburgh Monthly Ferlew, from its countercoment in January, 1819, to its cenelusion in June, 1621, and No. I. of the present Work, for July, 1821.

Lately published, from mine fat, in house,

N INQUIRY into CERTAIN ERRORS seriative to INSA.

NITY, showing the Proportion of humans Personnensel, and the Probabilities of Recovery. With Histolical on the calleged increase and provalence of Mestal Dermannensel, on the histolical of the Histolical of Mestal Dermannensel, and the many of Lanatic Acylman; in their flowship, on the Condition of the Histolical on Relations, an a cause, or an effect, phonous, and identic in implicible on Relations an cause, or an effect, of Sannilly, See Sec. By CHORGH HAN BURBO FS, M.S. P.L.S., &c., Beid by T. and G. Underpress, 32, Freet street.

Said by T. and G. Unkayweit, M. Fleet etreet.

FIGHE LITERARY CHRONICLE and WERKLY REVIEW, published every Saturday, is not only the changest and quickest vehicle, of Stagary information axiant, but the Steet publication to interest and improve intelligent youth. It is replete with novelties in literature, the drams, fine arts, it.c. and tray independent in its criterisms. On application, post paid, to the printer, G. Bardarin, Old Seawell-court, Garry-struck promisenous numbers as specimens may be laid gradiitensly. The shanged Edition, which goes free through the General Part, is Tanpones; the managed is Sixpenseasity.

Published by Limbird, 368, Strand, and sold by get Venders of Periodicale.

Just unblished, selende, 369.

Published by Lemmer, See, Bernow, and Property of Personal Property of the Revolution, with the causes and consequences of its fall, and refers generally to the Revolution.

with the causes and consequences of its fall, and resers generally with the causes and consequences of its fall, and resers generally will the incident of the consequence of the part celebrated Kings and Statesmen; on various interesting Subjects.

The two Pamphiets above bave been translated exclusively for the PAMPHLETEER, No. XXXVII. which Number contains also the following Pamphiets:—The Coronation Sermon in Westminster Abbey—B. Beaumont on Criminal Jurisprudence—Caprare of a long and healthful Lifes—A Vindication of the Pample from Blasphemy—A Defence of the Present Currency (original)—Dr. V. Knox on degradation of Grammar Schools.

mar schools.

Sold by Longman and Co.; Simpkin and Co; Black, Parbury, and Allen;
W. Carpenter, jun. Loudon; and may be had, with the Reviews, &c. by giving a general order to any Bookseller.

137 The Pamphieteer is particularly adapted for Literary Clube and

Just published by Yerston and Gurney, Law-stationers, No. 10, Mitre-court, Fleet-street, Called THE LAW ALMANACK, Also,

A NEW LAW DIARY, or Daily Remembrancer, (printed in a convenient size to fie up with papers, or carry fa the poetet); each containing a Table of Terms and Returns, by Bill and by Original.

In a few days will be published, in 3 vois. 12me.

In a few days will be published, in 3 vois. 12me.

IR ANDREW WYLLE, of that ILK.—By the Author of "Annals of the Parish," &c.

Lately published, by the assise Author—1. The AYRSHIAE LEGATERS, 12mo. 7s.—2. ANNALS of the PARISH, 12mo. 8s.—Printed for T. Cadell, Strand, London; and W. Blackwood, Edinburgh.

& W. SMITH, 192, STRAND, opposite St. Clement's Church, bog to call the attention of their Friends and the Public to their READING ROOM, which is supplied with One Hundred and Fifty different Newspapers every Week, being on a more liberal scale than any yet established; also, the most approved Reviews, Magazines, &c.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

LAST NIGHT'S GAZETTE.

The Ring has permitted the 27th Regiment of Foot to bear the words Badajes, Balamanca, Vittoria, Pyramers, Nivelle, Orthes, and Toulouse," commemoration of their distinguished conduct at these battles.

WAR-OFFICE, 7th Dec. 1821.

2d Regt. of Life Guards—Lieut. T. Hardwicke, to be Cornet and Sub-Lieut. 7th Charled.

4th Regt. of Light Drags.—Cornet T. D'Eye Burroughs to be Lieut. vice Vandeleur.—R. T. Gilpin, Gent. to be Cornet, vice Burroughs.

18th Regt. of Light Drags.—Cornet T. I. W. Freeman to be Lieut. vice Walker.

Bith Regt. of Light Drags.—Cornet T.I. W. Freeman to be Lieut. vice Walker.

Int Ragt. of Foot.—Hesp. Ass. G. Oeborne to be Ava.—Surg. vice Bolton.

22d Ditto.—Lieut. R. M. Lockwood to be Capt. vice Hall.

25th Ditto.—Lieut. R. Small to be Lieut. vice Shattlewarth.

36th Ditto.—Capt. R. Birch to be Lieut. vice Shattlewarth.

46th Ditto.—Ensign N. Low to be Lieut. vice Crabb.—Ensign J Capton to be Ensign, vice Low.

42d Ditto.—Lieut. G. Hogarth to be Lieut. vice Graet.

43d Ditto.—Lieut. W. Fraser to be Lieut. vice Fininy.

44th Ditto.—Ass. Surg. R. Verling to be Ass.—Surg., vice Newton.

38th Ditto.—Capt. Hon E. Cust, to be Major, vice Mardonald.

36th Ditto.—Brev. Major H. H. Frichard to be Major, vice Gualy.

57th Ditto.—Brev. Major H. Hartley.

61st Ditt.—Lieut. J. Wolfe to be Capt. vice Stewart.

77th Ditto.—Ensign H. Hamilton to be Lieut. vice Maclean.—C. Ramsden, Gent. to be Ensign vice Hamilton.

91st Ditto.—Major J. Macdonald to be Major, vice Roshfort.

Ride Brigada.—J. Parker, Gent. to be Sec. Lieut. vice Lord E. Hay.

Brevet.—Col. Count Bentinck De Rhome to be Maj.—Gen. on the Centinent of Europe only.

Rife Brigads—J. Parker, Gent. to be Sec. Lieut. yice Lord E. Hay. Brevet—Col. Count Beatinck De Rhome to be Maj.-Gen. on the Continent of Europe only.

Staff—Lieut-Col. W. Cutton, of the 47th Poot, to be Extra Aide-de-Camp to the King, with the rank of Culonel in the Army.

To be Hosp—Assistants to the Forces—Hosp—Ass. J. Cocking, vice Brown.—Hosp—Ass. W. Dobsen, vice G. Betrry, M.D.—Hosp—Ass. J. Sibbald, M.D. vice Dockard.

BANK R. HEPTS

PANKRUPTS.

LANDCASTLE, J. and GILLARD, R. N. the younger, Bristel, oar-

LANDCASTLE, J. and GILLARD, R. N. tue yesters.

MARSDEN, P. Shefield, gracer.

LITCHFIELD, J. Cambridge, gardener.

LAPAGE, S. Clematiclens, dry-sakter.

MARGETTE, T. Old Woodstock, wheelwright.

WARNER, R. Packfield House, York, dealer.

WILLIAMS, S. Bristol, apotherary.

PAGE, W. Lilmastreet, spirit-merchant.

GALE, Q. Newgate-market, butcher.

EPPS, J. Holbour, ham and bassa-merchant.

STAFF, H. A. Narwich. soap-manufacturer.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

FOREIGN OFFICE, Dec. 4.

The King has been pleased to approve of M. Augrand to be Consulat Liverpool for his Most Christian Majesty.

PARTNERSHIPS DISSOLVED.

R. E. and J. Hyde, Manchester, cotton-merchants.—Court cash Greenhalph, Hammersmith, braziers.—Harrisen and Ray, Great Chapel street, Broadway, Westminster, oil and colourmen.—G. Cullingworth, Dewsbury, and M. Dodgson, Watefield, Grocers.—Janes and Smart, Birmingham, factors.—Alderson and Musgrave, Leeds, grocers.—Jones, Iles, and Jones, St. John-street, West Smithfield, wholesale grocers.—Steward and Fennell, Tulbot-court, Gracechurch-street, bottle porter-merchants.—R. and W. Green, Manchester, iron and red ilquor manufacturers.—Wadham, Brook, and King, Upper Thames-street, printers.—M. and T. Howard, Sheffield, wine and spirit-merchants.—Da Costa and Rietti, (no trade.)

BARKER, W. Welch Whittle, Lancashire, vietualler.

BOX. T. Bockmigham; banker.

BURKITT, W. Beverley, Yorkshire, miller.

GOURT, H. Fish-street-hill, straw-hat-manufacturer.

GAYFER, T. Brusyard, Suffolk, merchant.

HARRISON, J. Beckfoot, Westmorland, joiner.

HUTCHINS, J. Stoke Damerel, Devonshire, builder.

MABSON, W. Kelsale, Saffolk, farmer.

MOYSE, W. Saxmandham, Suffolk baker.

STAFF, E. and W. W. Norwich, brick-makers.

WARNER, J. Garforth, Yorkshire, maltster.

DIVIDENDS.

Jan. 3, J. and J. Holmes, Carlisle, common-carriers.—Dec. 25, F. Fenton, SAAFF, E. and W. W. NORWICH, Brick-Markers.

WARN ER, J. Gariorth, Yorkshire, maltster.
DIVIDENDS.

Jan. 3, J. and J. Holmes, Carlisle, common-carriors.—Dec. 26, F. Fenton, Sheffield, merchant.—Dec. 26, J. Robinson, Birmingham, factor.—Dec. 26,
G.E. Aubrey, Manchester, merchant.—Dec. 27, W. Durham, Oxnead, Norfolk, paper-maker.—Dec. 28, T. Landon, Hartford, salt-manufacturer.—Dec.
27, J. Martin, Liverpool, merchant.—Jan. 12, W. Peake, Sioane-square, linen-draper.—Dec. 31, T. Brumfit, Bradford, Yorkshire, grocer.—Jan. 2, W. Ganbye Leeds, grocer.

Hien-draper.—Dec. 31, T. Brunnt, Bradiote, Lorando, M. W. Canby, Leeds, grocer.

CERTIFICATES, Dec. 25.

M. Newten, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, cooper.—T. Playfair, New Bondstreet, trunk maker.—W. Jackson, Cudham, Kent, farmer.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—To-day, at eight o'clock in the evening, the King received in his cabinet the deputation of the Chamber of Deputies, composed of the President, and the two Secretaries, who delivered to him the Address voted by the Chamber, to which His Majesty made a suitable reply.

CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES, DEC. 4.—The Keeper of the Seals laid before the Chamber two projets of law relative to the prosecution of crimes committed by the Press and by other means of publication. The object of these projets is to continue the two Acts (one of the 31st March, 1820, and the other of the 26th July, 1821) to the end of the Sessions of 1826. In discussing the several articles much warmth was displayed by the speakers on both sider. The tumult increasing, and several Members claiming the right to speak, the President was obliged to interfere with some degree of violence.

ODESSA, Nov.1.—According to accounts from St. Petersburgh.

speak, the President was obliged to interfere with some degree of violence.

Onessa, Nov.1.—According to accounts from St. Petersburgh of Oct. 24, his Majesty, our beloved Emperor, has sent his Ultimatum to Constantinople, in reply to the last note of the Porte. His Majesty insists on the establishment of a system insuring the jest rights of the innocent Greeks stipulated by former treaties, and on the immediate evacuation of Moldavia and Wallachia.

Nov. 3.—The English Ambassador, Lord Strangford, who enjoys extraordinary influence over the Porte, had drawn up a Memorial in support of the note lately sent by the Reis Effendi to St. Petersburg. This Memorial, in which the cause of the Turks was defended with the usual address, was presented to Count Nesselrode by the English Ambassador at St. Petersburg. Count Lieven, our Ambassador at the Court of London, was hereupon charged by the Emperor to communicate to the English Cabinet the abovementioned Russian ultimatum, and at the same time to declare that it was his Majesty's most ardent wish that Lord Strangford, by his preponderant influence, might succeed in inducing the Porte to accept the equitable proposals of Russia.

An article from Augsburgh, on the authority of letters from Constantinople, dated Nov. 2, states, "that the Grand Seignior had caused all Persians found in his capital to be imprisoned."

Letters from Smyrna, of the 26th of Oct. mention the renewal of massacres in that city.

Accounts from the North and East of Europe continue to men-

Letters from Smyrna, of the 26th of Oct. massacres in that city.

Accounts from the North and East of Europe continue to mention the invasion of Asiatic Turkey, by the Persians, and the continuance of the Russian army in a hostile position.

Constantinople, Oct. 25—You will be very much surprized to hear, that in addition to the many difficulties this Government has to encounter, it has declared war against Persia. It is unnecessary for me to mention from what quarter the blow must have come; we have no doubt whatever that the war with Persia is brought about through the mediation of Russia.

Oct. 28.—The uncertainty with respect to Russia continues, and the embarrassment of the Divan is increased by the news which was received on the 19th of October, that the hereditary Prince of Persia had entered Armenia, near Kars, at the head of 100,000 men, and that he has already occupied Erzeum, the capital of that province.

Halipax, Ocr. 31.—A grand dinner was given on Thursday, at Mason Hall, by the Members of his Majesty's Council, the Magistrates, Merchants, &c. of Halifax, to Vice-Admiral Griffith Colpoys, as a mark of high respect for the constant attention to the commercial and general interests of the colony, evinced by him during his present and previous command on this station. His Excellency Sir James Kempt, G. C. B. the Commandant, the principal officers of the Staff, Captains of His Majesty's ships in harbour, the Clergy, &c. honoured the table with their presence. Synney, New South Wales, May 29, 1821.—A new Colony has lately been planted at a place named Port M'Quarrie, about 200 miles to the northward of Port Jackson head quarters. Its foundation has for its object the cultivation of the sugar-cane; being much warmer than here, the highest hopes are entertained of its success.—Mr. Commissioner Bigs sailed for England about three months ago, having finished his inquiry, from the result of which great changes are expected to take place.

Accounts have arrived from Rio Janeiro, which state that there is no longer any doubt there of a systematic plan for declaring which great changes are expected to take place.

Accounts have arrived from Rio Janeiro, which state that there is no longer any doubt there of a systematic plan for declaring Brazil an independent kingdom, under the sway of the present Prince Royal of Portugal, who, it is understood, will have no objection to assume the title of Pedro I. King of Brazil. The scheme has proceeded so far, that the troops, who are to take part in it, are named without reserve; and the day fixed for the declaration of independence was the 12th Oct. the Prince's birth-day.

Extract of a letter from Pernambuco, dated 8th Oct. 1821:—

"We have much satisfaction in acquainting you, that hestilities were yesterday terminated in this province, by a suspension of arms between the contending parties.—It is understood that the principal conditions are for the Goiana Insurgents to return to that place with their forces, where they are to govern the districts now subject to their orders, until a decision is received from the Cortes in Portugal, as to the future government of the provinces."

New Yoak, Nov. 3.—(From South America.)—Capt. Young, of the ship Packet, arrived here yesterday, in 60 days from Bahia, informs us, that on the 23d of August, several sail of Transports arrived at Bahia, under convoy of a frigate and sloop of war, with 1500 troops, from Lisban, who were sent for the purpose of enforcing the Constitution, which, it was expected, would be opposed by the Government of Rio Janeiro.

Nov. 9.—The daring freebooters who hover around Havannah and the Gulf of Mexico, appear to increase in their atrocities, and a final blow must be given by sending out a whole squadron to cruise on that station until they are destroyed. They robbed the brig Cobosse, Jackson, from Havannah, bound to Boston, of every thing valuable, beat the mate unmers' cully, hung him up to the yard-arm, and stabbed the Captain in the thigh, until he nearly bled to death. Captain Jackson said, that he saxy the sloop that robbed him, lying at the Regla, and that the

IRELAND.

DISTURBED DISTRICTS.

COUNT CASE.—On Monday might, a party attacked the house of Captain Currain, and the one half-pay exablishment, and a nephew, to the Master of the Rolle, at Newmarket, from whom they demanded arms, wishen not appearing dissessed to comply with, they dragged him out and would peobably have murdered him also, but that providentially a gentleman, who happened to dine. With Mr. Curran, found the arms and gave them up, upon which they went off.

BURRING OF J. GHURGE.—On Friday pight some villains malificiously set fare to the Farish Church of Knockane, near Killarney, in the united discose of Ardiert, and totally consumed it, with a number of Bibles and Prayer-book sontained therein. The Churchwardena of the parish Church of Knockane, near Killarney, in the united discose of Ardiert, and totally consumed it, with a number of Bibles and Prayer-book sontained therein. The Churchwardena of the parish were also thecatened; a few days below, with either loss of life to property, if they did not desist for the country of the church cess.

The Churchwardena of the parish Church (John Shelly), and John Canpion, charged with Ardion Ryan, charged with the manual of Watersland, (Jilmay.—A nother has been and esseed to the category of the unfortunate Shea, requiring bins a blandon the possession of some lands held under creammatances somewhat similar to those which excited the hourd temperature and exceed to the possession of some lands held under creammatances when the parish of Moore, near Ballinasloe, was attacked and entered by a banditit, who demanded fire-arms. Fortunately there were no fire-arms in the house of death to none-compliance, we are not radiciently informed.—Kilkenny Paper.

Country Roscommon.—A land the sample of the parish of Moore, near Rainymont, and after having interacted to shoot him, took from him is gun.—Three nien, charged with having lelonously entered the house of John Reilly, of Churchtwon, hear Newkastle, were committed to the country gad, by Lieut.—Col. Balfour, of the adver lery, stationed in this city, to march on Wednesday next for Dublin, which is to be selieved by Colonel Campbell's company, from Ballincollig. Major Maclean, of the 22d Highlanders, commanding at Shanggolden, is appointed a Magistrate of the County of Limerick. Thomas Covern; Esq. 1 are Adjutant of the 79th, is appointed clinief Constable to Captain Droughts' Police, at this city. The County of Limerick Staff mount guard dully at the new coming goal. Our domestic news from the mere southern district romains to be of an affiliering and dispraceful clinicater; and we recret to find symptoms of an ill inclination nearer home thin. Tubber, All the Proclamations for prosecuting the murderers of the Sheas were torn down the first night after their being posted, and, in place of them, a short notice was port up—" Not to be unleasy about the Proclamations for prosecuting the murderers of the Sheas were torn down the first night after their being posted, and, in place of them, a short notice was port up—" "Not to be unleasy at the proclamations being taken down, that there should be occasion for plenty, before the winter was over," "—Comment Herndal, Doc. N. We are informed by the growincial newspapers that All the gen-powder which had been in the possession of merchants and their nices and Linnerick, had been removed, by the ordered Govern power of the procession of the control of the procession of the control of th and gentlement of the country of Tippeseny was intel at Nemach, or Wordnesday, when reastitutes were entered into expressing a first the begit active would have the Insurerection Act re-encoded, which the meeting conceived the mass effects of motor of restoring trans.

On Tuesday night, five follows distributed notices at several form-homes, destring the prorefector for any correction stans in responsible to the control of the control of

COMMON COUNCIL.

On Thursday a Court of Common Council was held at Guildhall.
The Lord Mayor said, that the Address voted at the last Court had been presented to His Majesty, who had been pleased to return a most gracious Answer, which was read, and entered on the coursely.

The Lord Mayor said, that the Address voted at the last court had been presented to His Majesty, who had been pleased to return a most gracious Answer, which was read, and entered on the Journals.

Mr. S. Dixon begged to remind the Court of the custom of placing in the Council Chamber a Statue of the reigning Severeign. He trusted it would not be long before that custom would be observed with respect to his present Majesty.

Mr. Ald. Browne noticed the lamentable accident which had befallen Mr. Wontner, the City Marshal, and said, that it ought to be known that a most disgraceful canvassing had taken place for his situation, on the presumption that the accident had incapacitated him from resuming his duties. There was not the smallest doubt that, at no distant day, he would be able to attend to an office, the duties of which he had hitherto discharged with so much honour to himself and advantage to his fellow-citizens. The Marshal was informed that he (Mr. Ald. B.) intended to mention the subject to the Court, and had requested him to carry his warmest thanks for the sympathy which had been expressed for his situation by his fellow-citizens and the public at large; and that he trusted to the indulgence of the Court until he could resume his attention to his official duties.

The Report of the Committee for General Purposes was brought up and read. After noticing the correspondence which had taken place between Earl Bathurst and Mr. Ald. Waithman (then Sherriff), it stated that the Committee had taken the subject into their consideration; that they had been attended by several persons who were present on the occasion in question, and had heard the evidence. They regretted that the Government, although they could not but be aware of the probability of a disturbance on that occasion, had not taken those precautions to preserve the public peace which were necessary; and that the praise-worthy exertions and the prudent foresight of Mr. Sheriff Waithman had prevented much bloodshed. They were convinced that a violent

MISCELLANEOUS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Princess Augusta arrived on Tuesday afternoon at the King's Palace, at Pimlico, at about half-past three o'clock. Her Royal Highness was accompanied by Count Linsingen, Lady Mary Taylor, and Miss Wynyard.

On Wednesday the whole of the Coronation property in and about Westminster Hall, was sold in one lot: and immediately an immense number of men were employed with numerous caravans, to take down and remove the property so purchased. The Law Courts at the end of the Hall will not be rebuilt; the plan of the late Mr. Wyatt (the late King's architect) will be partially adopted—that of holding Courts for the King's Bench and Chancery behind the stone buildings, and in line with the Courts of Common Pleas and Exchequer; there will be entrances into them from the Hall, similar to that in the Common Pleas.

The Army.—On Tuesday morning, the third battalion of the First, or Grenadier Guards, under the command of Col. Stewart, assembled at their barracks, when they marched across the Park to the basin of the Grand Junction Canal, where a considerable number of craft were waiting to convey them to Liverpool, on their route to Dablin. The whole battalion consists of nearly 800.—The 16th Lancers, the 19th, 29th, 84th, and 89th Regiments are gone to Ireland.

On Monday the dispatches were closed at the East India House.

number of craft were waiting to convey them to Liverpool, on their route to Dublin. The whole battalion consists of nearly 800.— The 16th Lancers, the 19th, 29th, 84th, and 89th Regiments are gone to Ireland.

On Monday the dispatches were closed at the East India House, and delivered to the Pursers of the following ships, viz.:—The Earl of Balcarras, Capt. P. Cameron, for Bengal and China; and the Thomas Coutts, Capt. A. Christie, for Madras and China:

A Spanish Journal states, that a merchant of Orinhela, who had cause of complaint against a young female, cut off her ears; one of which now hangs by a thread of the skin, and the other is deposited with the Magistrate as a documentary evidence!

We understand a letter has been received in the City, by a Mercantile House, dated Odessa, Nov. 6, stating that on the 16th December the Russian Authorities at that place would contract for 150,000 chets. of Wheat and Flour, or 750,000 bushels. This is in consequence of a scarcity reported in the Crimea. The export of Corn was also expected to be prohibited.

The publicans in most parts of the metropolis have lowered the price of porter 2d. a gallon to the public, and from the reduced price of barley a further reduction is expected shortly.

On the 3d inst. the Society for the Suppression of Vice obtained a warrant against G. Clarke, Carlile's shopman, for the sale of a work, containing a foul libel on the King and Government. He was taken before Mr. Justice Bayley, as his Lordship's Chambers, from whence he was committed to Nawgate for want of bail, Clarke had scarcely been removed an hour, before his place was taken by a young girl named Susannah Wright, who contained the sale of the same obnoxious work, and an information being lodged against her, she was also arrested. The trials of these defendants will come on during the hextistings at Guildhall.

Cambridge.—The subject of the Norrisian Prize Essay for the next year is, "The Internal Evidence of the Divine Origin of the Christian Religion."—The following gentleme drove with such violence against the pier, as to become a complete wreck; close to her a sloop was totally broken to atoms, between 20 and 30 flats sunk and damaged in various parts of the river. Several American vessels were stranded; a Yorkshire vessel, in which the wife and family of the Captain were, all perished within a few yards of the pier! A windmill situate near the signal-house, on the Cheshure side, could not be stopped by any effort of the miller, took fire and burned down. Many new buildings, nearly finished, are levelled with the ground; scarce a roof in the town has escaped damage. Mr. Barton (of the firm of Barton and Sutton, brewers) and his wife were crushed to death by the falling of the chimney and roof of their house, their child was preserved by the beam laying across its parents, the child being in the middle. Two men were kil'ed in Denrison-street; by the falling of a stack of chimnies. At Manchester it did considerable damage by blowing down chimnies, unroofing louses, and tearing off the lead from buildings, in very many instances. Several persons were severely hurt by the falling bricks, slates, &c. Windows which had a western aspect had the appearance of being extremely dirty; and on examination, the materials adhering proved to be partially crystallized salt, as was ascertained by submitting it to the tests of the taste and the microscope. This fact proves the violence of the wind, which had broughtso far (nearly forty miles) inland the spray of the sea, which it had swept from its perturbed waves. Leeds was visited by a tremendous gale of wind, accompanied with hail and rain, which blew incessantly, for several hours. A part of the roof of the new barracks was blown off. A wind-mill at Appleton was blown down; two persons were in the mill at the time, who both escaped unburt. Several houses were injured, and other similar accidents occurred. At Newcastle the greater part of two new houses in New Bridge-street, was blown to the ground by it. A stack of chimines fell on the roof of a house in Johnson's chare, removed a began from its situation, which struck the head of a poor woman named Brown, upwards of eighty years of age, and killed her instantly. Her grandson, a boy atoms nine years of age, who was in the same bed, escaped unburt. In the garden of Hugh Harrison, Esq. on the Leazes, several yards of wall with rails on the top were blown over. The Methodist chapel at Kenton, had the roof blown off, and two of the windows blown in. In Gateshead, part of the front of a house came into the street with great violence. A stack of chimnies fell, and broke through the roof of Mrs. Ludlow's house, in the Back-lane, and lodged in the garret, which was fortunately boarded, or the Misses Ludlow, who slept in the room beneath, must have been killed. A window in Mr. Price's glass manufactory, fronting the river, was blown in wholesale, and ferced to the end of the apartment. In Dublin several large trees and chimnies were blown down, and the road through the Phoenix Park is impassable, from trees that lie across it. A number of pioneers were employed in removing the obstacles. A boy was killed on the North Strand, by the falling of a house. There is a large gap in the wall, on the west side of Harcourt-sweet, occasioned by the storm, and great part of what remains is in a very precarious state.

POLICE.

Bow-Street.—Many of the inhabitant householders of Bedfordbury, Bedford-street, New street, Covent-garden, &c. having complained at this office, that the Rising Sun public-house, in Bedfordbury, was kept open all hours of the night, as a receptacle of thieves, and other loose characters. Sir Richard Birnie issued a privy search warrant, under 25 (geo. II. commonly called "the Tymbing Act," for the apprehension of all persons who might be found drinking there after a certain hour. In the dead of the night, between Monday and Tuesday, a strong party of the patrole proceeded to execute this warrant, and in a retired from, at the back part of the house, they found a follow called Barton, presiding over an assembly of seventeen men, including several well-known characters were ordered to find ball.—Ingram, the landlord of the house, in his defence said his house was open later on the present occasion, because it was a "Free and Easy" night; but upon all other nights it was punctually closed at cleven o'clock; he declared upon his honouse, that he did not know any of the gentlemen were thieses. But upon the Magistrate's fining him ten shillings, for suffering "unlawing tippling" in his house, and telling him his licence would not be renewed, he became quite restive; and said there was not a house in the parish but was frequented by as many thieves as his own!

The Dover coach was solbbed lately of a parcel containing silver to the amount of 500s, and upwards. One of the constables of this office obtained information that a well-known character, living in a court in Tothill-street, Westminster, was concerned in the robbery. He met the object of his search coming out of his house, collared and took him back into the house, and was searching him, when he suddenly slipped from his graspand fled. The officer then returned to the house, where he found a young women calling herself Mary Anne Jordan, who admitted that she was living with the man who had escaped. The officer searched the apartments, and found 16 sove

LONDON SESSIONS.

Monday.—William Blithe, a corporal in the second regiment of Foot Guards, was tried for having assaulted Robert Langdale, with a musket, on which was fixed a bayonet, and also with baying threatened his life, &c. The prosecutor said, on the 17th of September he was walking down Ludgate-hill, when he was pushed on the earbstone. He heard some person say "Stand out of the way," and, on turning round, saw the soldiers. Witness said "What the d——I do you mean?" and told them they had no right to walk on the pavement with fixed bayonets. He then went to the corporal, who told him to stand out of the way, or he would run him through. The bayonet did not touch his person, but was on the corporal's shoulder.—On his cross-examination the witness stated, that about six years ago he had been in the militia, and was now a special pleader. He swore that he had not take hold of the corporal's arm, but might have touched him, or tapped kim on the back to draw his attention. The bayonet was lowered, but not so low as his body, as he started back. He did not go before the Lord Mayor for three weeks after.—On the part of the defendant, four of the soldiers of the party, swore that they were marching in single files, the defendant went between the second man and the corporal, took hold by one hand of the arm of the corporal which supported the musket, and seized the piece with the other, in a manner which obliged the corporal to turn round, and with his other hand take hold of the piece to prevent its falling. They all swore that the corporal had not used the language imputed to him.—The leading man swore he had merely touched the defendant on the back, saying "by your leave," as he was near treading on his heels.—The Jury acquitted the defendant.—The Common Sergeant said the was the opinion of himself and the Court that he had acted with the greatest propriety and coolness.

Wennessay.—Wm. East, driver of one of the Clapton coaches, was charged with assault on another of the Clapton coaches, was charged with assault on another o

OLD BAILEY.

OLD BALLEY.

Weight short Henry Thompson was indicted for uttering a forged check with the intention of defrauding Francis Pontet, on Mesers, Jones, Lloyd, and Co.—Francis Pontet, Jun. deposed, that the prisoner came to his shop on the 17th of May, and ordered some shuff to be sent by the Exeter coach to Blackwater. It amounted to 61. 18s. the prisoner gave him a check amounting to 171. 16s. when winess gave him the change. Did not see him again until the 13th of October, when he was taken into custody. Could swear positively to the identity of prisoner. The check was paid into the hands of Messrs. Drummond, it was drawn upon dones, Lloyd, and Co.—William R. Thomas, a butcher, deposed, that on the 13th of October the prisoner came to his shop and purchased meat to the amount of 31. 10s. for which he tendered a check for 161. He directed the meat to be sent to J. C. Lloyd, Esq. No. 16, Devonshire-plase. Witness not having change, carried the check to Messrs. Drummond's, who recollecting the transaction with Mr. Fontet, gave him such information as induced him, on his return, to have the prisoner taken up and conveyed to Bow-street.—William Cook, a hay-salesman, deposed, that the prisoner purchased a load of hay of witness on the 5th of May, for which he paid him a check for 91. 10s. On carrying it to the banker's he discovered it to be a forgery.—William Fuseby, clerk in the house of Messrs. Jones, Lloyd, and Co. deposed, that tall the checks produced were fictious.—The prisoner declined making any defence, or calling any witnesses, but threw himself upon the mercy of the Court.—The Jury returned a verdict of Guilly—Death.

Thursday,—william Woolley was indicted for breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Mr. Charles Ward, and stealing therein a tea-chest, and other property. The watchman having noticed the prosecutor's door standing open, went into the passage, and at the same moment a man rushed out. The prisoner was secured.—The Jury returned of Mr. Charles Ward, and stealing the return the summary of the time being, and if Authe general owner, consistes at a theft of the property from B. that is a robbery or larceny. In this case the fact of the intention to defraud the revenue did not allor the character of the act, and therefore the prisoners being properly convicted, will receive sentence at the end of the Sessions.

**Adverticement.**—Astronomers being properly convicted, will receive sentence at the end of the Sessions.

**Adverticement.**—Astronomers being properly convicted, will receive sentence at the end of the Sessions.

**Adverticement.**—Astronomers and one of the sentence of the sentence of the sentence of a sentence of the sentence of a sentence of a

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS

IVe return our thanks to the Kina's Scholass of West hings for the Rattering testimentally a statistically respect for our Paperland its principles," sphick operations respectedly the respect for our Paperland its principles," sphick operations respectedly the representation of the individual state of the country. Upon this individual states is the constant number.

From the immend press of matter to day, we gro, compelled to permit our correspondents to remain statement of the second points the maintenance of the authorises of the second points populate, in the ordinary source, commence on Sentiary the Ed instant, but, in ordinary source, commence on Sentiary the Ed instant, but, in ordinary source, commence on Sentiary the Ed instant, but, in order to meet the visible of the member published by the appears will get terminate till Senday the 30th.

Child the second visions will confidence with the first number published by the appears years.

PRICE OF STOCKS AT THE CLOSE, SATURDAY.

The depressed siste of the French Funds, together with the news from producting the list had to hitch direct on one as might be expected. In the page age of the weak many goal, beyons a speared, and which sisted had been done. Copieds for opening Account closed that double has pleased the double was present them Ferris, their 5 pen Grotes, were stated file in Spanish Funds have improved furing the week, being now 50 buyers. Frussian steady. Little long in Danish, which may be quoted 51.

Long Annuities . . .

FRENCH FUNDS, Dec. 5.
5 per Ct. Con. 22 Sept. . 88-10 | Bank Sh. Div. 1 July . 1595
Recon. Div. 22 Sept. . . 99-85 | Ex. Lond. 1 mo. 25-45 3 mo. 25-25

A Monday's Engros, containing the Larger News, the Speca Lawr, the London Markers, and the Spare of the Country Meanure by that Moraing's Post, is published at Three o' Clock.

NEW ARGYLL ROOMS.—GRAND MARQUERADE.

THE Nobility, Gentry, and Public are respectfully informed, that, on THUR-DAY. December 27, 1821, there will be given, at the above Rooms, a GRAND MASQUERADE, upon the occasion of the Fullity Season, under the Management of a Party of Grandesam, particulars at which will be speedily announced.—Applications for Boxes, &c. to be made at the Lower Salobn, Royal Harmonic Institution, Regent-street.

JOHN BULL.

LONDON, DECEMBER 9.

IT will be seen with great satisfaction that the Administration is strengthened by the talents of MR. PERL, who succeeds LORD SIDMOUTH in the Home Department. The appointment of the Marquess Welleshey to the Lord Lieutenancy of IRBLAND is also a measure which must be highly popular. "With all due respect for the private virtues of EARL TALBET, he, perhaps, of all men living is the most unfit to preside over the government of a country agitated as the Sister Kingdom is at this moment; nor will MR. GRANT be any great loss. MR. WILMOD, it is said, succeeds MR. GOVERVENE in the Colonial Department; and MR. DAWSON, MR. PERL's brother-in-law, is mentioned as the successor of MR. CLIVE in the House Depart-

WE had thrown together some observations a politics, which we had intended should have occupied this place to-day; but having read an account of the meeting of some persons calling themselves " the York Whig Club," we feel it a duty to notice their proceedings.

In the series of admirable letters with which we are favoured by our correspondent, PAUL POTTER, the progress of Whiggism will be gradually and clearly developed to our readers; but, we trust, that our friend will not feel offended at an apparent anticipation of his exposure of its real character by our allusions to the last assembly of its votaries.

At a tavern in YORK, we are told four hundred persons calling themselves Whigs, sat down to a sumptuous dinner on Monday last, MARMADUKE WYVILL. Esq. M.P. in the chair, Vice President, ALDERMAN DUNCELY.

It will be observed that the first toast was "THE " KING-may he speedily dismiss his present evil advisers."

If any thing could add to the respect which we feel for Whig Loyalty, it would be the disinterestedness of the prayer which followed the health of HIS MAJESTY; for, from the quality of the intellect by which the York Which Club was graced, we must admit that none of the party were likely personally to benefit by a change of adminis-

The next toast was-" The memory of our late injured and BELOVED Queen"—which was drank standing, and is silence—this we allow shewed more prudence than Whigs are generally gifted with. As nothing could be said in her late Majesty's praise, and as the personal idsult to the KING was fully perfect without any remark, they held that the least said was soonest mended, and accordingly said nothing.

The next toast was-" SIR GEORGE CAYLEY, and the " Whig Club of York."

To those who ever heard of this gentleman before, it must be rather disagreeable to find how popular he is in such society, for his health was "drank with cheers;" upon which his friend, a MR. HARGROVE, a newspaper man, read a letter, which this SIR GEORGE had written in the Rue St. Honoré in Paris, lamenting the tranquillity of England; he, however, (stupid as his letter is) had the good sense to leave the chair to MARMADUKE WYVILL. Esq. who acted warming-pan with the most unshaken complacency.

An eminent young coal-merchant, of the name of LAMBTON, then rose—and spluttered a certain number of words about "the minions of despotism," and "the slaves guests of His Majesty at BRIGHTON!

in of power! - the trid his layer water that their had what tack the which representatives are as his countille and the personal ranks were for us small in the personal states and resident to the personal states at the personal states at the personal p their attackment to the # libertice of the people."

Afmest indeed, Min. Landerdnei bit eftredid you not telk these Your journands, that and habitation exception to your general rule of attailables Will this, while Your parties and motion about merchal, district to goin soul, (we say nothing about your heart) was impossible through by you, and aftendue preparation, delay, and pestponement, elande to its fate, and norselfor the sake of what?—a walldressed cutlet, and a battle platelle Michigana drage Claret, in Privy sarden. Reality what we pear you body, pour forth your animating segment, and look at your animating segment, and look at your animating segment. our damed poom, in which grown mame ut surviving you we design the suppose of the set to

" Labraton Tends the Paters Vin, "Nobie fellow cilimating fellow;

"Quite the dandy of the class;

"Mether police to differ yellow! " Of fair Lineser des telle

"Tules bewitching—tales bewitching;
"But they vanish, which he amells
"Mxcmans's kitchen—Micmans's kitchen !!"

Luckily, however, for these who like fun, and enjoy Mr. LAMBTON'S pathos, he lied dired before he spoke on Monday, (and drank too, we should suppose). He alluded to the QUEEN, with great energy, and admitted that justice had been done her; which we certainly assent to, but which we were rather surprised to hear him allow.-- "The malice of her enemies" said this young person, "has sank her to the grave;" and here, if we are to believe the Traum and Chronicle—all the Whige wept—sweet, tender hearted fellows—what a moving scene!
Having bestowed a few lastenatations on the rieters, who were shot while obstructing this wretched woman's funeral, Mr. Lammon proceeded to cologize Mr. Wilson, to whom he is now a sert of Augustia the North.

To seemplithing MR, Languages, opation would be to copy the leading articles of the Oath Times, which he learns by heart, and which serve him admirably for tavern speeches, after having been pointed up by his Noble Fa-ther in-lam, GEIK-GROWDY ; or, as kie own family call him, the ERL-KING.

The Greeks had their slare of Mr. Lambton's attention; and lastly be made an allusion to his efforts at obtaining a REFORM—but he matter routhed upon his descrition of it for the sake of little TAYLOR's "good feed:" tion of it for the sake of title I AYLOR'S "good Jeen:—indeed, he seemed to justify his abardonment of it; for he confessed he was never much bigutted to 4t, and concluded by mying, that if anybedy absorbable to try his hand at it, he should have—his most ferfing propers.

deafening.
To him, grimed are we'll sky it, sheereded—the Lorn Viscourie Normanna and class son of the Bart of MULERAYE, who talked in a most incoherent way of TORYLEN-wy quete a feet of his words or repursable the

"The spirit of Toryism," said his Lordship, "had so many ramifications,—so many holds on the folies, vices, and passions of mankind—so many temptations to the capitality of the selfish—it hold forth so many prospects of advantages to the corrupt—its power had been so consolidated by the length of time it had predominated, and every fresh instance of corruption so added to its strength, and every fresh instance of profligacy so increased its means, that it must be owned it had become extremely formidable; yet he did not despair of crushing it by a firm and many presentation. That measure of corruption, the national debt, had enormality increased during the present administration, and the collection of the revenue now exceeded the amount of the interest of the debt when the prosent Ministry came into office. It was vain, therefore, to attempt to conceal the magnitude of the power which they had to oppose, the various wholings and intricate operations of the system through all its parts, seen as its influence mas in the dead vote of the delig petitioner at the Treasury, the unprincipled servility of hungry expectancy, and the arbitrary measures of the actual possessors of afficial power and emolument."

How fine, how noble this sounds:—yet if, as we are taught,

How fine, how noblethis sounds;—yet if, as we are taught, ingratitude be a flagrant sin, by how much does modern liberality allow patriotism, such as my LOHD NORMANBY'S, to outweigh it? We do not speak of ingratitude to the to outweight it we do not speak or ingratitude to the King, from the first act of whose government his lordship personally derives his title; we do not speak of ingratitude to those men by whom wealth, honours, and dignity have been conferred on his family and connexions—all this may be palliated under the guise of independence,—but there is a duty which we should hold paramount to all these.

LORD NORMANBY's father, a man exemplary in all the relations of life—beloved by all who know him—respected and exteemed-honoured with the confidence of his Sovereign, and at this moment a Cabinet Minister; one of those "actual possessors of official power," who has risen to that power by a steady adherence to the Tory politics of the greatest man this country ever knew, and by which adherence, conjointly with his fellows, he has shared in the prervation, and in the glory of England. This Noble Lord -ill, (from what cause we stop not to inquire),—is mixed up in a virulent and general attack upon our rulers, by his own son, at a drunken tavern-meeting.

Does Whig morality, which upholds the debased wife, as an example for our WOMEN, bring forth the Son in mad array against the Father, as likely to add respecta-bility to their cause, or afford a noble precedent for children yet unborn? LORD NORMANBY proceeded to allude to her late Mejesty, of whom he spoke in terms of respectful regret, Is it not extraordinary that my LORD NORMANBY, having not extraordinary that my LORD NORMANSY, having so much of human charity in his composition, should not have upheld the unhappy woman during her life, and have volunteered his amiable and lovely Lady as her associate and acquaintance? This is strange;—but more strange, perhaps, will it appear to those who do not know the fact, that during the height of the lever which the question caused, LORD NORMANBY and his LADY were the frequent quests of the MARSETY at BULGARYON.

Political difference scortnists need not cutin man from an association; siller the flovereign; the Kira need not necessarily be the only the inner. In: Englands and while White and Tony, Mississipped Ranceat. are to be found connecting agestion is societies, it would be lived lives the Mis-solitary exception to a general rules at

Shorte nair fe of itself not a POLICE Con deligrion, and OUGHT NEVER TO HAVE MADE STATE OF A LIFE S SOURCE OF THE STATE OF THE

Survice than the thirty interested the limbs the subject to prevent the White, the subject the desired the subject to form the dispersion of the Market to deep the subject to first remove themselves that the possibility of recent favours, and amid the subject to the security that from the hand of Hem who have been most interest and from the hand of Hem who have been most interest and the subject to the hand of the subject to the hand of the subject to the hand of the subject to the on the root of the proceedings of the meeting are not re-cutarfy laterating, if we except indeed the manual cularly interesting, if we except indeed the assess of persons approved the assessment of the state of the st

1Q. ? COLONEL M'LEAN? MARTIN STAPTLEON, Co (who we halieve to be the ci-decent Maurits Bann of Arundel-street, Strand—with a beck-door and land in passage.)--AED THERE ARE ALLES OF SINGUISMENT II.

asig on the subject, that from their avowed partiality a Quent CAROLINE, this meeting, instead of the Yow Whis Club, should be called the BLACK WIG CLUB, whether the hint will be adopted or not we cannot say

AT THE THATCHED HOUSE TAYER THE STATE OF TRELAND

Ma. ADOLPHUS, in describing, at the Old Bares. week, the object of a MR. LONGDALE, a special plositer in indicting a soldier for inconveniencing him while walking where he had no business to walk. said " That the in-"dictment was no doubt brought forward, that the press " outor might ent a flask in the newspapers of

Had MR. ADOLPHUS, instead of wishing to deline Wi LONGDALE's motives, desired to explain the cause and origin of the Meeting which was held on TUESDAY, at the Thatched House Tavern, for the consideration of Irish affairs, he could not have hit upon any more probable and apposite than that which he mentioned at the Old Beiler. When our readers have seen the varticulars of the proceedings of that important deliberative body, we believe they will agree with us in thinking, however dear the progperity of their native country might be to the gentlemen who harangued, it was at best but secondary to the desi they all felt of "cutting a faith in the newspapers."

At one o'clock, the EARLS of BLESENTON, DAN

(and Son,) and KILLEEN (who is no Earl), and many marchants and country gentlemen of reland were person.

A Ma. Treams opened the humans of the day, and proposed that a Noble Loan present should take the chair; a Nobleman of whom he might country to the chair; a Nobleman, of whom he might say, that on every occa-" sion he had evinced the utmost promptitude and seal is "assisting the distressed tenantry of Ireland, and in sup "porting the interests of that country, by his aloquence in "the Senate, and by the uniform tener of his public condact—was it," said MR. TIGGHE, " approximate for him to name the EARL of DARRIEY?"

"to name the EARL of DARREW?"

Very necessary indeed, we should suppose it for his description MR. TIGGHE gave of that Noble Lord, we believe his best friend never would have found him out.

We have a high respect for the persevering industry of his Lordship upon such topics as ships' bottoms, or Roc Lordship upon such topics as ships bottoms, or Rochester, bridge; but we confess we are rather in ignerance of the advantages which the sister country has derived, either from his Lordship's Senatorial elequence in England, or his influential presence in Ireland.

s influential presence in Irelaud.

The EARL of DARNLEY, having coquetted becomingly. about accepting the distinguished office of President of the Tavern-Meeting, agreed to take the Chair, (which, doubtless, MR. TIGGHE and his Lordship had previously settled), on condition, "that he might be permitted to quit it "at an early hour, if he pleased."

MR. TIGGHE agreed to this condition, and expressed his readiness to preside, (of which nobody had previously entertained the slightest doubt), in wase the Noble Lord should be compelled to leave the Chair suddenty. What call is lordship apprehended, we never discovered; however, upon that understanding, the Noble Earl took the Chair, Mr. Tigghe, having arranged this matter, proceeded to address the Meeting, in a speech so admirably trimmed and contrived, that, after stating and refuting—argaing and explaining—confounding and confusing, Mr. Tigghe, at the end of his harangue, brought the subject-matter in debate precisely to the state in which he found it at the beginning. He moved, however, an Address to His MALESTY. ginning. He moved, however, an Address to His MAJESTY, to pray him " to take the state of Iroland into his gracious " consideration."

This Address was seconded by a Colonel MAURELL, (mis-called, in many of the papers, MONSON), a gentleman, whom we confess, we should have expected, at his time of life, to have found playing some other game.

Then rose MR. DANIEL DONOVAN, of Conk, who read a paper, in which he found it written, "that justice had "never been done in IRELAND; and that Grand Juries were mere jobbers."

Here MR. TIGGHE rose to order, and deprecated angry

MR. DANIEL DONOVAN, from Cork, only asked for three minutes indulgence, which, LORD DARNLEY (to whom time is of no great value) granted; and which three minutes MR. DANIBL DONOVAR employed in abusing the absentees, making but two exceptions to his sweeping attack upon them, in the persons of the Duke of DEVORBRE and LORD FITZWILLIAM.

Here LORD DARNLEY called the HONOURLELE Gestleman to order." He observed, that much of what he had mid way very true—(which we conclude to be his abuse of Ministers); but the expediency of uttering such facts might bew different question.

The Eart of Blumingon (we believe) observed, that the last speaker's remark's supeared unfair, as almost every Conditions against was an absence! This any where class, would have created a laugh; but the joke did not appear to the company, nor did they seem in a very humourous mood; for, after LORD DARNLEY had praised himself, which he did with the best possible grace, and list appealed to every body, whether he ought to be attacked as an absentee; MR. DANIEL DONOVAN prooccided to inveigh against somebody else, when a Gentleman rose and said,

"I move, MR. CHAIRMAN, that—we do not hear that mttemak ann tonger!

This motion was (hibernice) seconded by fifty voices " at

Bit DANIEL O'DONOVAN stuck as close to LORD DARN-LEY AS DANIEL O'ROURKE did to his goose in FOGARTY O'FOGARTY'S Poem, in BLACKWOOD; and LORD DARN-LRY'S remonstrance to MR. O'DONOVAN was conveyed, though not precisely in the same words, much after the manner of that wooks bird-

Pray, don't be foolish Dan," exclaimed the goose, whi of a You can't be in your senses."—

"I do not care," quoth Dan," &c.——Canto VI. v

-Canto VI. v. xxx. Not did he; for he proceeded to re-read (we think) all that he had read in the early part of the morning, which, we believe, arose from the circumstance of his having doubled over the paper the wrong way, by which means he took up the subject de novo, and went clean over the same ground again; and at the conclusion of his lecture, elicited from the Noble Chairman precisely the same remark as his Lordship had made in the middle of it:—

* There was a great deal of truth in what the gentleman " had read, but he doubted the utility of reading it."

A MR. Wills then proposed two or three plans for governing Ireland, for which he appeared eminently qualified. His present labours are devoted, it appears from his own statement, to the subject of the poor's rates, and the healing of the wounds of that oppressed country.

This second edition of DANIEL O'DONOVAN was not to be borne, and MR. WATSON hinted the irrelevancy of such a proceeding. EARL DARNLEY agreed with MR. WATSON; but, in order to smooth over MR. WILLS, his Lordship rashly promised, if he would abstain from reading the pamphlet, and would name it, that his Lord hip would perute it before the meeting of Parliament.

MR. WILLS said that the name of the pamphlet was Observations on the Population and Resources of Ireland,

" by Doctor Stokes!!!"

MR. CORRY then read a Petition to his Majesty, which he had prepared. After having carefully attended to which, the Noble Earl in the Chair discovered, that, before he put the question upon which of the two petitions should be presented, it would be probably as well to find out whether they should present any petition at all.

MR. SPRING RICE, Member for Limerick, then rose, and with much ability condemned the proceedings of such a meeting as this; he shewed what gratuitous and unnecessary interference it must be on the parts of individuals, to call the attention of the Sovereign to a subject which must naturally have excited his greatest auxiety; and al-though the Hon. Gentleman was not oftener in the habit of placing confidence in his Majesty's Ministers than the Noble Chairman, it was no political feeling which was brought into play by the state of Ireland; and he was assured of their readiness to call Parliament together, if they considered the emergency of the case to require it. He then most ably expatiated upon the irregularity of the meeting, which was convened by anonymous paragraphs in the papers; and stated that the room had been hired by a stationer in the neighbourhood, who refused to give up a stationer in the neighbourhood, who refused to give up as the neighbourhood of the property who appropriate the state of the property who appropriate the property which was converted by an only the property of the property of the property who appropriate the name of the person who employed him to take it.

ME!Rive then made a few observations upon the com-MR. RICE then made a lew observations upon the company assembled, of whom, he said, a they were not the Now bility or Gentry of Ireland, but a few adventitious guests at the Thatched House Tavern. The Hon. Gentleman concluded a very clever speech, by declaring the warmth of his feelings for the interests of Ireland, which could not fail to be powerfully acted upon by a sight of the transactions at hind himself witnessed in a two months residents. tions he had himself witnessed in a two months residence in LIMERICE.

EARL DARNIEY explained how he came to take the Chelt, and proposed to MR. TIGGHE to adjourn to some other day; but TIGGHE would not give in—he said it was the third meeting he had attended in that place, and he was all for presenting a petition.

COLONEL MAUNSELL spoke a good deal on the hazards to which ireland was exposed, and discussed the odds against her, if Parliament did not take the cards into their own hands. He talked of his stake in the country, and the odd tricks which had been resorted to, to cast an objectionable stigma upon the present meeting.

MR. RICE, however, replied, and concluded by moving n adjournment sine die.

A person of the name of TORRENS, connected with some newspaper, said a few words, and MR. TIGGHE agreed to withdraw his motion, provided another meeting might be called, and the same sort of thing gone over again.

EARL DARNLEY thought the matter had better rest till Parliament met, and he was sorry to find that the greatest part of what had been said, had nothing to do with the affair in hand, which light was afforded to his Lordship by the speech of Mr. RICE, (whose presence on the occasion we for that reason particularly lament.) His Lordship added, however, to the few observations he made, a piece of information which was not questioned; he stated with a gravity highly becoming the announcement of intelligence so new and important—that "Tuesday was the fourth of December."

DR. ROCHE (probably the patentee of the herbal embrocation for the hooping cough) prescribed southing measures, but speedy saiss a disease like that of Ireland resures, but speedly sures a disease like that of Ireland required immediate attention, he seemed to think speechifying a certain februinge; he enlarged upon the state of their leader—and herein is an unquestionable the Constitution, and concluded by a mption sfor product

ing instanter,
MR. BLAKE, after what had dropped from the Hon.
Gentleman, deprecated the idea of holding elubs perpetually, in which Col. Maunsell did not seem exactly to coincide.

The EARL OF BLESINTON agreed with the Honourable Gentleman in his EYE—" his Noble Friend would do him the institute to say he had TRIEN to bring the subject before Parliament, but had failed he need not say why." We quite admire the Noble Lord for the easy contentedness with which he told of his own failure, and perfectly agree with him in admitting, that there was no necessity for his explaining the reason for it, more of the gentlemen present who are acquainted with his Lordship's talents and connects." talents and capacity, " need a ghost to fell them that."

EARL BLESINTON was followed on the same side by MR. WADDINGTON, who said a few words which were nearly inaudible. MR. WADDINGTON was succeeded by MR. WRIXON BECHER, who agreed in the necessity of "getting "the House together" as soon as possible—he talked of the "acts" of the Government, and the dreadful "scenes" which were performing in Ireland"—the traged is that he had seen, and the different stages of the disturbances he had observed—(here there was a slight cty of Order, Order.) He was convinced, however, that the great hope of "Ire"land's benefit was fixed on the assembling of Parliament."
This gentleman was received with unbounded applause.

MR. TIGGHE having tried in vain to get somehody to agree with him, at last determined to second MR. BE-CHER, whose motion was given out and repeated with un-qualified approbation; but MR. SPRING RICE objected to a petition to the Sovereign as signed on behalf of the meeting, and insisted that it should be in behalf of the majority the meeting.

Thus the resolution was carried!

EARL DARNLEY left the chair, and was succeeded by the EARL OF BLESINTON, who voted the thanks of the meeting. to the former nobleman for his very dignified conduct as president.—Of LORD BLESINTON'S personal qualifications to fill the part of a CHAIRMAN, we need say nothing

MR. WADDINGTON, we believe, retired before the division.

Oh! that these Irish noblemen and gentlemen would but "set their shoulders to the wheel," and visit the country they affect to love; support with their personal influence, the rights of the land-owners, and quot by their presence the insubordination, of which they now only talk! How much more nobly and usefully would they then be employed, than in listening to MESSES. PIGGHE, DONOVAN, WADDINGTON, BECHER and Co. trying to cut a fluck at the Thatched House Tavern in London.

LETTER V.

TO JOHN BULL.

ALTHOUGH I have referred to the period of puritanical ascendency for the origin of those principles of disunion, by which the Whigs of the present day are labouring to undermine the Throne, and to overthrow every impediment, however sacred and venerable, which presents itself to the gratification of their lawless ambition, I have not taken upon me to deny that they passess some of the granine ingredients and "appartenancis, to bot;" of Whiggism. It, has been said that the DEVIL was the FIRST WHIG; but his modern descendants, for the greater part have been taught to deny the existence of this venerable personage; and it would not perhaps be quite fair to force the recognition upon them, however easy; to prove the influence of his example from the beginning of thise, over since pride and disappointed, ambition have supplied history with her amplest volume of treasons, participes, and murder!—As they are content, with a more medern derivation, we will not disturb their self-complacency, by denying part of their claim to the inheritance of the first founders of English liberty; we will only consider the nature and degree of those qualities on which they are content to abide in their pretensions.

Whiggish may be sald to be nearly co-eval with the first establishment of the feudal system in this country; the Burons were the first English WHIGS—the great feudal chiefs—the brazen buckler against kingly encroachments were pri-mary experimentalists in those principles which have since been the boast and glory of one portion of our countryment, LORD GREY—(no, for he never smiles),—Lord Green venor perhaps, or LORD ERSKINE, (who can laugh at the most sacred subjects) regarding each other with looks of complacency on such an admission. Let them have the full benefit of it, provided the country may also derive the advantage which in fact and in truth follows the concession. I mean the advantage which a knowledge of the motives and principles of men, assuming to be patriots, may afford to the multitude, who, in all ages, have been the dupes of profe sion, and the victims of a name! The old feudal lords, then, I repeat, were the of England-but they were so far houest, that they pursued their own interests without pretending to care about the liberties of the People, whom it was their object to retain as slaves, and in dependance upon themselves. Their jealousy of the kingly power was another term for the preservation of their own. Their separate tyrannies could only be maintained by curbing the authority of a paramount lord—and the high-sounding phrases of liberty and inde-pendence, which are re-echoed by their descendants as tests of their legitimate descent, were strictly limited to THE LIBERTY of oppressing their inferiors without controuland a total INDEPENDENCE upon any superior authority.

In this feature the resemblance it strictly preserved among their descendants. The opposition to the crown by the barons was purely aristocratical; they made the people instruments in their hands, and armed their villains in support of their usurpations; but these again scknowledged difference in the view to be taken of the Barenial Whige and those, who, for distinction's sake, may be called Roundhead Whigs !- Both were equally regardless of the real rights and the happiness of the People at large—but hypo-crisy is not chargeaste input the one whilst it distorts and blackens every feature of the other:

If it be, asked bow the great Charten of our liberties was obtained through the influence of men who sought only their own aggrandizement, and whose objects were circumscribed within the narrow limit of their individual interests, I answer, without hesitation, that the MAGNA CHARTA Was never intended or understood, at the time, to comprehend THE PEOPLE of England in its application;-It is only constructively the charter of liberty to the people at large :let any man read it (I do not believe, in my conscience, that one man in ten thousand has ever looked into it) and he will at once see this to be the case. It is applicable to the FREE-MEN of the land-and as we are ALL now freemen, its application is universal; but at the moment when JOHN unwillingly set his hand to it, more than half the population were slaves of the soil, and no more benefited by the concession, than the people of Yorkshire or Lancashire are at this moment by the signature of the French charter by Louis XVIII. It was to curb the power of the crown, and in the same proportion to establish their own, that the barone united and arrayed themselves in force against their sott edge.

The FREE MEN, that is, those who, although not absolutely shaves and villeius, were still in a sort of vassalage, as holding their property in fee, under the Great Barons. ere included in the terms of the Charter merely to withhold them from the authority of the King, and not to release them from any of the obligations which bound them to their Lord. Their lives and their property were protected from Royal despetium, but were still open to all the burthens, encroschments (from which there was no appeal) of feudal and aristocratic oppression:—so much for the great Charter, the benefits of which we derive only incidentally from the Baronial Whigs, and to whom we owe no higher obligation than as the blind framers of an instrument, whose use and application they never anticipated or even dreamed of.

We know that when the people began to rise from their abject state of vassalage, they were wise enough to per-ceive that subjection to one Lord Paramount was more tolerable than the precerious freedom to be enjoyed under a multitude of lordly tyrants; and whenever Englishmen have been allowed to act from the impulse of their own feelings, they have found their real interest to consist in making common cause with their King against all aristocratic combinations; nay, even in our own times, so late as the memorable, disgusting, and unprincipled coalition of Fox and LORD NORTH, I have no hesitation in expressing my firm belief and conviction that the Constitution was rescued from impending ruin, by the patriotic and national coalition of the people of England with their insulted and oppressed King 1.

To the Whigs, then, of more remote history we owe little; and what is more remarkable, even as we advance to late publishs, we find the descendants of the great fendal Chicis aiding the cause of the people ONLY, at such times, and in such emergencies, as proved it to be supple-mentary to their swn immediate and personal objects.

During the bloody contests of the Roses, the rights and liberties of the people never entered into the calculations of either faction. The modern Whig notions upon legitimacy, may, indeed, derive some sanction from the prac-tice of those times—and they may share with their great. archetypes, the credit due for the benefits which accrued thereby to the nation at large. Monarchs were seated or hurled from their thrones by the " sacred voice of the people"-but that voice was heard only at the head of victorious armies—and faintly echoed by those to whom victorious armies alone gave laws.

The power, and not the will, is wanting to give effect to

The power, and not the will, is wanting to give effect to this popular mode of Government, under the progress of modern Whiggery. Long may it be averted!—But if our sins smell so tank to heaven, as alone to be purged by the separate expiration the malice and evil passions of men can indict upon suffering humanity, then may the penalty we pay be as short as it must be overwhelming. I do not affirm that the aristocracy of modern Whigs consider the overthrow of the Constitution as essential to their objects, but they are indifferent to any consequences which may re-

Their, actige organ uttered his Creed, and that of his party, when in the face of the assembled Peerage he told them and the country, that he was reckless of what might follow; the overthrow of the Throne—of the Constitution—of every part of our venerable Establishments—if they obstructed the designs he had in view, namely, the acquittal of the QUEBN, whom he KNEW to be guilty; and thereby acknowledged the whole to be a party measure and intrigue. Nor was he nor were his friends, and patrons, and adherents, worse than their word; every invective that could eted to etimulate the r to insurrection falsehood that could tend to mislead—every calumny that could serve to rouse the rabble to madness, and provoke overt acts of rebellion, was resorted to.

This is no vapouring declamation-no unfounded, or desultory, or constructive inference from nair-known facts, or doubtful premises: I appeal to known, open, and incontrovertible evidence—to the speeches in every county, city, and bosough, at meetings, called by these Whigs, in conjunction with the state of the public feeling, during the year 1820!—Qua step further—a single spark might have exploded the mine thus hollowed at our feet! And on my soul, I believe, under heaven, that your single exertions, Sir have been effectual if not the most efficient means, of desultory, or constructive inference from half-known facts, Sir, have been effectual, if not the most efficient means, of saving us from civil commotions—the extent, or end of which, no man is prophet enough to conceive, or to determine. You have told truth in a lying age; and exhibited to public view, the raw material, of which Radical Whiggery, or Whig Radicalism is compounded. I only dissect the materiator whom you have executed.

PAUL POTTER

PAUL POTTER.

THE QUEEN'S EXPOUTORS.

THE following intelligence, we should think, cannot be very agreeable to Massia. LUSHINGTON and WILDE. That the gentlemen, with whom they were so honourably beseciated by her late MAJESTY, should indigrapily have refused the trust reposed in them, is, at all events, not compliquentary; -but we suppose they will not feel it --

100, and the Abvocate Touriss Faurer, of Peters, appointed as by the late Quant or England, with relatence to the erty possessed by her Majesty in Italy, which they were to make over (or its value) to the persons designated in a paper signed by her Majesty, made a declaration before the civil tribunal of by her Males II, made a declaration despre the civil tribunal of Pentry on the Sist of October, that having learnt the contents of the appellions made by the Testatrie in a paper authenticated by two Notatios of London, they forwally appounded their character of BERGAMI, who was killed some months ago by sympathy, is alive, and travelling splendidly, in Italy. To those who complain of the hardness of the times in England, this must be rather a galling piece of information, considering where his means come from.

It is curious that in the disposition of her MAJESTY'S property, her diamonds, which cost fifty-five thousand pounds spering, have not been forthcoming—but all in good time.

FAIR PLAY.

WE have given insertion in our paper to statements of for, and against MR. BRIDLE, the late jailor, at LORRO-TER; for, trifling as the interest would be, which at any other time such an affair as the dismissal of a prison-keeper could excite, the political squabbling which appears to have been mixed up with this transaction renders it somewhat entertaining at least.

In our last number but one, we gave MR. BRIDLE's reply to an anonymous correspondent's letter, which appeared in our previous paper: too late in the week for insertion, we received a second letter from MR. BRIDLE, enclosing copies of others from him to my LORD SIDMOUTH, repelling, indignantly, the charge of having got up an Address to QUEEN CAROLINE, of disreputable memory, which had appeared in the COURIER newspaper; as also, a letter to the editor of that paper, claiming his assistance to discover the author of such a calumny.

These documents are sufficiently explained by MR. BRIDLE's second letter to us, which follows; and are not therefore inserted here. We shall hear how that person speaks of the matter himself.

TO JOHN BULL.

Sin—I have but this instant received your paper of Sunday last, and with much pleasure set about replying to the infamous and monstrous falsehood contained in the letter of your Ilchester correspondent, "A. B." "My warm thanks are most due to you for the insertion of that letter, as it gives me so noble an opportunity of shewing the nature and quality of the slander that have lake been heaped upon me in quick and unvaried succession. The cloven foot has at length dared publicly to shew itself: be it my task, Sir, to shew to you its deformed and plotting head.

His assertions, that I was "the principal (though privately) in collusion with Hunt, of calling a meeting of the inhabitants of Ilchester, to vote an Address to her late Majesty, and of forwarding the deputation to London, appointed to present it, at the expense of the county of Somerset," are base; monstrous, and unblushing lies.—The following is the true statement of the matter:

In the month of July, 1890, I received orders from the Secretary of Stake, for the removal of certain convicts from the Secretary of Stake, for the removal of certain convicts from the Secretary of Stake, for the removal of certain convicts from the Secretary to the Ganymede Hulk, at Chatham, and the Penitermy governance, to the Ganymede Hulk, at Chatham, and the Penitermy of the transport of the purpose of securing places for my charge that the transport of the country of the purpose of securing places for my ing governmente, to the various errors, at Castinam, and the reni-length, at Milbank.

On my way to the inn, for the purpose of securing places for my charge, by the Exeter and London couch. I met the two gentlemen selected to form the deputation, and was informed by them of their intended journey: they having actually taken their places by the same coach, for that purpose. Knowing the risk attendant on the removal of a set of desperadoes, I gladly availed myself of the as-removal of a set of desperadoes, I gladly availed myself of the assistance of these two gentlemen, to strengthen my escort; and it was mutually arranged, that one should accompany me, in the removal of a part on the first day, and that the other should accompany my officer, in the removal of the other part, on the next.

This arrangement, and their accompanying me, was purely fortuitous; unconnected with their mission, and caused suckly by their determination to proceed to Town on the very day I undertook to remove the said convicts. "The head and froat of my offending then hath this extent"—that two of my neighbours were appointed to present an address to the Queen—with which address I had nothing to do—that they had accidentally taken their places before me, for the very day I was about to remove convicts—that to oblige me, they so far altered their arrangements, as to go up separately; and that the cause of their so altering their arrangements was purely to save me the expence of hiring two additional guards, knowing, as they did, that I performed such removals by contraot.

guards, knowing, as they did, that I performed such removals by contract.

This statement will clearly prove to you, that their accompanying me, did not cost the county of Somerset one skilling, whilst it saved me at least ten pounds.—But, Sir, at that very period, this circumstance was tortured into a criminal charge, by the wretches who have so long conspired against me, an anonymous paragraph having been inserted in the Courier newspaper, representing me as one of the deputation with the Ilchester address: as soon as that document met my eye, I wrote to my Loan Sidmourn, calling his Lordship's attention to the paragraph, declaring it to be false and malicious; I wrote to the editor of the Courier to the same effect, desiring he would gend me the manuscript, which he very politely complied with, by which means I was enabled to discover the libeling offender, who I most certainly should have prosecuted, had he not been removed out of my reach—by death.—In fact, I desired that this valuable production might be sent to W. Melliar, Esq. then Under-Sheriff, that the same might be by him presented to the Grand Jury, at the Assizes to he holden then in a few days.

All this was purely an act of my own, and I now forward to your that this valuable production might be sent to w. Melhar, Esq. then Under-Sheriff, that the same might be by him presented to the Grand Jury, at the Assizes to be holden then in a few days.

All this was purely an act of my own, and I now forward to you the copies of my letters on the subject at that time; and I call on your correspondent "A. B." manfully to come forward, and avow himself. In designating him libeller and liar, I add, come forth, thou one of the many assassins that have assailed me! Come forth, thou dark moral murderer, and let me shew to the world by the desection of thy character, a specimen of that horde that have unceasingly been spitting out their venom upon me, and against which I have nothing to 'lefend mys If but truth, honour, and honesty.

But such call, Mr. Edito., will be made in vain; and to you I look for the original manuscript of that precious lie. There are men in Ilchester, Sir, who will tell you that your "pages are valuable;" and that they "detent Hisset;" but beware of such men; it is they who would make your paper the vehicle of faisehood; and (to use some of their own doctrine) convert what they hate into an engine to disseminate their own venom.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, Devonshire-buildings, Bath, Nov. 23, 1821.

Nothing can be fairer than MR. BRIDLE's declarationnothing more frank than his mode of expressing himself;

And (nor see present to stand a site) henter) the impression whose our minds was citar, of his landence of they patial pation in the alledged presentation of an Address.

Maring, however, gives bisection to this hold and plain disavewar of hen. Buring it, will held durishly bound also to admit the fellowing latter, which we have received from Mr. On aron Hung, and which, as a contradiction of his. Baring is matter of fact expection of his conduct, is at least counical enough to deserve a place in Byrn; and although we do not of ontserve a place in Byrn; and although we do not of ontserve a place in Eyrn; and although we do not of ontserve a place in Eyrn; and although we do not of ontserve a place in grader will result of the husiness, we are quite sure our readers will not blame us for giving the Oritor—FAIR PLAY.

Sin,—A friend has fittuired nie with your paper of the 26th, in which you say, that you and a great many of your readers have in reviscible grantingly for a little mischief, and presuming that you have no objection occasionally, to a little mischief, and presuming that you have a sufficient parties if fully play, to mingle worth with the above ingradients. I have nived that you will inter the following subsument of ficts, in reply to a years attempt to palm a wilful interhood tiping you and your readers, raintyo to the getting up and greeniffly an Address to the Late Queen from the town of lichester; in the interhood of July, 1860, signed "W. Baider," which begins thus.— The meastion of your lichester correspondent, "A. B. that I meastine of your lichester to pre"ant an Address in the late Queen is a base and wicked he;" then he goes on to stiff how he met the deputation by chapter as he was on the way to the chack-office is because places for the prisoners by the Exeter coach, see, and that he had nothing to do with the Address.

"A 180 Mage Le chanceped also depitiation from Helbester to pressum an academar in the him of Queen is a base artic vicice lie; "I then he queen to a spice how he met the deptration by chance as he was an ine way to the cancel offer its before places for the primerary Address.

Now, Sin, as I have being he the health of the primerary and the process of the primerary of the primerary and the process of the primerary and the process of the primerary in a so dates as well as evients extensionary of the primerary in a so dates as well as evients extensionary of the process of the process you bestow occasionally upon the hypocritical Whites, and the Weather Cock Rasiolas of the Times; you ought to make some distinction between Pages mock Radicals, and one who is sincerely and truly so, like your humble servant,

H. HUNT.

To offer a word upon such contradictory statements would be out of our province, as neutrals—it seems reduced to a personal discussion between the two writers; and as we have counted by the an example of their literary. and as we have opened Bt I as an avena for their literary combat, we have nothing further to do but give them a clear stage, and no favour. But looking at the length of these communications, we must beg the combatants to let their rounds be as short and as sharp as possible.

THEATRE.

THE accident which befel us, and of which worthy JOHN could not avoid making a jest, is not so serious as might be thought, and as most of the mizehief has fallen; upon our left hand, we have still one head left to put down our notices of theatricals.

We have often been carried monoi of the Covent Garden unique the meral decorations; Dill really and adultion of the in Two Countries.

duction of the Two Generality our highest culogium. There can be splendid a specially as that which the fearth act of that play and which make tilying to the audience is that after if the influence of our own shared and the later of the procession of the shared by the later of the stage; and there is have seen in the stage; and the stage is the stage of the first one has type of Canonara a fairly the feet of the first one safely superb, and justly claims that partitions are confident it will meet.

But, having daxled our even with his later will not

But, having daxeled our eyes with att this sales let us wink them, shut them, half open them, and the recollect the genuine treat which the acting of the affords the mind—Jones all vivacity, FARREN all drying and humour, Liston all richness; his Lancia the particular and sheep of some of its humorise. and humour, Liston all richness; his Lanch is the parallel and humour, Liston all richness; his Lanch is the parallel of comicality, and shorn of some of its apprintment which a correspondent, signing himself. "Descriptions which a correspondent, signing himself." Descriptions which a correspondent, signing himself. "Description is the revelled in the first performance, is perfect. All us he revelled in the first performance, is perfect. All us to he was seen on the stage two yours levelled in the first to have seen on the stage two yours levelled in the first to have seen on the stage two yours levelled in the first to have seen on the stage two yours levelled in the first increased by her late long indisposition of the more increased by her late long indisposition of the shift was a delighted with the skill and sweeteness of the shift was a seen and mature of the actress, we feel a lang of this late constitution by her effects to delight the public increased by her late was received, as it juicify descript to be fall to be a late of the shift was a long and triumphaint ring. "The play was received, as it juicify descript to have a long and triumphaint ring." The play was received, as it juicify descript to have a long and triumphaint ring. "The play was received, as it juicify descript to have a long and triumphaint ring." The play was received, as it juicify descript to be fall to the said of the tion. The principal object in reviving this twightly must have been to have convinced Mr. Kran that he and Mrs. Echaron are unable to cram down the public throat a play which Kemble and Mrs. Siddons, in the senition their greatness, failed to render bearable. We should have thought the experiment needless, but vanity takes a great deal of curing—since this revival (to use a market plane) "oprum looks down."

An after-piece, from the Prench by Man Politic Color of The Two Pages of Frederick the Great," was produced at Covent Garden on Saturday—the anecdote upon which is is founded is not new to the English stage—it has been dramatized in a little piece called "The Paris: of the Benevolent Tar."

The present is a translation of an interesting drawn and is admirably acted; FARREN is FREBERICE IT identity, and he plays the part as well as he looks it. Miss FOOTE as the serious Page, and MBS, CHATTHER as the lively one,—both looked as well at women unnaturally; thrust into male attire can look; nor must MRS, Gibes be forgotten, she looked sweetly as MRS. PHEADS, and PAW, trices the state of Prusia himself for the march of Sunday—his majesty less and so so the sunday. which happened to be Sunday—his majesty lost same of his presence of mind, and boye the laugh against him with great heroism.

We are really sorry to appear severe, now the theatres, nor have any wish unnecessarily to be shall not, therefore, animadvert upon the assident at the Adelphi Theatre, or any of those personal incommendances which the visitors of such places must companie for but we do feel it our duty to make an observation open a piece. called " Life in London," which is acting at m called "Life in London," which is account in their walls.

We do not know what feelings the generality of life of families may have upon such subjects, but fee correlves we would no more suffer a copy of the head whomes these dramas are compiled to be seen in our house, then we would a copy of "LITTLE'S Poems," or "Patentin Age of Reason."

The work we allude to, whatever he its merits, n detailed and elaborate description of all the recepis a detailed and elasorate description of all the recep-tacles of vice, sip, and debauchery (without one excep-tion) in the metropolis—think then what this production put into action, aided by the advantages of theatrical embellishment, and animated by living performers, must be. The scenes are laid in gin-sheps—the leables of playhouses-midnight hope-watch-houses-gaming and houses of a worse description. The chas adapted to the scenery, and the language to the characters.

The very bill of the performance contains words not used by decent people. In No. 12, the expression de horrible; and when one recollects that innocent girls and children are taken to these places, and are subject the indelicacies of the affiche, and next to the witnessing of scenes which the most deprayed man in better most society would shudder at beholding, we really do think the legislature ought to interfere, and in time check an immorality which, at this particular season of the year, when the metropolis is filled with youth of both sexes, is most disgusting in its actual existence, and most dangerous in its probable consequences.

Thursday evening an unpleasant accident happened to MR. ARBOTT while performing in the "Two Gentlemen of In the last act, when encountering one of the banditti, he was wounded smartly in the face by the sword of the latter. From the pain it occasioned, he shricked so as to excite a shuddering sensation among the audiesce, and to create a belief that he was dangerously hurt. Mr. JONE: came forward, and informed them that MR. ABBOTT was wounded, and begged they would allow the play to proc ed without him. The spectators required that the curtain should be dropped, and the play concluded. This proc ed without him. state of anxiety continued for about ten minutes, when MR. EGERTON came forward and announced to their satisfaction, that Mr. ABBOTT was not so severely wounded as was at first apprehended; and that his eye, which was at first believed to be injured, was not touched.

Fig. R. Blacow, that "in this country there are bringer in the R. Blacow, that "in this country to be pronounced on the Rey. B. Blacow, that "in this country there are bringer is been exhibited a scene more disgreeced to the character. the Righ. B. Blacow, that "in this country there as we had "been exhibited a scene more disgraceful to the character of a Cirryman, than the defence which was made by "that preson on his tral," Now, really, in reference to the meto-drama that was gotten up, and represented by the learned Counsel and his, colleagues, in defence of their person of their person of the meto-drama that was gotten up, and represented by the learned Counsel and his, colleagues, in defence of their person of their person of internity of unch a comment. As if two the democy and linerality of unch a comment. As if two the democy and linerality of the criminal to indusgo in filth and that dry at the expence of the aggreeved, who were not to recall to the calumnies and invectives on the aggreesers.

Mr. Brovan in injudiciously threw out some random remarks about "conspiracy," unmindful that such as he sinuation must recoil upon the head of the individual from whom it had emanated. "The greater the trath—the greater the fibel," is a maxim, however, which has been fully recognised by some late convictions. Let none of either sex, then now despair, in even the very worst of cases, of prosecuting with success an indictment for defa-cases, of prosecuting with success an indictment for defa-marker stress was laid by the Judges on the profession of the defendant, as also on the place selected by him for the propagation of his slanders. But it should never be for-gotten the country was at that moment on the very brink of a Bevolution and that the pulpit was made then, as is had been state, the vehicle of sedition.

Against the most outraged of Monarchs and injured of insults were profusely dealt out, for the basest, for the wickedest of purposes, of the most unwarrantable and unmerited kind. To stam the torrent of treason and disaffection became a duty, therefore, in a political sense; while to arrest the progress of immorality and vice, which had made such gigantic strides as were never witnessed before, was an indispensable obligation in a theological point of view!

Under such circumstances, it is not, perhaps, too much to insist, that with a care of two thousand souls, even a minister of the Gospel, in the conscientious discharge of his sacred functions, was imperiously called on to depart from his incokness, to stop the contagion, and to avert the evils which threatened in no less degree the altar than the

By recent sentences it should almost seem that great sions had been made to radical feelings; while the capital charge too has, in many instances, gone unnoticed, the minor offence has been visited with the utmost severity. In proof of this, one only need advert to the volume from which Mr. Blacow was desirous of reading some passages in his own justification, but which was opposed by Mr. Brougham, who, with his colleagues, to the latest hour of their existence, must continue to writhe under the castigation of "GYNECOCRACY." tigation of

TO JOHN BULL.

J.C.E. who makes enquiries respecting the Gresham Committee, were, at the appointed hours, to take the trouble to kick the Lecture Room Door with his T.O.E. I have no doubt he would get immediate admission, and that he would receive all the compassionafe civility that a dumb creature can reasonably expect.

I have not only attended the lectures myself, but several of my friends have also, and frequently with high gratification.—I am, Sir, your humble Servant,

A. B. C.

New Brokki street, 3d Dec. 1821.

Zi de su di la la TO JOHN BULL.

المد كامتها

Manufacture At a time when many religious sects are redulitionly at work undermining and endeavouring to subvert the established religion of the country, it is peculiarly insumbout on those Clergymen in whose hands the second trust is reposed of promulgating, expounding, and supporting the doctrine of Christianity, to hold out by their supports and example to those who by their component property conduct an example to those who are to reason well given instruction at their hands.

It was led duty the foregoing observations by reading in the Gaussico's Saturday last, Dec. 1, under the head of "Bankruptcies Superseded," the following notice:

RICHARD BURGHRAM, eterk, now or late of Gosport, Southern pressure of the same of the sam Southampton, banker and money-scrivener—A Clergyman of the Established Church, a banker and money scrivener! Can this is possible? If it is, I can only say—ought such a person to be persented to continue in his sacred functions? ought such -can it reasonably be presumed, that a man so vitiated by worldby concerns (if I may be allowed the expression,) by working commercia (it is may be allowed the expression,) can; be summificated as as fit person to inculcate truly religious unimorphis into those whom he is by duty bound to instruct. Fight can it reasonably be presumed (knowing his worldly-eastlings) that his religious instructions can make those beneficial impressions on his hearers they otherwise would have presented in the circumstance will meet I smelted phispe and trust, the circumstance will meet I smelted printing the share exalted spiritual situation the eye of those who by their exalted spiritual situation are considered as the guardians of our established religion, and undergo a strict and impartial investigation .- Most and undergo sincerely and truly, A FRIEND TO THE CHURCH.

Basis of Howard and Gibbs.—The Vice-Chancellor, on Wednesday morning, after going over the grounds of opposition stated by affidavita and petition, to the continuance of Messrs. Carroll, Duff, and Wilkie, as assignees in this case, annulled their appointment, and their election was accordingly declared void. His Homeur added, that the question, whether they would be re-elected by the majority of the creditors, was one in which he was not called upon to interfere.

A Mr. M., charged some time ago at Bow-street with having embessed several sums of money from his employers, was suffered to go at large as ball, on the promise of making up his accounts; but having amitted so to do, and his employers having since discovered further defalcations, his bail applied to him to perform his promise, and was requested to accompany them to town. On his way he was seized with an apoplectic fit, and in less than half an hour expired. Krupicy of Ho hour expired.

A few days since, an inquest was held on Mrs. Frances Comer, aged 87. She resided in Bryanstone-street, was as feeble, as not to be able to walk, without the support of her servants, who were in the frequent hebit of sitting with her. On Friday se might, she was left sitting alone by the are in the drawing-room, where the was left sitting alone by the are in the drawing-room, where the was afterwards legand with her hands and face out the free-place, dreadfully burned, and presented a hourible spectacle. Verdict.

EN-SIK. EASY LIBROUND CONT. THE CONTROL BACK. AND SILE CO. BRADBILR to himself of the control of Ladies and Gratisman to his art relief and ministing relief from the Ladies and Gratisman to his art relief and ministing relief from the Ladies and Gratisman to his art relief and ministing so beautiful PRENERS AND SILE SHOPE TO HER PROPERTY OF THE STATE AND SILE SHOPE AND SILE SHOP

NEW and ESTABLISHED SPORTING SOCKS.

NEW and ESTABLISHED SPORTING. MCQKS.

1. SPORTING ANECDOTES.

Light Varieties of Sporting Americanists Franksplace, respectating—Eight Varieties of Sporting Americanists. From St. in houries.

PORTING ANECDOTES, Original and Sciences ; including muserous Characteristic Petralts of Parabid in every Walk of Life, who have acquired Notoriety from their Activergenests on the Turit, at the Table, and in the Diversions of the Field: the whole forming a course place-Defineation of the Sporting Weeld.—By PIERENG SOAM.

"Mr. E. an has, in a small octavo volume, entitled" Sporting Americated to annas together all the particulars of Horse. They, and Mark worthy of being known. It is a happy compenition—fall of within and quality cufar phrases—with a slip of morality in it, like a bit of lemon-peel in cities on punch—and delightfully flavoured with the choiceat hime-juice of alang. —Baldwin's London: Magniring, August, 1920.

London: Printed for Sherwood, Neily, and Jones, Paternoster-row; of whom may also be bed.

2. THOUGHTS on FOX and MARE HUNTING; in a Series of the Condon wave paper, and linearrated with numerous Cuty. Ids. Ids.

The Publishers beg leave respectfully to recompend the present Edition of Mr. Beckford's valuable work to the notice of Sporting Gentlemen, which will be found a surpass all preceding Editions in elegance of paper, printing, and illustration. The Author's Notes, also, which have long been omitted, are here introduced, and render this Edition peculiarly decirable.

3. BRITISH FIELD SPORTS: embracing Practical Instructions in paper, printing, and illustration. The Author's Notes, also, which note long been omitted, are here introduced, and render this Edition peculiarly desirable.

3. BRITISH FIELD SPORTS; embracing Practical instructions in Shooting, Hunting, Coursing, Racing, Fishing, &c.; with Observations on the Breaking and Training of Degs and Horses; who, on the Management of Yowling-places, and all other Sporting Implements.—By W. H. SCOTT. Second Edition; elegantly printed, and tilkstrated with upwards of Sixty highly-finished Engravings. Price 11. 18s. beards, damy 8vo. or, on royal-paper, with Proof Platers, 37. 3s.

4. An ESSAY on HUNTING; in which a great valiety of most important infernation is communicated under the heads Hunting, Lawfances, Benefits, Pleasure, Paitime, Game, Seent, Hounds, the Horse, Huntingman, Sagaicity, &c. &c. Reprinted verbation from the Original Edition printed in the year 1733. Sws. 7s. beards,—4ts. 18s.

5. A PEACTICAL ESSAY on BREAKING and PRAINING the BMG-LISH SPANIEL and POINTER: with instructions for Shooting Flying.—By W. DOBSON, Esq. of Eden Hall, Cumberland. Second Edition, fit 8vo. 10s. 6d. boards.

6. The SPORTSMAN'S REPOSITORY, comprising a Series of highly, finished Engravings, representing the Herie and the Dog in all their varieties; executed in the line manner, by JOHN SCOTY, from Original Paintings by Marchill, Floringhy, This year of the Second Edition, for the Author of "Battain Flaid General, This year of the Author of "Battain Flaid General, This year of the Pressures derived from Flaid Spartis, Price & grissma, in begras; it may be had in Six Parts, John Sc. acc.

7. The SPORTSMAN'S PROUREMENT of grissma, in begras; it may be had in Six Parts, John Sc. acc.

7. The SPORTSMAN'S PROUREMENT of the Sparts of the Pressures derived from Flaid Sparts.

The SPORTSMANS PRODUCTS.

The SPORTSMANS PRODUCTS.

The SPORTSMANS PRODUCTS.

The SPORTSMANS PRODUCTS.

A SOMERVIOUS celebrated Profes of The Sports.

A SOMERVIOUS celebrated Profes of The Sports.

A SOMERVIOUS celebrated Profes of The Sports.

A SOMERVIOUS celebrated Profes of The Sports of the Sports of the Charles, by Bell.

A SOMERVIOUS celebrated Profes of The Sports of Th

POONS and FORKS, Second-hand.—Messyst. KENT, AVERY, and VINCENT, No. 63, Bond-street, c. rner of Brook-street, Hanoversquare, beg to acquaint the Nobility and Gentry they, have now for SALE about Eight Thousand Outcess of Second hand Silvey Spoons and Forks: consisting of the King's pattern, double threaded, fields head, French, and plain; likewise some very rich antique old chased waiters, the sets, coffee pots, kettles, with stands and lamps, sups and covers, tankards, cruet trames, and every other family requisite worthy the attention of the Public in general, they being extremely good and someidenably under the usual price.—Messys. K. A. and V. are also happy to friefun Noblemen and Gen tlauera they have now the most extensive and best effection of Town-made Guns in the kingdom; among which there are shoofs Fifty of John and Joseph Maatons (fint and percussion.)—Old Pinta, Guns, Pistols, &c. taken in exchange.

in exchange.

ESTABLICHED UPWARDS OF TWENTY YEARS.

For the SALE of IRISH LINEN by the PIECE,

At the Factor's Price, No. 4, 20, 4the South Side of Blosmobury square four doors from the top of Southampion-street, Holborn,

THE IRISH LINEN COMPANY beg leave to announce to the Public, that the above Hisson with the South Side of Blosmobury square four where they continue to supply the Noblitty, Gentry, and the Public with WARRANTED GRASS, BLEACHED LINEN.

For Shirts and Sheets, of the best fabric and colour, at a price considerably lower than they can be procured through any other medium.

They also an age to nature the Functions common spatial any fault appear.

Good Irish Blis and Bank of Ireland Notes taken as sonal.

Country and Town orders punctually at lended to by JOHN BONOVAN, 4; Bladmidtery square, Lendows, Agents.

HEAP ADVENTURE MWIFT and Co. are selling the Tribute and Substitute of the part day of Special are selling the State and Substitute of the part day of Special are selling to the Walter's Pries of State land, and supply other Capitals and the State of Stat Searce of the Capital Titles at the green't Lettery have becaused in Searce.

L.C.O.N.O.M.Y. in W.I.N.B. The FEOT AL ECHANGE with COMPANY. No. 10, Poultry, (near the Alassima Shings) and quested pleasure in submitting to their numerous Customers and the Public in search, the full deviate list of choice Wines, which they had pairway a search of the function of the conditions at the and an amazinated very Reduced First of the Cod Cape Madeira per Doz. 20s. Very Superior Oil Bitto Per D past of Engianal; three dozen within aftern rifes, and one dozen delivered feet to any part of London.

The to any part of London.

The to any part of London.

The Conders sent by letter, addressed as showe, strictly and expeditiously executed.

VALUABLE INFORMATION to FAMILIES. A Seving of full 30 per cent. may now be effected by the fungishing of Houses, in sections and the content of the prices of London printed of the content of the prices of London printed of the content of the prices of London printed of the printed printed by the printed printed by the printed part of the printed printed by the printed part of the printed printed by the printed part of the printed part o apiral springs, which are usually attached to such pleces.—25, Old Bar lineton-street.

NOR the TOOTH-AOHE, and producing BEAUTIFUL.
TESTH.—BOWLAND'S ALSANA EXTRACT, patronised by her Royal Hightness the late Duchess of York, their Excellences the Dukes Del Infantado and Sans Carlos. This Botanical Specific has been in high eatination many years, and recommended by the first physicians as a sovereign remoty for the Tooth Ache, Gum Boils, &c. also removes the tartar from the teeth, prevents their desaying, fastens those that are leose, makes the tertipeautifully white, cleanase the neury roun the gums, renders them drm and hobitity, erhanbes the smouth during disease and after medicine, imparts a sweetness to the breath, is so perfectly innocent that a child may take it indeed, is often used as a stomachic, yet contains those invaluable properties, that, if containity used, will-render the teeth and gums sound, beaxtiful, and dree from pain, to the latest period of life. Price 2s, 9d., 4s. 6d. and 10s. 8d. page bottle. None is genotine unless signed on the outside in red ink, Arden; and by appointment by Messrs Hendries, Titchborne-street; Hatton Garden; and by appointment by Messrs Hendries, Titchborne-street; Hatton Garden; and by appointment by Messrs Hendries, Titchborne-street; Gattle and Piscos, 6d, in. Biggs, 28, Now! Bendsstreet; Sanger, 16d, Oxford-atreet; Halloon, Stradling, Reyal Sachange; Johnson, 68, Taite, 44, Cornhillt New-Berry, 65, Mewards, 88, 81, Faujis Church-yard; Colley, Bishopsgate-street Barclay, Fleet Market; Builer, 4, Cheapside: Berry, 17, Johnston, 187, Helphorn; Eboukstreet; Song; Sutton, Garden; Rowney, 106, finition Garden; Ebow, 286, Front, 289, Strand; Ward, 324, Swift, 29; Smiton, 127, High Hollom; Ebolidder, 76, Oxford street.

DATENT ECONOBICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP.—In contemplating the lives and unparerty that have been acquised to be Greek street, Soho; Sixton, Bow Charch yard; Rowney, 106, natton Garden; Low, Mo, Prout, 222, Strant; Ward, 324, Swift, 29; Sutton, 127, High Holborn; Chelisdier, 76, Orford street.

LATENT ECONORICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP.—In contemplating the lives and property that have freen sacrificed to the axe of candles, it is natural to conclude, that it has either been found difficult to beyont a complete substitute, or that its incrotrance has escaped observation, and it is not a tribing stratification to the Patentee, that, in this invention he has so far susceeded in the at empt as to produce a light that embraces every perfection, and is alike applicable to every domestic use, and can be so regalated as to unit every occasion. Its safety is such that me person on seeing it can deabt for a moment its security against danger of fire, and, bearing any motion without agitating the flame, renders it highly valuable as a moving light. As a Chamler or Night Light, it can be regalated to burn the longest or shortest night, giving a never falling brilliant flame, ready at the moment it is wahred, disappearing in the morning without smoke or smell, superseding the Bed Candle, and, in its general use, a preserver of the carpets from tallow or wax; the price, in neat Japan Stands, 10s. and is bronze, 15s.to 20s. The same principle applies, and the Lampe equally perfable, on pedestals, varying in size and elegance, for the dising table, sfileboard, study, bracket, door, or fan-light, &c.: and also Glaus Grecian Hanging Lamps, for the hall, stalrcase, passages, conservatory, drawing-room, mantleplece, lustres, &c.; and for the accommodation of these who have aquare, vase, or other hall anthorns, the burners of which are so universally complained of for the oil they consume, and the insufferable amoke and smell they emit, the Patentee, in compliance with the request of many, now applies this principle to such, with all its advantages, at 12s. to 14e. each. Families in the country, who wish to avail themselves of this epportunity, h

On Friday, the Dispatches were closed at the East India House, and delivered to the Pursers of the following ships, viz:—Sir David Scott, Cantain William Hunter, for the Cape of Good Hope, Bengal and China; William Fairlie, Captain K. Smith, for the Cape of Good Hope, Madras, and China.

The Earl of Chatham, Governor of Gibraltar, arrived off that place on the 15th ult. and was expected to land the same afternoon. Baignay, Dec. 6.—The weather is favourable for the season. The King was often on the Palace Lawn both yesterday and to-day, but as yet his Majesty has not condescended to appear in public. Lord and Lady Burghersh left the Pavilion yesterday to return to town. The Marquis Wellesley is the only Palace departure of to-day.

Sir Isaac Heard, Garter King at Arms, in the 91st year of his age, arrived here from London yesterday. The journey was performed in seven hours, and the venerable gentleman experienced but little fatigue.

but little fatigue.

Letters have been received from the Marquis of Hastings, in which his Lordship states that he shall be home by the 1st of May. We are sorry to add, that his Lordship had not lately enjoyed a good state of health.

On Friday, a meeting of the Turkey Company took place, when dispatches from Constantinople were laid before it. They reached London by way of Vienna, and are of considerable importance. They confirm the news of a war having broken out between the Turks and Persians, and of the latter having entered the dominions of the former. It appears that a Persian Prince commanded in person not less than 110,000 men. The most severe engagement took-place in the immediate vicinity of Bagdad.

Advertisement. —A plain fact needs no embellishment—it is sufficient to say, that Carroll sold No. 11,486, a Prize of £30,000, in Shares, on the last day of drawing, at his fortunate Offices, 13, Cornhill, and 26, Oxford-street. Next Tuesday, a Prize of £5,000 will be gained for the trifling risk of £2 on a Whele Ticket, and in proportion for Shares.

Man-1	HALL AND	SHIP N	EWS.	O 10 198 11 11
Arrived	Mails	Due	Arrived	Mails	Due
	Dublin			Malta
	Waterford		2	France
	Guernsey & J			.Hamburgh
	Holland			.Flanders .
	Gottenhurgh.			.Jamaica
	Lisbon	2		Brazils	A

DRAL, Dec. 7. Wind S.E. Sailed the Thomas Coutts, Cirystie, for India. A ship hasarrived and sailed for the River, name not known. Remains H. M. ship Severn. Seven o'clock, wind S.S.W. fresh breeze.
PORTSMOUTH, Dec. 7. Wind S.S.W. Arrived from the Downs, the Britannia, Strange, for Grand Canaries; Elizabeth, Foreman, for Africa, leaky; La Belle Alliance, Rolfe, for Madras and Bengal; Lady Kennaway, Beach, for Bengal; Barbadoes Plant, Redman, and William Lushington, Sughrice, for Jamaica; Lady Harewood, Young, for Grenada; Regret, Welbank, for Batavia; Christopher, Row, for Newfoundland; Highland Lad, for ditto; Sarah Ann, Meldrum, for St. Petersburg, and Appollo Russian, frigate, from the eastward, for Kamschatka. The whole of the outward-bound have sailed, except the Phoenix, for N. S. Wales; Prince Regent, for the Mediterranean; Hibberts, Sir Edward Hamilton, and Princess Charlotte, for Jamaica. It has blown a strong gale from the S.E. nearly the whole of the day.

Jamatea. It has blown a strong setting and day.

HARWICH, Dec 7. Arrived, the Brothers, Davidson, from Dantzig, with loss of an anchor and cable; and Isabella and Jane, Davy, from Dunbar, leaky, having struck upon the Cross Sand. It has blown hard all day from the S. E. S. and S. by W. and a number of vessels have put in for shelter. The Swift Steam packet, M'Gregor, passed a loaded vessel on shore on the Gunfleet Sand; several vessels were attending her.

MILFORD, Dec. 5. The Ariel, Ritchie, from Glasgow for Savannah, cut her cable on 2d inst.; on the 4th, the Commerce, M'Clea, cut her cables; the Fame, Gilmore, and Cygnet, of Bristol, also cut their cables. A number of vessels have received damage by running on board of each other, but not to a very great extent.

ressels have received damage by running on board of each other, but not to a very great extent.

PLYMOUTH, Dec. 6. Wind E.S.E. Arrived H. M.S. Camelion, from Portsmouth, with Specie for the Dock Yard. Sailed H.M.S. Semiramis and Phaton, for Cork, with two transports, having the 84th Regt, on board; Harriet, Cuming, for St. Michaels; Glory, Pounder, for Honduras; Royal Eagle, Gibbs, for St. Michaels; Boston, Wilson, for Lisbon; Britansia, Rubee, for do and several others bound to the westward, FALMOUTH, Dec. 6. Wind E. Sailed the Sir Sidney Smith, Le Gros, for Rio Janeiro; Union, Vittery, for Lisbon; and Britannia, for Seville.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 6. About 1580 bales of cotton have been sailed from the Isabella, for New Orleaus. Sailed the Columbiar, Shearman, for Java.

NEWHAVEN, Dec. 7. The brig Hebble, Wake, for Sunderland, in at tempting the harbour last night, struck on a pole, and went on shore. She has received considerable damage in her hull, and was with great difficulty kept free by pumping; she has been got off and brought in here. A brig is on shore at Shoreham, supposed to be a collier.

TO ATTORNIES, BANKERS, MERCHANTS, AND ALL PERSONS OF BUSINESS.

Just published, in 4to. neatlyprinted on the best large wove thick post paper, price, extra-enlarged Edition, half bound, 9s.—enlarged, half bound, 6s.—small, half bound, 4s. 6d.—sewed, 3s.

TICHARDS'S UNIVERSAL DAILY REMEMBRANCER for 1822; comprising a Diary for Memoranda, Appointments, &c. and a variety of useful information.

London: Printed and published by C. Richards, 109, St. Martin's-lane, Charing Cross; sold also by Simpkin and Marshall, Stationers' court; S. Low, 42, Lamb's Conduit-street; and all other Booksellers & Stationers.

S. Low, 42, Lamb's Conduit-street; and all other Booksellers & Stationers.

BURGESS's NEW SAUCE for general purposes, having given just the great approbation, and the demand for it continuing to increase JOHN BURGESS and SON beg most respectfully to offer this their best acknowledgments to the Public for their liberal patronage of the same; its utility and great convenience in all climates, has recommended it to the most distinguished foreign connexions, who have all spoken highly in its recommendation.—It is prepared by them ONLY; and for preventing disappointment to families, all possible care has been resorted to, by each bottle being sealed upon the cork with their firm and address, as well as each label having their signature, without which it cannot be genuine.

JOHN BURGESS and SON'S long established and much-esteemed ESSENCE of ANCHOVIES, continues to be prepared by them after the same manner that has given the greatest satisfaction for many years.—Warehouse, 107, Strand, corner of the Savoy-steps, London.—The original Fish-Sauce Warehouse.

DIAL WEIGHING MACHINES.

MARRIOTT having obtained His Majesty's Royal Letters

a Patent, for an invaluable improvement in WEIGHING MACHINES, begs leave to recommend them to the Public, as the most perfect & useful article for that purpose ever constructed for fect & useful article for that purpose ever constructed for accuracy, simplicity, expedition, & portability, it stands unrivalled, as it instantaneously shows the exact weight of any article, from one *z. to a Ton, without the use of Weights, thereby saving time and labour. Being perfectly portable, it may be used in any sit unation—its universal utility must therefore be undeniable for Domestic purposes; it Shops, Warchouses, Coach-offices, Market-houses, Barns, on Whaifs, at Races and Pairs, for Cattle, Corn, Hay, &c. or fer loading heavy Articles; it may be attached Hay, &c. or fer loading heavy Articles; it may be attached to the chain of a Crane, and shew the weight at the time of craning; it is also peculiarly well adapted for the Foreign Markets. From its extreme simplicity, it is scarcely pos-sible to be inaccurate; yet if it'ever should be so, there is an adjusting Screw, which will instantly cor-

H. MARRIOTT having also made considerable improvements in his PATENT KITCHEN COOKING APPARATUS, feels a confidence in recommending it to the Public, as a most complete Article for Roasting Baking, Boiling, and Steaming, with economy in fuel, by one moderate-sized Fire, and with a constant supply of from Twelve to Twenty Galloms of Hot Water; also Warm Closets for airing Linen, keeping Dinner hot, heating Plates, Dishes, &c.; the Cooking Utensils are never soiled, and it is a positive Cure for a Smokey Chimney. Kitchens fitted up with Steam Apparatus, embracing all the late improvements: also Baths, Conservatories, Halls, Staircases, and Buildings, heated by Steam, upon a principle of perfect security, and equal diffusion of heat.—An improved Palent Spring Roasting Jack, to obviate the necessity of weights or pullies.—The whole may be seen daily in use at the Patentee's Manufactory, 64, Fleet-street, London; or had of mest of the respectable Ironmongers throughout England. N B. Smokey Chimnies cured on philosophical principles.

A STONISHING SUCCESS!!!—ADELPHI THEATRE, STRAND—TO-MORROW, and during the Week, will be presented, for the Thirteenth Time, the New Camera-Obscura-fe Extravaganza Burletta of Fun Frolic, Fashion, and Flash, in Three Acts, called TOM and JERRY; or, LIFE in LONDON. Cerinthian Tom, Mr. Wrench; Jerry Hawthorn, Mr. W. Burroughs; Logic, Mr. Wilkinson; Jemmy Green, Mr. Keeley; Kate, Mrs. Baker. In the course of the Piece will be introduced, An Assaut D'Armes, by Two celebrated Professors, who are expressly engaged for the occasion. To conclude with a Burletta, called THE MARRIED BACHELOR.

TO PRINTERS.—To be DISPOSED OF, an old established and respectable BUSINESS in the above line, presenting a most desirable opportunity for any Young Man desirous of commencing Business. The Lease, Materials, &co. to be taken at a Valuation; and time allowed for the payment of the principal part of the Purchase money.—Address A. Z. Mr. Limbird's, 355, Strand.

the bease, Materials, &co. to be taken at a Valuation; and time allowed for the payment of the principal part of the Purchase-money.—Address A. Z. Mr. Limbird's, 355, Strand.

NEXT TUESDAY, Theket £2—Sixteenth 4s.!—HAZARD and Co. Contractors for the Present Lottery, are highly gratified by the many marks of public approbation bestowed on their offer to take back, after next Tuesday, at a small reduction of price, all Tickets or Shares, whether drawn or undrawn, if presented on or before 19th December. A Prize of £5,000 is sure to be drawn next Tuesday, and may be gained at very little Risk, as will be seen by the following statement of what a Ticket or Share costs, and what will be given back for it after next Tuesday's drawing, whether it be a Blank, Small Prize, or Undrawn.

Ticket, 241. 18s. may receive back 221. 18s.; Half, 131. 5s. may receive back 121. Quarter, 61. 13s. may receive back 211. Eighth, 31. 7s. 6d. may receive back 31.; Sixteenth, 11. 14s. may receive back 11. Eighth, 31. 7s. 6d. may receive back 31.; Sixteenth, 11. 14s. may receive back 11. Eighth, 31. 7s. 6d. may receive back 31.; Sixteenth, 12. 14s. may receive back 11. Eighth, 31. 7s. 6d. may receive back 31.; Sixteenth, 12. 14s. may receive back 12. Quarter, 61. 32s. Quarter, 61. SIVEWHIGHT strongly recommend the advandage of tages offered on the Next Day's Drawing, (NEXT TUESDAY), 11th December, when 5,0001. At least, is sure to be drawn from the Wheel, which contains One Prize of 30,0001. Three of 5,0001. One of 2,0001. One of 1,0001. Three of 5001. and Four of 20001. Three of 5,0001. One of 2,0001. One of 1,0001. Three of 5001. and Four of 20001. Three of 5,0001. One of 1,0001. Three of 5001. and Four of 2001. &c. &c.—All Money! and not Two Blanks to a Prize!—All Purchasers between the 20th November and 11th December, have the option of returning their Tickets and Shares, (whether undrawn or drawn Small Prizes or Blanks) after taking the chance of the 5,0001 and o do so on or before the 20th December.

PATENT MERINO DAMASK.—That truly elegant and superb Article to be had genuine only of RICHARDS and CO., 37, Oxford-street.—The Noblity, Gentry, and Faulilies about to Furui h, are espectfully informed, the greatest variety of New Patterns, in every shade of colour, are now on Sale, and will be offered on very advantageous terms. Their Autumn Stock of Furditures embracing every novel style, which for variety of designs, extent of patterns, and cheapness, are not to be equalled in England.—Moreons from 18d. per vard. Blue, yellow, green, buff, marcout, and gold colour calicoes, at 9d; ell wide ditto fast colours, at 1s. At Richards and Co.'s Depot, 37, Oxford-atreet, three doors below Newman-street.

A CAUTION.—The original Inventors and Patentees of the MERINO SATIN DAMASK, consider it their duty to inform the Nobility and Gentry, that there are Houses advertising and offering for sale an humble imitation of their Damask, JEREMY and BRAGG beg leave most respectfully to observe, that in addition to their extensive Stock of Merino Damask, they have just completed some most beautiful specimens of the ROYAL CORONATION SILK DAMASK, (patronised by His Majesty) superior to any Oriental production, to be seen only at 28, and 29, Southampton-street, Covent-garden.

PASE and COMFORT in SHAVING. To those Gentlemen who

PASE and COMFORT in SHAVING. To those Gentlemen who ASE and COMPONENT INSTANCE. TO dose techniemen who experience inconvenience in Shaving from a tender face or strong beard, J. T. RIGGE most particularly recommends his celebrated MAGNETIC RAZOR TA. LET, which, with its late improvement, he engages will produce so keen an edge as to supersede all grinding, bothing, &c. and render he operation of shaving as gasy and agreeable as it was before u pleasant and painful. Its use is simple, its effect certain; price 7s. 6d. J. T. Rigge's Arematic Shaving Soap will also be found an invaluable addition: Manufactory, 65, Cheapside, and 52, Park-street, Grosvenor-square

Tactory, 65, Cheapside, and 52, Park-street, Grosvenor-square

ALL'S sublime TURKISH PASTE, CIRCASSIAN and FACE POWDER.—The above clegant preparations, which are so universally approved by Ladies of the first rank and fashion, as the most innocent and beautiful assistant to nature, by imparting to the skin that soft and inconceivable fairness, is now prepared, in the highest state of perfection; the Proprietor having lately imported a quantity of the necessary ingredients, will prevent in future any possible disappointment.—One Pound Note Pachages, containing two large Pois and two Packets of the Powder, or four small Pots and four small Packets, are forwarded to all parts of Town, or Ceantry, and warranted to garries asfe.

N. B. Observe the above are only to be had of the most respectable Dealers of Perfumery or Milliners in the Country, in single Pots, at 19s, 6d. and 5s, 6d.; and the Pewder in Packets, 2s, 6d. and 1s, 6d, and should be asked for in the name of the Proprietor, whose signature is on the outside sir each.
—Patent Violet Soap and Chemical Laboratory, No. 28, Hadlow-street, Burton Crescent, Landon.—J. B. HALL.

RHEUMATISM, GOUT, COUGHS, and COLDS.

IFE PILLS, entirely Vegetable, discovered by the Rev.

C. CARRINGTON, vicar of Berkeley, one of His Majesty's Deputy Lieutenants, &c. for the Country of Gloucester.

Enford, Wilts, June 8.

Gentlemen—I am in the habit of taking your Life Pills for the Rheumatism.

Enford, Wilts, June 8.

Gentlemen—I am in the habit of taking your Life Pills for the Rheumatism, with which I used to be dreadfully afflicted. Nothing so effectually relieves it, and though I am seventy-three years of age, yet by using them the moment of an attack, I keep off the fit.

EDW. RAWLINS.

Sold, in Boxes, at 1s. 14d. and 4s. 6d. each, by Barry and Son, Bristol, (without whose name on the Stamp, they cannot be genuite): also by W. Sutton and Co.: Barclay's: Buller's; and Sanger, 150, Oxford-street, London; and by all other Medicine Yenders in Town and Country.

without whose name on the Stamp, they cannot be genuine; also by W. Sutton and Co.; Barclay's; Butler's; and Sanger, 150, Oxford-street, London; and by all other; Medicine Venders in Town and Country.

WINTER COUGHS, &c. The ANODYNE EXPECTO-unrivalled efficacy in the Cure of Coughs, Asthmas, Sure Throats, &c. &c. The Proprietors do not consider an eulogium necessary, a single trial having invariably established their superior claims in the Cure of the above Complaints. Sold by the Proprietors, Howe and Co. 16, Tichborn-street, opposite the Cenuty Fire Office: Sanger, 150, Oxford-street; Hawkins, 11, Old Bond-street; Ward, Holborn: Stradling, Royal Exchange; and most respectable Medicine Venders, in boxes, at 1s. 14d. each.

CONVULSION FITS, EPILEPTIC FITS, HYSTERICS, NERVOUS and SPASMODIC COMPLAINTS, EFFECTUALLY CURED BY DR. HADLEY'S POWDERS.

Official Diseases incidental to the Human Frame, none are more afflicting than Convulsion Fits, Epileptic Fits, &c. The powerful virtues of this POWDER in a short time relieves the sufferer; and by due perseverance in its application, completely extirpates Couvulsion Fits in Infants and Adults; also Epileptic ar Falling Fits, Hysteries, and Nervous and Spasmodic Complaints. The Powder is a grans' restorative in all cases of relaxation, dehility, and weakness in children and adults; if gradually strengthens the stomach, increases the appetite, promotes digestion, and in a short time restores the patient to perfect health, without confinement or alteration of diet.—The late Dr. HADLEY, of Derby, (the discoverer of this valuable medicine) seed it in private practice for upwards of fifty years with the most flattering success in the various complaints, which is proved by incontrovertible facels. Its inestimable virtues are patronised by the following distinguished Nobility, and manyothers, too numerous for an Advertisement: Her Grace the Duchess of Rutland Lady Candinine Walley.

From the Hon. Mrs. Egerton to Dr. Hadley.

This is to certify, that I have used Hadleys Convulsio

TO ALL WHO VALUE THEIR SIGHT.—The Sight of the aged restored, the weak Sight strengthened, and the perfect Sight preserved to extreme old age, upon unerring principles, by BRADBERRY PATENT SPECTACLES, established thirty years.—To be had only at 23, Holles street, Oxford street, (opposite Hanover-square), the first door and of Oxford-street, on the left hand, and at no other place in the United Kingdom. Orders from the country will be immediately attesded to. Removed from 332, Oxford-street.

From 332, Oxford-street.

VENTILATION of CLOSE CARRIAGES His Majesty's Letters Patent have been obtained for a MODE of VENTILATING CLOSE CARRIAGES. By this method the air in the Carriage is graintained in as pure a state when the Glasses are up as when down. Carriage may be Ventilated upon this plan, at a very trifling expence, by application at No. 20, Ludgate Hill, nearly opposite Old Bailey.

WAYTE, Furrier to the King, late of Parton-street, Hay-Nobility and Public in general, that he has REMOVED to more extensive Premises in REGENT-STREET, near the County Fire-office, where he solicits a continuance of their favorurs—C. W. has manufactured a large Assortment of all descriptions of rich and elegant Fura into the most fashonable Articles of Dress for the Season.

BURTON ALE and BOTTLED STOUT—FEATHERS TAVERN, Hand-court, Holborn, nearly opposite Great Turnshie—J. MILES, Son-in-law to the late Mr. John Goodman, or thirty years prietor of the above-mentioned House, begs to acquaint his Friends and the Public, that he has NOW on SALE some of the most approved BURTON and WINDSOR ALES, and in the highest possible perfection, it being brewed by the same Brewer who served his Father. Quart bottles, its, per dozen, and Pin's, 7s, per dozen. The Bottled Stont is particularly fine, and in high condition—N. B. For the information of Geutlesmen of the Inns of Court, &c. J. M. begs to acquaint them, that hot Joints, as usually are ready every quarter of an hour, between the hours of four and seven, likewise every other delicacy the seasons afford, including Soups, &c.—Private Rooms for Parties.

LONDON MARKETS.

CORN EXCHANGE, FRIDAY, Dec. 7.

Our market has been so largely supplied with Wheat of late, and that of an inferior quality, that it is with the greatest difficulty any sales can be effected; in addition also to the large quantity remaining over from Monday's market, we had a very considerable further supply this morning; hence the trade is almost in a state of stagnation, and what little was disposed of, even of the better sorts, was on lower terms. Barley, Beans, and Pease, are each lower; and Oats are full is per quarter cheaper, the arrivals of grain in general being most abundant.

ETURN PRICE of CRAIN.

RETURN PRICE of GRA   Rssex Red Wheat (new)   . 30s. 38s. Fine   . 40s. 50s. 60s. 60s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 69s. 67s. 67s. 60d.   . 63s. 65s. 67s. 61d.   . 63s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68s. 68	IN, oi board Ship, as under.  Maple
Hog Pease	recta to see the state of

E GENERAL AVERAGE PRICES of BRITISH CORN, as seekly from the Inspectors in the Maritime Cities and Towns in id Wales, according to the Gazette of the 5th of December, cale

GENERAL AVERAGE WHICE GOVERNS IMPORTATION.

Wheat, 51s 11d—Burley, 24s 2d—Oats, 18s 5d—Rye, 23s 7d—Beaus, 26s 4d

Pease, 28s 10d.

Portugal Gold, in Coino 0 0 p. ez. Foreign Gold in Bars 3 17 10} New Doubloons 0 0 0	D AND SILVER.    New Dollars
COURSE OF EXCH.	ANGE FRIDAY , Dec. 7.
Amsterdam 12 13 C.F.  Ditto at Sight 12 10  Rotterdam 12 14  Antwerp 12 7  Hamburgh 37 6  Altbna 37 7  Paris, 3 days Sight 25 60  Ditto 25 90  Bordeaux 25 90  Frankfort on Main 156  Petersburg 3 U  Vienna 10 18 Ess. fo.	Trieste — — Ess. fie.  Madrid

COMMERCIAL REPORT,

Plantation Sugars have been purchased largely this week, and obtained an advance of 2s. per cwt., in other descriptions not much doing, and prices same as our last. Refined Goods were much inquired after in the early part of the week, without, however, experiencing any advance. Coffee dull of sale, and may be stated is lower. In Tobaccos little or no alteration. Spirits continue much the same; Rums being held firmly at our last quotation, Brandy rather heavy. The Cotton market without much variation. Tallow Y. C. same as our last, say 43s. to 44s.

HOME CONSUMPTION—DUTIES PAYABLE UPON THE POLLOWING

Sugar, British plantation, 27s. per cwt.; ditto East India, 37s. Coffee, British plantation, 1s. per 1b.; ditto East India, 1s. 6d. Cocoa, ditto, 1s.; Pimento, 10d.—Cotton, 6 per cent. ad valoren, ditto West India, free; Tobacco, 4s. per 1b.; Rice, from America and Java, 15s. per cwt.; ditto from other parts, 5s.; Tallow 3s. 2d.; Tea, under 2s. per 1b. 160 per cent.; ditto, above 2s. per 1b. 96 per cent.; Rum, 11s. 7åd. per gallon; Brandy and Geneva, 18s. 10d.; Wine, Port, 7s. 7d.; ditto Madeira, 7s. 8d.; ditto Cape 2s. 6åd.; ditto Sherry, 7s. 7d.

STOCKS.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thur.	Prid.	Sat.
Bank Stock		2364	237	2374	234000	1000
per Cent. Reduced	764	763	764	764	764	764 8 4 per Cent. Consols	774	778		200	F-00 23	1000
per Cent. Consols	-	862	86#	879	871	200000
Consols for Account	784	776	78	788	78	123 4
per Cent. Consols	96	961	96	964	963	261
per Cent. Navy	1109	1104	100 m	- 100	-
Bank Long Annuities	198	194	194	192	198	195-16
India Bonds	67 p	63 p	63 p	65 p	64 p	65
Exchequer Bills, 2d	1 p	2 p	1 p	1 p	2 p	11d
Ditto, 21d	-	-	TRILEY (1)	7	( Per ( )	-
Omnium	-0.01	LAW 1d	-	-	(505)	DESTRU

On the 5th inst. at Canonley House, near Skipton, Yorkshire, the Lady of John Swire, Esq. of a daughter. At Elm-place, Elstree, the Lady of Capt. John Marshall, R. N. C. B. ef a

MARRIAGES.
On the 2d of Nov. by the Rev. Thomas Hurford Siely, M.A. His Britannie Majesty's Chaplain at Lisbon, Henry Jacob Siffkin, Esq to Amelia Louisa Wilhelmina von Wiederhold, eldest daughter of the late Major General Baron de Wiederhold.
On the 29th ult. Captain George Harris, R.N. C.B. to Anna Maria, eldest daughter of John Woodcock, Esq.

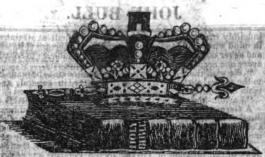

At Liabon, July 28th, Henry Scudamore, Esq. of Shrop shire, aged 32 years. On the 5th of Nov. at Liabon, Henrietta Sophia, Baroness de Wiederhold, of Hesse Cassel, aged 52 years, mother of Mrs. Sifikin.

At his house, at Stratford, on Tuesday might, the Right Hon. Lord Henniker. His Lordship had nearly attained his 70th year.
On Sanday night, at Cholmondeley House, Piccadilly, Col. Seymour, sonin-law of the Marquis of Cholmondeley.
On the 11th ult. upon his passage bome from Grenada, for the recovery of his health, John Ogle, Esq. Capt. of the 9th Regt.
On Tuesday, at Brighton, James Perry, Esq. Editor and Proprietor of The Morning Chronicle, aged 65.

LONGON: Printed and Published by R. T. WEAVER, at No. 11, JOHNSON'S COURT, FLEET-STREET, where only Communications to the Raitor, (post paid) are received.

Digitized by Google

distinguity officers.

" FOR GOD, THE KING, AND THE PEOPLE!"

MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1821.

Price 7d

8113

LONDON MARKETS.

CORN EXCHANGE, Faidax, Dec. 14.

The arrival of Grain in general since Monday has been tolerably large, and the trade on the whole continues exceeding dull; for fine Wheat, however, there was certainly a better sale than on Monday, but the stands are covered with the ordinary sorts, for which scarcely an offer can be obtained. Barley is particularly dull in sale, the quantity at market being considerable, and we consider it full is, per quarter lower. Beans and Pease are rather cheaper than otherwise; and the Oat trade is very heavy, though with little variation in value. In other articles there is no variation to notice.

RETURN PRICE of GRAIN, on board Ship, as n	nder. 1 ld 1
Essex Red Wheat (new) 32. 38s., Maple	264. 253.
Fine 40s. 50s. White ditto	28s. 30s.
Old	301. 324.
Rssex White (new) 356, 45s. Small Beans	278. 298.
Fine 48s. 54v. Old	308. 328.
Saperfine 55s. 57s. Tick Beans (new)	185. 228.
Old	24s. 278.
Rye Peed Oats	168. 178.
Barley	18s. 20s.
Fine 21s. 23s. Poland ditto
Saperfine 24s. 26s. Fine
Malt	234. 258.
Fine 58s, 60s. Fine	26s . 27 s.
Hog Pense 246. 25s.	-university

CORN EXCHANGE, MONDAY, Dec. 17.

The Market is but moderately supplied with Wheat this morning and fine quality meets a brisk sale at an advance of 1s. per quarter.

—The supply of Oats and Barley is very small, the sale is dulk at a fall in the price of 3s. per quarter of the latter; the former, however, remains the same as our last quotations.—Flour remains at the same price as last week, and no reduction is expected, as the demand grows brisker from the advance in the price of Mesis.

Beans and Pease have but a dull sale, and White Pease are from its. to 2s. per quarter cheaper.

Concluded and interview of the continue of the continue of the Boilers
Grev Pease
Small Beans
Tick ditto
Oats-Potatoe
Poland
Feed
Flour, per sack
Rape Seed, perlast£28 £50

THE GENERAL AVERAGE PRICES of BRITISH CORN, as received weekly from the Inspectors in the Maritims Cities and Towns in Engla and Wales, according to the Gazette of the 15th of December, calculated follows —

GENERAL AVERAGE WHICH COVERNS IMPORTATION.

Wheat, 51s 24 - Barley, 22s 10d - Oats, 18s 11d - Rye, 27s 3d - Beans, 26s

Pease, 28s 0d.

Tiens the PRICE of FLOUR.

Fown made Flour, per sacks. to 50s. to 55	4
Ditto seconds per dittos. to 45s. to 50	ä
sasex and Suffolk Floar, per-ack on board ship	200
Occasion and analysis of the state being the boule of the	9

ENGLISH  Wheat 17954  Barley 16691  Mait 9811  Oats 7839  Rye 162  Beans 2757  Perase 3337  Tares	Brank   15   Blour(sacks)   225
Clover Red, percwl White Foreign Red. Trefoil Rib Grass Carraway Coriander	26 to 36 Turnip per bush. 32 to 44

SMITHFIELD MARKET.

There is an exceeding large supply of Cattle at Market thi morning, particularly Sheep, in fact, the largest number ever known; Beef is consequently a trifle lower, although some very fine Beasts kept up their price. Mutton has likewise experienced a reduction. Veal is a trifle lower than our last quotations although there was not a large supply of Calves in the Market Pork was sold at an advanced price of about 4d.

In the Haymarket business was pretty brisk on Saturday, and

Hay, Clover, and Straw fully sup	ported their prices.
od od film PRICES OF MEAT, S	c. AT SMITHFIELD,
Per stone of 8lb.	to sink the Offal.
FRIDAY, Dec. 14.	Monday, Dec. 17.
s, d, s, d,	water and arout hall it and dees. de
Beef 2 0 a 3 8	Beef 3 0 a 4 0
Mutton 2 0 3 4	Mutton 2 10 3 6
Veal 2 0 4 8	Mutton
Pork 1 8 4 0	Perk 5 0 5 4
Lamb 0 0 0 0	Lamb 0 - 0 -
Head of Cattle this day.	Head of Cattle this day.
Beasts 1193	Beasts 4148
Sheep, &c 5910	Sheep, &c
Pigs 110	Pigs
Calves	Calves
Prices of Hay and Straw.	Prices of Hay and Straw.
Hay 60s a 80s	Hay 65s a 80s
Straw 26s 32s	Straw 26s 36s
Clover 80s 100s	Clover 70s 90s
St. James's, Haller I.	WhitechapelFriday.
Hay 60s a 80s	Hay 70s a 84s Straw 28s 34s
Straw 24s 33s	Top control of the co
Clover 75s 90s	Clover
NEWGATE AND LEADENH	ALL (Bythe Carcase.) - Friday.

PRICE OF RAW FAT, per Stone. Price by Tallow (as given by the Tallow Melters) ........ 2s. 7 d.

oti i		A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR
11/3	PRICE OF F. Riga, PTR £57 to £58—Do. DDC £-	LAX, per Ton.
d	to the Allenda Agency controlled the profit of the profit	CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF
46		OF HEMP, per Ton.
調	Riga, Rhipe 51 0 a 52 0	Out shot 42 - a 44 10
d !	Petersburgh, clean . 45 0 a 46 0	Half-clean 43 - a 45 -
63	PRICE OF COTTON W	OOL, perit (Duty paid.)
83	section and a decision of the	s, d. s, d
73	Berbice 0 10 a 1 0	Pernambuco 1 01 a 1
35	Demerara 0 10 a 1 01	Para 0 10 a 0 1
5.8	Surinam 0 0 a 0 0  Tamaica 0 0 a 0 0  Bahama 0 0 a 0 0	Bowed Georgia 0 9 a 0 le New Orleaus 0 10 a 0 l
9.7	Bahama 0 0 a 0 0	Surat 0 6 a 0 8 Bengal 0 5 a 0 6
10	St. Domingo 0 0 a 0 0	Bengal 0 51 a 0 6
37	Maranham 0 11 a 1 0 Bahia 0 11 a 1 0	Bourbon 0 10 a 1
23		The same of the sa
0	ENGLISH AND FOR	EIGN WOOLS, perlb.
É.	Eug. Merino wash 1 4 a 2 3	Spa, Sheep.Segovia 3 0 a 4 (
23	Eng. Merino wash 1 4 a 2 3 Do. in grease 1 0 a 1 6 South Down 1 1 a 1 3 Western Fleeces 0 0 a 0 0 Long Wool 0 0 a 0 0	Soria 2 10 a 3 3
20	South Down 1 1 a 1 3	Seville. 2 4 a 3
30	Long Wool 0 0 a 0 0	Saxon, lst qual b 8 a 7 C
	Spa.Sheep, Leonesa. 3 6 a 5 0	Austrian fine 5 3 a 8
2	A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR	Management of the second secon
10	PRICES of TALLOW,	Vellow Soap
15	Yellow Russia 45s. 6ds. 0d.	Mottled
	White ditto ods. od.	Curd
(2	Soap ditto	Good Deare 7- 0d
10	White ditto	a strong small name of the 18
140	set no siy end thay Hipps	per Stone of albs.
10	Best Heifers & Steers . 3 4 a 3 6 Middling	Market Call, each 9 0 a 0
18	Middling 3 0 3 2	Sheep 2 10 3
10	Ordinary 2 8 2 10 English Horse 0 0 0 0	Lens steersteersteers a. A. A.
i w	The second secon	The second secon
5.5	PRICE OF LEATHER A	T LEADENHALL, per lb.
is	Butts, 50 to 56lbs, each 21 a 22	Calf Skins, 30 to 40 lbs 21 a 30
r	Butts, 50 to 56lbs. each 21 a 22 Dressing Hides	Ditto 50 to 701bs 28 35
y	Fine Coach Hides	Ditto70 to 80lbs 26 29
d	for Cutting (182 21	Tanned Horse Hides16 18 Small Seals (Greenland)18 20
2.17	Crop Hides, 35 to 40 lbs 171 181	Large ditto, per lb 18
s, t.	CURRENT PRICE
- 8	MARYLAND. d. d. d. Serubs 34 to 6	VIRGINIA. d. d.
d	Serubs 31 to 6	Ordinary 3 to 3
d	Brown and Leafy 5 to 74	Mixed and Middling 4 to 4
C li	Coloury
12	Canaster to -	Rich Sweet Scent 61 to 7
115	Turkey	Kentucky
90	2 - Control of the co
d.		o onth of September 2110 To
6	Greenland Whale 19 0 0	Ofive
8	So. Fishery 20 0 0	Palm
4	Spermaceti	Rape
.31	The state of the s	Under State Of Mary And State of the State o
18	T . seem of the frame PRICE OF	HONEY Deservices (Control )
0	mon'y Foreign, fine, per cwt. 80s.	to 108s,—Interior, 20s. to 50s.
10	PRICES OF GOL	D AND SILVER.
90	Portugal Gold, in Coin 0 0 0 p. oz.	£ s. 6d. New Dollars 0 4 9} p.oz
ls	Foreign Gold in Bars 3 17 10	Silver in Bars Stand 0 4 114
is Os	New Doubloons 3 13 9	New Louis, each . 0 0 0 -
(cy	COURSE OF EXCHA	NGE FRIDAY, Dec. 14.
18	Amsterdam 12 12 C.F.	Trieste Bss. flo.
4s. 0s	Ditto at Sight 12 9	Madrid 36 Cadiz 36
23	Amsterdam 12 12 C.F. Ditto at Sight 12 9 Rotterdam 12 13 Antwerp 12 7 Hamburgh 37 6	Bilbon354 Barcelona . 35
0	Hamburgh 37 8	Leghern47 Genea 43
	Altona 37 7	Venice 27 60 Malta 45
-4	Altona	Naples 391 Palermo 119
	Ditto 25 90	Rio Inneire
13	Bordeaux 25 90 Frankfort on Main 156	Rio Janeire 41 Bahia
-19	Petersburg 3 U Vienna 10 18 Ess. flo.	Bahia
	Vienna 10 18 Ess.flo.	Cork trivitative to a facility

CURRENT PRICES OF SHARTS AND WINES, As in the Bonded Warel with Sciencies of Duty.  SFIRITS, per gallon.  A 1 2 Carcavellos. per 140 gall 33 a 46  Brandy Fornas 166 a 45 bardlas 140 a 5  Brandy Fornas 166 a 45 bardlas 140 a 5  Brandy Fornas 166 a 45 bardlas 140 a 5  Galle 3 a 4 0 0 Monntain 126 15 a 33  Yapis 0 a 0 0 0 Monntain 126 15 a 33  Yapis 0 a 0 0 0 Monntain 126 15 a 33  Hollanous secreta 1 8 a 1 0 Francisc 120 15 a 33  Hollanous secreta 1 8 a 1 0 Francisc 126 15 a 33  Hant Spirital 1 2 a 1 3 Sha direct 16 a 5  Lecured Islands 1 2 a 1 3 Sha direct 16 30 a 70  Malt Spirits 15 3 a 0 66 Squeetra direct 10 30 a 70  Halt Spirits 15 3 a 0 66 Squeetra direct 10 25 a 46  Scotch 16 3 a 5 0 West India 110 22 a 55  Cape 110 22 a 55  Port, Old per 138 galls 30 a 55  New 138 30 a 35  Vin de Grave 112 30 a 30	COAL RXCHANGR.—Frisay Dec. 11.
New - 138 - 20 a 35 Vin de Grave - 112 - 20 a 30 Lisbon - 140 - 15 a 44 Marcella Duty on Wine, 7s. 7d. per Gallon, (excepting Madeira and Cape, the former of which is 7s. 8d. the latter 2s. 6[d.)	COUNTRY MARKETS,
THE AVERAGE PRICE OF BROWN OR MUSCOVADO SUGAR	C Wheat ! Rve.   Barley   Oats   Beans of Pear

COUNT	RY	MARKETS.	į
·沙里里里用的第三人称单	197107:551	TOOK TENEDES TOOK market and the second		A 100 LOS TO THE RESIDENCE OF THE PARTY OF T

Duty on Wine, 7s.7d, per Gallon, (excepting Madeira and Cape, the former of which is 7s. St. the latter 2s. 6[d.)	temi-post	Transfer of the state of the st	OUNIT	Y MAR	KEIS.	lun annu
THE AVERAGE PRICE OF BROWN OR MUSCOVADO SUGAR Computed from the Returns made in the Week ending Dec. 12, 1821, 88-	Towns.	LAST Wheat.	PRICES Rye.	Barley.	this Morn	Beans.	Pease.
£1 12s.74d. per Cwt.)  Exclusive of the Duties of Customs payable on Importation Into Great	10000000	18. 8. 136 a 74	s. s.	8. 8. 24 a 32		35 a 42	40 TH A - plant brunt plants all tons Britain. It theses of action	Bristol.	1780 a.983	per ditt	per ditto	2+243+3 ]		1 3s6a 4s3
CURRENT PRICES OF SUGAR, COFFEE, COCOA, AND GINGER. SUGAR. (per Cwt.) s. s. s. s. s. s. s. s.	Cam-	7 perbush.	per ditt	perditto	11 64-	25848-	22 a
8. 8 Good	bridge.	130 a 65	per dit	perditto	per ditt	per ditt	per ditt
Powder Lvs 83 a 86 Good 105 a109 Caraccas a -	bury. Chester-	( per qr.	per ditt	CO. DECEMBER OF THE PARTY.	per ditt	per ditt   28 a 38	per ditt
Single do. br79 a 82   Ordinary	field.	per qr.     10/a 15/1	per ditt		per ditt	per ditt	per ditt
Demerara & Dominica   Bourbon a -   black 40 a 50   Fine 121 a 132   St. Domingo 100 a 103   Barbadoes 70 a 75	chester.	[perload.]	per qr.	per qr.		per ditt /	per ditt
PRICE OF BUTTER—(per Firk.)  Dorset	ton	[per boll.]	per ditt	per ditto	per ditt		per,ditt
Cambridge 44s 0d 46s 0d Dablin 90s 0d 92s 0d	Daventry.	per qr. 1	per ditt	per ditto	per ditt		per ditt
Double Gloster 62s a 64s Derby 59s a 62s	Derby.	perqr.	S. A. S. Carles J.		per ditt		per ditt
Single ditto	Devizes.	132s0a 36     per sack	per ditt	per gr.	per ditt	per ditt	per ditt
PRICE of HOPS, per Cwt.—DEC. S. Bags. Pockets.	Dencas-	per load	per ditt	per gr.			The second second
Kent., 21, 10s. to 31, 10s. a 41, 15s. Kent., 21, 16s. to 31, 18s. a 51, —s. Sussex 21, —s. to 21, 10s. a 21, 18s. Sussex 21, 4s. to 31, —s. a 31, 8s.	Durham	10s6a lä per boll	per ditt	per ditto
Essex 21. 10s. to 31. 6s. a 31. 16s. Essex 21. 14s. to 31. 10s. a 41. 4s. Farsham, fine71. —s. to 101. 0s. Farsham, second 41. 10s. to 71. 7s.	Grantham.	$50 a 56   per qr.	— a — per ditt	per ditto	CONT. CO. CO.	per ditt	per ditt
PRICE OF FLAX, per Ton. Riga, PTR £57 to £58-Do, DDC £-£52-Petersburgh, 12 head, £51 -s.	Guild- ford.	1 280 a 320   1 per load.	per qr.	18 a 28 per qr.	16 a 28 pergr.		27 a 31 per qr.
CURRENT PRICE OF HEMP, per Ton.	Hemel Hempstead	) 45 a 55s0 per 5 bus	per ditt	22 a 26 per qr.		l8 a 21 pr5 bus	24 a — per ditt
Riga, Rhine 51 0 a 52 0 Ont shot 42 — a 44 10 Retersburgh, clean 1 45 0 a 46 0 Half-clean 43 — a 45 —	Hall.	332 a 53	per ditt	per ditto	per ditt	30 a 34 per ditt	per ditt
PRICE OF COTTON WOOL, pertb(Duty paid.)	Hunger- ford.	)21 a 68 ) per qr.	per ditt	18 a 22 per ditto	per ditt	18 a 34 per ditt	per ditt
Serbice 0 10 a 1 0 Pernambuco 1 0 a 1 14	Hant ingdon.	130 A 39	per ditt	25 a 38 per ditto	16 a 23 per ditt	24 a 30 per ditt	per dist
Demerara 0 10 a 1 04 Para 0 101 a 0 11 Surinam 0 0 a 0 0 Bowed Georgia 0 9 a 0 104	Ipswich.	534 a 56 perqr.	per ditt	16 a 24 per ditto		20 a 24 per ditt	22 a 24 per ditt
Iamaica 0 0 a 0 0   New Orleaus 0 10 a 0 114   Bahana 0 0 a 0 0   Surat 0 6 a 0 8   St. Domingo 0 0 a 0 0   Bengal 0 5 a 0 62	Lecds.	342 a 63 perload.	- a - per qr.		18 a 23		per ditt
Maraham 0 11 a 1 0   Bourbon 0 10 a 1 6   Bahia 0 74 a 0 81	Lincoln.	)50 a 63 per qr.	27 a 30 per ditt	18 a 28	13 a 18	ALCOHOL: NAME OF THE OWNER, THE O	# a -
ENGLISH AND FOREIGN WOOLS, perib.	Liverpool	SaS alos per 70lb.	- a - perqi.	4s 0a 5s 0 per 60lb.	3.383.8	20 a 35 per qr.	10 a -
Eug. Merino wash 1 4 a 2 3 Spa, Sheep, Segovia 3 0 a 4 0 Do. in grease 1 0 a 1 6 Soria 2 10 a 3 3	Louth.	348 a 60   per qr.	32 a 34 per ditt	23 a 27 per ditto	15 a 18 I	to the Parkettine would be	per ditt
Do. 10 grease 1 0 a 1 6 —————————————————————————————————	Lynn,	320 a 50	18 a 24 per ditt		14 a 22	22 a 3) [	18 a 26 per ditt
Long Wool 0 0 a 0 0 — 2d and 3d 2 6 a 5 6 Spa.Sheep, Leonesa 3 6 a 5 0 Austrian fine 5 3 a 8 3	Maidstone.	1 per qr.   142 a 62   1 per qr.	per ditt	20 a 29 per ditto	15 a 22	19 a 30	24 a 31 per ditt
PRICES of TALLOW, SOAP, &c. per 112lbs.	Newark.	30 a 60 i	23 a 26	14 a 30	A Property of the Control of	25 a 36	30 a 36 per ditt
Fown Tallow	Newbury.	25 a 72	per ditt	14 a 26	12 a 30	26 a 38	23 a 33
Soap ditto	Newcastle	1 per qr.   542 a 62	per ditt 28 a 33		20 a 26	per ditt	28 a 42
Ditto rough25s. ods. od.	North-	1 per qr.	per ditt	per ditto	11 a 30	28 a 30	per ditt
Best Heifers & Stoers 3 4 a 3 6 Market Calf, carh 9 0 a 0 0	Norwich.	1 pergr.	per ditt	perditto	14 a 20	per ditt   24 a 25	per ditt 22 a 23
Middling	Peterbo-	) per qr.	- a -	per ditto	20 a 32	- a -	per ditt
English Horse 0 0 0 0 Lambs 0 0 0 0	Reading.	) per qr.	Ver (Average)		16 a 20	30 a 33	per ditt
PRICE OF LEATHER AT LEADENHALL, per lb. d. d. d. d. Butts, 50 to 56lbs. each, 21 a 22 Calf Skins, 30 to 40lbs, 21 a 30	rearion frag	) per qr.   (39 a 64	per ditt	20 a 28	per ditt   16 a 22	22 a -	per ditt
Butts, 50 to 56lbs, each 21 a 22 'Calf Skins, 30 to 40 lbs 21 a 30 Dressing Hides 17 181 Ditto 50 to 70 lbs 28 35 Fine Coach Hides 183 21 Ditto 70 to 80 lbs 26 29	Rochester.	) per qr.	per ditt	16 a 24		38 a 46	per ditt for Cutting	Salisbury.	7 per qr.   (62 a 80	per ditt	per ditto	24 a 30	36 a 44	per ditt
CURRENT PRICE OF TOBACCO per lb	Mallet	1 per qr.	per ditt	per ditt	16 a 30	per ditt     a 32	per ditt
MARYLAND. d. d. VIRGINIA. d. d. Scrubs	ford.	per qr:	per ditt	per ditt   28 a 32		per ditt
Brown and Leafy 5 to 74 Mixed and Middling 4 to 45 Coloury 8 to 13 Middling Black 42 to 52	land	per qr.	per ditt	per ditt	pr 10 st.	per ar.	per ditt 32 a 48
Fine Yellow to - Good	Taunton	) per qr. \\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\	per ditt	per ditt	per ditt	per ditt	per ditt
Turkey 10 to 12 Lux or Stipt Leaf 4 to 7 East India 1 to 14 Kentucky 23 to 34	Upping-	per bush.	per ditt	per ditto	per ditt		a -
The part set that a comprise OF OILS educated to ditto a set one of the set o	ham.	) per qr.	per ditt		per ditt	per ditt 1
Greenland Whale 19 0 0 Ofive	Uxbridge.	perload.	per ditt	per qr.		per ditt	per ditt
Spermaceti     56     0     Rape     40     0     0       Seal     24     0     Gallipoli     66     0	Wakefield	per qr.	per ditt	per ditto	pr lost.	per qr.	per ditt
PRICE OF HONEY. Foreign, fine, per cwt. 80s. to 109s.—Inferior, 20s. to 50s.	Wetherby.	per load	per qr.		per ditt		perditt 26 a 32
PRICES OF GOLD AND SILVER.	Windsor.	perditt.	lo a glad	per load.	per ditt	per ditt	per ditt
Portugal Gold, in Coin 0 0 p. ez. New Dollars 0 4 91 p.oz.	Yarmouth.	36 a 50 per qr.		per ditto
New Doubloons 3 13 9 New Louis, each . 0 0 0	C - 25 15035	-	CES of the	e PUBLI	FUND	Linking Contracts	and the

PRIC	ES of the	ne PUB	LIC FU	NDS.		Section .
STOCKS.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thur.	Frid.	Sat.
Bank Stock	- T	237	235}	100000	2661	237
3 per Cent. Reduced	763	761	761	76	769	761 6
3 per Cent. Consols	0.000	1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1	原安心	11.00	103.00 M	10113 At
34 per Cent Consols	01,35000	0.878	8TE	87.	873	874
Consols for Account	7240	LETON BL	(a. 6.84) h	22334	784	2. 英国
4 per Cent. Consols	1096208	96	964	96	961	5.67 S
5 per Cent. Navy	E STTO	$1 16.0.4	de Constitu	2.565.3	10000	1500 100
Bank Long Annuities	443	198	100 Table	197	192	199 7-16
India Bonds	67 p	A STATE AND LABOUR	68 p	68 p	70 p	70 71
Exchequer Bills, 2d		1 p	1 d	14	3 p	2 P
Ditto, 24d	00005171		The same	(A) (A) (A)	CHEST.	193
Omnium	2001	(C-27.3)	10 To	D. 100	Contract Con-	-

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

BY THE KING.—A PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE, R.—Whereas our Parliament stands prorogued to Thursday the 3d day of January next; We, with the advice of our Privy Council, do hereby publish and declare, that the said Parliament shall be further prorogued; on the said 3d day of January next, to Tacsday the 5th day of February next; and We have given orders to our Chanellor of that part of our United Kingdom called Great Britain, to prepare a commission for proroguing the same secondingly; and We do further hereby, with the advice aforesaid, declare our Royal Will and Pleasure, that the said Parliament shall, on the said 5th day of February next, be held and sit for the dispatch of divers argent and important affairs; and the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses, and the Commissioners for Shires and Burghs of the House of Commons, are hereby required and commanded to give their attendance accordingly, at Westminster, on the said 5th day of February next.—Given at our Court at Brighton, the 10th day of December, 1821, axii at the second year of our reign.—GOD SAVE THE KING.

By the Court at Brighton, the 10th of December, 1821, present, the King's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.—His Majesty in Council was this day pleased to declare Richard Marquess Wellesley, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, Lieut. General and General Governor of that part of the United Kingdom called Ireland.

This day his Grace Charles Duke of Dorset, Henry Marquess Conyngham, and the Right Hen. Henry Goulhurn, were, by command of His Majesty, Sworn of His Majesty's Most Honograble Privy Council, and took their respective places at the Board accordingly.

CARLFON HOUSE, Dec. 11, 1821.—The King has been pleased to appoint the Duke of Montrose to be Lord Chamber aim of His Majesty's Household, in the room of the Marquess Chelmondelley, resigned.

The King has also been pleased to a proint the Marquess Conyngham to be Lord Steward of His Majesty's Household, in the room of the Duke of Mo Commission in the Royal Carmarthen Militia, signed by the Lord Lieu-tenant of the County of Carmarthen.

David Thomas Bewen Davies, Esq. to be Captain, vice George Harries, resigned.

Beurne and Co. Belper, bottle manufacturers.—Snowden and Fiveash, Northdeet, millers.—Latham and Co. Broughton in Furness, iron-masters.—Dewburstand Co. Skipton, estron-manufacturers.—J. and W. Braithwaite. Cateaton-street, general commission-agents.—Jowitt and Co. Huddersfield, plasterers.—Allen and Ireland, Manchester, dyers.—Bryant and Co. Hay-Grove Celiery, (no trade.)—Townsend and Lyddon, jun. Honiton, attorneys at law.—Hetherington and Barnes, Lynn, milliners.—Caffin and Graines, Poynings, millers.—Bedington and Co. Brimingham, brass-founders.—T. and T. Mayor, jun. Freckleton, coal-merchants.—Mayor, jun. and Co. Freek-leton, sall-cloth-masufacturers..

BANKBUPTS.

and T. Mayor, jun. Freekleton, coal-merchants.—Mayor, jun. and Co. Freekleton, sail-cloth-masufacturers..

BANKBUPTS.

AYDON, S. ELWELL, W. Shelf Iron Works, Halifax, iron-masters.

BAKER, W. and N. Poytese, grocers

CALVERT, J. Island of Maita, merchant.

EDWARDS, W. Chatham, linen-draper.

EVANS, T. Mackvelleth, Montgumeryshire, inu-keeper.

FULLER, J. M. Worthing, linen-draper.

YANS, T. Mackvelleth, Montgumeryshire, inu-keeper.

FULLER, J. M. Worthing, linen-draper.

YARRICK, J. L. Mitcham, merchant.

HAVILAND, H. I. Birmingbam, builder,

KERWOOD, C. G. John-street, West, Mary-le-bone, printer.

HOLLAND, H. I. Birmingbam, builder,

KERWOOD, C. G. John-street, West, Mary-le-bone, printer.

TIPPETTS, E. and GETHEN, E. Basinghall-street, factors.!

TOWNSEND, J. and BROOKE, G. Hositon, bankers.

TODD, S. Southampton, mercer.

WILLS, R. Broad-street, Bloomsbury, tobacconist.

Jun. S. S. Matson, Barfristone, miller,—Jan. 8, T. R. Wildash, Aylesford, farmer,—Jan. 7, T. and T. H. Robinson, and Hancock, Manchester, cotton-merchants.—Jan. 11, T. and R. Parkinson, Preston, builders.—Jan. 4, N. Luscombe, Kingsbridge, Devonshire, scrivener.—Dec. 15, W. Nedby, Lamb's Conduit, street, uplosterer.—Dee. 15, J. Cary, Raqueta-court, Fleet-street, inerchant.—Jan. 4, St. J. and J. Alder, Liverpool, merchants.—Jan. 5, J. M. Newman, Bromsgrove, dealer in wool.—Jan. 5, R. Longridge and G. Pringle, "ainsher, Durham, colliery-undertakers.—Dec. 18, R. Neville, Colchester, dealer. Pringle, 'ainsh chester, dealer.

chester, dealer.

CERTIFICATES, Jan. 1.

J. Kenworthy, Saddleworth, dyer.—H. and J. Hall, Upper Thames-street, from merchants.—T. B. Evans, Strand, wine-merchant.—R. Baverstock, Brompton, plumber.—J. S. Wilcox and T. J. Titterton, Theobald's-road, coach-makers.—A. De la Pryme, G. and R. Hilton, Chorley, cotton-spinners.—R. Moffat, Manchester, merchant.—J. Gilbert, Maidstone, twine-maker.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

PARIS, DEC. 9.—In the Chamber of Deputies a discussion arose on the petition of Haby, an inhabitant of Paris, praying for a law, without having recourse to a censorship, which should regulate the Press.—Upon the question that this petitien should be referred to the Committee, charged with the preparatory examination of the new laws upon the Liberty of the Press.—M. Castelbajac demanded that the petition should be referred to the President of the Council of Ministers. He inveighed strongly against Ministers, whom he charged with having calumniated the Chamber before the Monarch—with hating the Royalists, and with endeavouring to detach the Throne from its national defenders.—The Keeper of the Seals, the only Minister present, replied, The Minister intrenched himself behind the King's confidence, against the want of confidence on the part of the Chamber, and plainly intimated that, while he possessed the one, the loss of the other should not drive him from his post.—An animated debate succeeded on the question of referring the two projets of Law on the Press, to a Special Commission. It was finally announced by the President, that the Chamber would assemble on Monday, to complete the nomination of the Commissioners of the Budget, to which day the Assembly adjourned.

Countral of Assizes, Dec. 8.—In the menth of October, there was Court or Assizes, Dec. 8.—In the menth of October, there was published a work in two volumes, entitled, "Songs, by M. Jean Pierre de Berenger." Of this collection, ten thousand copies were printed, which were alledged to be injurious to public morals.—The trial came on this day, when, after a hearing of considerable interest, the whole of which the Censor has not allowed to be published, the following sentence was pronounced:—The Court, seconded by a majority of the Jury, having declared him guilty of an outrage against public morals and religion, the Court condemns him to three months' imprisonment, and a fine of 500 francs, and to the expence of placarding a thousand copies of the Decree; also to the expence of the process. It also decrees the suppression of the songs.

also to the expence of the process. It also decrees the suppression of the songs.

Dec. 10.—At one o'clock to-day the King gave an audience to his Ministers, with the exception of M. Latour Maubourg, the Ministers of War, who is indisposed; the Prince de Talleyrand, the Chancellor, the Dukes of Dalmatia and Albufera, and the Count of Viomenli, Marshals of France; a great number of the Peers of France and the Deputies, Military officers of various ranks, and the Prince of Castelcicala, the Neapolitan Ambassador. The Ministers assembled in the evening at the house of the Duke de Richlieu.

The first and second Bureaux of the Chamber of Deputies met yeaterday, after the Public Sitting, to examine the Finance Law. They have appointed as Commissaries of the first, M.M. de Corbiere and Garnier Dafougeray; and of the second, M.M. Barthe, La Bastide, and Josse Beauvois.

LEURANER, DEC. 4.—Eight days since some workmen occupied in excavating some ruins in the environs of the French village of St. Geny, two leagues from Geneva, dug up a copper vase of an antique form, which inclosed a smaller one of silver, containing bracelets of the same metal, and other ornaments of very ancient workmanship, with about 200 medals of gold, silver, and copper, many of which are of the Emperor Galba.

Hander, Dec. 2.—The following most gracious letter from his Majesty to his Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge, and to the Calinet Ministers, has been published here:

"George the Fourth, &c. &c.

"After a fortunate journey, without any accident whatever, we make it out first business to acquaint you of it, and, at the same time to express the joy and the particular pleasure which we have derived from our first visit to our beloved German dominions. Circumstances, indeed, have allowed us but a short stay this time; and we were hindered by indisposition of profiting by this short period; yet the universal fidelity and attachment, and the prevailing zeal for the welfare of the country, could not possibly escape us, since, wherever we turned our eyes, we found the confirmation of the conviction we had long cherished in this respect.

"As this our first visit to our kingdom of Hanover will remain indelibly impressed on our menory, so we shall at all times bear in mind what may tend to the curation and increase of its welfare, and never doubt the readiness of our lathful subjects to contribute, every one according to his ability, to the same end.

"We wish these our most kracious sentiments to be made known to the several authorities, and to the country in general, and remain with brotherly friendship and affectionate regard,

"Carlton-house, Nov. 9, 1821.

A German paper states, that the Duke of Cumberland has given out that his Majesty intends next year to visit Brussels, Cologne, Coblentz, Frankfort, Darmstadt, Hanover, and the baths of Pyrmont; and that the tour is to commence on the 1st of July next.

Hamburgh, Dec. 4.—Accounts from Vienna say, that the first news of the invasion of Turkey by the Persians was received by the English Embassy at Vienna.—The Grand Duke Nicholas was expected at Riga, to inspect the fortress of Dunamunde. Reports of war were in circulation at Riga.

Augstora, Nov. 27.—The Russian army of the South, commanded by Count Wittgenstein, is to have for its vanguard 10,000 Polish Lancers. This fine and numerous cavalry is to be under the immediate command of the Grand Duke Constantine. The Emperor Alexander is expected shortly to review these troops.

VIENNA, Nov. 25.—According to accounts from various ports of the Mediterranean and Adriatic, the Cephalonian corps in the Morea has received considerable sums of money from the island of Cephalonia. A great number of inhabitants of the island of Cephalonia. A great number of inhabitants of the island of Cephalonia. A great number of inhabitants of the island of Cephalonia. A great number of inhabitants of the island of Cephalonia. A great number of prevent it.

Naples, Nov. 20.—It is reported here that General Carascosa, who was banished for some months to Malta, has expired in that Island of the severe wound which he received in a duel with a Ropesian Officer.

who was banished for some months to Malta, has expired in that island of the severe wound which he received in a duel with a Ropelon Officer.

The famous Baron Bergami still lives at Pesaro; his favourite amusement is the chace; he has 30 dogs of the greatest beauty. He wears a long, thick, black beard; his servents and huntsmen are also bearded like their master.

Opersa, Nov. 14.—Copies of the Note of Count Nesselrode, containing the ultimatum of Russia, are in circulation here. It has been transmitted to the Divan, but the decision is not yet known. It is a masterpiece of diplomatic writing; the Count refutes the assertions of the Reis Effendi, by citing lacts relative to the conduct of the Porte during the late events. He repeats the demands contained in the note of the Baron de Strogonoff, of the 18th July, and declares that this note must form the basis of all convention.

The report is current, though without authority, of the taking of Patras, by assault. It is added, that the Greeks found thirty-two of their hostages massacred; and that, in revenge, they put the whole of the garrison to the sword.

The whole of the faland of Zante is in a state of insurrection against the Angle-Ionian authorities. Troops from Corfu are expected.

The Turks have just hanged six more Bishops in Bulgaria.

The whole of the Island of Zante is in a state of insurrection against the Anglo-Ionian authorities. Troops from Corfu are expected.

The Turks have just hanged six more Bishops in Bulgaria, among whom was the iamous Bishop of Phillippopolis. This execution took place in the beginning of the present month.

Partial murders continue at Smyrna, and are now uniformly unpunished. On the 5th November, news was received that the Persians had taken Bagdad, and marched for Erzerum.

Mabrid, Dec. I.—General Latorre has taken the military command of Madrid, vacated by the Baron d'Andilla. He has addressed an Order of the Day to the garrison troops, amongs whom a ferment was apprehended; to which are annexed the Message of the King to the Cortes, relative to the events at Cadiz, and the answer of that Assembly, with a recommendation to the military not to suffer themselves to be seduced by the artifices of those who endeavour to excite a belief that the country's liberties are menaced. Sr. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—Very considerable contracts for the supply of the Russian army have been entered into by our Government. All the soldiers of the Corps of Occupation have been newly clothed, and have received warmer great coats than those hitherto supplied. The Emperor will not forego in the least the conditions contained in his ultimatum. By an Ukase, addressed to the Senate, His Majesty the Emperor has commanded the establishment of a Russian General Consulate in Persia.

Letters from St. Petersburg to the 13th ult. state, that the exchange had fallen from 9½ to 91. A very eminent house at Dantzic had stopped payment to the amount, it is said, of four millions of guilders. The failure is attributed to an extensive speculation in grain, in expectation of the opening of the ports in this country. This circumstance had caused a gloomy appearance at Dantzic, and commerce was particularly dull there.

Constanting of the house of Donard and Commission charged to respond to provide the commission charged to respond to many provided to th

Dutch Papers to the 8th inst. mention that His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge had arrived at Berlin about the 30th ult.]

A letter from Barcelona, dated the 24th of November, says, that the situation of that town is ameliorating every day; its communications with Barcelonetta and the port had been restored; the first Te Deum was to be sung in the Cathedral the following day, and it was arranged that in 40 days from that date, viz. on the 4th of January, the civil and judicial authorities would return to the town, as well as the emigrants.

A great change has been produced in the situation of affairs at Pernambuco, by the arrival of orders from Lisbon, in pursuance of the decrees of the Cortes—1. For the recall of the Governor; 2. For the formation of a Provisional Government by the votes of the College of Election; 3. For licensing the militia for a given period; 4. For the removal of the European troops to Lisbon. In consequence of these orders, the election of the Members of the Junta took place on the 26th, when the choice, as might have been expected, fell principally upon the native Brazillians.

Letters from Gibraltar confirm the report which had previously reached us, by way of France, that the new Government of Cadiz had sent a deputation to the Governor of Gibraltar, requesting assistance of arms and ammunition from him, to enable them to make an effecual resistance against King Ferdinand. The Governor, however, refused the request, and issued a peremptory order, commanding the deputation to quit the town without delay; which was instantly complied with.—Private letters to the 25th ult. state that conidersable uneasiness had been excited by the want of rain. When the last accounts left, a drought had been experienced since the routh of September, and some alarm was felt lest the garrison stores should be exhausted before the weather changed. Some indications of a change had, however, been observed.

The Earl of Chatham arrived at Gibraltar on the 15th ult. and landed under a salute of nineteen gu dications of a change had, however, been observed.

The Earl of Chatham arrived at Gibraltar on the 15th ult. and landed under a salute of nineteen gons; he was received by a guard of honour, and proceeded to the Convent, where the Lieut. Governor delivered to his Lordship the keys of the fortress. The troops composing the garrison lined the whole of the way from the place of landing to the Convent.

By papers and letters received from New South Wales, dated the 2d of June, it appears, that the comforts and even luxures of life areccirculated there in such a manner as to give an image of European civilization in a stage more advanced than its infancy, and a very interesting view of the rapid dawning of commercial industry and social refinement in the colony. The Assize of Bread (the load of two pounds) is 63d.—Average price of articles at market:—Wheat, 11s. 6d. per bushel; maize, 4s. 6d. per bushel; potatoes. Is per ewt.; fowls, 2s. 6d. per couple; butter, 2s. 6d. per lh.; and eggs, 3s. per dozen.—In the month of December peaches begin to ripen in this colony, and have hitherto been out of scason by the latter end of March, at furthest. Green peaches were still exhibited in the streets for sale.

The island of Bombay is at present in a very unhealthy state. For many weeks the Cholora Marbus raged there with fatal violence, consigning many victims to an untimely grave.

IRELAND.

DISTURBED DISTRICTS.

On Saturday night has, about treview o'clock, four armed sessions knocked at the hall-door of Holywood, in this county, the graining of James Raymond. Esq. and clamaded admittance in engaging of James Raymond. Esq. and clamaded admittance in engagence of James Raymond. Esq. and clamaded admittance in engagence of the point of the expert of the point of the expert of the point of the engagence of the point of the point as they removed some of the timber from the premises, shouting in triumph, and firing guns, as if in defiance of the civil or military powers.

The Lord Mayor has issued a proclamation, ordering all the public-houses within the police district of Dublin metropolis to be closed from the hours of eight o'clock every evening, until the hour of seven o'clock in the morning, until further notice.

Athlore, Dec. 7.—On Wednesday last, in consequence of an altercation that took place between them, a man-hamed Cunningham was killed here, by a thrust of a cane sword, which he received through the heart; from one M'Manus, of the Roscommon Police. An, inquest was held on the body, and a verdict of Wifful Marker was returned.—He has been committed to Roscommon gaol.—A person who acted as a sort of leader among, the marauders, has been arrested by Robert Twiss, Esq. an active Magistrate of the county of Kerry, and conveyed to Dublin. He is a person above the ordinary rank, and has disclosed the names of nearly three hundred individuals who were engaged in these nocturnal disturbances. He has also, we are informed, given information where upwards of thirty stand of arms have been recovered.—Cork Paper.

The following houses have been attacked in search of arms: Thos. Wilkinson, Esq. of Caherhily, from whom they succeeded in getting one gun.—Mr. Wm. Hannan had his windows broken, and one gun taken.—Mr. John Barry, near Ballineguard, was visited by the depredators, who, having fired a shot at the house, Mr. Barry opened an upper window, and demanded what they wanted; the reply was "arms," upon which Mr. Barry fired out, when they instantly retreated.—Mr. Shanghnessy, of Ballybricken, had one gun taken.—Thomas Power, David Burke, Michael Statery, and Michael Hogan, farmers on thelands of Kilcullans, near Bruff, were visited. There being no fire-arms in any of those houses, they insisted on getting money in lieu thereof.—Patrick Ryan, of Lodge, near Hospital, refused them admittance. They then adjourned to an out-house, and got s having procured fire at a neighbouring house, they lit the fire at the door, upon which, Ryan seeing inevitable destruction, gave them admittance.—The house of Michael Burns, of Mohane, was attacked.—They also attacked the house of the Rev. Mr. Madder, Rector of Ballybrood, and having entered, proposed certain regulations respecting tythes, which, they said, if he did not agree to, they should again pay him a visit.—The Tucking Mills and house of Wm. Gleeson, at Glenogera, and a number of pieces of frize and blankets taken therefrom.—On Monday evening four police-men, returning from Rathkeale, were assailed by a number of men, who lay in the wood near Curragh; some of them attempted to fire, but having missed, the Police halted, and fired into the wood; the ruffians soon dispersed.—A great mumber of very fine young ash trees, the property of Averill Hill, Esq. has been maliciously cut and stolen from the lands of Derryknockane, in the south liberties of Limerick.—A number of men, with horses and ears, went to the lands of Inch, in the parish of Ballingarry, and having cut down an orchard of nearly two hundred trees, took off the entire, together with every young ash tree growing on the lands.—Another party went to the lands of Grannagh, about a mile distant, similarly accompanied, for the like purpose of cutting down the orchard, but were met by another gang, who were determined to give them opposition, through interested motives, which prevented the destruction of that orchard; all the cars and horses of the neighbouring tenantry were put in requisition to take a part in these outrages.—Sir. Win. Read. Bart. has arrested five men in the parish of Feacle, County Clare, for administering illegal oaths. They were transmitted to Ennispail.—A threatening notice was sent to the Rev. Mr. Connery, parish priest of Kildime and Ardoanny, commanding him to quit his present residence, on pain of condign points.—

Law interest.—A threatening notice was sent to the Rev.

LAW INTELLIGENCE TION MOT

Of O COURT OF KING'S BENCH.

MONDAY.—LIBEL ON THE KING.—The King v. Nathaniel Highmore.—This was an information filed by the Attorney-General for a scandalous and seditious Libel, upon the person of his present Majesty.—The Attorney-General had been compelled to file the present information in consequence of a most gross and malicious libel, published by the defendant, against the King's own person. The offence, sufficiently heavy in itself, was aggravated (the Learned Counsel said) by the circumstances under which it had been committed; for the defendant, who had formerly received an allowance from his present Majesty out of the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall, took this mode of revenging himself because that allowance from his present Majesty out of the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall, took this mode of revenging himself because that allowance was withdrawn. The first cause of offence adopted by Mr. Highmore had been the sending of letters (by post) to His Majesty. Subsequently, he had conceived the project of putting a libellous letter into the King's own hands; and with that view he had called in May last at Warwick-house, and left a packet addressed, in the usual form, to Sir Benjamin Bloomfield. Sir Benjamin Bloomfield upon breaking the seal, had found enclosed the libels which were the subject of the present proceeding; and upon the grossness of those libels comment was unnecessary.—The offensive writings were then put in, and read.—The first libel consisted in the address of a letter directed by the defendant (Dr. Highmore) to the King, and enclosed under cover to Sir Benjamin Bloomfield. It was in the following terms:—"To the most ignoble, the lying and cheating Duke of Cornwall, K. G. (since become) King George IV. Carlton-palace."—The second libel was contained in a letter addressed to His Majesty shrivate Secretary, (Sir Benjamin Bloomfield), dated Surrey-street, 5th of May, and signed N. Highmore. It charged His Majesty with injustice, and neglect of his royal word, and argued that the writer (Dr. Highmore) could not be bl the 9th of May last I received this packet (the packet in question) from the last witness. When I broke the seal I found certain enclosures, which I marked. They were the same which are now before the Court.

Cross-examined by Dr. Highmore—Do you remember my coming to Carlbon-house in the year 1811, when you, were equerry to his present Majesty, then Prince Regent?—I do.

Do you remember requesting me to furnish a copy of the petition I was then about to present to his Royal Highness, in order that its contents might, be inspected?—I remember conversations with you, but I have no distinct recollection as to their tenour.

Do you recollect telling me, when I called one morning, that you had shown my petition to Mr. Adams, his Royal Highness's. Chancellor, and that he (as well as yourself) approved of my presenting it?—I cannot remember.

Do you remember writing letters to me?—I have written letters. On the subject of my petition?—The earlier part of our correspondence was on that subject.

Do you remember referring me on one occasion to Col. M'Machon?—From the situation I then held, I think it very probable that I did refer you to Col. M'Mahon.

Do you remember using these words—"Although this matter is not in my department, yet I, and all in this house, wish you well, Dr. Highmore, for we are satisfied with the justice of your claim?"—I remember no such words, nor do I believe it possible that I could have used such.

Nor words to that effect?—Nor words to any such effect. I may have said, generally, that I wished you might succeed in making out your claim; but I never could have given an opinion, for I never had an opinion upon the subject.—The Attorney-General had nothing further to offer.

The Lord Chief Justice intimated that it was for the defendant to proceed.—Dr. Highmore then (in a speech of four hours) addressed the Jury.—His discourse (extremely incoherent in its detail and arrangement) seemed (in its general effect) to be as forcign to the purpose as a discourse of four hours long well could be; and as to the influence of the moon; and after a desultory communi-cation of about three quarters of an hour more, in which he was assisted by most voluminous notes, both printed and manuscript, he (somewhat abruptly as it seemed to us) concluded.

The Lord Chief Justice observed, that the defendant had made a very long address to the Jury; and had touched upon a variety of topics. He had alleged, among other matters, that he was improperly designated in the present pleadings; but that fact, if to be relied upon, should have been pleaded in abatement. The defendant had then gone out to dispute the libellous character of the letters written by him, and he had further thought fit in his argument to deny that sufficient evidence of publication had been given. Upon the first of those points there could searcely (the lond Chief Justice thought) be a difference of opinion; and the last was most distinctly and satisfactorily made out. Upon what the last was most distinctly and satisfactorily made out. Upon what he termed the merits of the defendant's case, (his Lordship continued) it could scarcely be requisite for him to dwell. The defendant had presented such a petition to the Prince Regent as it was not in the power of that august personage to grain—he appeared to have been treated by his Royal Highness with the greatest possible kindness and liberality; and the mistake into which he had allen had probably been this—he had construed mere civil answers into promises.—The Jury, after a short con-The Lord Chief Justice observed, that the defendant had made sultation, found the defendant Guilty; but recommended him to c favourable consideration of the Court. Dr. Highmore.—It is justice I ask from His Majesty, not mercy. The defendant then left the Court in custody.

sultation, found the delendant Guilty; but recommended him to the favourable consideration of the Court.

Dr. Highmore—It is justice I ask from His Majesty, not mercy. The defendant then left the Court in entody.

Tuesbay.—Ludy Smith v. Owen and another.—This was an action, against the defendants, as inhabitants of the hundred of Ossulston, to recover compensation for damage done to the plaintiff's houses in the action was brought under a particular who, with stones, demolished a great many panes of glass in the front of the nouse. The action was brought under a particular Act of Parliament, which awards damages to the party, injured against the hundred, in such circumstances. The plaintiff's butler was called, and he spoke to the attack upon the house. The defendants lived within the hundred of Ossulston, and parish of St. George's, Hanover-square. A glassier who repaired the windows growed that the damage done amounted to 20. The damage was done principally to the windows of the ball and library. The Jury found for the plaintiff. Damages 20!

Wennessoay.—May v. Guynne.—This was an action brought by the late Vestry Clerk of Bethnal Green parish, to recover damages from the defendant, a Doctor of Laws, residing in that parish, for the publication of a scandaolus libel, inserted in a newspaper, with intent to injure the plaintiff's character, and defeat his re-election as Vestry Clerk.—The libel was published on the 2d of May, 1820. It purported to be a report made by the Committee, and it imputed to Mr. May that he had been trying to make up the accounts of the parish in a manner exactly similar to that of Mr. Merceron, and for which he had been trying to make up the accounts of the parish in a manner exactly similar to that of Mr. Merceron, and for which he counted and circulated in the parish in a pamphlet. By this circulation a prejudice vast railed against the plaintiff, who thereby lost his election as Vestry Clerk, and the person, whose interest the defendant supported, came in.—A number of with the found on that occasion, that a person named structed and not profiles, him satisfaction as an inducement to give his vote for Sir M. Lopez. Previous to which he had sworn before the House of Commons that Gribble did offer him satisfaction to give his vote. The Jury found thim Gailty.

The King v. Edwards.—The defendant, another of the Home of Lords, and found Guitty.

The King v. Harris.—This was a similar prosecution. The defendant was charged with swearing certain matters before the House of Lords, which were false. He swore in the Commons, and did Edwards, the other defendant, that Wilkinson, an agent at the Barnstaple election, offered money to induce him to vote for Sir M. Lopez, and at the bar of the Lords he denied that any money was offered by Wilkinson.—The Jury found him Guilty.

Friday.—The King v. Dolby.—This was a prosecution at the instance of the Constitutional Society against the defendant, for publishing a work called the Political Dictionary.—John Patterson, Wm. Kimble, and W. Fisher, Esgrs. were the only special jurors that appeared.—The Counsel for the defendant challenged the array, on the ground that the Jury were improperly empannelled by Sheriff Garratt, he being one of the prosecutors at the time, bis name appearing on the list of the Association given to the defendant by the prosecutors—Mr. Gurney put in a replication that the Sheriff was not one of the prosecutors at the time; his name appearing on the list of the Association given to the defendant by the prosecutors.—The Lord Chief Justice said, that all the procecutors are the time; and issue being joined the Court appointed John Patterson and Wm. Fisher, Esgrs, thetryers, and evidence being heard on both sides, they brought in a verdict.—"That at the time of the Jury being struck the Sheriff was one of the prosecutors."—The Lord Chief Justice, said, that all the procecutors are an accurate to the defendant for criminal conversation with the plaintiff's wife. The marriage of the parties an ISI3, the subsequent happy state in which they li Monday—Beer and Others v. Ward.—This case, which had occupied the Court for several days, concluded this morning. Lord Chief Justice Dallas read over the evidence in detail, and called the attention of the Jury to the principal fact of the case, namely—whether or not it appeared that Wm. Cotton, the lunatic, was the legitimate son of Wm. Cotton, sen.? He admitted that a very strong case had been made out on the part of the plaintiffs by a series of documentary evidence, tending to establish the legitimate of the individual in question; but then very important facts had been urged on the other side, and it was for the Jury to decide between them according to the best of their judgment. The Jury, after baying retired about ten minutes, brought in a verdict Jury, after having retired about ten minutes, brought in a verdict for the defendant, thereby illegithmizing the lunatic.

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S COURT.

TUESDAY.—Mr. Hart presented a petition from Mr. G. Carroll, praying that he might be admitted a creditor under the commission of bankruptcy issued against Howard and Gibbs, to the amount of 13,000l. and that a meeting of the commissioners might be called for the purpose. On the first commission of bankruptcy his debt of 13,000l. was opposed by Mr. Campbell, the petitioning ereditor, but was allowed by the commissioners at that time; and the petitioner was chosen assignee; after which that commission was superseded, and another commission was sued out by Mr. Shaw, who became provisional assignee. The petitioner said he should be now ready to undergo any examination which the Court might think fit to order.—The Vice-Chancellor.—The petitioner is not justified in making this appeal against the judgment of the commissioners; and I will dismiss the petition with costs, without, however, prejudicing Mr. Carroll to again appear before the commissioners to prove his debt.

BOARD OF EXCISE.

Wednesday.—John Inskip was charged upon an information with having mixed 12 gallons of Cape white wine with a quantity of sherry, whereby he had incurred the penalty of 3001.—It was stated, some time since, that an officer of the Excise went to the house of the defendant, the sign of the Pheasant in Gray's Innlane, and left 20 gallons of sherry in the stock. In about a fortnight afterwards the stock was surveyed, when 31 gallons were found, although none had been brought in or sent out by permit. The whole of it was seized by the direction of the Board. The defendant admitted, without hesitation, that the increase was occasioned by his having mixed a quantity of Cape white wine with the sherry, without being aware that he was doing wrong.—The Court were perfectly willing to believe that the defendant was ignorant of the law, but he could not be ignorant that he was doing wrong in mixing so inferior a wine as that of Cape, which paid but 2s. 6d. a gallon duty, with sherry, which paid 7s. 6d. per gallon, and then selling it for sherry. The Court took the circumstances of his ignorance, however, into consideration, and mitigated the penalty from 3001, to 101., but condemned the whole of the wine.

OLD BAILEY.

mance, however, into consideration, and mitigated the penalty from 2001, to 101, but condemned the whole of the wine.

OLD BALEEY.

Monday - Richard Jago and Thomas Beck seretried for burglariously entering the bouse of William Orde, Eq. and stealing from thence two clocks, a variety of bed and table linein; and othing property; and Mary Beck and Henry Lewis, were charged with receiving the same, well knowing it to be atolen. Am. Order a research to dry Benkeley-squares. In June last, he and his family by the same well knowing it to be atolen. Am. Order a research to dry Benkeley-squares. In June last, he and his family by the pentile of the prisoner days and his wide. The pentile of the prisoner days and his wide the pentile of the prisoner days and take charge of the house. Jago land, both before and after his marriage, carried on an illicit intercourse with the prisoner Mary Beck, and it is supposed that he had pit-fit had been and the same and the many articles previous to the robbery, which took place an wind the many articles previous to the robbery, which took place an wind the many articles previous to the robbery, which took place an wind the many articles previous to the robbery which took place and the many articles previous to the robbery had been perpetrated on a most extensive scale. Most of the articles missing have never been discovered; but a few of them were afterwards traced to the possession of Mary Beck and Henry Lewis.—Jago, in his confession, it is consistent to the possession of Mary Beck and Henry Lewis.—Jago, in his confession, it is consistent to the possession of Mary Beck and Henry Lewis.—Jago, in his confession, it is consistent to the possession of Mary Beck and Henry Lewis.—Jago, in his confession, it is consistent to the possession of Mary Beck and Henry Lewis.—Jago, in his confession, it is consistent to the possession of the articles with the search of the prevent of Letters were received in town yesterday, which state that they.

Letters were received in town yesterday, which state that they have began to fortily Constantinopie.

A cabinet has been opened at the Studii at Naples, containing a collection of glass found amongst the ruins of Pompeii and Herculaneum, which exhibits the greatest variety both in forms and colours, and proves, that the ancients were well acquainted with the manufactory of this material.

Extract from the Morning Herald, Dec. 12.—"But at the same time, the community at home and the Colony abroad would profit by sending there, for hije, a large proportion of the wretches who suffer the Punishment of Death for their crimes."—The very ingenious Editor of the above paper, in a lugubrious article on the comforts of Botany Bay, (transported with his subject) very humanely throws out this hint for the adoption of Government!!!—A Bull!

St. Paul's Cathedram.—On Thursday morning the Union-iack

A BULL! A BULL!

St. PATL'S CATHEDRAL.—On Thursday morning the Union-jack standard was hoisted on one of the poles which compose the scaffolding of St. Paul's Cathedral steeple. This being the signal that the erection of the new ball and cross was commenced, great erowds assembled in the streets, and even on the roofs of houses. At half-past two the workmen had succeeded in placing the ball and cross in its proper station, upon which three hearty cheers were given by those concerned in the perilous undertaking. The ball and cross are of copper, silt.

were given by those concerned in the perilous undertaking. The ball and cross are of copper, gilt.

On Sunday night a numerous congregation assembled at the Episcopal Jews Chapell, Cambridge-heath, to witness the erremony of an Israelite relinquishing his own faith and becoming a Christian. The gentleman baptised appeared about 45 or fo years of age, his head quite bald. On kneeling at the founts, and the Minister sprinkling him with the holy water, and marking him with the cross of Christ, he seemed sensibly afferted, particularly when the Priest said, "that he gentler he shall not be abbaned to confess the faithful Christ crucified, and manfully to fight under his banner against sin, the world, and the devil; and to continue Christ's faithful soldier and servant unto his life's end."

contin

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

AMICUS is thanked for his recipe for THIPLE.

Observator is wholly inudmissible.
We do not think the history of the impositions practised upon Wood quite worthy of our notice.

TAURUS and GEMINI speak too plainly.

P.'s letter from Newcastle must be authenticated.

OMICRON enquires if we have read Lord Byron's new Mystery, called CAIN? We have not—but we hear it is an able performance. We will enquire about the duty on tea, as our friend desires. We are very much obliged to our correspondent at KLDDERMINSTER—we shall probably make some arrangement of the sort he wishes.

ELIZABETH is thanked sincerely for the promise she makes, as well as for her avoical of esteem; but she is mistaken if she fancies that we wrote by.

The TRUE RESPECTER OF PRINCES will see we have touched upon the subject he alludes to-We wish A. H. would give us a little more information upon the

We thank M.N.

The Essex Cale came too late to hand to be noticed last week, or we should have made an exception in his favour in our answers to correspondents. He need doubt neither our anxiety for his communication, nor our gratitude for the interest he takes in our welfare. The Freeman of the City of Worcester, on the subject of Joseph Hum, M.D., came, we are sorry to say, too late for a place.

The letter from the Piazra Couffee-House, on the subject of the insolence of actors and managers, seems to be written by a "rebel from the camp." Surely the junny rogues cannot be the onerbearing persons he depicts them. If he will send us the secrets of the Green Room, our theatrical critic shall have them laid before him-provided always that they contain no scandal, and are purely connected with the professional characters of the individuals mentioned.

Atticus claims our thanks and attention; we send him the for mer, and promise him the latter.

Zio Zio's hint is taken.

The "Puff Extraordinary" we do not understand.

The double flight of little Epigrams are not sharp enough for Bull.

The parody upon Comper's "Rose," about the Woons, will not do.

T.G., A Constant Auditor, (Reshamits, &c. have been received. We have inserted one of the letters on the subject, because it was the first received, and the sharpest, and the shortest.

We will take the plan H.W.J. suggests into consideration.

Our friend from Richmond will find his letters' answered; we trust he will excuse the delay, and not be what he signs himself.

Proteus has conferred a great obligation upon us.

Ulynder and the sharpest, and the shortest.

We will take the plan H.W.J. suggests into consideration.

Our friend from Richmond will find his letters' answered; we trust he will excuse the delay, and not be what he signs himself.

Proteus has conferred a great obligation upon us.

Ulynder and the sharpest, and the has a post of the trust he will excuse the delay, and to be what he signs himself.

Proteus have to apologise to our friend Thomas; we litera but we shall not lose one when it occurs.

We confess we do not know who the A.S.S. is to whom S.Y.'s coom refers.

Sub Constent is too nice by half.

No Rebel complains that his liberal donation to Wilson's subscription has not been noticed. He should content himself by the certainty that a great many contributions have been noticed which have not been received—which brings the thing even.

We thank J.C.H. We were not ironical; but we must add that we were not been noticed which have not been received—which brings the thing even.

We thank J.C.H. We were not ironical; but we must add that we were not noticed which have not been received—which brings the thing even.

We thank J.C.H. We were not ironical; but we must add that we were not not sufficiently agree with "A Small Tradesman" to insert his letter, which has, however, much good sense in it.

S.I.C.'s subject is too local for general amusement.

Anti-Jack is received, as is A.B. from Daytmouth.

Hibernieng from Campin-Town, 24th November, was by some accident mislaid, till the article he aliaded to had become stale.

Independence must be aware that we earned publish a caricature in our paper; but he may purchase that in question at Fores's, the corner of Sackville-street, whenever he pleases. We should advise Mr. Fores to print a new edition of it, as we have no doubt public curiosity will be executed towards it.

In answer to Sinceritas, we wish him to observe that we limit the number of our advertisements; and with respect to the paper he alludes to, it generally has twice as many as we give places to.

Our friend from Wolverhampton is sincerely thanked, both for the Will and the deep.

The Chronicle finde fault with the King's Scholars of West-minsten, of any thing gratifying to the feekings but money money—always talking of money. The gentlemen of West-minsten sent us no money.

We have several plans in agriation, but that of Anti-Radicalis afavorite with us. We shall always be happy to hear from him.

The letter from Mr. Lewin shall be attended to.

S.I., F.Z., Amicos, and hand.
The letter P.S. alludes to has escaped us, but we will endeavour to find it, should it not yet have been destroyed; and we think there can be no reason for not inserting it, if we do. The impression upon our mind is, that it never was received by us.
The letters and inclosure from Butcherhall Lane are under consideration.

The letters and inclosure from Butcherhall Lane are under consideration.

VARVICENSIS shall appear.

PIPER PIPES will find his subject has not been lost upon us.

DETECTOR in our next.

The letters about the attempt of Lambton, and his dependants, to hoax us, which we have received, are not worth inserting. It is a satisfaction to know that the faction in the north consider the FORGERY of respectable names a fair and honourable science. We remember some years since some mischevous and ill-principled fools drew all London into Berner's-street by the same means; but we never heard that they acquired either credit or respectability by their low cuming and despicable artifice.

Sans-Culottes will not do—it is not a good version of a very indifferent French story.

L.E.O. is thanked.

We will consider the subject of "An Approver's" letter, and let

L.E.O. is thanked.

We will consider the subject of "An Approver's" letter, and let him know the result, as also J.W. on the same subject—the letter from Ulverstone, W.M., and Equity.

"Give the Devil his Dve" is much thanked.

Toby, the learned Pig, came too late for this week, A letter on Farming is under consideration.

Paul Potter's sixth letter is unuvoidably postponed.

The letter to the Marquess of Connermane, on the abuses said to exist in the Lord Steward's department, had better be forwarded direct to his Lordship.

direct to his Lordship.

An "Old Friend" may rely on our unrelaxed exertions.
Damon is lazy, or else, much occupied by his pumphlet on Mr.
Owen's affairs at Lanarr. We have not heard from him for a week.
He has, doubtless, heard of the national affair to which we have not yet drawn his attention, and mude his arrangements accordingly.
Sukey is, in her present form, too bitter even for the Bennetts.
Bride's third Letter in our next.

PRICE OF STOCKS, MONDAY, ONE O'CLOCK.
There is as been but little business doing this morning. Consols for Account opened at 78t, and soon after felt a depression. At one o'clock they were 78.

ethoner, and he has barner orders and the world, and the devil and which the Court | Christ's fullbyeleold or and servant unto his life's and."

and the state of

JOHN BULL.

LONDON, DECEMBER 16.

THE arrangements for the changes in Administration seem to be nearly completed, but the new GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA appears not to be finally fixed upon; it is still pretty generally reported that MR. CANNING has been or will be offered the appointment; but as, upon all these points we are no wiser than our neighbours, we must be content to wait patiently for the result of the negociations said to be on foot. Of one thing we are sincerely glad-we mean the appointment of LORD WELLESLEY to Ireland ;-it is a measure which must meet the approbation of all parties, except those who have made up their minds to be dissatisfied with every thing. There is a rumour that some of the GRENVILLE party are to join the Government, and MR. C. WYNNE is named as the new President of the Board of Controul.

MR. BLACOW.

THE TIMES of Friday, has an article upon the subject of a subscription taising to indemnify MR. BLACOW for the pecuniary losses he has sustained by his late trial, &c. in which that paper has the following judicious observations:

"Without attempting to exclude the above-mentioned miserable man from the kindest exertions of Christian charity which his situation may require, we shall still venture to condemn, in the strongest terms, a PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION entered into to remunerate a convicted person; or, in other words, to set at nought and baffle the award of the laws. Subscriptions may have been raised for men acquitted, declared innocent by a Jury of their country; and, nothing can be more rational, legal, or humane, than to indemnify a sufferer for the expenses incurred in repelling a charge, proved by the issue to be unfounded. A subscription has been raised lately, but it was in behalf of a gentleman condemned without trial or judgment. Another subscription was also recently com-menced for the Guards, and speedily relinquished: but though a verdict of "wilful murder" had then been found by a Coroner's Jury against one of their body, and a verdict of "manslaughter" was shortly afterwards pronounced against another, yet none of them were ever brought to trial, much less condemned. All these cases, therefore, though the last was truly reprehensible. are different from that before us. The two first are the very reverse of an attempt to rescue a criminal man FROM THE EFFECTS OF A CONVIC-TION, by any other method than a petition to the Sovereign, the fountain of mercy."

There is really something like reason in all this, and the subject is still farther continued thus:-

"Why not, we ask, remit a portion of his imprisonment; as well as remit, along with an approbation of the act for which he suffered, the pecuniary imposition of a court of justice? Surely it would be as meritorious to aid him by public force in breaking prison, as by public subscription to aid him in cluding the other part of the law. Alas! what cowards! The precedent, we fear, may be followed by braver men."

Putting aside the apprehensions of the OLD TIMBS, (for the English are not quite reduced to the level of miscreants who raise a reputation by assisting convicted prisoners to escape from jail), we do not see that they are entirely parallel cases; but whether they are or are not, it is a singular circumstance that the matter in debate did not happen to strike the TIMES newspaper quite so forcibly, when one SIR FRANCIS BURDETT, TRIED and CONVICTED by a JURY, of a gross and infamous libel, was SENTENCED BY THE LAW to pay a PINE of TWO THOUSAND POUNDS, and to an imprisonment in this very jail of ours; and when the TIMES and every one of its supporters strained every nerve to raise by PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION, THE AMOUNT OF THAT FINE, and thus aid SIR FRANCIS " in eluding the force of the law," and in which effort they were only foiled by the complete failure of the subscription itself.

This is only another instance of the different modes in which the same things are treated at different times by the same people,

A subsequent observation on the same subject further proves a shortness of memory for which the Old TIMES certainly cannot plead the general excuse.

But this is not all, "says the Times: " the meeting for this subscription to invalidate the laws, was held in the church of St. Mark; and in that consecrated spot, after a verdict of Guilty by a British Jury, and sentence of judgment by a British Judge, a body of Englishmen have the hardihood to declare that they meet, not to relieve the wants, but 'to express their approbation of the conduct of their Minister, the Rev. R. BLACOW, in the discharge of his official du-'ties, on a late occasion'-the occasion condemned by law, and for which the defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred pounds, and to be imprisoned for six months. We know not whether the public may feel as we do, but we declare, that, had it any other church but that which, we fear, many other profanations have taken place,—we should have been shocked at the audacious impiety of the proceeding. And yet this is the act of those who profess themselves exclusively the friends of order and religion."

Upon the propriety or impropriety of holding a meeting, for such a purpose, in a church, we do not offer an opinion; but we perfectly remember, after the late QUEEN, who had, in point of fact, been virtually excommunicated, and when her name could not be legally uttered in the house of GoD, every church which could be obtained for the purpose was used as a place of political debate; -the most prophane and impious harangues-the most infamous and seditious language, were heard within the sacred walls; and the TIMES newspaper itself, and all its adherents uniformly attacked and vilified every CLERGYMAN or church- 1 ranean some years since.

warden who presumed to oppose such an abuse of c places of public worship.

How can the TIMES expect the smallest attention while it exhibits such flagrant inconsistency and doltish stupidity?

While upon the subject of public subscriptions, we cannot but say a few words with respect to ourselves. Many of our correspondents have suggested that we should forthwith open books at several banking-houses, for the purpose of receiving such sums as the friends to our Paper might choose to contribute; but, upon a principle which we established to ourselves, we have declined to do so. It is, however, impossible for us not to feel and appreciate the atternous which we have received from all parts of the kingdom, during the fortnight we have been confined; nor can avoid acknowledging the receipt of the following sum, which have been, during the last week, ferwarded to us in a manner which equally prevents us from returning our thanks to the donors personally, and from declining the acceptance of their favourable testimonials:

10 10s. From Wolverhampton
S. (LIMBRICK)
Sir Harcourt Lees, Bart

While this article was writing we perceived an advertisement in the public Papers, containing an account of a meeting held for the purpose of opening a subscription for OUR RELIEF. We think it necessary to assure our readers that with the measure we were previously wholly unacquainted. With the opinions, however, we have publicly expressed on the subject of soliciting contributions, we still feel that we are justified in offering our acknowledgments for the interest now so generally felt for our situation; and which is, in itself, a most gratifying reward for our exertions in the cause of our KING and CONSTITUTION.

MR. PERRY.

Or this gentleman, so long the conductor of the Morning Chronicle, that paper published on Monday, a biographical notice, which, for the chief part, is marked by truth and justice. MR. PERRY was a respectable man; and although we cannot acquit the Chronicle, during his editorship, of attacks upon female reputation, (glaringly evident as we have shewn them to be), yet, there was a principle about MR. PERRY himself-a political steadiness, and a private amiability in his character, which entitled him to a leading place amongst the conductors of the British press.

In the article of Monday, to which we allude, one part of his public conduct is dwelt upon with much energy and success; and we quote the paragraph wherein the allusion is contained.

"One peculiar feature in his character, as the conductor of a " journal to which so many eminent men were used to contribute,
" was, that in the subsequent change of sides which occurred but too "frequently among many of them, their correspondence, of what "nature soever it might have been, was ever held by him as most "sacred. With evidence in his hands to convict them of more than "levity in their political conduct, suffering even in his own person under their prosecutions, he never allowed himself to advert re-"proachfully to their former principles and professions—he never "taunted them by alluding to their own compositions, at what risk "soever to himself he might have given them publicity. The sure "effect of this his inflexible honour and secresy, was to obtain for "him the full, unreserved confidence of all those with whom he had "any literary dealings. 'Perry may be trusted with any thing," was in every man's mouth who had a communication of public in-nort to make, of which, FOR PERSONAL REASONS, HE MIGHT NOT WISH TO BE POINTED OUT AS THE AUTHOR."

No persons can more perfectly appreciate the honourable feeling which closed MR. PERRY's lips upon all such occasions than we do. But we must own it appears strange, (not to say hard) that in passing the heavy sentence of the Court of King's Bench upon us, the Learned Judge dwelt greatly and impressively upon our misconduct, in destroying a manuscript which we had received; particularly if we had done so with a view of screening any body who, "for per-" sonal reasons, might not wish to be pointed out as the author."

It is curious to see, we confess, the different ways in which the same thing may be treated; to be sure, althor this subject in the memoir of MR. PERRY, is handled in a mode quite dissimilar from that in which the Learned Judge, who sentenced us, appears to have considered it, yet the writer of the article, and the expounder of the aw, may still have opinions upon it at variance with each other. But what puzzles us, is the different man ner in which the same subjects are treated at times by the same people; and this strikes us the more when we find, that in the same Court in which we THREE were each sentenced to NINE MONTHS' IMPRISONMENT, and a fine of ELEVEN HUNDRED POUNDS, for REPEATING-what we dare say may be a falsehood, -a person of the name of WATSON, for A GROSS and INFAMOUS LIBEL on the memory of a DECEASED GENTLEMAN, was sentenced by the SAME Learned Judge, to pay a FINE OF FIVE POUNDS, and be DISCHARGED; and that, one week after our sentence was passed-but we say nothing.

MR. PERRY was in the sixty-fifth year of his age, and died a widower, the late MRS. PERRY having (as most of our readers will doubtless remember) lost her life in consequence of cruel treatment by pirates in the Mediter-

HUMPTY-DUMPTY.

HUMPTY-DUMPTY has been playing off a little bit of tom-foolery at his house in South Audley-street, to which he has returned from his travels. He has been all over the country exhibiting samples of hops, and celebrates his arrival in London, by displaying a specimen of conceit and

Some shopkeepers in the neighbourhood of Little Ertain, having called what is called a Ward Meeting, provided by a Right Worshipful person, of the name ALBION COX, voted thanks to HUMPTY-DUMPTY, in the form of an Address, which was framed and glazed tasteful manner, and presented to HUMPTY on Wednesday

It spake of the "Civichelm," and of HUMPTY'S A spiralty, "in the discharge of which duty he protected, he "innocent from suffering under supposed guilt." We dire say this may mean something very pleasant to HUMPTY; but, there is a fact connected with his Mayoralties," interresting as far as it tends to prove the excellence of his measures, which was not mentioned; and, which h, that during his second reign, nearly twice as many thieves, pick-pockets, housebreakers, murderers, forgers, &c. were com-mitted to the London Jails, as were sent there during his first Mayoralty, or during the preceding or succeeding Mayoralties of anybody else.

The Address complimented him upon his SUCCESSFUL support of the cause of CAROLINE of BRUNSWICK, in opposition to a corrupt administration, and a prostituted press:—considering the whole of that Lady's career from her first arrival to the day of her last departure, we confess, we see no cause for congratulation to those who were either knaves or fools enough to support her. But it was a pleasing sight enough to witness the whole affair—to see HUMPTY DUMPTY acting grandee, receiving an Address a pleasing sight enough to witness the whole affair—to see HUMPTY DUMPTY acting grandee, receiving an Address—surrounded by his family—in his front drawing-room—in that room where the illustrious Lady just mentioned shewed herself to HER people; where she passed the first hours after her ill-judged return to England—where she waltzed with BILLY ATSTIN, and where—but we will not pursue the painful recollection any farther.

HUMPTY smirked, and perked up his pert face, and told the men who came up (stairs) with the Address, that such a testimonial as that, would hereafter serve as a set-off against all the calumnies of his enemies;—that he confessed appearances were against him, but as misrepresentafessed appearances were against him, but as misrepresenta-tion was now subsiding, he trusted that the heats which were generated would be dissipated by time, and the purity of his motives be made evident. He, however, denied that he was the cause of the Queen's coming to England, and admitted that which he never before confessed—that he had no influence over Her late Majesty, and that nothing he could have done would have altered her intentions when her mind was once made up.

HUMPTY would not have confessed this if things had

HUMPTY would not have confessed this if things had turned out well; and as it is an admission which will give him another tumble in the estimation of his followers, who, till now, fancied that they were entirely indebted to him for her Majesty's pleasant visitation to this country; whereas, it turns out, upon his own shewing, that she never cared a straw either for him or his opinion, and that, therefore, all his stories, (during her life) touching his influence over her, were HUMBUG.

This, at all events, makes her contemptuous neglect of him in her will consistent, and is, therefore, pleasant.

him in her will consistent, and is, therefore, pleasant.

The men with the Address were afterwards treated to some cold meat and pickles, in the parlour, with as much unsidulterated porter as they could drink, (beer is a mere drug in HUMPTY's family) and then returned to their homes in a peaceable manner, highly pleased with their holiday, and quite invigorated by the fresh air of the west end of the town.

DINNER TO DR. HUME.

A DINNER was given at Hereford some day last week, for the purpose of presenting DOCTOR HUME, in the name of that rich and extensive county, with a quart pot of eyder—the very great fuss which appears to have been made upon the occasion, renders it worth a little notice.

The principal merits for which this pot was presented to the "greatest calculator of the age," appear to have been his unconquerable obstinacy and his persevering dulness; for MR. CLIVE (who handed him the cyder) told the company, that night after night the Doctor had sat up in the House of Commons, with only nine on his side, undaunted (that is the radical cant word now) by the corrupt majorities of Ministers.—MR. CLIVE mentioned a good many things to DR. HUME's credit, but he never alluded to the Indian Bullocks-the letting of bazaars-the offer to COLONEL MARTINDELL—the OTTAH and GRAM contracts nor the dealings in KURWAH at Bundlecund, while the DOCTOR was only an assistant-surgeon; by none of these anecdotes was Mr. CLIVE's dulness enlivened—the pot was handed over the table to the DOCTOR with an observation, that although he saw only a tankard, he was also provided with a HOGSHEAD.

The DOCTOR was startled at this, which he thought a gross personal allusion, culled from one of our poems, about which he and HOBHOUSE are particularly sore.

"And garnished round with many a nottice."

This, however, was explained away, and the DOCTOR spoke a speech which lasted an hour and a half :- to repeat any part of it would be quite useless—suffice it to say, that the DOCTOR sat down amidst thunders of applause.

MR. RICARDO echoed the DOCTOR's dulness in a tone of voice so irresistibly absurd, that he produced in the serious parts of his oration some exquisitely comic effects. After this exhibition, the health of the heir of the illustrious, virtuous, and noble house of OXPORD was drank without any comment. SIR HARFORD JONES, SIR GEORGE CORNWALL, (to whom the thanks of the nation generally, and the county of Hereford particularly were voted, for-" his kind present of a fine DOE FOR DIN-NER!!!) MESSRS. MOGGRIDGE, PHILLIPS, and SWIN-NERTON, were also toasted.

But there is, beyond all this, a fact which deserves to be recorded:—Independently of giving Doctor Hume, or Hum (as the Herefordshire boors call him) a pot of their cyder—"We are requested to state," says the County Journal, "that it was expressly signified to Mr. Hume, that he was "to be at no expense while in the county, and that the "postage of some letters to him, beyond the number allowed "free, was paid for."

Thus we see how the people of Herefordshire reward patriotism, and how justly they appreciate Doctor Hume personally; as a reward for his labours and blunders, he gets laughed at by all the respectable part of the county, and from the rest obtains—"A Pot Of Cyder, "and one and eleven pence."

SOME TIME since we had occasion to hold up to the ridicule of our readers the christening of the son of MR. BRAHAM, the singer, and of noticing in terms of just reprobation the appearance at the ceremony, in the principal character, of his Rayal Highness the DUKE OF SUSSEX;

but we were not aware at that time of the full extent of the indignity to which that illustrious and exalted Personage submitted himself on that memorable day.

It would appear that the etiquette with respect to forming a party must have been dispensed with; and that, in the extreme of condescension, his Royal Highness left the indiscriminate selection of his associates to MR, and MRS. BRAHAM,—Many of the fashionables of Russell and Tavistock Squares, consequently graced the circle, and MR. HAY-WOOD was not amongst the least favoured or the worst received. CATALANI sang, the DUKE OF SUSSEX joked, MR. HAYWOOD laughed, and the evening passed off with the greatest hilarity. Of MR. HAYWOOD it may be necessary to remark for the heaft of the property of the state of the second state. sary to remark, for the benefit of our country readers, that that friend of MR. BRAHAM'S, who was specially invited to meet his ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF SUSSEX, was HANGED the week before last for—BURGLARY!!!

That MR. BRAHAM might entertain, without any viola-That MR. BRAHAM might entertain, without any violation of propricty, Bill Soames of Irey Pig, or give a dejeune a la fourchette to Jemmy from Town or the Gas-Man, we do not mean to deny; but we certainly do mean to assert, that if in the Royal condescension the forming of the christening party was left to MR. BRAHAM, MR. BRAHAM should have taken care that the Royal presence should not have been contaminated by an association of a Prince of the Blood with a house-breaker.

should not have been contaminated by an association of a Prince of the Blood with a house-breaker.

The denonement of this affair cannot be very agreeable to either party, and for that reason we should most carefully have abstained from the slightest notice of it, but that we consider it a duty, however unpleasant, to put his Royal Highness upon his guard as to indiscriminate associations. GAY, in his fable of the LION and CUB, has some lines, not the least applicable to the present subject, but which ably enough depict what might be the result of an addiction to low company in an exalted personage: addiction to low company in an exalted personage :-

diction to low company in an exalted personage:

"A lion-cub, of sordid mind,
"Avoided all the lion kind;
"Fond of applause, he sought the feasts
"Of vulgar and ignoble beasts:
"With asses all his time he spent,
"Their club's perpetual president.
"He caught their manners, looks, and airs—"An ass in every thing but cars!
"If e'er His Highness meant a joke,
"They grina'd applause before he spoke;
"Bat at each word what shoule of praise.
"Good God! how natural he brays."

TO JOHN BULL.

MR. EDITOR-Perhaps the following opinion of SIR ROBERT WILSON, by that great enlightener of the people, MR. WILLIAM COBBETT, may afford some small amusement to the numerous readers of your journal:—

ment to the numerous readers of your journal:—

"Do you remember, my dear Hunt, that when you and I were once walking across Berkeley-square, we saw a thin, sharp-faced gentleman, on horseback, and that I said to you, 'there's a stricky a blade as this tricky part of the town contains;—there's a fellow, 'that will go as far to get a place as any hero that I know—a mon'strously keen fellow—eager and huntry as a shark.' Who is 'he?' said you. 'Why, 'said I,' that is the talking and busy Sta'
Robert Wilson.' Well, mark me then: if you do not find him siding alternately with all the factions, until he smells out which is likely to get, or keep, the power of giving places, write me down an ass.''—V. 34. p. 376.

Nuw, as the consistency of this luminary of literature

Now, as the consistency of this luminary of literature has often been called in question, to say that he has opposed with all the powers of his rhetoric, the gallant Knight's subscription, is only to- In GIVE THE DEVIL HIS DUE.

nov see liv way MALOPOETRY no na dous of o

lumble paper, to earlier the rease of marties from at

WHEN DARNLEY first, at Troube's command, Agreed to fill the Irish chair, He made a bargain with the band

Of gaping fools assembled there; 18 1 of the mobile

" I'll take your chair an hour or so,

But longer can't engage to stay; without syall o'll "But longer can trunger was a summary of the hear party of the hear of Having already taken white the hear of the hear was a long trunger of the hear of the hear and the Began the business of the day, a grant daid we should By civilly inviting Thomas ugain has round to got To say what he had got to say, mis mo stanta at > Ticche may, perhaps, in some years bence, Become an orator in vogue; at to distract and in if he should find a little sense, and appears and sense. If he should find a little sense, And lose a little of the brogue!

ii We fear, at present, few, if any oliver and lo northing Would wish to hear this Paddy, culling His flow rets from the banks of Slany, His reasonings from the Bog of Allen!

One passage was, however, good;
'Twas when he promised, "By and bye,
"With a short motion to conclude"—

" Hear him !" quoth DARNLEY, " so shall I!"

The motion was, at last, to pray HIS MAJESTY, to save the nation, By taking, at an early day, Tigghe's speech into consideration!

And lest so wise a plan should flag, A worthy seconder was seen-Old Maussett, mumbling like a hag, and send and I

Then Daniel Donovan, from Cork,

Begg'd to be heard for minutes three; In which he made but shortish work
With ev'ry cruel absentee!

"Order!" cried Darnley, "Order, Sir! surpolectiffwe

"I am myself an absentee;
"All other landlords you may slur,

the W Though absent, ev'ry Irish claim, the are the levels

"I hough absent, evry Irish claim,
"I answer by a civil letter; and of linding seems small
"I find folks like me all the better !" attraction of the

And now, twixt Dannier and Dan, space 2 1 A mighty feud and faction rose— last ; success ??
Till Blessingron, like Virgit's man, and so said ?? Advanc'd, the riot to compose and a standard with out tol pay in Grave Blessinoron, with all the weight Of talents, fortune, manners, morals—

Appears to still the wild debate,
And pacify his party's quarrels.

In youth, in beauty, and in dress arous was the In graceful action—winning words— The Lambton of the House of Lords !!! | | | | | | | |

Quoth he," I am inclin'd to think mong a quiller and it "The Chair is right, and so is Daw! "At trivial faults in friends, I wink; "And wish it were a gen'ral plan.

"I'm griev'd to say, that when I try
"The Lords' debate to take a part in,
"I hear curs'd sneering critics cry—
"I'is all my eye and Betty Martin!"

Solie Now Mr. Rice, and Mr. Blace, would marri to stales (We wonder what could bring them there,) Were fools enough to beg to spake.

Three words of raison to the Chair.

Three words of reason to that Chair! In but ; anile bas Three words of sense to such a meeting!
"Order!" cried Dannley; "I declare "This kind of sneer is most unfitting."

In vain did little Rice protest
He spoke by Newronr's high commands;
The Irish said, by way of jest,
'Twas Esau's speech from Jacob's hands!

Next flaming for his country's good,

Arose a fine dramatic speecher. Arose a fine dramatic speecher, Called by the Gols, great Daggerwood, But named by mortals, WRIXON BEECHER! soob . rods

"My name is Wrixon—close to Mallow
"My frugal father fed his flock;
"But now his richest fields lie fallow,
"And Whiteboys have destroyed his stock!

"To keep his son, myself, at home; I man to outstand the " For I had long'd to be a player, on yd ma And lov'd from scene to scene to roam q o nov & A

messis approve of

But if I, then, inclin'd to stray, "No wonder I at present should, have ground a mort "When bona fide plots they play, and real morning omos." And real swords draw real blood to a patie ) noted it ref, from n the of di

with-

he " "About the streets of London town girl y small ham od). "About the streets of Folders town.
"I safely sport my features sallow,
"While fire and sword, and pike and gun,
"Lay waste my father's farm at Mallow.

"To quell the mob in arms array'd, out smisture doing "And get us the last quarter's rent,
"I humbly move the King be pray'd,
"To hear me speak in Parliament!

terrog of nonce "A short harangue I think I might "Repeat, if some one else would pen it;

of 190 Or, at the worst, I could recite one amon' Othello's speech before the senate it want out thene

Most potent, grave, and reverend Seignors! My noble and approved good masters! Of the also allowed the state of t omoo of "Unless we try emollient plasters"-initialization viot honor! Now there was coughing in the crowd, was 1 . HM mon With cries of "orr," and such like jokes ; liquid solve)

And one began to read aloud to mit its riadi ni ratoro behulab A volume writ by Docron Stokes.

in fig. And some cried BEECHER some cried TIGGHE, 279 mg 14 And some the wiser, cried adjourn!

While in the chair the Noble Whig

Was puzzled quite which way to turn.

Amidst these sounds of concord sweet, The only voice that we could fix on, Desired the Parliament to meet,

To hear Troope's speech pronounced by Walxon.

But before either could prevail,

And 'midst the deafening cry and jar, The Chairman grew uncommon pale, Tally a standard And seem'd to seel intestine war.

"And hold!" he loudly bellowid-" hold! " I can't another minute stay;

66 For I am, like the ghosts of old, Summon'd by Mercury away.

"Give Le the Resolutions quick,
"Proposed by BEECHER, TIGGHE, and MAUNSELL, "They shall be laid-I'm very sick-dulity they have the

" Forthwith before our Privy Council!" Now bless the King!-May be engage Such Councillors, his realm to govern; The cast-off heroes of the stage!

The sober Statesmen of a tayern!

Digitized by Google

NEW DISCOVERY IN LITERARY HISTORY.

It has been long known, that Sporus, in Pope's Epistle to Arbuthnot, was designed for a member of a noble family; but what noble family, has not, we think, been splisfactorily ascertained. But there is a kind of family character, as well as a family face; and we live still so near the time in which this portrait was drawn, that we ought not to be surprised if we still see in the descendant some of the odious peculiarities which Pope distinguished in the encestor. Criticism is free, and our readers may judge for themselves; but we are bound to say, that we think the following lines more likely to have been written on one of a certain noble family, than any person who has yet occurred to the commentators.

" Let Sponus tremble !: What, that thing of with, "Sponus; that mere enhile cure of acces trille?

"Satire or sensegalas I sam Bronus feel? "Who breaks a butterflympon the wheel?

"Yet let me flap this bug, with gilded wings, "This painthe child of dirt, that stinks and stings,

"Whether in forth impolence he speaks,
"And, as the prompter breathes, the puppet aqueaks; " Or at the ear of Love tamillar toad,

"Half vnorn, Aulf comme to the himself abroad; "Amphibious thing is that, acting others! part; "The trifling head, or the commutal heart?"

-So far, we think, it will be admitted; that our conjecture is exceedingly probable; but it is fair to say that the concluding lines are not quite so clearly on our side."

" Eve's tempter, thus the rabbins have express'd, " A cherub's face, a reptile all the rest,

"Beauty that shocks you, parts that none will trust; "Wit that can green, and producted licks the dist."

Beauty, parts, or wit, certainly do not suit the thing that we have read of; but, on the other hand, some of the points of resemblance are wonderfully striking. Besides, Pope might have intentionally thrown a thin disquise over his satire. The TRIO of that day were possibly a little waspish-malevolent race, inclined, as the poet says, to stink and sting; and although in those days, fines of eleven hundred pounds, and imprisonment of three printers for nine months each, were not usual, still the poet and old JACOB Tonson might have been willing to baffle the malignity of their despicable little antagonists, by a slight tinge of undeserved praise. If the character shall be thought to have applied to any of the three we have alluded to, it was probably to the Philanthropist, the second son; for the Peerage, which, with its usual adulation, endeavours to say semething of the father and the elder brother, does not wentere to say any thing of the thing than that he was born, and that he died. The little chance he had of being known to posterity, was, the being " damned to everlasting fame" in the foregoing lines; but even of that fame, he has, until now, been deprived, by the stupidity of the commentators; and the contempluous indifference of mankind.

As we are professed enemies to HUMBUG, we can by no means approve of the treasonable boax, which we learn from a correspondent, signing himself "Cora Boors," some person has had the audacity to play off upon the Lisbon Cortes people. Nor will we (since we suspect, from the maliciously triumphant style of "Cork Boors's" address to us, that he himself was the author of this vile trick put upon the enlightened Representatives of a whole nation), comply with his request of publishing his letter, which contains the details of the subfilties he put in practice in order to bamboozle the Sovereign Courts of Brazil and Portugal into a solemn approbation of a more wretched farrage of nonsense and absurdity than ever was penned beyond the precincts of St. Luke's in the standard in order to we cannot give countenance to forgery; and in order to effect the hoax in question, "Come Boots," or some one else for him, must have forged the name of that industrious and respectable old person, JEREMY BENTHEM.

The hoax we alkude to, is in the form of a congratulatory, collaudatory, and mystical epistle, purporting to come from MR. BENTHAM, addressed to the above-mentioned Cortes people, which was read aloud to them by their Secretary, in their sitting of the 26th Nov.; and which, having been received with appliause by the whole of the deluded Members present, was ordered to be published at length in their official Gazette!-There it accordingly appeared on the 30th of the same month, as we see from that journal (the Diario do Governo) No. 284, which is now lying before us.

We give a literal translation of this pseudo address from express our high disapprobation of the whole contrivance of the joke, as tending to throw ridicule upon, and perhaps seriously to injure the reputation for sagacity of the Members of the Cortes at Lisbon. For they, being paid at the rate of a moidore (23 shillings, present exchange) a-day, each person, for the purpose of making a Constitution, may, when the trick is detected, be called to account by their employers for mis-spending their time in listening to such stuff; as well as reproached with the pitiable credulity they have displayed in becoming the printed, published, convicted, self-congratulating dupes of such humbug.

TRANSLATION

Of a Letter addressed by the Feneralic Legislator, Jeremy Bentham, to the Cortes of Portugat. Portuguese Cortes! Worthy directors of a regenerated Nation! Worthy, inasmuch as you faithfully obey the will of your

Or, i., singular correspondence: the eyes of the world are fixed upon it: it is useful and instructive; and I therefore con-have once already put your virtues to the proof, and they have t a noble lustre upon my attempt : one experiment yet remains, Once more I place in your view the never-to-be-forgotten min-ciple of "the greatest happiness of the greatest number,:"—the ciple of the greatest happiness of the greatest number; "the only justifiable end of government, and in which all is contained you have directly stanged with the seal of your approbation a collection of works in which, with more or less intensity, the light of that all ruling principle is shed over almost every part of the field of government: All this, however, happines to little more than a sketch? In imperfect and surfly tketch!—But do you wish to see it complete, correct?—furthered with a Bioly of Laws, conceived, proposed, and engineers with the securior in the convertible of the securior in the securior celved, proposed, and enounced with the nimbet accuracy, in the proper terms, sand embracing will the most microschy objects. Speak and you shall have by

First, wholeef of a penal code; next, a project of a civil some and hastry, a project of a constitutional code. This is what I have to offer your I fould make, the setund bireunistances of Portugal shall at the total mission as an in the set it shall recorded acquisition of the control of the c with these thiough your forensis emissions and your externs have chiefly those made since your sugarentation: so which I shift this the information the local deplects from sands of your fellowishing methods. versed in these inactors, as I may be spreaulte build to be have be consult. M'here, from the fluoriating nature of the method his call for lawdy particular dispositions shall become impelicately 17 call for lawdy particular dispositions shall become The laws of Public. Finance will diffusion with examples to this purpose and adversaria Turthis effer, of said: an Appendix t the first part consisting of documents; the second, of reasons for acceptance. This Appendix is totherkept duthertable wit is not intended for your wird!

With respect the the downerst, those farnished me by your differs in nothing from that of other countries: particularly his with

The metter of the reserve for secreptance, is, I thave already stated, intended for your table. Its confounces, and a regard for your time, have made the reparation necessary. I wenture, however, to submit its chapters to your care. But not I with not yet trouble you with this. In the mean time, it is ready, and aball no by the next packet.

egislators! this is the mite which I offer to cast into your Legislators! this is the mite which I ofter to cast man your Treasury: but, before I do cast it; hefore even that mite is enined, you must say to me: "Friend of Mankind, send us these, your "abours. they shall be laid on our table. Their total rejection!" their, particular approval, the sanction of this or of that particular on the particular approval, the sanction of this or of that particular on the judgment that we shall form as to their being conducive to the highest happiness of the greatest number of the people to the highest happiness of the greatest number of the people. entrusted to our care. The Cortes, however, promise, as far as they can promise, that your projects of codes shall be the object " of their deliberation, on the first opportunity after the arrival

Very well; but (some one will say,) why does he speak so much of his present? why does he not rather send it?

egislators! It is not finished: and for that very reason, I offer it to you. Nay, without the acceptance, I speak of, I know not if it ever will be finished. What I know is, that it cannot be done either so quickly or so well. At the age of seventy-three, the blood creeps slowly in the veins, and requires an impulse from without, to accelerate its motion.

One short word more: let there be no mistake:—acceptance is One short word more: let there be no mistake:—acceptance is all I require:—acceptance, nothing else. No preference: much less, exclusive preference! My object is not to exclude; but, on the contrary, to provoke competition in works of this kind: come from what hands they may: particularly from those of your own, confine what hands they may: particularly from those of your own, confine with the proof more than sufficient of the signoffly of my desire this transparency, in one of my first works, by cour Mess stands of which, your character has already shed it your acceptance of which, your marrier has already shed its lustre on the simple stadd in thill is said of the control of the its translation not having been finished in the office of the Secre ry to the Cortes. The short hand writer gave notice of its publication by express command.

TO JOHN BULL

SIR.—I read with much satisfaction in your excellent paper of pasterday, your animalversion on that executive the Different Theather-us more immoral and dispositing re-presentation sees never exhibited before a British audience; should those who have the power, neglect to put a stop to such an outrage to common decency, and subversion of public morals, I hope Sir, you will use your ability, and take advantage of the wide circulation of your valuable paper, to caution the heads of families from at least permitting the females under their controll from witnessing those scenes of debauchery and immorality.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, A CONSTANT READER. London, Dec. 10, 1821.

MINOR THEATRES.

We have received several letters on the subject of the filthy performance called LIFE IN LONDON, to which we loped, in our last number, to have called the attention of the magistrates. It is unnecessary to insertall the communications which have reached us, as they express but one feeling of horror and disgust at the exhibition.

ways our aim to be just and fore, in once more calling upon the guardians of public morals, and in endeavouring to draw the attention of the Lord Chamberlain of His Majesty's household (from whom manates the license for the theatre we are compelled to allude to) to this subject, we consider it but just that the description of the performance should be given here in the words of its friends and supporters, for which reason we quote the following paragraph or puff from the OLD TIMES:

TIMES:—

"ADELPHI THEATRE.—A very amusing piece, called Tom and Jerry, or Life in London, is at piecent in performance at this theatre. It is a combine special thing the Ribbe's Progress through town, and is illustrative of the characters and customs of the different classes of society, among which, the irregular habits of his life are certain to throw him at some stage or other of it. In the course of the piece, the various manners of the metropolis are placed before the eyes of the spectator in a series of ludicrous and tolerably faithful pictures. He is presented in turn with a brief representation of the dandyism of St. James's street, of the polished roguery of some of its frequenters, of the ruder knowny of the gentlemen of the turf and of the fancy, of the distress and progentlemen of the turf and of the fancy, of the distress and progentlemen of the turf and of the fancy, of the distress and pro-

FileAct of our prises houses, and shake optility the courty distribution of its care are charmed at our section, by the courty distribution grant and the section of the courty distribution of the gentleman and the school of the

Why this praise is admitted into the Them. Why this praise is admitted into the Them involved, and had we undertaken to laud the performance that paper would with equal avidity have consumed if. This is all this enough; but when, in their own words, the improved the consumer is the interest with us, that our wives and danighters, and dor this described the consequences of his swar galaxiastics ind architective in the consequences of his swar galaxiastics ind architective in the consequences of his swar galaxiastics ind architective in the consequences of the cons the the innocent and yet unprofession of their rais Wipping in the the innocent and yet unprofession description of our description on price innocent and yet unprofession description of annothing in the their charactery is and price their terms of some place inick named the Hely Land, which in the their description of the swent et with we'do not the description of their inicial and their theeld an exhibition of money which are unknown and again hought of by decest or well regulated people; I appealed.

What should we think of a man who pook his district.

I what should we think of a man who pook his district.

I what should we think of a light of Saint One a language of the stand his billion to the stand his part of the stand his part of the stand by taking his to a dental or ever a part of house or allowing his residence, and allowing his residence, and allowing the his standard would hive a part of house or allowing his standard with the came to his residence, and display before his standard think such a part of house or allowing his standard with the came and the relative his standard think such a part of the castly to be found in the bills of mortant; and yet here, in the standard high, actors, whose theretae of degraded and prostituted in high, actors, whose theretae of the perfect to the performance. night, actors, whose talents (degraded and prosurated as they are) are well-qualified to give effect to the 194 for finance, are suffered to exhibit governors every species of 6561 are with which this makenes methopolis is inlested. The critical are suffered to exhibit species and ought to be shately with the first are critical are suffered to the shately with the second country of the species of the second country of the second country

HO JOHN BUILDE , hedrings Thou

Sin,-You will much oblige me if you can, through the medium of your paper, which I am in the constant habit of jeading, inform me whether the Mr. Hoskins, stated to be the agent of the Couriemay estates in Ireland, is any and what relation, of the Mr. Hoskins, who left Lincoln's line a few years back.—I am, Sir, your obedient serving and the serving of the line and the line and the line are the line and the line are line as the line are line are line are line as the line are line a Dec. 12, 1821. ingrives be much the con-

MISCELLANEOUS TACK BOTH

His Majesty continues at Brighton. Divine service to formed on Sunday last, before the King, his suite, Sci. by the Ben of Henelord, and Dr. Sestron. His Majesty walked daily has see formed on Sunday last, before the King, his suite, See, by the Demon Flareford, and Dr. Persisson. His Majesty walked daily has well in the Palace-specieu.

On Wednesday night the Duke of York returned to York Homes. St. James's, from Windsor; and on Thursday transacted briding at the Commander in Chief's office in the Horse Guardia of the See, the call the serious attention of our reader's at the release end of the sawn to the exercises at the Horse Guardia of the sawn to the exercises at the Horse Guardia of the sawn to the exercises at a first on post of them as matter of indifference whether they pay five or the penet for the penul of mutton, but it is a duty in the higher classes to check the imposition, in order that those to the same see assessed as executed in their domestic exposediment appears to be an object, may enjoy at one and of the town the advantages, which, in these days of penul pass, are everywhere offered at the other.

The Lord Chief Justice Abbott has made in important access have a which as the while which the holders of Lord Bank noons have which is, that holders are not bound to send them of the Horse which is, that holders are not bound to send them of the life of the are not bound to send them of the life of the are received.

Abbey, for the Coronation, some curious reflect of antiquely walk and of penulting in oil was known in this country before it was they seem to show, as the matter, have yet beer examined, that the art of painting in oil was known in this country before it was integraled on the confinent.

Two gentlemen is, conversation, the other day, of a still see the horse law was the same of the life of the first have yet beer examined the former gentlemen. "the horse lost like gains, enter the former gentlemen." The chart of the life of the former does not like gains, enter the former gentlemen." The horse law of like gains, enter the former gentlemen. "The horse law of the like of the low of the life of the Stock Exchange met on Monday for the former gentleman. I the harm does not like: graing solve the Marter.

A Committee of the Stock Exchange met on Monday for the purpose, it is said, of abolishing a system of gambling known by the designation of "Purpose infuture, said they cannot be solution shad any members, infuture, sulling this action of the being the House.

A subscription is opened at Liverpool for the permitty losses he suitained by this latter write, and the other further protecting into instituted against him. The anesting for this action to the late occasion.

Wednesday a Court of Directors was held at the fact the his conduct on the late occasion.

Wednesday a Court of Directors was held at the fact the fact the fact the fact the fact of the permitty when the following ships were taken up in addition to those already engaged for the Company's service; with the fact the fact the fact the fact of the said of the fact o seat to England for a diving-bell. It is reported that his Lordchiff has realized, by his mantical exploits in the Pacific Ocean, $0.8001.

The Anny.—Three thousand of the Veterant Battafforis are to be imprediately embedied.—The 38th Regiment left Dublin last week for the seat of disturbance.—Part of the 2d Regiment of Foot marrhed into Windsor from Brighton, to do what is called the Windsor duty, in the room of the Poot Guards, who marched from thence a few days since, on their way to Ireland. It has been satisfy that the third battaffor of the First Regiment of Foot Guards, had been ordered to Ireland to quell the disturbances in the south, but we have authority to state it was only to do the Castle duty. On the Arman and the Castle duty at the seat of the seat of

Digitized by Google

MIDDLESEX SESSIONS.

Tuesday.—Elijah Pinkney stood indicted for attempting to invite Wm. Goodman and Jon. Brown to commit a robbery. The prisoner was a parish constable, and on the day stated in the indictment, he was with Goodman and Brown at a public house in Cripplegate, when he advised them to rob a warehouse in Goswell-street, a place he was well acquainted with; he told them there would be no difficulty in opening the place, as there were no fastenings or bolts on the inside; he gave them a full description of the property and premises, and promised to keep some boys who were there, occupied in playing dominos till they effected the robbery.—The others, however, instead of committing the robbery, gave information at Worship-street, and he was taken into custody.—The Jury found the prisoner Guilty, and the Court sentenced him to twelve months' imprisonment in the House of Correction.

Sarah Bishop was indicted for inciting Susannah Burnman to rob her own father. The prisoner lodged in the house of the prosecutrix's father in Shepherd's Market, and who also kept a shop in St. James's Market, During the time her lather kept a shop in St. James's Market, she superintended the management of it. One evening the prisoner said that she was going out to a card-party next day, and would be in want of some silver, and proposed that a three shilling piece should be put into a two-penny loaf, which she would come into the shop and purchase. The plan was carried into effect. The prosecutrix returned to live in Shepherd's Market, and thea the prisoner endeavoured to persuade her to get a key made to the cupboard in the parlour, where her father kept his cash, and added that she was a great feel if she did not try to steal a note or two, and that they then could go to the play together, and have fine new clothes;" adding, that if her dress was observed, or her conduct commented upon by her mother, she was to say, "that Ars. Bishop gave her clothes, or Mrs. Bishop took her to the play." This she would not consent to do, and having discovered indicted for a fraud.

Wednesday.—Henry Crofts was indicated for a fraud. The prisoner was one of those who, by false representations, induced persons to believe that they were attorneys, and obtained from them sums of money on pritence of carrying on suits for them, without having any authority to perform their undertaking; by which those who confided in them fost the causes they entrusted to their care, as well as the money they advanced for carrying on their suits. The present case was a very aggravated one of this kind, as Mr. Everest, the prosecutor, had not only paid the prisoner 721. for his costs, but, in consequence of his conduct, had 1401. costs to pay to the Crown, which he otherwise should not.—The case was clearly proved against the prisoner, and the Jury found him Grillty.—The Chairman said, the offence of which the prisoner had been found guilty, was one of great enormity, and was become so frequent that it must be checked by making an example: the judgment of the Court, therefore was, that he should be transported for seven years. Thursday.—Edward Evans and Virtue his wife, were sentenced, the husband to two years imprisonment, and the wife to six months imprisonment, in the House of Correction, for attempting to destroy their house by fire.

stroy their house by fire.

Roberts Robertson, the Clerk in the Navy Office, convicted of a fraud on the Navy Board, was ordered to be confined in the House of Correction for six months.

POLICE.

Massios-House—On Tuesday, James Smith, was charged by Mr. Forsyth, with having obtained money by a false petition for charity. Mr. F. stated that he was connected with a respectable charity, of the members of which the prisoner had contrived to obtain money from the major part of them.—The Lord Mayor said it was most fortunate for the prisoner that not say of the persons of whom he had obtained money had prosecuted him; or his punishment would have been most exemplary. His Lordship convicted him as a rogue and vagabond, and ordered him to be imprisoned two months to hard labour.

On Thursday, Janes Smith, a boy of most diminutive make, and apparently not more than six or seven years of age, was charged with being a house-breaker. His father was a thiet, who had been transported, and his mother was a prostitute. The two had been transported, and his mother was a prostitute. The two had been transported, and his mother was a prostitute. The two had been transported, and his mother was a prostitute. The two house-breakers. He could climb like a squirrely should have the highest he house-breakers. He could climb like a squirrely for a care in the particles of the parties, and the places—it appeared that the robbers generally cut a hole in the shutters, or made an aperticipal to the parties, and the places—it appeared that the robbers generally cut a hole in the shutters, or made an aperticipal the door or shifters, gave admittance to the robbers, and and the best of his way home. Should he not be able to admit the best of his way home. Should he not be able to admit the house of the door of shifters, gave admittance to the robbers, and and the best of his way home. Should he not be able to admit them to be a considerable period, and taught some trade.

His man and the best of his way home with the parties of the house of a confection of the house of the control of the house of the control of the house of the control of the house of the parties of the house which was to be robbed, had not her estimate of th

PROVINCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

PROVINCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

And the servants of T. A. Smith, Esq. of Tidworth, by a body of poachers. On Sunday night last, between the hours of tvelve and one of clock, Henry Judd, gamekeeper to the above gentleman, accompanied by Robe Baker, Rob. Noves, Jas. Martin, (Thos. Jackson, Timothy Turner, and Will. Holmes, bis assistants, were upon the look-out for poachers, when they were suddenly attacked by a numerous gang of those rufhans, in Ashdown Coppiec, Tidworth. A desperate battle ensued, in which Rob. Baker was shot dead. Every one of the other gamekeepers were badly wounded, and some of lifem, dangerously. Mr. Smith has offered a reward of 1001, for the apprehension of the murderers.

Brayl selam.—A melianchly accident occurred on the morning of Wednesday last, at Monway Colliery, in the parish of Wednesday James Waldron, Julia and John Aston, were descending a coal-pit in the skip, when the rope suddenly broke, and they were precipitated down the shaft, a depth of acarly: 3d yards. Stevens died in about an hour after the accident, and the deer Waldron on Friday morning; the other three, thouch much injured, are still living.

Bray. On Wednesday inoring early, as a shoemaker from Swall hant was wilking on the turnpike road towards Bary, to pay his leather-outer, he was stopped agan Newnarket Heath turnpike, and robbed of his property amounting to mwards of 541; his hands were tied behind birn, his feet tied, and he was then thrown off the read, and otherwise barbarously treated.

Buteurose—A Privy Council was held at the Pavillon soon after five o'clock on Monday evening: present, His Majesty, and the following Noblemen and delineme, who arrived from London at half-past four o'clock, for that purpose—Vis. the Marquis of Londonderry, the Marquis well-lenen, who arrived from London at half-past of the head of the head was the through the summary and the sound of the head was the summary and the summary and the summary of the morning of the head of t another pistol, but the ball merely grazed his head, and he is not supposed to be in much danger from the wound.

Lens.—On Saturday se onight two very secretous and nearly fatal accidents occurred at Hank Wood, near Bretton. Mr. H. Tinker, of Shepley, was invited by Mr. Hutchinson, of Bank-inwisel to spend a few days with him, to shoot upon his property. The servant, running to pick up a bird, stumbled over the wire of a springgup, the contents of which were lodged in his few and bot. Mr. Tinker became entangled in the vires of another run, which also exploded; the contents todged in his right arm and shoulder, and entered the head and body; one of the stugs passed, through the check into the mouth; a number of shots were also lodged in both thighs, and only a single short took effect below the kines. The servant is pronounced out of danger, but Mr. Tinker is still considered to be in an alarming situation.

Letterstrate The staple manufactures of this and the adjoining counties of vocting him and Derby were seldom known to be more brauch. The demand for cotton stockings from Baltimore, and other sonthern States of North America, is greater than has been experienced for the last two or three years.

Maistrons.—In Heteligence—At our market on Thursday se satight we'do not lear of any sales being made in either base or pockets, although the growers were willing to rive way in price, say from as: to as, per cwt. in the middling and inferior sorts; good and fine we have scarcely any left, and is tuch had been sold, it must have been at a reduction from last week's prices. It is now quite certain the duty has been much over rated—it is the writer's opinion it will but hittle (if any) exceed 150,000.

Mito Darton.—On Wednesday se minght, as Mir. D. Brook, a carpenter, at Thorpe, was returning from Leeds, on the rillway towards Middleton, lawing each of the same night.

Mornsose.—On Wednesday se minght, Margaret Tindaki, found the same night.

Mornsose.—On Wednesday se minght, Margaret Tindaki, found the same night.

murderer, but nothing has yet transpired that can afford any clue to his retreat.

Shrawsburay.—As Mr. Smith, of Wentnor, was returning from Stretton Fair, his horse missed the road upon the Longmynd-hill, got into the "Boiling Well," and thence ascended a rock, where the girths of the saddle broke, and Mr. Smith was precipitated into Stretton brook, and found dead.

Wexacourn.—His Royal Highness the Duke of York enjoyed the diversions of the field every day while here; he appeared in the best health and spirits, and was highly gratified in killing a great quantity of game. The shooting party that accompanied his Royal Highness; consisted of Lord Yarmouth, the Speaker of the House of Commons, Mr. Grant, M.P. Mr. Croker, M.P. and Mr. H. Baring.

ACCIDENTS, OFFENCES, &c.

House of Commons, Mr. Grant, M.P. Mr. Croker, M.P. and Mr. H. Baring.

ACCIDENTS. OFFENCES, &c.

Adveryruss or a Couyray Constraint in Los don.—A warrant having been granted to the overseers of a parish about 100 miles from London, against a young man who had absconded, the parish deputed the thorpest of their constables to proceed to London to execute it, and for this purpose 201 was ranted him to pay his expences. On his arrival he went into the Coach and Horses, Charless street, Druy-lane, and there as down with some gentlement in conversation. He at length discovered his loss, and imade lately quitted the place in search of a man whom he suspected, he having left the house. He thoughtlessly left, his great-coat behind him, and that was also taken during his absence. The gets fresh warrant to a pre-hend the man he had come after, that likewise being stolen. He was refused a warrant, and was adversariated to go back to his own parish for one, which he was compelled to do.

Thursday se hinght, as two of the Union Hall officers were conveying Church, who was tried for fraud and conspiracy some time ago, to Chelmisford gaol, from London, in a taxed cart, it overtuning he may be a subject to the subject heaving the Black Boy public house, at the entrance to Chelmisford. The night had just set in, and there was a deep drafth across the road into which the officers and prisoner were thrown with great violence; they sustained some injury. Church, who fell into the deepset part of the drain, was covered with mind, but received no hur.

Franz.—Wednesday right, about nine n'elock a fire broke out at the house of a clothes dealer, in Holywell-lane, Shoreditch, which was entirely consumed.—A fire broke out about one o'clock on Thursday morning, in the premises of a colournan, in Chalesstreet, Mile-end. The whole of the premises where it broke out at the house of a clothes dealer, in Holywell-lane, Shoreditch, which was entirely consensed.—A fire broke out out of the infamous brothes in George-yard, where he was assailed

SATURDAY'S GAZETTE, Dec. 15.

DOWNING-STREET, Dec. 12, 1821.

The King has been pleased to appoint Hans Francis Earl of Huntingdon e Governor of the island of Dominica.

WAR-OFFICE, 14th Dec, 1821.

6th Regt. of Drags.—W. Terry, Gent to be Cornet, vice Per y.

13th Regt. of Light Drags.—Cornet. J. Lawrenson to be Lieut. vice Bacon 2dd Regt. of Foot.—Ensign G. C. Mundy, to be Ensign, vice Campbell.

26th Ditto.—J. Sutherland, Gent. to be Ensign, vice Maxwell.

38th Ditto.—Ass. Surg. J. Dempster, to be Ass. Surg. vice Burrell.

40th Ditto.—Gent. Cadet W. Ogilvy to be Assign, vice Mauning.

44th Ditto.—Gent. Cadet W. Ogilvy to be Ensign, vice Mauning.

44th Ditto.—Ensign G. Campbell to be Ensign, vice Fludyer.

57th Ditto.—T. B. Bower, Gent. to be Ensign, vice Ferrier.

64th Ditto.—Ass. Surg. W. H. Burrell, M. D. to be Ass. Surg. vice Dempster.

Brevet.—Capt. R. Simsos, Town Major of Portsmouth, to be Major in the Brevet.—Capt. R. Simsos, Town major of refementation.

Army.

Commissions signed by the Lord Lieutenant of the County of Fife.

The Bari of Leven and Melville, Lieut.-Gen. the Hon S. Hope, Sir R. Preston, Bart. Lieut.-Gen. Sir J. Oswald, K.C.B. Vice-Admiral Sir P. C. H. Durham, K.C.B. Lieut.-General J. Durham, Major-Gen. R. Ballour, Capt. J. Wemyas, H. Wedderburu, Esq. A. M. Wellwood, Esq. J. H. Rigg, Esq. and C. M. Christie, Esq. to be Deputy Lieuts.

Commissions in the South Shropshire Regiment of Yssmanry Cavalry, E. Regers, Gent, vice Thomas, and Cornet J. Emery, vice Parsons, to be Lieuts.

PARTNERSHIPS DISSOLVED. PARTNERSHIPS DISSOLVED.

Solomon, Lewis, and Co. New-street, Coven garden, bullion-dealers.—
Cackett and Ridgway, Great Dover-road, plumbers.—Callwood and Scott, Liverpool, milliners.—Scott and Whitmore, Stenson, Derhyshire, farmers.—
Sutton, Brighton, and Dodsley, Newbaven, surgeons.—Milliken and Groun, Boriats, Walworth.—Aslett and Summers, lightermen.—Harding and King,
South Petherton, Symersetshire, bakers.—March and Wincott, Wood-street,
Cheapside, wholesale glovers.

BANKRUPTCY SUPERSEDED.
FIGES, T., Romsey, common-brewer.
BANKRUPTS.

BANKRUPTC:

BEALE, W., Newbury, timber-dealer.

KAY, E., Sheffield, increhant.

POTTER, T., Manchester, publican.

CHAMBERLIN, J., Bristol, merchant.

DURRANT, W., Castle-street, Finsbury, tailor.

BROWNE, J., Canterbury, linen-draper.

HATFIELD, H., Abingdon-row, Goswell-street-road, merchant.

EASTWOOD, H., Eastwood, York, fustian-manufacturer.

JAMES, R., Conderton, Worces'er, dealer in horses.

MOORE, J., Sowerby, Halifax, York, woollen-cjoth-manufacturer.

BELL, J. and G., Berwleck-upon-Tweed, coopers.

SMITH, H., Saint Martin's-lane, woollen-draper

BRANDER, J., and BARCLAY, J., Size-lane, merchants.

CLEAYER, W. Church-lane, Chelaea, groeer.

DIVIDENDS.

Dec, 22, P. Grose, Commercial-road, victualler.—Jan. 5, W. Creser, Baldwin-street, City-road, grocer.—Jan. 5, T. Pinkerton, Nameaton, Warwickshire, and of Birchin-lane, London, merchant.—Jan. 5, C. Hugt, Mark-lane, winemerchant.—Jan. 8, W. Lent, Bridlington, Yorkshire, ironmoger.—Dec. 18, J. F. Duhois and J. Dahois, Alderman's-walk, London, merchants.—Dec. 31, E. Lewis, Llambister, Radnorshire, farmer.—Jan. 10, S. Handley, Hilderstone, Staffordskire, miller.—Jan. 26, J. Gordon, Copthall-court, merchant.—Jan. 5, G. Sutton, Lamb's-Conduit-street, sikk-merce.—Jan. 12, J. Barnet, jun, West-street, West Smithfield, victualler.—Jan. 14, G. Pardow, Coughton, Warwickshire, needle-maker.—Jan. 22, W. Ladkin, Leir, Leicester, shire, victualler.—Jan. 22, J. Shakespear, Tilloughley, Warwickshire, draper.—Jan. 10, H. Sellers, Burnley, Lancastershire, cotton-spinner.—Jan. 5, J. Ritson, Carlisle, tallow ciandier.—Jan. 5, I. R. Benson, Artillery-place, Finsbury-square, merchants.—Jan. 5, R. Philpots, Banbury, shaper.—Jan. 5, R. Stodart and M. Stodart, Strand, booksellers.—Jan. 5, J. R. Benson, Artillery-place, Finsbury-square, merchants.—Jan. 5, J. R. Benson, Artillery-place, Finsbury-square, merchants.—Jan. 5, J. Reproduction, A. Smith, Limestreet-square, merchant.—

CERTIFICATES—Jan. 5.

J. Letches, Bury Saint Edmund's, haberdasher,—G. Czumble and J. Carr, J. J. Jay, K

CERTIFICATES—Jan. 5.

J. Etches, Bury Saint Edmunds, haberdasher—G. Crumbie and J. Carr, York, tobacco-manufacturers.—M. Sedgwick, Friday-street, warehousemen.—T. Huggett, Bermondsey-street, Bermondsey greer.—T. Stafford, Bath, jeweller.—N. Jolly, Charing-cross, poulterer.—J. E. Gyles, Shoreditch, oilman.—J. Vice, Valentine-row, Blackfriat's-road, oilman.—G. Germaine, Commercial-road, merchant.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 17.

Paris papers to the 14th inst. arrived last night. The Chamber of Deputies had held no public sitting for three days previous to the publication of the papers. The Moniteur of Saturday reached town by express at a late hour in the night; it contains a Royal Ordonance, appointing the Sieur Peyronuet, Member of the Chamber of Deputates, Minister Secretary of State for the Department of Justice, and Keeper of the Seals. Viscount Montmorency, Peer of France, Minister Secretary of State for the Department of Foreign Affairs. Marshal the Duke of Bellerno, Peer of France, Minister Secretary of State for the Department of State for the Department of the Chamber of Deputies, Secretary of State for the Department. The Sieur Corbiere, Member of the Interior. The Marquis Dellermont Tonnere, Peer of France, Minister Secretary of State for the Department of the Marine. The Sieur De Villele, Member of the Chamber of Deputies, Minister Secretary of State for the Department of the Household.

The Journal des Debats contains, under the date of Smyrna, Oct. 20, two official documents extracted from the Spectateur Oriental, which are a copy of a note presented to the Sublime Porte by the Viscount de Viella, Charge d'Affaires of France at Constantinople, dated 16th of August, conveying the sentiments of the French Cabinet in regard to the critical state of the affairs of Turkey, and the reply of the Ottoman Government, dated September 3.

Spanish Papers down to the 3d inst. arrived last night. An article from Barcelona, dated the 24th ult. has the following account of the state of health of that city:—the number of new cases in the Barcelonetta, the city, and the hospitals, in these three days, has been 22, cured 44, deaths 23, convalescent 170; there remains 66.

At Port St. Mary's 131 cases remained; at Xeres 31; and at Lebriga 56.

An article from Bayonne states, that a communication had been received, announcing that great fermentation prevailed at Madrid, and that very alarming rumours were in circulation respecting the and that very starting tanget.

Royal Family.

The Turks of Epirus have joined the Greeks and Albanians, and are now fighting against the army sent by the Sultan to besiege Ali Pacha. Parga is said to have been recovered from the hands into which it ought never to have been consigned, and important advantages to have been gained by the confederates on all sides fover a distracted enemy.

In the Common Pleas on Saturday, an action to recover damages was brought by Mr. Fowell, an attorney, against a Mr. Campbell, of the Custom House, for the injury which his wife sustained in consequence of the defendant driving his chaise against that of the plaintiff, by which they were thrown out, and the wheels went over the leg of Mrs. Fowell, and the surgeon apprehended a mortification would ensue the injury was so great. It was admitted the defendant was drunk at the time of the accident. The Jury gave a verdict for the plaintiff with 350l. damages.

The Court and Privy Council which the King held on Monday, the 10th instant, at Brighton, were the first His Majesty has held since his accession to the Throne, which has made the Pavilion a Royal Palace.

Royal Palace.
The Marquis of Wellesley, accompanied by two Gentlemen, left town on Saturday afternoon for Ireland, where he is expected to town on Saturday afternoon for Ireland, where he is expected to arrive on Tuesday.

Phoelie Hassell, aged 111 years, died on Wednesday last. His Majesty had, for the last seven or eight years, allowed the deceased 10s. 6d. a week.

The Dublin papers received on Saturday state, that his Majesty's Privy Council are now in almost daily deliberation. On Monday his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant had conferences with the several Commandants of the Yeomanry Corps of the Metropolis.—The counties partially disturbed are seven—Carlow, Galway, Kilkenny, Meath, Roscommon, Waterford, Westmeath. Insubordination, crime, and disgrace, to a wide extent, the remaining five—Clare, Cork, Kerry, Limerick, and Tipperary.

HUNTING INTELLIGENCE.—The Earl of Derby's Stag-hounds meet to-morrow, at Hansey Green.—H. Jolliffe, Esq.'s Foxhounds, on Friday, at Owls Wood.—The Surrey Fox hounds, on Thursday, at Godstone; and on Saturday, at the Crown, Ash Hill.—The Harriers meet every day.—The Duke of Rutland's Hounds, to-morrow, at Belyoir; on Thursday, at the Three Queens; and on Friday, at Goadby; each day, at half-past ten.—The Cottesmore Hounds, on Wednesday, at Greetham Inn; and on Thursday, at Cole's Lodge; each day at a quarter before eleven o'clock.—Earl Fizzwilliam's Hounds, to-morrow, at Elton Furse; and on Thursday, at Tiehmarsh; at ten o'clock each day.—Lord Yarborough's Hounds, on Wednesday, at Burnham; on Friday, at Cuxwold; and on Saturday, at the Rennel; each day at eleven.—The Earl of Scarborough's Hounds, on Wednesday, at Spital Hill; and on Friday, at Sandbeck Park; each day at half-past ten.—The Badsworth Fox-hounds, to-morrow, at Brodsworth; on Thursday, at South Hindley; and on Saturday, at Ringston Hills; at ten o'clock each day.—The Hatfield Harriers, on Friday, at Bearswood Green; at ten o'clock each day.—The Sheffield Harriers, on Thusday, at Hoyland Common; at ten o'clock each day.—Sir Richard Sutton's Hounds, to-morrow, at Fiskerton; on Wednesday, at Snarford Bridge; on Thursday, at Harpswell; at eleven.—The Gillingham Fox hounds to-morrow, at Daderby Warth; and on Friday, at Hagnaby; each day at half past ten.—Sir Richard Puleston's Hounds to-morrow, at Twentlowes; and on Friday, at Hampton Heath.—Sir Edward Smythe's Fox-hounds to-morrow, at Shawbury White Gates; and on Friday, at Pimbill.—The Holy-well Harriers to-morrow, at Licksom Green; on Wednesday, at Downing; on Thursday, at Calcot Hall Gate; and on Friday, at Talacre.—The Chester Harriers, on Wednesday, at Trafford Bridge; and on Friday, at Backford.—The Cheshire Hounds, on Wednesday, at Guestwick (harriers); and on Friday, at Polymistead Windmill (buck-hounds).—The Ludlow Subscription Fox-hounds to-morrow, at Seiton Forest; and on Friday, at Polymistead Windmill (buck-hounds).—The Ludlow Subscription Fox-hounds to-morrow, at Seiton Forest; and on Friday, at Polymistead Windmill (buck-hounds).—The Ludlow Subscription Fox-hounds to-morrow, at Seiton Forest; and on Friday, at Polymistead Windmill (buck-hounds).—The Ludlow Subscription Fox-h

ino has ,	in her less	SHIP N	EWS.	in legging and	AL OLD
Arrived	Mails	Dae	Arrived .	Mails	Due
	Dublin		6010 NEW YEAR	Malta	STREET, CA
3	Waterford	BU DYCOTH BE	中国中,中国国际	France	dentan
DV 4-BLUEN	Guernsey & J	ersey. 20 311	D. Elektricker, 1829	.Hamburgh	Daymano
til brown at	Holland	COSC CONTRACT	Der Leg was t	.Flanders .	WITH BO
200 th	Gottenburgh .	in I henceday	-, 79-02K-	Jamaica.	0.6 M
1	Lisbon	Language		Brazils
		OC IT TOLA		I asserba mis	Marine In Control

PORTSMOUTH, Dec. 16. Wind S.S.W. Sailed, H. M. ship, Pioneer, a craire.

PLYMOUTH, Dec. 15. Put back, the Medina, Mattison, from London for Bombay, after having been as Yar as long. S. S., when she bore 1p, having experienced severe gales to W and S. W. which caused her to labour and strain. She must be fresh callked before she can proceed on her voyage. FALMOUTH, Dec. 16. Arrived, the Duke of Kent packet, with a mail, from Lisbon, and the Nocton packet, with a mail, from the Brazils.

HARWICH, Dec. 16. Arrived, the Princess Charlotte and Lord Dungan packets, with mails; from Cuxhaven, and the Napean packet, with a mail, from Holland.

PERSIAN and NAGREE BENGALLEE WRITING TAUGHT by MOONSHEE GHOOLAM HYDUR, Khossnuween, or Writing Master to the Hon. East India Company's Cellege, at Haileybury.— Days of Instruction—Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays, at No 5. Little Smith-street, Westminster.

Days of Instruction—Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays, at No 5. Little Smith-street, Westminster.

ENCYCLOPÆDIA METROPOLITANA

On the 1st of January next will be published, price 1l. 1s. the Fifth Part (and the Four preceding Parts, price 1l. 1s. each); of

THE ENCYCLOPÆDIA METROPOLITANA. This Work has fallen under the management of New Proprietors, who have made arrangements for its permanent continuance upon the original plan, and for its future regular publication.

Yf A new Prospectius will be ready for delivery in a few days.

Printed for J. Mawspart F. C. and J. Rivington; Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy; Sherwood, Neely, and Jones; G. and W. B. Whittaker; Ogle, Duncan, and Co. London; J. Parker, Oxford; and Delghton and Sons, Cambridge.

RITING PAPER of the best quality, made by the justly celebrated J. WHATMAN; of Turkey Mill; to be sold at the following low prices:—Excellent copy, 7d. the quire, or 12s, 13s. 6d. and 17s. 6d. the ream; superine thick, 9d. and 1s. the quire, or 12s, 13s. 6d. 1ss. and 17s. 6d. the ream; very best thick Bath gilt, is. 1d. the quire, 20s. the ream; thick lookscap is. the quire, uperfine, is. 2d. and is. 4d. a quire, or 2ls. and 26s. the ream; superfine large bank post, ls. the quire, or 19s. the ream; best thick lined brief, la. 4d. the quire, or 26s, the ream; best thick lined brief, la. 4d. the quire, or 26s, the ream; best thick lined brief, la. 4d. the quire, or 26s, the ream; best thick lined brief, la. 4d. the quire, or 26s, the ream; best thick lined brief, la. 4d. the quire, or 26s, the quill, with the durability of the steel pen, price is. 4d. each; strong brown, 8d. 10d. and 1s. 6d.; small hand, 4d. the quire; at H. and W. SMITPI'S. 192, Strand, opposite St. Clement's Church.—Account Books made to order, of any size or pattern, equally low in price

THE GUARDIAN ASSURANCE COMPANY, for ASSURANCE against FIRE, and on LIVES and SURVIVORSHIPS—Endowments for Children—Immediate, Deferred, and Progressive Annutities, and for the Purchase and Sale of Reversions and Annutifies, will open for the Transaction of Business, on the 17th instant, at No. 11, Lombard-street, the entrance of the Post Office.

Deposits have already been made on a subscribed Capital exceeding One Million Two Hundred Thousand Founds, which, according to the Deed of Settlement, may hereafter be increased to two millions.

DIRECTORS.

STEWART MAJORIBANKS, Esq. M.P. Chairman.

RICHARD MEE RAIKES, Esq. Deputy Chairman.

Milliam Callutell Brandram, Esq.

William Copland, Esq.

William Copland, Esq.

W. D. Dowson, Esq.

Sir Thos. H. Farquhar, Bart.

John Garratt, Esq. and Alderman.

Nicholas Garry, Esq.

William Haldimand, Esq. M.P.

John Hartey, Esq.

William Haldimand, Esq. M.P.

John Hartey, Esq.

Swinton Colthurst Holland, Esq.

John Thornton, Esq.

John Thornton, Esq.

John Thornton, Esq.

John Times Tulloch, Esq.

John Times Tulloch, Esq.

John Times Tulloch, Esq.

John Times Tulloch, Esq.

John Lock, Esq.

John Times Tulloch, Esq.

John Times Tulloch, Esq.

John Lock, Esq. George Jenner, Esq. John Lock, Esq. George Lyall, Esq.

James 1 unoca, asq.

Lewis L'oyd, Esq.

AUDITORS.

Lewis L'oyd, Esq.

A. W. Rubarts, Esq. M. P.

Thomas Wilson, Esq.

STANDING COUNCIL—L. SHADWELL, Esq. New-squ. Lincoln's Inn.

PHYSICIAN—GEORGE DARLING, M. D. Branswick-square.

SOLICITOR—THOS, METCALF, Esq. New-square, Lincoln's Inn.

The principles upon tybich this institution is founded have been adopted after a mature investigation of the practice of other Offices, and will be found to e-imbine advantages not hitherto offered by any other Assurance Company, The Capital subscribed by a numerous and respectable Proprietary throughout the Empire, affords security for prompt and certain indemnity, without the responsibility attaching to Societies for mutual sasurance.

The Company are bound by the Deed of Settlement to refer all disputed

The Company are bound by the Deed of Settlement to refer all disputed Claims (where no fraud is suspected) to the decision of Arbitrators, if required by the Assured.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Persons assured for Seven Years, whether upon Annual or Septennial Policies, are to be entitled to participation in the Profits with the original Subscribers, except on Policies where losses have been claimed.

No charge will be made for Policies where the Premium amounts to 6s. or upwards.

Independent of a reduced rate of Premium, as compared with other Offices, having a subscribed Capital, insurers for the whole term of Life are to be entitled, at the end of Seven Years, to participate in the Profits with the original Subscribers, either by an addition made to the amount of their Policies, or by a reduction of their future Appual Premiums, at the option of the Insurers.

Persons insured in this Office as a colleged to the control of the LIFE DEPARTMENT.

the Insurers.

Persons insured in this Office are allowed to pass by Sea fron, one part of the United Kingdom to another, and also, in time of peare, to pass in decked Vessels, or Steam-boats, from Bittish to Foreign Ports, between the Texel and Brest (both inclusive) without extra premium, or special leave of the Directors, as is usually required.

No additional Premium will be required from Military Men, unless when called into actual service.

No charge will be made for Entrance Money or admission Fees.

No charge will be made for Policies beyond the cost of the Stamp.

RITISH and FOREIGN PUBLIC LIBRARY, Condu RITISH and FOREIGN PUBLIC LIBRARY, Conduitstreet, Hanever-square.—Subscribers to this Library have the right of choosing from a most extensive and valuable COLLECTION of the BEST BOOKS in the various Languages whatever works they may desire, which are regularly forwarded for all parts of England or the Continent;
they also participate in the advantages arising from an immediate and almodant supply of NEW FUBLICATIONS, and (in the Extra Class) may direct the purchase of any work of general interest not previously added to the Library, arrangements which render its accommodation superior to those of any private Collection, however large, and at a far less expense. The New Catalogue, with Terms, to be had on application.

HOLIDAY BOOKS FOR CHILDLEN.

Published by Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, London.

1. IVES of EMINENT MEN, with some Originals.—By JEFFERYS TAYLOR, Ongar. 12mo, price 4s, neatly half bound, with an Engraving to each Fable.

3 HARRYS HOLIDAY, or the Daluge of Our who bed by a than Engraving to each Fable.

3. HARRY'S HOLIDAY; or, the Doings of One who had Nothing to do. Second Edition, 18mo, price 2s. 6d. half bound. By the same Author.

4. RALPH RICHARDS, the Miser. 18mo. 2s. 6d. half bound. By the Second Edition, 18mo. price 2. of. the Volumes of the Same Author.

4. RALPH RICHARDS, the Miser. 18mo. 2s. 6d. half bound. By the same Author.

5. NATURAL HISTORY for CHILDREN; being a familiar Account of the most remarkable Quadrupeds, Birds, Insects, Fishes, and Reptiles, Tres, and Plants. In five Pocket Volumes, with Plates and numerous Cut. Frice 10s. 6d. neatly half bound.—N. B. The volumes of this work may be had apparately, price 2s. 6d. each, neatly half bound.

6. A SHORT HISTORY of FRANCE; including the principal Events, from the Foundation of the Empire by Pharamond to the Restoration of Louis XVIII.—By Mrs. MOORE; in 2 vols. illustrated with 39 Plates, printed uniformly with the long-esteemed Works of Mrs. Trimmer. Price 8s. bound in red.

7. LESSONS of LOVE, or Family Instruction. Written by a Mother for her Children. 2s. 6d. half bound.

8. EVENINGS at HOME; or, the Juvenile Budget epened; consisting of a variety of Miscellaneous Pieces for the Instruction and Amusement of Young Persons. By Dr. AIKIN and Mrs. HARBAULD. Twelfth Edition. In 6 vols, pilce 10s. 6d. half bound.

9. The WOODLAND COMPANION; or, a brief Description of British Trees, with some Account of their Uses.—By Dr. AIKIN. Third Edition, illustrated by 28 Plates, 9s, neatly half bound, 2s. 6d. By the same Author. 11. NATURAL HISTORY of the Year, being an Enlargement of the Cilendar of Nature. By Mr. AIKIN. Fourth Edition, 12mo 2s. boards. 11. NATURAL HISTORY of the Year, being an Enlargement of the C. lendar of Nature. By Mr. A. AIKIN. Fourth Edition, 12mo 2s. boards. 12. JUVENILE CORRESPONDENCE, or Letters designed as Examples of the Epistolary Style, for Children of both Sexes, By Miss AIKIN. Second Edition, 18mo. half bound, 2s. 6d.

13. A COMPENDIUM of ZOOLOGY; being a Description of more than 300 Animals. Confirmed by actual and personal Observations, with original Remarks, and interesting Quotations from Ancient and Modern Authors; to which is subjoined an Appendix, on Allegorical and Fabulous Animals. A new Edition, carefull

Children, and designed for the Instruction of your.

German of J. H. CAMPE, by ELIZ. HELME. A new Edition, with a Map, pirice 5a, 5d. bound.

15. COLUMBUS; or, the Discovery of America. By the same Author, A new Edition, 2mo. with a Map, pirice 5a, 6d. bound.

16. PIZARRO; or, the Conquest of Peru. By the same Author, 12mo, with a Map, pirice 5a, 6d. hound.

17. JUVENILE PIECES; designed for the Youth of both Sexes; including the Student's Dream; the Vision of Female Excellence; the Painter's Panegyrist, &c.; with an Essay on Education, and a Panoramic Survey of the World. By JOHN EVANS, LLD. Sixth Edition, enlarged, 19ma with Plates. Price 4s, 6d. bds.

18. POEMS on various Subjects, selected to esforce the Practice of Vinue, and to comprise, in one Volume, the Beauties of English Poetry. By T.E. TOMKINS. A new Edition, with many additional Poems. In a near pocket volume, price 3s, bound.

19. A COURSE of LECTURES for Sunday Evenings; containing Religious Advice to Young Persons. In 2 vols, price 9s, half bound.—N B. This publication, which contains a Lecture for eyery Sunday throughout the very is written upon so liberal a plan; as to be suitable to any rank of Life, without giving offence to the Sentiments of any Christian Reader. It is also considered as the best book for Schools of any that has been written on the same subjects.

10. The FIRST PRINCIPLES of RELIGION, and the Existence of a set between the same subjects.

considered as the best buok for Schools of any that has been written on the same subjects.

19. The FIRST PRINCIPLES of RELIGION, and the Existence of a Deity, explained in a Series of Dialogues, adapted to the capacity of the Infaut Mind. By M. P. Price 2s. half bound

20. DIALOGUES and LETTERS on Morality, Economy, and Politeness, for the improvement and en extainment of Young Fernale Minds. By the same Author. In 3 vols. price 6s.

21. A FATHER'S ADVICE to HIS SON, written chiefly for the perusal of Young Gentlemen. By the same Author, half bound, 2s.

22. SACRED HISTORIES, or Insulated Bible Stories, extracted from the Old and New Testament, in the words of the original, and printed in a large type for the use of Children. By WILLIAM SCOLFIELD, in 2 vol. price 4s. half bound.

23. ESSAYS on the PRIVATE MANNERS and DOMESTIC INSTITUTIONS of the ROMANS. In 3200. Price 7s.

24. ESSAYS on the INSTITUTIONS, GOVERNMENT, and MANNERS of the STATES of ANCIENT GREECE. By H. D. HILL, D.D. Professor of Greek in the University of St. Andrew's. In 12mo. Price 7s.

COOD TEAS—MUCH BETTER AT THE PRICE. The

with a copious ludex.

OOD TEAS—MUCH BETTER AT THE PRICE. The East India Company's Quarterly Tea Sale being just ended, FRIDERICK and ROBERT SPARKOW and Co. feel much pleasure in informing their Friends and the Public, that they have carefully selected a general Assortment of the strongest and most useful I'll flavoured TRAS but have for a long time been imported, which they pledge themselves to SELL upon the LOWEST WHOLESALE TERMS, without mixture of any kind of trash whatever, and particularly recommend (as very superior at their prices) good gennine sound Congon, 6s. to 6s, 6d.; fine strong do. and breakfast Ssuchong, 7s.; fine full flavoured do. (ss.; good freah Go. 9s. to 16s.;
good Caper Souchong, 7s.; fine full flavoured do. (ss.; good Hyson, 10s.; fine do. 11s.; superfine do. 12s.; fine Gunpowler Hyson, 12s. to 14s.; good Plantation Ceffee, 3s. to 3s. 4d.; fine Bourbon, 4s.; fine Turkey and Mochs, Ss. to 6s.; fine young Hyson, 9s. to 10s.

CAUTION.—Please to he particular in the directions, No. 6, Ludgate-hil, near Bridge-street; No. 13S, OxferJ-street, between Holles-street and 0id House—Country Agents will please to address to F. and R. Sparrow and Co. at the Original Warehouse, No. 6, Ludgate-hill.

COMMERCIAL REPORT, FROM THE STH TO THE 15TH BECEMBER.

The Market for Plantation Sugars has been heavy, and the advance of 2s. per cwt. that was obtained last week, has receded in nearly the same proportion this.—The Refined Market is very dull, nearly the same proportion this.—The Refined Market is very oun, and grices have given way is. per cwt.—Cotton continues in the same depressed state it has been in so long.—For Coffee there has been a considerable demand this week; the price may be stated 2 per cwt. higher, particularly the Middling and Good Middling qualities.—Brandy has become very heavy, and a further reducqualities.—Brandy has become very heavy, and a lattice of 2d. to 3d. per gallon must be quoted.—Rum continues steady, but without much business doing.—Tallow, since our last, has had an unequivocal rise of 5s, per c.vt. this day's quotation bains 48s, to 49s, with every prospect of getting higher. We have clearly foreseen the rise in this article for a length of time.

On the 11th inst. at Brighton, the Lady of Captain Lempriere, Royal Artillery, of a daughter.

On the 9th inst. in Gros-place, the Countess of Uxbridge, of a son and heir.
On the 22d ult, at Leghorn, the Lady of Major-General Sir Patrick Ross, K. C. M. G. was safely delivered of a son.

MARRIAGES.
On the 7th inst. at Cambridge, by the Rev. Dr. E. D. Clarke, the Rev. Let.
Mansel, B.A. of Trinity College, Oxford, and Yicar of Minsterworth, Glorcestershire, to Isabella Mansel, eldest daughter of the late Lord Bishop of Bristol.

By special licence, ou Monday evening last, at Lord Stewart's, at Wynyard, Sir Henry Hardinge, K.C.B. and one of the Representatives of the City of Durham, to Lady Emily Jame James, sister of the Marquis of Londonderry. On the 10th inst. at Lamport, Northamptonshire, Lieut. Col. Packe, of the Grenadier Guards, to Eliza, the only daughter of the Rev. Vere Isham.

DIED. At his house at Clifton, Lieut.-General John Lee.

LONDON: Printed and Published by R. T. WEAVER, at No. 11, JOHNSON'S COURT, FLEET-STREET, where only Communications to the Editor, (post paid) are received.

OHN

BUI.

" FOR GOD, THE KING, AND THE PEOPLE!"

No. 54.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1821.

Price 7d.

BANK OF ENGLAND, Dec. 20, 1821.

THE COURT of DIRECTORS, decirous of facilitating the Circulation of a Metallic Currency throughout the Country, DO CHEMBEY GIVE NOTICE, that they will REMIT ANY QUANTITY of the GOLD COIN of the REALM, on and after the 1st of JANUARY, 1923, to any of the Principal Towns in England and Wales, free of expence, in Sams not less than Three Thousand Pounds, on application being made to the Chief Cushier, prior to the 1st of Pebruary next, and the amount prepiously paid into the Bank of England. R. BEST, Secretary. NEW MUSIC.-Just published.

The Chief Osshler, prior to the let of February next, and the amount presistant paid into the Bank of England.

**REST** REST**, Severtary.

**NEW MUSIC.**—Just published.**

**HART'S FOURTH SET OF QUADRILLES.**

**BESRS**, MAYHEW and Co. Music Sellers to Her Royal desires and the Nobility and Co. Music Sellers to Her Royal Highwess the Buchess of Kent, 17. Old Bond-street, have the honour demonstrate go to the Nobility and Gentry, that they have just published HART'S FOURTH. SET of QUADRILLES, (including OEORGE the FOURTH CORONATION WALTZ), with eatherly savel Figures, in the FOURTH CORONATION WALTZ), with eatherly savel Figures, in the Fourth and English Biyla, as danced at Almand's and the Nobilities' Bails' esampseed and arranged fee the Finon Forts or Harp, and must hambly dedicated, by permission, to His Mest Gracious Majesty King George the Fourth, by his delified subject and serverant, Juseph Hart, price 4s.

**The fashlomable celebrity which those elegant and tasteful Quadrilles have enjustly acquired, is the best estogram in their praise.** There is a variety is the foot ensemble which affords the highest gratification to the real lovers of Selones, Grace, and Harmony.

**Londan**: Published by Maytew and Co. Music Sellers*: 17. Old Bond-street; where may be had HART'S CELEBRATED**—LES HUSSARS, "SCOTCH and HRISH QUADRILLES; all of which are inconstant demand.

**PANISH MELODIES**, with Symphonies and Accompaniments for the Plane Forte, by Sela, and Chapacteristic Poetry, written by I. R. Flanche, Ben., price 10s. 6d. The Parting Moments, by Corrie, 1s. 6d. The World of the Plane Forte, by Sela, and Chapacteristic Poetry, written by I. R. Flanche, Ben., price 10s. 6d. The Parting Moments, by Corrie, 1s. 6d. The World of the Plane Forte, by Sela, and Chapacteristic Poetry, written by I. R. Flanche, Ben., price 10s. 6d. The Parting Moments, by Corrie, 1s. 6d. The World of the Plane Forte, by Will and the Leddy, by LaJour, 1s. 6d.

*Published and sold by Chappell and Co. Music Sellers to His Majesty, Nos.

TO THE GENEROUS AND HUMANE.

CLERGYMAN of the ESTABLISHED CHURCH, advanced in Bie, and considerably impaired in health, with Twelve Chitdren, and debts which be is wholly unable to discharge, without deeper and indeed inviterable rois, accumulated though the pressure of the times and the great number of his family, approlithes a generous public with the humble but anxious hope, that they will chamblerate his case, relieve his pressent wants, and deliver him, by their united efforts, from the agonizing, yet indescribable, miseries of his fruly unhappy situation.

Bubseriptions will be received by Messrs. Ransom and Co Bankers, 24, Pall Mall; Messra. Jones, Lloyd, and Co. Bankers, 43, I othibury; at all which houses reference, the most respectable, may be obtained, as to the character of the supplicant, and the veracity of this statement.

Suprescribed 450 0 | S.G. £10 0 | R. of C. 250 | W. 20 0 | M. paley 1 1 | R. S. 100 | R. S. 100 | M. Paley 1 1 | From Chiswick 1 0 | From Chiswick 1 0 | From Chiswick 1 0 | From Chiswick 2 | Connexious as an

ANTED, a YOUTH of respectable connexions as an APPRENTICE, by an old established House in the LINEN-DRA-PERY LINE.—A Premium will be expected.—For particulars apply to Meers. Mair, Son, and Thomas, 60, Friday-street.

Positively next week will be published, in 1 vol.

MORNING in CORK-STREET; or, RAISING the WIND: a Satirical Novel; wherein most of our hope 'ul Young Sprigs of Nobility will cat a conspionous figure—the Character of Money-leaders laid open—and a faithful portrait given of Modern Money-borrowers—a list too numerous for an Advertisement.

Printed for J. Johnston, 98, Cheapside.

Printed for J. Johnston, 28, Cheapside.

On the lat of January will be published, No. 1, of an entire!; New Work, to be completed in 6, embellished with highly-finished Plates, by the first Artista, price 2s.

IFE. IN THE COUNTRY; or, ECCENTRICITIES and JODDITYES: enablishing real and original Scenes of Rural Life.—By An OLD SPORTSMAN.

In Whiter—Life in Lendon's well enough,
A warm and confortable sort of stuff.

For Summer—give 1.6 somewhat light and gay—
Life in the Country's then the Time of Day !!!
London: Printed for J. Johnston, 28, Cheapside; and A. M. Graham,

Loye is the Country's tines the Time of Day II.

London: Printed for J. Johnston, 98, Cheapside; and A. M. Graham, College Green, Dublin.

Will be published on January 1, 1822,

THE BRIGHTON MAGAZINE. No. I.

—"The King's name is a tower or strength,
Which those upon the adverse faction want."

London: W. Sams, Bookseller to His Royal Highness the Duke of York,
St. James's-stret: Wetton and Jarvis, 65, Paternoster-row; and J. M.
Richardson, Cornbill; T. Loder, and J. Cordwell, Brighton: Delighton and Sous, Cambridge; and Munday and Slatter, Oxford; where Communications, addressed to the Editor (post paid) are received.

addressed to the Editor (post paid) are received.

COBONATION OF HIS MOST GHACIOUS MAJESTY GEORGE IV.
Patronised by the Royal Family.—Shortly will be published,
New, elegant and precise Pictorial REPRESENTATION of the Order of PROCESSION to the CORONATION of his present MAJESTY, which has been honoured with the approbation and patronage of the Royal Family and of the Nobility in general. This highly interesting production, which extends to the length of ten yards, contains faithful representations of every individual in the Procession, together with the exact Custume, and the Banners, Regalia, &c. Price Two Guineas, in an unique and portable Box; or it is calculated for framing.—A Specimen may be seen, with a List of Subscripton, at the Publisher's, W. Sams, Bookseller to his Boyal Highness the Duke of York, 1, St. James's-street.

Terms of Subscription to the Library may be had on application.

NEW ARGYLL ROOMS.—GRAND MASQUERADE.

THE MANAGERS of the MASQUERADE, advertised to be given at these Rooms, on Thibridge, the 7th of December, having been authoritatively restricted from giving that Latertainment at Hast-acquire and Telect, hog leave to inform the Nobility, Gentry, and the Public, that the Price of Admission is abaved to ORE GUINEA, including Supperad Refroshmenta.—The Nobility, Gentry, and Public, see respectfully informed, that, on THURSDAY, DISCEMBER 27, 1821, there will be given, at the above Rooms, a GRAND MASQUERADE, upon the occasion of the festive season, under the managements of a party of gentlemes, who pledge themselves that every exertion shall be made to render this Masquerede in every respect gratifying to the levels of this species of entertainment. The Coldstroam Band, under the diversion of Mr. Willman; Litolife Quadrille Band; and the oclebrated Pandesch from Vaturhall, will perfers in the different Rooms.—The BUPPER will be provided by Mr. Sharp, of Cheapide, who so satisfaries the male the massure his Friends and the Public that he will use every exertion to make this pert of the Enjarationment mout elegant and satisfactory.—The Wills will be served by Mr. Wright, of the Opera Colomade, who also supplied the above Maquerades, and who pledges himself to the Managers and the Public that they shall be of the first quality, and served at reasonable prios—printed late of which will be placed in the rooms, to prevent imposition—The Proprietors of the Rooms have made, in this department, as arrangement with the Managers of this entertainment, that will, upon this and all future occasions, insure to the public the atmost satisfaction; a bar, control with the cellars, will be erected in the Supper Room; so that the wises will be served upon table cool from the sellars, to prevent that disappointment which frequently occurs in supplying wises at public rooms, on the Admission of the Managers are requested to be made.—No person will be admissed to the Mode.—Pamilies withing to regale t

Character Tickets may alone be had.

Just published, 8vs. price 15s.

ARDANAPALUS, a Tragedy. The TWO FOSCARI, a Tragedy. CAIN, a Mystery.—By the Right Hon LORD BYRON.

Printed for John Murray, Albemarie street.

Just published, 8vo. price 9e 6d.

ETTERS of MARY LEPEL, LADY HERVEY. With Illustrative Notes.

Printed for John Murray, Albertarie-street.

Barly in January will be published, by G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Marialane, London, in I vel. 8vo

TRANCE FOR THE LAST SEVEN YEARS, containing many Facts, and much valuable information bithorto unknown, with Anecdo:es, Jenx d'Esprite, &c. &c.—By W. H. IRELAND, Member and Ancient of the Athenseum of Science and Avis ht Paris.

Ancient of the Atheneum of Science and Aris in Frais.

Just published, in 1 vol. small Svo piles 5s. 6d. hoards,

THE PLEASURES of CONVERSATION, a Poem.—By WILLIAM COOKE, So., a New Edition enlarged, with Poetical

Portraits of the principal Characters of Dr. Johnson's Club.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Consult-atree!

Just published, in I vol. crown two. price 9c. 6d.

A DICTIONARY of FRENCH HUMONYMED TOTAL Naw
Of French Expressions similar in sound, but differing a signification, illustrated by numerous Auscodete, Jeax de Meta, &c. particularly designed for those who are desirous of sequiring the Language of Social Intercourse.

By D. BOILEAU.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Consults street.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co. Conduit-street.

Lately published, in 8vo. price 16s. 8d. beards,

HISTORY of PRUITS known in GREAT BRITAIN.—

By HENRY PHILLIPS.

"We know of no class of reader's which is not such obliged to Mr. Phillips for this very useful and year entertaining publication. It is one of those popular works, which, combining in a happy degree the pleasing with the instructive, tasch us science as an autosement, and pronote information and improvement by lively aneedote and curious story. From the most learned horiculturist, to the least annious epiceure that bites an apple, this volume deserves a friendly reception; and we are sure that it only needs to be known to become a favourite. For extent of in ornation, utility, and most of the originalities, which can be desired in a production of i.e kind, it is really deserving of the warnest culogy."—Literary Onzette.

Printed for Henry Colburn and Co Conduit-atreet.

OCTAVO EDITION OF ITALY.

OCTAVO EDITION OF ITALY.

Just published, handesmely printed in 3 vols. 8vo. a New Edition of TALY.—By Lady MORGAN, Author of "France," Florence Mararthy, O Bonnel, &c.—The Publishers beg to layife the attention of the Public to the following independent criticisms on this interesting tion of the Public to the following independent criticisms on this interesting work:—

Lady Morgan's View of Italy combines the high tone of philosophy with the most gay and familiar descriptions of the life and manners of the very mixed societies to which she had access: and her opportunities were lightly favourable to the tank she had in view. Besides its political discussions, the miscellany of this tour is delightful. It abound, with accesses of the most instructive and anuning kind.—Morgan Chronicle.

"We have travelled the Garden of Europe before, but seldom with as entertaining a companion as Lady Morgan. She wholes list seldom with as entertaining a companion as Lady Morgan. She wholes list wand of the Universe with almost an enchantress's power. Description, rymark, character, ancedote, incident, minule in so rapid and sprightly succession, that our attention is kept constantly on the alert, from the beginning to the end of her peregrinations, extending from the Aligs to Italy, remotest himsels. All her fee ings and opinions are on what may be called the right side, generous, benevolent, and liberal. She posiceses a "rong agin of idicule, but, with a few exceptions, her shafts are tempored with Splace; and good-nature."

Star

iew exceptions, her shalts are tempered with effects and good-nature."—

Lady Morgan appears to have been extratedy industrious in the examination of the Jourhals of former Tourists over the same spots with herself, and most alphy fifustrates or corrects their remarks. In some cases she dives deeper, and throws stronger lights; in others, she removes the veil of obloguy, or fa'se colouring, which either the felticus prejudices, the party apirit, or blind enthusiasm of the respective writers, had endeavoured to cast over the objects, the men, or the institutions they described. The genius of Lady Morgan, long eminently graceful to the fiterature of her country, has here achieved a production which will secure to her immortal remove."— Autora Borealis.

here achieved a production which will secure to her immortal renown."— Aurora Borealis.

"This is a work that will largely occupy public attention. It is by far the most important work which its author has as yet undertaken. It is not a classical tour, nor a picturesque tour; but it contains a rich harvest of "middle age" anecdote, abounding with such traits of the domestic, social, and political life of the great Republics of Italy, as sannot tail of exciting an intense interest. The gravity and massiveness of the subject have not, however, prevented the author from induleing largely in those humourous and striking details of real life, which form the cherm of her more recent novels."

—Dublin Weekly Register.

"Lady Morgan has given a more information on the actual state of society in Italy at the present moment, than can be found in any of the numerous publications which have made their appearance since the peace."

—New Mantally Mag.

"This is not merely a work of opinions expressed in the ornamental style of the writer. It is a substantial account of Italy, and may be consulted for its facts by the historian, the traveller, and the topographer."—Monthly Mag.

"We may cochapte her lighter and happier efforts, to those schools of mainting which she seems most to adulte—the Dutch, Flenish, and Venetian, Of these the characteristics are brilliant colouring, contrast, variety, bustle, spirited details, pleasing initation; and in such traits consist the excellence of Lady Morgan." Monthly Review, Nov.

London: Printed for Henry Colbura and Co. Conduit-street; sold also by Bell and Bradfute, Edinburgh; John Camaning, Dublin; and retailed by every Bookseller throughout the kingdom.

COVENT-GARDEN and DRURY-LANE THEATRES.—
To be LET, by the NIGHT, a large PRIVATE BOX at Covent-Garden Theatre, situated on the Tier over the Dress Circle, towards the entre of the House, most comfortably fitted up with an anti-room, fire, &c. and every way calculated for a large party of distinction.—Also other Bares, well situated, and excellent Bexes at Brury-lane.—Apply at J. Andrews's New Circulating Library, 167, New Bond-street, near Grafton-street.—N.B. Opera Boxes taken till Easter, er, for any period that may suit, the convenience of the Subscribers.

TACCATCON.—A benefit of Characterian middless of the Covenience.

TACATION.—A beneficed Clergyman, within a few miles of Loadon, wash willing of clergyman, within a few miles of Loadon, wash willingly receive a YOUNU GENTLEMAN into his Heves, and superintend the continuance of his Studies during the Vazzlea of the Palki Schools or Universities.—Letters to be directed for Rev. A. B. to the care of Mr. Pearman, Library, 170, New Band-street, London.

MEDICAL GENTLEMAN, in extensive Practice is desirous of taking as an APPRENTICE a respectable Youth, about 16, and of liberal Education.—For Particulars apply, if by letter, post-paid, to Mr. Sayer, Apothecaries Hall.

CARDS of Terms of a respectable CLASSICAL BOARDING SCHOOL for YOUNG ORNTLEMEN, in the Neighbourhood of Cambon Hill, Messington, may be had at Messrs. T. and G. Duderwood, Booksellers, 32, Flect-street, and at Mr. Railer's Museum, Pleasifily.

SUPERIOR HOLIDAY PRESENTS for YOUNG PERSONS.

TVABART'S FAIRY TALES, with 27 coloured Engray-

THE BOOK of TRADES, with 100 Engravings, 10s. 6d. GEOGRAPHY is VERSE, with 24 Engravings, 5s.
THE HUNDRED WONDERS of the WORLD, with 100 Engravings,

4. THE HUNDRED WONDERS of the HEAVENS, with 50 Engravings, 10s. 6d.
5. THE WONDERS of the HEAVENS, with 50 Engravings, 10s. 6d.
7. SCRIPTURE BIOGRAPHY, with 25 Engravings, 7s.
8. GALTS ANECROTES, from English, Scottish, and Islah History, 2 vols, with 36 Engravings, 14s.
9. TRAVELS of ROLANDO, 2 vols 10s. 6d.
10. BRITISH OROGRAPHY, or State of the British Empire, with 110 Extravings, 5s. 6d.

10. BRITISH OBOURARY; of cate of the British ampire, with 110 Edgravings, 5s. 6d.

11. THE VOCAL LIBRARY of 2)00 Songs, 10s. 6d.

12. THE ANECDOTE LIBRARY; of 2500 Anecdotes, 10s. 6d.

13. THE UNIVERSAL TRAVELLER, or Modern Travels in the Four'
Quarters of the World, with 100 Engravings, 10s. 6d.

14. JOHNSON'S ELEMENTS of CLASSICAL LITERATURE, with 110 Engravings. Sa.

15. BIOGRAPHICAL CLASS BOOK, of 500 LIVES, with 150 Portraits, price 7s.

16. MITCHELL'S UNIVERSAL CATECHIST, with 200 Engravings, 7s.

17. GUPFORD'S ABRIDGMENT of BLACKSTONE'S COMMENTARIBS, 15s.

18. HISTORY of all RELIGIONS and RELIGIOUS, CEREMONIES, with 100 Engravings, 1cs. 6d.

Printed for Sir Richard Phillips and Co. and to be had of all Booksellers; by whom they are generally kept on Sale for the inspection of the Public.

Molteno, Pall Mail.

Just published, in 3 wais, post five, price il. Ilu. 6d. hoards, PIHE PRATE; a Romance, by the Author of "Waverley,"

"Emisworth," &c. &c.

Printed for Archivald Constable and Co. Edinburgh; and Hurst, Robinson, and Co. 80, Cheapside, Leadon; of whom may be had.

2, ILLUSTRATIONS of the NOVELS and TALES of the AUTHOR of WAVERLEY, in Twelve Prints, with Vignette Title. Engraved by Warren, Engleheari, Heath, Romey, Lizars, &c.; from original Designs by William Allan. In 12me. Il. 4s.—8vo. 1l. 11s. 6d.—Proofs, on India Paper, Imperial $1s. 2l. 12s. 6d. Bitto before the letters, Calombier $to. 2l. 3s.

LAST NIGHT'S GAZETTE.

WAR-OFFICE, Dec 21, 1821.

3d Regt, of Drag. Guards—Cornet G. Todd to be Cornet, vice Grant.

5th Ditts—Lieut. W. Hedgeon to be Capt vice Creek.

7th Ditto—Lieut. W. Hedgeon to be Capt vice Creek.

7th Ditto—Lieut. G. Nugeat, to be Lieut. vice Creeklet.

2d Regt. of Drags.—Lieut. R. Innes to be the Conclet.

18th Ditto—D. T. Cunynghams, Gent. W. & Gentlet. Vice McConchy.

18th Ditto—D. T. Cunynghams, Gent. W. & Gentlet. Vice Lawrenson.

18th Ditto—Lieut. J. Luard to be Capt. Vice Watchis.—To be Lieuta.: Cornets.

W. Graham, vice Luard; Lieut. J. Creekley, vice Nugeat; Lieut. A. A.

M. Cunchy, vice Tuite.—To be Cornets., by purchase: C. R. Collina, Gent. vice Breadhead; C. F. Havelock, Gent. vice Graham.

19th Ditto—P. Cualmers, Gent. to be Cornets, vice Dashwood, 18th Ditto—Bevet Lieut.-Col. H. Hardy to be Major, vice Homas.

18th Ditto—Capt. T. Raper to be Capt. vice Hardy.

22d Ditto—Surg. W. Chambers to be Surg. vice Black, 23d Ditto—Lieut. G. B. Soott to be Lieut. vice Wemyss.

25th Ditto—Lieut. G. B. Soott to be Lieut. vice Williams.

49th Ditto—Lieut. G. B. Soott to be Lieut. vice Holland.

84th Ditto—Capt. P. E. Craigie to be Capt. vice Rainey; Lieut. J. Brock-47th Ditto—Ensign R. Maccloudd to be Ensign, vice Williams.

49th Ditto—Leut. L. H. Pellichody to be Lieut. troe Holland.
56th Ditto—Capt. P. E. Craigie to be Capt. vice Rainey; Lieut. J. Brockmant to be Lieut. Vice Pack.
63d Fi to—Ensign L. C. Viscount Falkland to be Ensign vice Kershawe.
69th Ditto—Lieut. Hon. R. King, to be Lieut. vice Bailey; 78th Ditto—Ens. W. Beales, to be Lieut. vice Marquis, dec.—Ensign A.
Montressor, to be Ens. vice Beales.
79th Ditto—Ens. A. Brown, to be Ens. vice Græme.
82d Ditto—Paymaster J. Wil iams, to be Paymaster, vice Ottley.
84th Ditto—Lieut. A. P. Pack, to be Lieut. vice Brockman.
85th Ditto—Lieut. W. A. Streel, to be Capt. vice Bassien.—Ens. L. Græme, to be Lieut vice Steel.—Ens. W. R. Derenzy, to be Ens. vice Thomas.
2d West India Reg.—Capt. A. Grant, to be Major, vice Lord.—Lieut. J.
Peel, to be Capt. vice Grant.
Hosp. Staf.—Tobe Hosp.-Ass. to the Forces.—J. Matr. M.D. vice Gilleaple, dez.—H. Kinnis, M.D. vice Caleman.—Hosp.-Ass. J. Blair, vice White.

GRIFFIS, T. High-row, Knightshridge, plumber.
CHURCHILL, S. Cadnou-row, Westminster, wine and spirit merchant.
GRAYSON, R. Wigan, cotton spinner.
ADCOCK, H. W. Birmingham, dealer.
MUNRO, G. Commercial Bale-rooms, Minolug-lane, wine-merchant.
FORBE-4, C. M. Liverpool, merchant.
CROAKER, C. Upper Farm, Crayford, farmer.
CHRISTIE, C. Cigment's-lane, insurance-broker.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

WHITEHALL, Dec. 17.

This Gazette contains the elevation to the dignity of Baronet of Angustine Fitzgerald, of Newmarket on Fergus, in the county of Clare, Esq. Major-General in the Army; Heary Brooke, of Cole Brooke, in the county of Fermanagh, Esq.

Commissions in the North Somerset Regiment of Yeomanry Cavairy.

George Messiter, Esq. to be Captain; Richard Strother Fussell; John Stroud, Gents to be Lieuts; Henry Miller, Gent, to be Cornet.

PARTERSHIPS DISSOLVED.

Stroud, Gents, to be Lients, i Henry Miller, Gent, to be Cornet, PARTNERSHIPS DISSOLVED.

Plummer and Magnus, Boston, milliners.—Andrew and Frewer, Upper Thames-street, plumbers.—Pride and Ninnis, Liverpool, boot-makers.—J. and S. (diflord, Clentham-mills, Dorsetshire, dax-spinners.—Lund and Warmoll, Brewer-street, Somer s-town, grocers.—Barlew and Mason, Waltingstree, wholesale-ironmonigers.—Myers, Denison, and Lister, Leeds, teadealers.—G. and J. Millner, Manches er, grocers.—Hoyle, Lord, and Chatburn, Itwell Springs, Lancashire, calico-printers.—Edwards and Copner, Gloucester, builders.—Kirke and Jarman, Battersea-fields, tampers.—Solomon, Lewis, and Solomon, Charing-cross, army-tailors.—Dance and Smith, Bislopyagate street Without, butchers.—Vacher and Linthorne, Poole, coal-merchants.—Emerson and Howell, jun. Bristol, braziers.—Humphries and Major, Frome-Selwood, woolstaplers.

BANKEUPTCY SUPERSEDED.

DRIVER, N. Steanbridge, cluthier

BANKEUPTCY.

BANKFUPTS.

BANKRUPTS.
BAMFORD, R. Pontefract, maltister,
BARRATT, A. Newport Pagnell, farmer.
BINGHAM, R. Gosport, banker.
CALLANAN, D. and WALSH, T. King-street, Wapping, soap-makers.

BINGHAM, R. Cosport, banker.
CALLANAN, D. and WALSH, T. King-street, Wapping, soap-makers.
CALLANAN, D. and WALSH, T. King-street, Wapping, soap-makers.
CALEAVB, S. Warringten, shopkeeper.
GLEAVB, S. Warringten, shopkeeper.
ELSE, S. Tredegar Iron-works, shopkeeper.
JARVIS, E. Norwich, carpenter.
MARSHALL, W. H. Bristol, ship-broker.
PARR, J. Pilkington, check-manufacturer.
PATTISON, C. St. Noots, ironmonger.
STAPES, G. C. Halifax, woolstapler.
TURNER, G. Liverpool, merchant.
WILDMAN, J. Fen-court, Fenchurch-street, merchant.
DIVIDENDS.
Jan. 5, J. Ritson, Carlis e, tallow-chandler.—Jan. 8, A. Richardsen, York-street, Mary-le-home, and T. Welch, Cleveland-street, builders.—Jan. 8, H. Lucy, Topsley, Herefordshire, builder.—Jan. 12, B. Fenner, Feuchurch-street Chambers, flour-factor.—Jan. 12, D. G. Davie and S. A. Snowden, Plymouth-dock, drapers.—Jan. 12, P. and I. Blackburn, Plymouth, Stripbuilders.—Jan. 8, G. Perfect, Jan West Malling, surgeon.—Jan. 19, T. Gowland, Great Winchester-street, merchant —Jan. 26, W. Pullevn, Leadenhall, street, goidsmith.—Jan. 12, D. Campbell, B. Harper, and A. Baillie, Old Jewry, merchants.—Jan. 19, G. Davyer, Exchange-alley, underwriter.—Jan. 22, W. Wilson, Fenchard-street, merchant.—Jan. 12, B. Bourdillon, Walthamstow, insurance-broker.—Jan. 22, E. Cohen, London, merchant.—Jan. 26, W. F. A. Dufour, Berners-street, jeweller.—Jan. 10, R. Clarke, Bucheden, Huntingdonshire, grocer.—Dec. 29, G. M. Thurkle, Newsstreet-square, wine-merchant.—Jan. 10, J. Worsley, Liverpool, wine-merchant.—Jan. 10, G. G. Watts, Chichester, hatter.—Dec. 27, M. Vaughau and G. Appleton, Liverpool, straw-bounet-manufacturers.—Feb. 5, J. W. A. Snogga and J. Walley, Lime-street, merchants.—Feb. 9, T. Dove, Maldea, linen-draper.

—ERTIFICATES.—Jan. 8.

M. Forster, Newcastle-npon-Tyne, grocer.—T. Hart, Bridport, grocer.—J. Davies, Mitcheldean, draper.—J. March, Rotherham, grocer.—J. Callow, Princes-street, Soho, medical-bookseller.—J. Spear, Shefield, merchant.—

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

Paries, Mitcheldean, drager—J. March, Rotherham, grover.—J. Callow, Princes-street, Soho, medical-bookseller.—J. Spear, Sheffield, merchant.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

Paris, Dec. 16.—" Royal Ordonutnees,"—" Louis, by the Grace of God, &c. We have ordered, and do order as follows:—The Sieur Peyronnet, Member of the Chamber of Deputies, is appointed Minister Secretary of State for the department of Justice and Keeper of the Seals. Viscount Montmorency, Peer of France, Minister Secretary of State for the department of Foreign Affairs. Marshal the Duke of Belluno, Peer of France, Minister Secretary of State for the department of the Interior. The Marquis de Clermont Tonnerre, Peer of France, Minister Secretary of State for the department of the Interior. The Marquis de Clermont Tonnerre, Peer of France, Minister Secretary of State for the department of the Marine. The Sieur de Villele, Member of the Chamber of Deputies, Minister Secretary of State for the department of our Household is charged with the execution of the present ordonnance. Given at Paris, from the Castle of the Tuleries, Dec. 14, in the year of grace 1821, and the 27th of our reign.

(Byorder of the King) "LAURISTON, "Minister Secretary of State for the department of our Household is charged with the execution of the present ordonnance. Given at Paris, from the Castle of the Tuleries, Dec. 14, in the year of grace 1821, and the 27th of our reign.

(Byorder of the King) "LAURISTON, "Minister Secretary of State for the Royal Household." "The Count de Serve, the Marquis of Latons—Maubourg to be Governor of the Invalids. Count Simeon, Baron Portal, to be Ministers of State, and M. Roy, are made Feers. Count Foreign and Marquis of Latons—Maubourg to be Governor of the Invalids. Count Simeon, Baron Mounier are called to the ordinary duties of the Council of State, and attached to the Council of the Ordinary duties of the Council of State, and attached to the Council of Ministers of State, and attached to the Council of Ministers of State, and attached to th has also commanded us to lay before the Chamber the following ordonnance,"—(An almost universal movement of satisfaction.)

ROYAL ORDONNANCE.—"Louis, &c.—The project of law relative to the continuation of the law of March 31, 1820, and of July 26, 1821, is withdrawn.—Our Keeper of the Seals is entrusted with the execution of this Ordonnance.

"Dated Drc., 15, 1821. (Signed) "LOUIS."

The reading of this document was followed with strong marks of approbation from the right side, and with unequivocal symptoms of impatience on the left.

MM. Demarsais, Mechin, &c.—"By whom is this Ordonnance countersigned?"

M. de Peyronnet (as he was descending from the Tribune) answered coldly—"By the Keeper of the Seals."—(New signs of impatience.)—Several voices.—"Which?"—Voices on the Right.—"There are not two keepers of the Seals."—Voices from the Centre.—"What! have you not read the Moniteur."

M. de Gerardin.—"This Keeper of the Seals surely has a name."—(Violent marks of disapprobation from the right and centre.)—In the midst of this confusion, M. de Peyronnet resumed his seat with an air of great indifference.

The President, after formally recognizing the ordonnance just presented, stated that he had received the following letter:—M. President,—"Being called to the Ministry since our appointment o be Members of the Committee on the Budget, we think it our duty to request you to desire the Committees who chose us to proceed to a new election. "De VILLELE and CORBIERE." M. de Gerardin.—"These gentlemen ought also to give in their resignation of their functions of Vice-Presidents of the Chamber."—The President then invited the first and fourth Committees to choose Members instead of MM. Villele and Corbiere.—There being then no farther business before the Chamber, it broke up without any day being fixed for the next meeting.

In the Moniteur of the 16th inst. are several Royal Ordonnances, by virtue of which the Count de Serre, the Marquis de Latour Maubourg, Count Simeon, and Baron Portal, are nominated Ministers of State, and Members of the Privy Council. Count Simeon, Baron Portal, and M. Roy, also, "in testimony of their good and loyal services," are clevated to the Peerage. The Marquis de Latour Maubourg is appointed Governor of the Hotel des Invalids, Count Portals and Baron Mounier, are called to the ordinary service of the Council of State, and attached to the Committee of Legislation; and M. Proc de la Boulaye, at his own solicitation, passes from the ardinary to the extraordinary service of the Council of State.

A private letter from Paris mentions it as probable that the Duke de Richelieu will return to Russia, and resume his station as Governor of Odessa.

DEC 17.—M. de Clermont Tonnerre was yesterday admitted to take the oaths before His Majesty, in his quality of Minister of Marine.

Saturday, at noon, MM. the Duke de Richelieu, Ex-President of the Council; Roy, Ex-Minister of Finance; Portal, Ex-Minister of the Marine; and Pasquier, Ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs, were received by the King. Baron Mounier, Director-General of the Police Department, resigned his functions on the same day that Count Simeon, Minister of the Interior, vacated his office.—Couviers extraordinary have been dispatched to our Ambassadors at all the Courts of Europe to acquaint them of the formation of the new Ministry.

that Count's Simeon, Minister of the Interior, vacated his office.
Couniers extraordinary have been dispatched to our Ambassadors at all the Courts of Europe to acquaint them of the formation of the new Ministry.

Bayonne, Dec. 7.—A number of families have passed through this place on their way to France, whither they have fled in consequence of the disturbed state of the interior of Spain. They report that the greatest discontents and disorganization prevail in Arragon and Catalonia; that no persons of property are safe there, unless they embrace the popular cause; that open rebellion has been declared in many situations; and that there is a complete system of correspondence among the disaffected from one end of the kingdom to the other.

Dec. S.—On the 27th ult. Mina assessed a heavy contribution on the middle classes of Gallicia, and especially upon the nobility and clergy, for the subsistence of his troops, and this measure has met with general approbation at Corunna. At the same time he has nominated a Provisional Junta of Government, which has declared all the ports of Gallicia free to foreign vessels, upon payment of a very moderate duty. He has also diminished the direct contribution.

A letter from Frankfort, dated Dec. 10, says—"A person of distinction in this city has received a letter of recent date from Frankfort, which confirms the report that Lord Strangford has no longer the same influence with the Divan, and that he has now very seldom conferences with the Grand Vizier.

It is said, under the head of Weimar, that letters have been received there from Petersburgh, which mention that Baron Strogonoff was to be introduced i mediately into the Ministry, and that the greatest activity prevailed in the War Department.

The Greeks, on taking Tripolizza, finding the Turks had murdered seven Bishops detained as hostages, are said to have mussacred 2000 Turks, besides 13,000 others of all ages and both sexes.

Madurn, Dec. 6.—Yesterday, at half past three in the afternoon, their Majesties and their Royal eagerly expected, on the centical situation of Spain, on the means of remedy, and on the measures which Ministers have already adopted.

Very scandalous scenes have taken place at Pampelima; the garrison and militim of that place have outraged Royal dignity in the most disgraceful manner. A sort of procession took place; the band played the air, "Tragala," and a pig was led with the bust of the King on his back. Gallicia is entirely in the power of Mina, where he levies contributions. Arragon also appears in a state of insurrection. It continues to be affirmed, that ere the end of the month Madrid will be invaded by Riego and Mina. Their projects, which their partizans do not conceal, are to expel the Bourbon Family, and to form a Federative Republic.

A letter from Constantinople, of the 10th November, states, that the Austrian Ambassador there had received an important dispatch from Prince Metternich, which induced him to demand a conference with the Reis Effendi; but this interview had not taken place, in consequence of the change of the Ottoman Minister.

Baretrona, Dec. 6.—Several incendiary pamphlets, in which insurrection is openly advocated, have been distributed in profusion; the Captain-General has, rather clandestinely, introduced 300 soldiers and warlike stores into the Citadel, in which the Commandant of Barcelona has shut himself up. As soon as this event was known, the militia caused a general muster to be sounded, and spontaneously assembled to the number of 4000, shouting "Death to the Serviles."—An attempt was made to surprise Mont-Jouy; but this failed.—The populace are very vehement, and openly avow their intention of repulsing the authorities, should they present themselves to re-enter Barcelona.—The election of the Regidors at Sarria gave rise to violent commotions. The President of the Assembly was ill-treated, and struck; a conflict with knives took place, in which many were wounded.

conflict with knives took place, in which many were wounded.

SLAVE TRADE.—By a file of Gazettes received from Sierra Leone to the 14th of October, we are informed that the slave trade, the abolished" slave trade, was at no period so extensive or so prosperous as it is now;—never so productive of human misery, or so branded by the rapacity and cruelty of its practitioners. They contain a list of upwards of forty slave ships, examined by, or known to, the British cruizers on one part only of the coast of Africa, in the course of the months of July, August, and September. Of these vessels, thirty-two are described to be capable of stowing (as the unbappy creatures are at present stowed) from 11,000 or 12,000 victims.—A French schooner lately sailed from the coast of Africa, with 200 slaves, for Cayenne; and this naval engine of torture was so constructed, that as a provision for each slave, in a voyage across the Atlantic, and between the Tropics, she could hold no more than nine gallons of water.—The settlements on the Gold Coast had been unhealthy this year. Among the deaths are those of the Governor General of the Dutch settlement at Accra, and Mr. Gordon, Governor of the English settlements of the same place.

Dispatches and private letters had been received from Rio Ja-of the same place.

Dispatches and private letters had been received from Rio Janeiro of 25th October. From the tenor of the previous accounts, a strong suspicion was entertained, that on the 12th of that month, being the Prince Regent's birth-bay, he would be declared King of the Brazils. That day had, bowever, passed off much more quietly than had been expected.

the Brazils. That day had, however, passed off much more quietly than had been expected.

Halifax papers to the 25th ult. state, that the General Assembly of that Province had been prorogned from the 13th of December to the 14th of Feb., when it was to meet for the dispatch of business.—A very afflicting event has taken place in Frederickstown: Mr. G. Whitmore, son of the Attorney-General, has been mortally wounded in a duel with Mr. G. F. Street; they were both attorneys, and have young families. Mrs. Whitmore, on receiving the dreadful intelligence, became almost senseless.

General Bolivar had gone to Cueuta, the present seat of the Columbian Government, to take upon himself the functions of President, and to concur with the Executive and Congress respecting the further measures necessary to consolidate the independence of the country. Cumana had surrendered to the Independents as well as Carthagena; and an expedition was meditated against Panama, with which Lord Cochrane was expected to co-operate. Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—James Allen (a Black) was found guilty of the murder of his father.

Extract from a letter from Havannah, dated November 12:—
"Yesterday the former Viceroy of Mexico, Count de Venadito and family arrived here in the ship Asia, from Vera Cruz. O'Donojn fell a victim to the climate fever. Every thing remains here quiet and peaceable.—The Spanish ship of war, Asia, had arrived at Havannah from Vera Cruz, with 2,000,000 of dollars on board, and was shortly to proceed on her voyage to Cadiz.—A plan of insurrection by the negroes had been discovered at Havannah, who had formed the design of murdering all the white population.

The House of Assembly in Jamaica met, pursuant to proclamation, on the 23d of October, for the dispatch of business. A Bill for continuing the salary of the Duke of Manchester (3,000 a-year) during his temporary absence was introduced by Mr. Cox, but rejected; the number being 12 for the Bill—15 against it.

Falmotta, (Jamaica), Oct. 27.—On Friday a Special Slave Court was held at the Court House in this town, when Tommy, alias Tom Brown, and Hamlet, were indicted as principals in the willful murder of Mr. Henry Edwards, their late overseer, on Linton Park Estate, on Thursday night, the 30th Aug. last, by inflicting several wounds on his head, of which wounds he ingered until Saturday the 1st Sept. when he expired; and Sparks and Coffee, the first and second drivers, belonging to the said estate, were indicted as accessories before the fact.—Murphy, a principal in the murder, was admitted King's evidence. They laid wan for Mr. Edwards six nights, at different times and places. The night on which he was killed, witness was half asleep when Mr. Edwards came home, and he attempted twice to open the gate with a unplijack without getting off his mule; witness then went behind him, and struck him a blow on the head with a large stick, and he immediately fell from his mule. Tom struck him next, and afterwards Hamlet. Mr. Edwards never spoke a word after the first blow was given, and they left him for dead.—They were all found Guilty, and (with the exception of Cuffee, on Sunday night) were extended at Mount Wilton on the body of R. A. Murder was committed at Mount Wilton on the body of R. A. Ellock, Esq. by several negroes, the principal of whom was one Jeffery, a confidential servant of Mr. E. s. They nearly severe his head from his body.

IRELAND.

DISTURBED DISTRICTS.

On the night of Thursday, the laggard of the Rev. Mr. Gash, situate between Macroom and Carrigadrohid, containing ten stacks of corn, was set fire to and consumed. On Wednesday night the house of Mr. Ward, in Mitchelstown, was entered by three or four ruffians, with their faces blackened and otherwise disguised; they made a diligent search for arms. On Monday last Gorge Montgomery and Clutterbuck Crone, Esqrs. Magistrates, seized the gunpowder in the possession of the different retailers of that article in this neighbourhood, and also took arms from a number of unqualified persons. On Thursday last, as Daniel Lucy, a Sub-Constable, with his assistants, were executing decrees obtained for tithe dues in a part of the parish of Drinah, within two miles of Dumanway, some cattle which they had taken were rescued, after which they were pursued by a large party, who beat the constable unmercifully, and took away his arms: his assistants would have shared the same late, had they not escaped by flight. Committals to the County Gaol, by Samuel Maxwell. Esq. Patrick Walsh and William M'Donnell, charged with being four din arms at night, by Patrick Russell, Esq. and a patrole of the army, mounted on a horse which was taken from William Nunnan. On the night of Saturday last, between the hours of eleven and twelve o'clock, a house occupied by a party of Major O'Donohone's Police, at Ballinacor, and Castletown-delvin, in this county, was maliciously set on fire. All the men were on patrole at the time, with the exception of one, left in charge of the place, who hearing a noise in the rear of the house, went round to examine, and found the thatch on fire, which with considerable difficulty, after obtaining assistance, he succeeded in extinguishing. The wives and children of the constables were at that time asleep, some of whom would have probably lost their lives, had the diabolical attempt succeeded.—Cork Paper.

We have heard, with deep concern, that meetings of an illegal tendency have very recently be

Some unknown ruffian attacked the sentinel of the 63d regimen said George Grace, his family and house, by fire, thereby putting the said George Grace into lear and terror of his life.—Waterford Chron.

Some unknown ruffian attacked the sentinel of the 63d regiment at the Excise Office in this town, last night, by throwing a stone into his box, which severely injured him about the knee, and knocked him down. The soldier fired his musket, for the purpose of alarming the guard, and bringing them to his relief—but there was no trace of the offender when they cime up.—A man named James Davit, who lived at Holyhill, about two miles from this town, was last week stoned to death by his neighbours! His offence, we understand, consisted in extricating his pix from a dog, which had been set at it by the party, who are now charged with the murder, and who have fled from justice. The deceased lingered four days after the stoning.—By a letter received in town this day, from Rathmolin, county of Meath, we learn that shorrid murder was perpetrated in that neighbourhood on the night of the ilta inst. The unfortunate victim is said to have been brother to a man who gave evidence against the murderers of Mr. Cruise.

Tipperaxy.—We stated in Saturday's Paper, on the authority of a private letter, that Mr. Dwyer's house, at Cooleassane, was attacked. The Chomel Adtertiser, received this manning, states, in addition, that Mr. Dwyer semonstrated with the party, advising then to desist from their unlawful proceedings, as they were running the country by their disgraceful acts, when one of them replied by asking him, who authorized him to dictate such a code of laws? and fell on him and his father-in-law, Mr. Michael Carroll, and beat them both in a shocking manner, so that they are now but slowly recovering from their wounds.—Dublin Paper.

At places, more distant, but in all directions—eastward towards Shevenaman, at Thorny-bridge, and Miltown, several farmers houses were attacked with crow-bars and sledges for arms; westward, at Castle Grace and Balladoony, the Seneschul of Lord Glengall's Man or Hospital, in this county:—"On Saturday night a notice was passed Capain Rock, or dering, but Longingth in this county, and the county of th dar contains a list of 24 for trial, eight of them are capitally indicted.

On Sunday night last, a numerous body of men went to the house of a tarmer, near Garretstown, of the name of Carberry, and obliged him to give up his arms, (which was only one gun)—they were going off, after having received it, when, unfortunately, Carberry's son appeared at one of the windows, when he was instantly fired at by some of the party, and received two wounds, one in the neck, and one in the arm; but neither of them dangerous. On the same night, a farmer, named Rooney, and several others in the same neighbourhood, were attacked and deprived of their arms. A young man, who escaped from one of the houses, and was making his way to Ashford, to give information to the police, was discovered and pursued by four of the party, and fired at several times, but fortunately escaped. Several of the inhabitants of the neighbourhood of Ardhinnan and Castleoliver have been deprived of their arms.—Dublin Paper, Sunday.

On Saturday night the house of James Morrissy, of Doorsbeg, in this county, was surrounded by a gang of rullians, who cut down a vast quantity of ash trees in his grove. An armed banditti, a few nights before, dispossessed him of his musket, and broke the windows of his dwelling. On Friday evening last, at seven o'clock, the mills of John Bennett, Esq. at Wilmount, within half a mile of the town of Nenagh, were plundered of a case of pistols and a gun.

P. Walsh and W. Macdonald, found armed with a musket and a blunderbuss heavily loaded, are lodged in Cork gaol. Mr. Maxwell apprehended a man named Edmand O'Brien, at Coleman's Well, in this county; he had three guns and a quantity of powder artfully concealed; and in his pocket a musket-ball and turn-screw were got. The gun is identified.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

COURT OF KING'S BENCH.

GOURT OF KING'S BENCH.

Monday.—The King v. Patrick Dinnie.—This was an information filed by his Majesty's Attorney-General against the defendant, for perjury. The perjury was alleged to have been committed by the defendant in his examination before a Committee of the House of Commons upon the St. Ives Election Petition.—The defendant stated, that it was mentioned before several individuals, by a person named Hulse, that unless those whom he addressed attended at his house on that evening, they would receive no remmeration for their votes.—The Attorney-General stated the case for the Crown, and called several wintesses, who proved that no such proposition was made in their presence, and that had it been made they must have heard it.—Mr. Harrison addressed the Jury for the defendant, and witnesses were called, who proved that what the defendant stated before the Committee was substantially true.—The Chief Justice charged the Jury, who, at half-past twelve o'clock at night, returned a verdict of Guitty.

Wendersday.—The King v. Mr Gillivray.—This was an indictment against Simon M'Gillivray, for refusing to take upon himself the office of inquest-man for the Ward of Walbrook. Notice of his election was proved upon the defendant.—Mr. Pollock stated, that Mr. M'Gillivray's refusal had arisen from his being compelled to embark for America.—The Lord Chief Justice thought that such a fact might have had its weight with the prosecutors, but it could not be taken as an answer to the indictment.—Mr. Pollock said, that Mr. M'Gillivray was one of two gentlemen who traded to Canada. It was necessary to the conducting of the business of the firm, that one of the parties should make an annual trip to America; and Mr. M'Gillivray's partner, at the time of Mr. M'Gillivray was one of two gentlemen who traded to Canada. It was necessary to the conducting of the business of the firm, that one of the parties should make an annual trip to America; and Mr. M'Gillivray's partner, at the time of Mr. M'Gillivray was one of two gentlemen

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

Wednesday.—Robinson v. Gray.—This was an action brought by the Assignees of a Bankrupt, named Hawley, to recover 4001. paid to the defendant by the bankrupt under extraordinary circumstances.—The father of the defendant, Miss Gray, was a man of property, carrying on business as a confectioner at Maidstone. In 1809 he came to Stoke Newington, where he died, leaving his property to his wife and only child, the defendant, who was described to be a person of weak mind. She then went with her mother to carry on business in the Commercial-road, and the wife of Hawley, who had known Miss Gray from Infancy, applied to her for a loan of 4001. The defendant advanced the money to Hawley, who in June, 1820, re-paid it, and took a receipt. When he became a bankrupt, the Commissioners looking with a suspicious eye at the transaction, examined the defendant, who gave answers which increased their doubts. In order to decide the question they directed this action, and the Jury had to try whether this sum of 4001. belonged to the defendant, or whether it was not put into her hands by fraud and conspiracy for the purpose of defrauding the creditors. She accounted for having the money in he possession by stating, that her father on his death bed gave her 6001, with a solemn request that she would not let any person know she had money.—On the part of the plaintiff several witnesses were called with the intent of proving that Mr. Gray at his death was not in a condition to give his daughter 6001; but it appeared there was no doubt of his being a man of property. The bankrupt Hawley and his wife were examined for the defendant, and both proved in the most distinct terms the loan and repayment of the money.—The Jury found a verdict for the defendant.

OLD BAILEY.

Tuesdat.—Thomas Pates was indicted for stealing two watches, value 21. Ids. the property of Henry Bury.—The prisoner is a watch-maker, and the prosecutor had entrusted to him a clock, a time-piece, and the two watches to repair. The two former were returned, but the watches he could not get; and, after inquiry, it was found that he had pledged them.—The prisoner pleaded extreme distress, and declared it to be his full intention to have redeemed them.—The Common Serjeant charged the Jury. If they thought that the prisoner had pledged the property they would find him guirty.—The Jury, after some deliberation, returned a verdict of "Guilty of pawning, but not with a felonious intention."—The Common Serjeant could not receive that verdict; it was finding him guilty of no offence.—The Jury then acquitted the prisoner.—The prisoner was again indicted for an exactly similar offence, under similar circumstances, and supported by similar evidence, and the Jury found him Guilty.

The Recorder passed the sentences, which were as follow:—

the Jury found him Guilty.

The Recorder passed the sentences, which were as follow:—
Death—H. Thompson, for uttering three forged checks; John Chester for a robbery on the highway: T. Deakin, for burglary; W. Hall, for a like offence; W. Percival, for ditto; R. Watts, for a robbery in the day time; W. Page, alias W. Warren, for horse-stealing; W. Cordell and C. Yates, for burglary; H. Turner, for ditto; T. Bertrand, for highway robbery; R. Jago and T. Beck, for a burglary in Berkeley-square; N. Wilkinson, for a robbery on the Thames; and J. Marsden, tried at the last Sessions.—A. Isaacs, J. Hawkins, J. Haydon, S. Chipp, Sarah Stevens, Caroline Entterworth, J. Cook, J. Sullivan, R. Wright, J. Collins, J. Moore, J. Rhodes, and T. Doran, to be transported for fourteen years, and fifty-two for seven.—One was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and eleven to one year's confinement, and a number of others to various periods of imprisonment, and the Sessions adjourned to Wednesday, the 10th of January next.

POLICE.

Mansion-House.—On Monday, Robert Plant was charged with having stolen 23 pair of gloves, the property of Messrs. Platts, in Bishopsgate-street. The prisoner, a few days since, brought a quantity of goods according to order from Messrs. Stock and Co. linen drapers, as their porter. There were a quantity of gloves on the counter, where the prisoner set down his load and united it. After he had put up his wrapper, the witness discovered that two parcels of gloves were gone, when, having missed property before on similar occasions, the witness challenged him with the theft, and desired him to untie it, when the 23 pair of gloves fell out.—The shopman of another tradesman in the gove and hosiery line, stated, that on searching the prisoner a piece of goods was found upon him which had been stolen from the shop of witness's employer. Messrs. Stock and Co.'s porter, had patronized the prisoner, and accepted his services to carry his loads, whils a regaled himself at a public-house. A number of persons who dealt with the firm had complained of being robbed.—Committed.

A young man, named Smith, shopman to Messrs. Todd and Co. of Bishopsgate-street, was charged with having robbed his employers of 18 pair of silk stockings.—The prisoner was fully committed.

Bow-street.—On Thursday, Thomas Stokes alias Williams, underwent an examination before Sir Richard Birnie, charged on suspicion of receiving stolen plate to the amount of upwards of 2000, and melting it in a furnace.—Mr. Alley attended for the prosecution. The particulars of the robbery we forbear to mention, lest we should prevent the robbers being brought to punishment.

HATTON-GARDEN.—On Monday, a woman was charged with uttering a counterfeit sovereign. Jane Shore, the complainant, keeps a snuff and tobacco shop in Goswell-street. On Saturday evening the prisoner came to buy some tobacco and snuff, in payment for which she tendered the counterfeit sovereign.—She was remanded.

Another woman was charged with tendering a counterfeit sovereign at the shop of Charles went for which she tendered the counterfeit sovereign.—She was remanded.

Another woman was charged with tendering a counterfeit sovereign at the shop of Charles Kemble, butcher, Leather-lane, on Saturday night, in payment for a joint of mutton, value 3s. 6d. She was taken into custody, and on being searched a good sovereign was found in her pocket.—Peter Welsh, a shoe-maker, preferred a charge of a similar nature against her.—She was also remanded.

Union-Hall.—Monday, in consequence of a great uproar on Sunday night in Worce ter-street, Southwark, about the bouse of the American prophet John Decker, that singular person was brought before the Magistrates of this office. The prophet said, the cause of the disturbance was, that he had refused to get out of his bed to preach. The witnesses informed the Magistrate that the prophet had succeeded in making some proselytes, and who were about to accompany him to the Holy Land. One man, a shoemaker, named Cooke, has sold off his stock and furniture, which were worth 3001.; he has allowed his beard to grow, and goes about preaching and making converts. Another tradesman, with a wife and seven children, proposes to leave them all and go to Jerusalem. His beard is also becoming indicative of his intention, and he sleeps as the others who are struck by the prophet do, with his clothes on. Upon being questioned as to his inducing those men to leave their families, ac said he did not take them—a higher power took them. Cooke, the shoemaker, stepped forward, an't told the Magistrate that he was determined to follow his brother Decker to Jerusalem, but that the parish should suffer no inconvenience, for he should take his son with him upon his pilgrimage. The Magistrate observed that the parish should suffer no inconvenience, for he should take his son with him upon his pilgrimage. The Magistrate observed that the parish should suffer no inconvenience, for he should take his son with him upon his pilgrimage. The Magistrate observed that the parish should suffer no inconvenie siness from such ridiculous enthusiasm. He then discharged the prophet. Decker, it appeared, had baptized 17 persons since he commenced his labours in St. George's-fields.

Mr. Phillips, to whom the Public is indebted for the only History of Cultivated Vegetables, which is to be dedicated, by permission, to His Majest. In this Work, the object of the Author bas been to render the knowledge of Phantentertaining and useful, not only to Botanists, but to those who have litherto-deemed, it a difficult and uninteresting science. He has endeavoured to ascertation of what Countries in Vegetables now cultivated, are natives, the earliest account of their cultivation, and how far they have improved by attention, or degenerated by neglect; also, the various uses made of them by the Ancients, as well as the Moderns of different Countries. The Medicinal and Chemical qualities of Vegetables, being of the greatest import ance, will be particularly aftended to, and the accounts given of them, collected with the utnost care from the reports of the most emirent physicians of every axe. The Etymology, Natural History, Physiology, and Anatomy of the Plants, are from the reports of the most emirent physicians of every axe. The Etymology, Natural History, Physiology, and Anatomy of the Plants, are from the reports of the most emirent physicians of the Vegetable World, as well as from the Author's personal observations.

**Advertisement.]—The Literary Gazette of yesterlay, No. 257, contains, together with its usual varieties, the following interesting matter:—Review of The Pirate, by the Author of Waverley, with 20 columns of Extract, and all the principal Poetry—Review of Lord Byron's Cain, &c.—Epitome of Biblied Literature during the Fifth Century—A carrious Original Letter from General Washington to the Emperor of Morocco—Letter from Paris respecting the Egyptian Antiquities sent thirter—Original Peens, by Mrs., Hennans, and (anonyzonaly) other distinguished Poets—Original Peens, by Mrs., Hennans, and (anonyzonaly) other distingu or Condinement, which is the usual practice.—We find his son, D. D. Van Butcheil, surgeon, accouchenr, who resides at No 48, South-street, Berkeley-square, continues to perform cures of the most dangerons cases by the same method, and is as completely successful. Both rich and poor, who are thus afflicted, will do well to observe, he requires no remuneration until they are satisfied a cure has been performed; in fact, the poor are relieved gratis, if respectably recommended.

Advertisement.]—No Discovery of the kind has been so generally adopted in the Pashionable World as Atkinson's Vegetable Hair Oil, or Curling Fluid; it is now considered an indispensible appendage to the collect, for recenerating the hair; it is so we-eminent, that medical men of the first emineuce prescribe it, and in all cases where the hair has fallen off from premature decay, such as fevors, acconchement, or other litness, change of climate, perspirature of the successful of th stribe it, and in all cases where the hair has fallen off from premature decay, such as fevers, acconchement, or other litness, change of climate, perspiration, intense study, &c: it is warranted to restore it to its original thickness and beauty; for dressing the hair, it is lar preferable to oils, extracts, or pomatums, making the hair softer and more glossy, and givine itsnet. Irength and elasticity, that itretains its curl during exercise, or in damy scather. Price 3s. 6d.; 10 s. 6d. and one guinea.—Also, Atkinson's Yezetanoe Dye, well known as the only infallible article which changes grey or red hair on the head, or whiskers, to an anturn or black, so permanent that washing, &c. instead of removing, renders more durable. Price 5s.; 10s. 6d., and one guinea.—And Atkinson's Amitrosial Soap, made by a new process, removes redness, hardness, and unevenness from the skin, prevents its chapping, and makes it soft, white, and even. Price is, sequare, or los. 6d. a dozen.—Soil at 44, Gerrand-street, Soho-square, London; and by appointment, by Messrs. Gattle & Peirce, 57, and Rigge, 35, Bond-street, Grange, 126, Frith-street, and 45, Oxford-atreet: Bayley and Blew, Cockspur-street; Prout, 229, Strand; Rigge 65, Cheapside: Johnston, 68, and Taile, 41, Cornhill; and all perfamers.

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

*. Our advertising friends are informed, that the ONLY Office for advertisements for JOHN BULL is at No. 11, Johnson's Count. Fleet-street, and they are requested to send them early in the aces.

rices-street, and they are requested to send them early in the accept to ensure insertion.

We thank our Deptford friend.

The letter from BATH from Mn. H. J. shall, of course, be inserted, if he will give a reference in London to identify himself as the Mn. H. J. in question.

if he will give a reference in someon to earney, more than H. J. in question.

Our friend, whose letter on the subject of the Bouverie duel has been received, is thanked for the other part of his information. All the affairs he mentions, most probably, will of a necessity appear in a more serious shape in mon public Courts.

H. P.—a letter to M. Lanpton (called by the writer Marshal Baxe) on the coal-market, shall be taken into consideration.

We do not understand Tury's joke against Hunry." pray ex-piain.

The attack upon Dayay-Lane by a Subscriber is good, and, we date say, just—but we could not undertake to criticise actors by date say, just—but we could not undertake to criticise actors by best say:

KENT is very kind, but we fear his verses want point.

We are always obliged to any friend who sent us a letter signed on Old Subschuben; but we think enough has been said on the subject of that letter. We hope to hear from him constantly.

Our friend at RYDAL is informed that No. III. and IV. will be shortly reprinted.

GRIFTHLYN'S kind letter has been answered by post.

The Lank Cals is received, and much thanked.

Numerous other communications must stand over.

The hints of a warm supporter, Milks, and One of our early Subscribers, relative to the Gazette, shall be attended to.

A MONDAY'S EDITION, containing the LATEST NEWS, the STOCK Libr, the London Markers, and the State of the Country Markers by that Morning's Post, is published at Three o' Clock.

PRICE OF STOCKS AT THE CLOSE, SATURDAY. The week has been remarkably dull, with scarcely any variation whatever till this day. A report is prevalent that some unfavourable news from Russia has been received, as some of the Jews have been selling. The consequence has been, a fall of 4 per cents for opening, 771; French 5 per cents 87 75; Spanish, 574; Prussian, 661.

JOHN BULL.

LONDON, DECEMBER 23.

IT is most gratifying to find that the Administration b again strengthened by the GRENVILLES. One hails their return to office with a feeling similar to that experienced by a family, when any of its members, separated and disunited from it by some temporary difference, are happily restored to its bosom.

We really believe that nothing kept together the present Whig party but the weight and respectability of the GRENVILLES. Their support was powerful in a double proportion, as it not only was abstracted from Government, but threwn into the opposite scale. Their return to office is matter for congratulation but not for surprise; -- the latter is rather excited by the length of their association with the Whigs. They have, however, at length, found them out, and the OLD PITT PARTY (from which the GREN-VILLES alienated themselves only on some particular points of policy) are again united.

This is as it should be; experience has shewn the efficiency and good policy of the present Administration. The GRENVILLE party are ready to admit this also, and feeling confidence in men who have, under an invariably-successful Monarch, raised England to the highest pitch of glory, flock to the standard of the Constitution, and rally round it to the discomfiture of Whigs and Whig-Radicals, who would destroy every principle of good government, social order, and public tranquillity, for the sake of power and place.

We have cursorily alluded to the unvarying success of His present MAJESTY's Government from the moment of his assumption of the Regency, to the conclusion of that splendid war which gave peace to the world; there is a document, the simplest, and the easiest attainable, which most powerfully and unaffectedly declares those successes. and which, from being totally divested of remark, and replete with truth, is most striking;—the document we mean, is a little Chronology prefixed to the common Almanacks! which we will, without one comment, extract; taking only the two lines previous to the assumption of the Regency by His Majesty; and it really is worthy of more notice than most of the purchasers of Almanacks, we dare say, give it.

1807. French defeated Russians and Prussians at Tilsit. Portuguese Court emigrated to Brazil.

1808. Throne of Spain abdicated.

Royal Family of Spain inveigled into France.

JOSEPH BUONAPARTE ENTERED SPAIN as KING. 1811. THE PRINCE OF WALES APPOINTED REGENT. French DEFEATED, at TALAVERA, ALBUERA, BARROSSA. 1812. French DEPEATED at SALAMANCA.

French invade Russia. - Battle of BORODINO. Enter Moscow.—Defeated at Bautzen and 1813. French DEFEATED by LD. WELLINGTON at VIT-TORIA, SARAGOSSA, ST. SEBASTIAN, PYRENEES, PAMPELUNA!

French DEFEATED at LEIPS! C .- Surrender DRES-

1814. Allies VICEDRIOUS at MONTMATRE. PARIS CA-

PITULATED.

BUONS AND REST TO ELBA!

LOUIS XVIII. RESTORED to his THRONE. Treaty of PEACE signed at Paris. RUSSIAN and PRUSSIAN Sovereigns visited England.

BRACE with AMERICA.

1815. BUONAPARTE escaped from ELBA into FRANCE. PERDINAND of NAPLES and the Pope restored. FRUNCH defeated at WATERLOO .- BUONAPARTE exiled. - Lowis seated on his Throne-GENERAL PEACE.

Farther it is medless to go, for, with the war ends of course the career of successes we allude to; but, upon this common unadorned detail, we would ask those who affect to love their country, and yet be discontented,—what page he hay history—containing only the events of four years bears record of so many-so greatand such unvarying-and unshadowed successes and triumphs, as that which hands down to posterity the acts of the reign of KING GRORGE THE FOURTH?

NOTHING of any general interest has occurred in town during the last week-indeed, London itself never was much more dull. The newspapers tell us, that the DUKE of GLOUCESTER came from LORD CRAVEN'S, and went to visit his "beloved" sister; and that MRS. WILLIAMS contrived with three little girls and two music-masters, to keep a whole party-swake from eight to half-past eleven o'clock in the evening, at the Argyll Rooms. When such events constitute part of the communications made by the PRESS to the PROPLE, a fair estimate may be formed of the dearth of news.

THE most important subject of conversation is the change of the French Ministry. This measure has been effected, not without a great struggle on the part of the King; and the struggle, it must be confessed, is a natural one. He desires no change-FRANCE is tranquil, both in her foreign and domestic affairs; and His Majesty Louis XVIII. does not exactly see the necessity for getting the nation into hot water-nor, if the truth were known, do we think he exactly sees to what the authors of the obscure and objectionable passage of the Address of the Deputies alludes.

The French are a restless nation, fond of enterprize and motion; and it is concluded, that GREECE and Fraly are the objects to which the passage in question refers; but why FRANCE should interfere in commotions, in which she certainly is not interested, we confess we, no more than His MOST CHRISTIAN MAJESTY, see. However, as things now stand, something must be done; for, after having made an alleged neglect of the honour and dignity of their country a stepping-stone to power, it becomes an imperative duty on the part of the new Administration, to change the system they have so strongly deprecated.

If, therefore, they redoem their implied pledge, we may expect " sharp work;" and if they do not, we may look forward to another change of Administration at the end of another month.

MESSRS. WILSON and LAMBTON, it appears, have gone to FRANCE in a hurry-indeed, so pressed were they that they embarked, with a party of ladies, in an open boat in a gale of wind. The politicians of DOVER augur some political movement in all this haste; but we should think, that of all coalitions, one of the most unlikely to be serviceable in the way of getting employment under the French Government, would be that most unnatural one of the House of GRAMMONT with the liberator of LAVALETTE: for LADY OSSULSTON accompanied LADY A. LAMBTON and LABY J. GREY upon this boisterons expedition. The Neapolitans, we know, rejected WILSON's services, and we should think he will hardly get hired by the French. LAMBTON'S visit is said to originate in some contract about coals for lighting PARIS with gas, which we think very probable.

The DUKE OF BEDFORD has withdrawn his name from the SMITHFIELD cattle-club, and has declared his intention of withholding his annual premiums, He has shewn more sense in this affair than he usually evinces. Why should any money be wasted upon agricultural pursuits, when agriculture ceases to be the object of the party? The last NORFOLK show proved to the world that politics and not ploughing were the attraction to MR. COKES; and, therefore, the DUKE seeing that MEN were to be exhibited, and not BULLOCKS, very properly saves the cash which else would be expended upon producing "great beasts;" wisely remarking, at the same time, that from what he saw last season at HOLKHAM, he is convinced that nothing further need be done in that way!

There is not only a little waggery in this but a little reason, and therefore the thing comes with double effect from his Grace, being wholly unexpected.

In turning our eyes to graver things, we are gratified by finding that the quarter's revenue exceeds that of the corresponding quarter, in the preceding year, by £840,000, and exhibits a general surplus over and above the last year's amount of nearly £200,000.

In IRELAND, the Special Commissions were opened at Limerick on the 15th inst. Things still remain to a dreadful state of agitation; but we confess we look with PRINCE of ORANGE RESTORED to his Sovereignty. 1 confidence to the commanding abilities of the MARQUIS 1 tion. You do not find the lofty EARL GREY there, nor the WELLESLEY for measures likely to check the esistance of tenants to the just claims of landlords; and we are quite sure (free as we believe the present disturbances to be from any political taint) that the sending an RISHMAN to govern RELAND must be felt as a new and striking mark of that conciliatory feeling which His Ma-JESTY had been graciously pleased previously; and personally to express to his generous and loyal subjects in that kingdom.

The intelligence from Ireland yesterday, fisual miles terest. The first trial which has taken place under the Special Commission now sitting at Limerick, was for the murder of a Mrs. Torrance, in the month of June last. It was an act of private vengeance, and in no way, as appears, connected with that spirit of outrage which subsequently manifested itself. The prisoners were found guilty spon the clearest testimony, and ordered for execution last Wednesdav.

We have to state, that another diaboffcal attent made, in the county of Kerry, last week, to immelate a whole family, by setting fire to the dwelling-house, and fastening in the wretched inmates. Happily, however prompt assistance was afforded, and no liver were lost, but the house was burnt to the ground.

We cannot conclude this article without acknowledgments for the following sums which have been By an error of the press M. P. is placed 250 females

D)	an error of the brea
	AMOUNT OF BUB	BCRII	PTI	13 8NO	NCB	OUR	LA	т. п
	Joseph Hall, Esq.				• '	£5	5	Ø ₩.
	Sir Harcourt Lees			• 10 ×c	•	10	10	0.1
	A. B. C.		; ,	च≒त		2	2
	Anti-Radical (Bos	ton)	14	9144	i:	1	0	0.5
	Maria Theresa .	΄.		760	nar	1 1	•
	A Friend to Truth	ı .	`	, , 7	r i≯ · •	50	Ō	Č.
	A Few Plymouth	Frien	ids		• •	7	44
	Marsden Marden,					- 5	-!
	Griethlyn .	•				50	4
	Bennett and Liber	ty fo	r E	ver	•	ì	0	ļī.
	X. Y. Z	•			•	2	0	0.
	N. N. N					1	è
	Eight Members of	a Jo	hn i	Bull C	lub	4	Œ	0
	Bennett blushing					5	0
	Edward Smith, E	dwar				and	, , , 1	•
	Emma Si	mith		• • •	•	5	•	.0 ,
	No Jack Cade					3	0
	Elizabeth Burton				• •	2	-	*

TO DOCTOR HUME.

Hard Lot for Loyalty

SIR,—Humble and insignificant as you was when first became acquainted with you, I little thought that you would, by dint of unremitting dulness, have attracted to yourself any thing like public notice; but finding that you really are spoken of as somebody, or something, I have, for the last twelvemonths, kept my eye upon you, in order to see how far your vanity and conceit were to be imposed upon, and even gratified by the adulation of dunces and the praise of fools.

I have traced you attentively through the round of a foolerles of which you have been the hero, and have held my peace, because, having no feeling towards you of anger, l had no wish to dissipate the bright vision of mob-popularity in which you revelled; but since other persons have presumed to intrude upon your self-satisfaction, and you have been publicly laughed at and ridiculed, both in town and country, during the last week or ten days, I shall, without any compunctious feelings, take the liberty of "driving you into a corner and keeping you there."

That you are a heavy, dull man is not your fault; were genius and talents to be bought like pots and cups and saucers, you, doubtlessly, would have been well furnished from your maternal shop at MONTROSE; but, being a plodder, without one glimmering scintillation of imagination to brighten the matter-of-fact of your erroneou statements, one is startled at seeing you made the dupe of faction, and the journeyman of Radicalism.

To think that the present of a quart mug of cyder in Herefordshire could please you; -to think that paying the postage of your two letters could gratify you-what an estimate of your head and heart these people must have formed ;-how justly they formed it, is printed and published in their county paper, in your cringing, besing thankfulness for their compliment.

I cannot conceive your object in worrying yourself with things that cannot possibly concern you. Now that you have married you are not in want of money; as for place, that you never can get; as for reputation, it is equally out of your reach; and to fancy that a medical man like you should consent to be made the stalking-horse of country Radicals, for no carthly purpose but to be ridiculous, really seems incomprehensible.

Of the mode of mountebanking at taverns, which has of late obtained, I would say a word lest you should fancy it respectable, or that you have returned from your eleemosynary trip to HEREFORD at all raised in the estimation even of your own friends by the absurdities of that event.

Do you not see who the people are who hawk themselves about at these public-houses?—I mean of your own fac-venerable apostate FITZWILLIAM; the religious EARL OF GROSVENOR, nor the liberal EARL OF THANET. They know better than to expose themselves; because they know that their journeymen can carry on the business as well as themselves. It is true that LORD GROSVENOR presided at the Whig Club of all counties held at CHESTER, and a pretty figure he made there. But let us imagine that to any one of the Lords I have mentioned-(whose political violence and whose party animosity nobody, I believe, doubts) the people of Herefordshire had offered a JUG OF CYDER, and ONE SHILLING AND ELEVENPENCE as a reward for their public services, what would they have done?-how would they have felt? Why, man alive, if you had staid in Montrose till this hour, and been a porter about the streets, you would have got as much as that for carrying home a crate of crockery upon your shoulders.

Thus it is these country folks like to make speeches, and "cut a flash in the newspapers;" who is in the Chair is to them a matter of perfect indifference, and therefore they engage such people as yourself and LAMBTON, and other underlings of radicalism, literally to entertain them (an extraordinary taste I confess), and to give them an opportunity of seeing themselves in print.

I do seriously think, that the details of your HEREFORD affair, read minutely, are the most ludicrous of any we have ever yet seen of such proceedings-the subscribing for cyder-the presenting you with a quart pot-the giving you a HOGS-HEAD the calling eyder hermituge, and fancying you would not know the difference-the paying the postage of your two letters-and the voting the thanks of the county to a Sir something CORNWALL, because he had subscribed a fine DOE for dinner, are exquisite. How you can be such a dunce, HUME, as to be pleased with all this, is really miraculous.

But, on Wednesday, we have you in another place, firing away Scotch in praise of Doctor GILCHRIST, in Leadenhall-street. And here it is that unfortunately the difference between discussions eastward of Temple-bar, and those at Westminster shew themselves. At the latter you may, with your nine at your side, sit up all night, and speak as long as you please, without producing the slightest sensation or irritation in any body; but, in the former, where you are known, and appreciated, every body lets fly his darts and arrows at you.

What a laugh MR. JACKSON raised against you, by taking up your praise of GILCHRIST, and adding-" What he " conceived to be not the least meritorious part of DR. "GILCHRIST'S character. He was entitled to a fee of 4 three guineas from every young surgeon whom he taught, which fee, however, he had uniformly refused; for he " observed, that he knew what it was to be a young Scotch surgeon himself, and he could not bear to take money from a a young man in that situation !!!"

It is inconceivable the effect this set-down had upon every body, except yourself. Indeed, I believe, from the way you talk, and from what you said at the latter part of that day, that your intellect being unequal to any very great charge, the accumulation of figures, which you have jumbled together in your head, has driven out every thing else that might have been in it before you took to your trade of calculation.

Short memories seem to be the fashion with you and your friends; but as you gave an answer to COLONEL Mo-NEY, in the discussion about MR. PELLY's grant, (which you opposed upon no other principle than that of differing from every rational and liberal proprietor,) which answer is rather a sweeping one, I will take the trouble to brush up your recollection, which, on this occasion, needs refreshing as much as that of MR. GEORGE FOX LANE, who forgot that he had ever seen warehouses he had been to view, and jumbled some tenements of MR. CREAKE's on one side of the Thames, with some of MR. BURT's on the other.

Observe-here comes COLONEL MONEY.

Observe—here comes Colonel Money.

"Colonel Money proceeded to defend the propriety of carrying the proposed grant into effect; and among other things stated, that Mr. Pelly had, from circumstances arising from an order of the Government, and not from any misconduct of his own, been incapacitated from completing his contract. He also eulogized the conduct of Mr. Pelly as a most active and meritorious officer of the Company, and declared that his contract would have been performed at an earlier period than it had been completed, if the duties, which had been subsequently imposed upon him as collector and magistrate for a very extensive district, had not prevented him from giving it the attention he could have wished. With regard to the impropriety of allowing civil officers to enter into mercantile contracts, he did not wish to press invidiously an argumentum ad hominem, or else he would say that he had heard of persons on the other side of India from that on which Mr. Pelly had served, performing such contracts without any injury to the public service.

"Mr. Hyme,—" Name, pame."

Name, name "Colonel Money .- 'I mean the honourable Proprietor himself."

"Mr. HUME.—"I DENY THE FACT ALTOGETHER."

Now, HUME.—What do you mean by denying the fact altogether?-The fact of performing such contracts?-Is that the quibble? Do you mean to say that you deny the fact of contracting for lashings for cotton-bales? because, if you only mean that-I agree with you; I do not think you ever did contract for any such things-but answer me a few questions.

Were you not in 1803-4, acting under Col. MARTIN-DELL, in the Commissariat for the supply of grain?

Did you not contract for the hire of BRINGAREE BUL-LOCKS? Did you not contract to supply OTTAH and GRAM for the Army?

Were you not an Assistant-Surgeon?

What conversation had you with Col. MARTINDELL, on the subject of managing BAZAARS?

Had you no dealings in KURWAH, at BUNDLECUND? And were you not Post-Masten?

PAY-MASTER ?? and PRIVATE SECRETARY ???

And what should you have felt had the Company refused to pay you ALL you claimed, because they had asserted that the contracts were not performed in time?

Think over these questions, and answer them in detail do not fancy you are acting in a fine dignified manner by not noticing this letter, JOHN BULL, through whose columns it will reach not only the remotest parts of our Empire at home, but abroad, is hailed and acknowledged as the chief instrument of our present political tranquillity-his exposures of HUMBUG have tended more to humble and abase Faction and Radicalism, than any periodical work which ever was published.

Do not, therefore, affect to disregard him, -neither your birth, nor rank, nor acquirements, warrant such a line of conduct-you know you tremble at his bidding, and writhe under his lash. Relieve yourself from all apprehension of attack from him, by shewing yourself just and pure -refute him and his present correspondent if you can -shew by your reply that you never were a contractor; and having so shewn by dates and events, not only may you deny the facts altogether, but BULL himself will as widely disseminate your authenticated contradiction as he now sends forth his doubts of the correctness of your memory, and his unqualified contempt for your understanding. I am, AN OLD INDIAN. Sir, your obedient servant,

CITY FUN.

FRIDAY being the shortest day, has been wisely appropriated to the election of Common Councilmen of London. The whole thing being a burlesque, that day, which, from its brevity, could best be spared, has been set apart for the foolery; but Friday's joke seems to have been carried farther than such stuff generally is.

In the Ward of FABRINGDON WITHOUT, a Mr. THOMPSON rose to satirize a MR. WILLIAMS; and he said, that when he recollected that that gentleman had expressed an abhorrence of the conduct of the present Ministers, and now saw him associating with those very men, he began to doubt him. His conduct ought to excite, SAYS THOMPSON, the suspicion of his constituents !- Why, what on earth does the suspicion of the constituents of a Common Councilman signify one way or the other ? Who MR. WILLIAMS is, unless he be the late sheriff, we really do not know; but the orator, who " made some facetious remarks upon ratting !" (the ase!) keeps a GIN-SHOP in HOLBORN!

But this is not all. The Cripplegate dunces voted some painted parchment to Wood, and, above all, to HUME, as if they were sickly, and wanted a doctor; and having passed several resolutions laudatory of Wood's wisdom and WAITHMAN's intrepidity, they print and publish this line:-that they anticipated honour to the sheriff from " the decided ABSTINENCE on the part of His Majesty's "Government TO institute any investigation."

Now, really, these tinkers and failors, and linen-drapers, had better be minding their several trades than rendering themselves contemptible and ridiculous even in the eyes of their own shopmen. There is not a fellow who stands behind one of their counters with his hair frizzled up, and his frill sticking out, who does not laugh at the elderly blockheads who thus disgrace society, and the City of London in particular.

INGENIOUS MODE OF RAISING MONEY.

A MONGST the various stratagems put in practice at this scason of the year to raise supplies, we think the scheme of a correspondent to the CHRONICLE one of the most ingenious. We find in that paper of Thursday the following letter, apparently gravely and philanthropically written, on the subject of the frequency of execution for forgery.

" TO THE EDITOR OF THE MORNING CHRONICUE. " SIR-The frequency of execution for forgery is too well known to all your readers. Feeling convinced the knife is not put to the root of the evil, allow me to recommend, through the medium of your valuable paper, a reward to be offered by the Bank, of 2001. to any one who shall give private information to their Solicitors of the printers of these forged notes. The purchasers of them will prefer getting this money safe, to the risk they run in circulating them; and I am much mistaken if it is not very soon found, that a rogue will be afraid to trust even an own brother in selling them to him. " R. B."

Putting aside for a moment the HUMBUG of this appea nothing can be clearer than that the ingenious R.B. is just at this juncture in want of two hundred pounds, and is in possession of the information, which he would have us consider worth exactly that sum. There is a plausibility about this deserving of the attention of any BIBLE SOCIETY in WHITEHALL, Dec. 5. 1821.—The King has been pleased to give and grant unto Alexander M'Innes, Esq. Lieutenant in His Majesty's 2d Regiment of Life Guards, His Royal Licence and Permission, that he and his issue may, from motives of affectionate regard to the memory of, his maternal uncle, Robert Nicholson, Esq. late a Lieutenant-General in the Army, in the East Indies, deceased, take and use the surriame of Nicholson only, and bear the arms of Nicholson quarterly with those of M'Innes; such armorial bearings being first duly exemplified according to the law of arms, and recorded in the Herald's Office; otherwise His Majesty's said Lieence and Permission to be void and of none effect.—And also to command, that the said Royal Concession and Declaration be registered in His Majesty's College of Arms.

CORK BOOTS AND MR. JEREMY BENTHAM.

OUR correspondent CORK BOOTS will perceive by the following documents, that the letter with which he furnished us, and which appeared in the Diario de Governo, No. 284, is literally and truly a genuine communication from Ma. BENTHAM himself, who has been so kind as to transmit to us an original English copy of the same letter, which, as it is long, and only varying in diction from the re-translated copy we last week inserted, we think it unnecessary to give our readers. But as MR. BENTHAM has favoured us with copies of two documents he has received from the CORTES themselves, we gladly give place to them, that our friends may thence form a just estimate of the talents and qualifications of both parties.

the talents and qualifications of both parties.

"Translation of a Minute, copied from the Journals of the Portuguese Cortes.

"Read by Secretary Freire a letter, presented by Senhor Sepulveda, to whom it had been addressed by Senhor Carvalho, Member of the Regency of the Kingdom, along with the works of Jeremy Bentham, offered by their venerable author to the Portuguese nation; in which letter of Senhor Carvalho it was said, that the writer could not give a more authentic testimony of the value he set upon so flattering an offering, than by accompanying it with a wish, that, in their practice the Cortes may take for their guidance the liberal doctrines of the principal and earliest constitutionalist of Europe.

"Penetrated with those sentiments of esteem that are so justly due to the illustrious Bentham—to that sage by whose luminous due to the illustrious Bentham—to that sage by whose luminous ideas the whole civilized world has been enlightened, and The strike whole civilized world has been enlightened, and to whom its free nations should erect a monument of gratitud for the indestigable zeal with which he has made application of those ideas to the service of the great cause of liberty and good government,—the assembly has resolved, not only that of this his offering homourable mention be made in their Journals, but also that direction be given to the Regency, to cause to be translated and printed all those his works; and that, by one of the secretaries of this angust assembly, a letter be written to him, conveying to him the grateful acknowledgments of the Cortes, accompanied with the intimation that those his gifts were addressed to the assembly by one, and presented by another, of the persons who planned and took the lead in consummating those glorious measures, which gave commencement to our Political Regeneration: and that to the said Bentham be sent an authentic copy of the paragraph in our Journals, in which expression is given to this Resolution of the Sovereign Assembly. Hermano Jose Braancam de Sobral, president;—Joao Baptista Feigueiras, deputado secretario;—Agostinho Jose Freire, deputado secretario;—Agostinho Jose Freire, deputado secretario;—Agostinho Jose Freire, deputado secretario;—Agostinho Jose Freire, deputado secretario; (a true copy.)

Direction, from the Portuguese Cortes, to the Regency of the Kingdom addressed to the President Medical Cortes for the Cortes and the Cortes and the Cortes and the Cortes are constituted to the President Medical Cortes for the Cortes and the Corte tado secretario; — Agostinho Jose Freire, deputado secretario.

(a true copy.) "Joaquin Guillieme da Costa Posser."

Direction, from the Portuguese Cortes, to the Regency of the Kingdom, addressed to the Presiding Member, for the Translation of Mr. Bentham's Works.

(Translation.) "For the Conde de Sampaio.

"Most illustratous and excellent Eir,—The General and Extraordinary Cortes of the Portuguese nation, desirous of giving a testimony of the particular satisfaction with which they have received the valuable present made to them of his works by the illustrous citizen of the world Jeersma Bentham; and at the same time of contributing to the utmost of their power to the diffusion of the lumino's and transcendantly useful mass of information contained in those his so interesting productions, have given orders for the transmission of them to the Regency of the kingdom, for the purpose of its causing a translation of them to be made, and printed at the National Printing Office; and with superior dispatch published. Your Excellency will accordingly make communication of this to the Regency, that due execution may be given to it. God preserve your Excellency!

(A true copy) "Joao Baptista Flagueiras.

"Joaquin Guillierme da Costa Posser."

Palace of the Cortes, 13th April, 1821.

"This body is composed of four members: the Conde de Sampaio, President, and Messrs. Carvalho, de Sao Luis, and Soto Maior.

Sone Major.

On Monday, arrived at the York Hotel, Dover, Messrs, R. Wilson and J. G. Lambton, M.P.s. on their route for France. The Prince Leopold passage vessel was engaged to convey them on the following morning, but the gale of wind during the night having considerably increased the bar or Beach at the entrance of the harbour, the vessel could not prudently venture out. The parties, however, were not to be deterred from crossing the Channel, and as no other vessel could convey them, they engaged an open hout, about 25 feet long, notwithstanding the wind and weatler at the time was extremely boisterous; and these two gentleman, accompanied by Ladies Lambton, Elizabeth Grey, and Ossulston, with their female attendants, altogether eight persons, (besides the crew) embarked about eleven o'clock on Tuesday, morning, in the boat before described, at the risk of their lives; we, however, heard that the boat, with its lading, reached its destination in safety, but not without such an exposure to destruction as, no doubt, will always bear a prominent eccollection in the minds of the respective parties. The Dover people say (but how far they may be considered frue diviners will be to be proved) that the object of the mission of the two M. P.s is certainly connected with the recent change of Administration in France; and indeed it does seem, from the manner in which they ventured across the sea, that their errand must be something of more than common importance. Be that as it may, whether the change in question has defeated their previous arrangements, or whether it is to encourage them to look forward to a conspicuous lead for themselves (which, by the bye, does not appear as ever likely to be their lot in this country, and which, per haps, they are just made sensible of), we must patiently wait the result; being satisfied that these two self-important and consequential characters, let them have room enough, will as completely expose themselves in our neighbouring kingdomas they have done in their own.

expose themserves in our neighbouring kingdomas they have done in their own.

The Bank of England has given notice that they will remit any quantity of the gold coin of the realm, on and after the 1st of Jan. 1822, to any of the principal towns in England and Wales, free of expense, in suns not less than 3,000l. on application being made prior to the 1st of Feb. next; and it is said they have determined to extend their discounts in future, both of inland as well as foreign bills, from 65 to 95 days.

Two vessels are fitting out at Woolwich, by orders of Government; which, it is intended shall shortly sail for the Gulph of Persia, on a survey.

Two vessels are fitting out at Woolwich, by orders of Government, which, it is intended shall shortly sail for the Gulph of Persia, on a survey.

On Thursday, Mr. Ruff, the King's Messenger, arrived in Downing-street, with dispatches from St. Petersburgh.

The 33d regiment embarked on Monday last, from Cork, for Jamaica, to relieve the 58th regiment. The Light Company of the 3d Buffs have marched from Woolwich to Windsor, there to do duty.

ELECTION OF COMMON COUNCILMEN.—Friday being St. Thomas's Day, the annual elections for Members to serve in the Common Council took place in the 26 Wards of the City.—In Aldersgate Ward there are two new candidates, Messrs. Diggens and Corbould; in Bread-street nine, Messrs. Webb, Biden, De Grave, Hatch, Fulton, Witts, Bruckfield, Corbet, and Thomas; in Bassis, white, Messrs. Bennett, Mortiner, Coombs, J. Anson, Wright, Nesbitt, and Wryghte; in Farring four, Messrs. Haswell, Rice, Beddome, and Wright; in Lime-street three, Messrs. Price, Prince, and Sherman; in Portsoken one, Mr. Cundell; in Waller, in Lime-street three, Messrs. Price, Prince, and Sherman; in Portsoken one, Mr. Cundell; in Waller, in Lime-street three, Messrs. Price, Prince, and Sherman; in Portsoken one, Mr. Cundell; in Waller, in Lime-street three, Messrs. Price, Prince, and Sherman; in Portsoken one, Mr. Cundell; in Waller, in Lime-street three, Messrs. Price, Prince, and Sherman; in Portsoken one, Mr. Cundell; in Waller, Waller, in Lime-street three, Messrs. Price, Prince, and Sherman; in Portsoken one, Mr. Cundell; in Waller, Waller, in Lime-street three, Messrs. Price, Prince, and Sherman; in Portsoken one, Mr. Cundell; in Waller, Waller, Waller, in Lime-street three, Messrs. Price, Prince, and Sherman; in Portsoken one, Mr. Cundell; in Waller, Waller,

THEATRES.

WE have received several letters upon the subject of pur Theatrical critiques, calling upon us to be more regular in our notices of the drama. This is all very well; but it should be recollected, that in the outset of John Bull, we very rarely noticed the Theatres at all; and that when we do notice them there must be something worth noticing-in short, some novelty likely to draw us to the playhouse, and induce us to pay our money.

We do not consider the stage of that importance either to our pleasure or our welfare, which many of our friends do; and seriainly never intended to make a business of going to the play for the sake of reporting the slight variations between the performance of the Two Gentlemen of Vergas on Tuesday night, and its performance on Thursday—we should consider such a sacrifice hardly worth making, and therefore only is it, when we feel inclined to visit a Theatre, that we are qualified to give an account of we candidly confess that no power (of which we have any knowledge) would induce us to go to see Ma. Khan set Machern. This may be called prejudice—but it is not: if one loses friends, or relations, the image of the departed dear ones is fixed on the mind as we last beheld them; and they who in distant climes have fallen, either them the fatal strake of war, or the marting progress of the from the fatal stroke of war, or the wasting progress of the case, live in our recollection in all the glow of bealth, youth and animation, in which they stood proudly and gaily on the day of our separation from them. Which would dissipate the consoling delusion by showing us the mangled body of the hero, or the emaclated, worn-down features of the beauty ?-None but a barbarian.

In the same way, and with similar feelings, proportionably weaker as the subject naturally implies, we have an image stamped upon our minds of MACBETH and his WIFE—fixed in our memory, KEMBLE and his illustricture sister, remain with them identified. It is a recollection which, like those we before mentioned, we cannot prevail upon ourselves to disturb: even could MR. KEAN, of a possibility, play MACBETH better than KEMBLE, or look more like the murdering Monarch than he did, we should hesitate to substitute in reminiscences which might chance to come across us in the night-time, the personal appearance of the present performer, for that majestic, dignified enpobled vision, which is now ever hefore our eyes, when we recur to this magical play.

As for MRS. SIDDONS, we believe that quackery has never dared to disturb her fame. There were fools who talked of MRS. WRINON BRCHER in the same day with her: but lovely, and interesting, and lady-like, and winning, and melting, as MISS O'NEILL was—a comparison of her qualities with the most towering genius, the most perfect countenance, the most capacious mind, the most eloquent voice—in short, the first actress of the world was as ridiculous as the infatuation of smokers and beer-drinkers, who would set up MR. KEAN as a rival to her brother.

MISS EDMONSTONE, or EDMISTONE (for these people when they act under their own names are mighty particular) may perform LADY MACBETH till doomsday, and we shall not disturb her serenity by our presence; she is quite safe from remark, as are all the rest of the motley groupe who compose the Dramatis Persona of Drury Lane, till they put forth something which is attractive, and which, without a violation of our feelings, we can venture to sea.

Covent Garden, we see, by the bills, goes on in fis old routine. We wish it all the success which this season of the year generally brings it.

N. B. For the DUKE OF MONTROSE—LIFE IN LONDON is still acting at the Adelphi Theatre!

TO JOHN BULL.

MY DRAR MR. BULL,-I have long been in love with you; and can no longer resist the temptation of letting you know that your presence is become, with me, one of the principal luxuries of life. The last time I breakfasted with you, which was on Wodnesday morning, you intimated that you felt rather puzzled to know how seven persons, named as being present at a late meeting of black-wig Carolinians at York, could be magnified, or rather multiplied, into four hundred. My dear JOHN, nothing can be more easy; why, every plough-boy in Devoushire knows how to make six sheep out of two, by the following riddle, which they learn almost as soon as they can speak:-

" A white sheep and a black sheep,

" A horn'd sheep, and a nat, " A long-tail'd sheep, and a short-tail'd sheep,

"And how many sheep is that?"

On this principle I cannot conceive it to be any way difficult for Radical ingenuity to increase the number of their supporters indefinitely. Let us, for a moment, suppose that after Mr. , of this place, and 'Squire from Yorkshire, have been lamenting their blessed mistress and execrating the Midistry, as usual, over their ale and pipes, they felt inclined to cut a flash in the newspapers. and we shall see how they might, by imitating the fore-going example, increase their number. After the cus-tomary preliminary puffs, they go on to say, "The principal speakers at this meeting were

"A yellow mair, and a red man,

" A thin man, and a fat, "A long-nos'd man, and a short-nos'd man,
And how many men is that?"

I have only written this to have an opportunity of as suring you that I am your sincere lover till death, MARY MOONSHINE.

Topsham, Devon, Dec. 14, 1821.

Topsham, Devon, Dec. 14, 1821.

The new courts for sittings of the Commissioners of Bankrupts, lately erected in Basinghall-street, were opened for the transaction of public business on Saturday the 15th instant. The building contains 14 public rooms, appropriately fitted up, (being one for each list of Commissioners), with commodious galleries of communication, &c. It has also an office for the registry of all proceedings in bankruptcy causes, which is open every day to the public. The building is substantially formed of brick; laid out rather with an attention to internal convenience, than exterior decoration. The answer the purposes of public accommodation and utility, for which it was designed. it was designed.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR-I hope no individual in England, attached to the King, the Constitution, and the morality of the British empire, will lose the present apparauity of evincing the sense universally entertained of your unparalleled services in defence of all and each of these objects, which, I trust, will ever be dear to the hearts of the British nation. At a period, Sir, when we observe, with indignation and disgust, the natural and hereditary guardians of the digni-ty of the Crown—the chastily and the decency of the digust, the natural and hereditary guardians of the diguity of the Crown—the chastily and the decency of the country—supporting encouraging, and subscribing towards the relief of insidels, radicals, and subscribing towards the relief of insidels, radicals, and subscribing towards the flowering and demoralize the subject, surely, Sir, it is impossible to believe that hundreds of thousands will not predict flower), with this look and laipaffest eigerness, to obser and support you in the glaim of that confinement to which you have been consequent in their cause—the victim of Whit midica and middless made. The adidavits of the Tanhenville family from its known and avowed support of Aberty, sloudd have been the known and avowed support of Aberty, sloudd have been the known and avowed support of Aberty, sloudd have been the known and avowed support of Aberty, sloudd have been the known and avowed support of Aberty, sloudd have been the last to rise in judgment against the public point of Known the undanated intropidity with which you have so notify length by my side in defence of our vehicuted King and Constitution, to put down my name in any list of subscribes that may be forming for ten guiness; and sorry I am, Sir, that a limited fortune, and the levent alturation of affairs in this country, will not affor have an accorded in our object, thanks be to Almighty God, and have exposed and humbled the matignaut and tregerateful ventiles, with formerly nextled themselves in

God, and have exposed and humbled the matignant and suggested reptiles, who formerly nestled themselves in the generous and unsuspicious bosom of their Royal Mas-ter, that they might the more securely stab him in the ir of his greatest peril, should he not endrager the safety of his empire, by complying with their demands.

As I observe the study of treiand (as to the causes of the present disturbance) is by no means understood in England, I shall send you my sentiments on the origin and probable results of the insurrection, if not immediately suppressed. They will be published in the ANTIDOTS weekly paper, next Saturday, in an Address (my 14th) to the People of England; and, I fear, they will find me as correct and infallible on this subject, as they have proved me to be on all former ones connected with the interests and prosperity of the British empire.—I have the bonour, Sir, to be, with much respect very faithfully yours. much respect, very faithfully yours,

HARCOURT LEES.

I hope, Sir, no false delicacy will prevent your publishing the entire, or any part of this letter. It appears to me, that the entire, or any part of this lefter. It appears to inc, that if each subscriber to your constitutional paper would add only one quarter's subscription to the annual charges, or even half that sain, 1100L would soon be raised; and they would display, not only their loyalty, but their patriotism is contradiction to the infidelity and vile apostacy of the abandoned and disgraced Whigs. Black Rock, Dec. 13, 1821.

SIR—In looking over, MISS EDGEWORTH'S Tale of Vicisn, whilst passing a few days in the country last week, I stumbled upon the following description of a modern patriot:—

TO JOHN BULL.

"Lord G— had once been a strong friend to Government, and was thought a confirmed Courtier, especially as he had been brought up in high Aristocratic notions; but he made it his great object to turn his Karldon into a Marquipate—and Sovernment having delived or refused to gratily him, in this point, he quitted them with disgust, and set up his standard amongst the quisted them with disgust, and set up his standard amongst the quisted them now loud and scalous on every occasion that sould, as he said, ansoy Government—and merely because he could not be a Manquina, he between a Pararor—mistaken, abused name!—How giorious in its original—how despicable in its debased signification! Lord G—'a exertious were indefatigable."

A great fault I find in this Lady's writings, tendency to overcharge her characters. That a political adventurer should put up his talents (supposing them to be worth the purchase) to sale; or that in the failure of cer-tain stipulations, he should become a patriot, is too com-mon an occurrence to arrest our attention for a moment; but, that this authoress should, even in a poetical flight of imagination, be induced to attribute such gross unprincipled conduct to a British Earl, is an additional proof that ladies sliculd not meddle with matters beyond the sphere of their talents or observation. She does, indeed, in the hope, no doubt, of giving an air of probability to so glaring an instance of tergiversation, describe Lord G. as a very weak and a very proud man; and we all know that the union of such qualities in the human mind is almost invariably the stamp of a very mean one. Still she might surely have illustrated a base character, if it were necessary for the better conduct of her tale, by selecting some soldier of fortune, turned patriot because unem-ployed by Ministers—or a poetaster rhymed into a Radical, because his Monarch had too much taste to admire his warbling muse.

It appears to me, indeed, that in this season of patriotic prosecution for libers, certain public-spirited Poers might be induced (for their gallantry could not be expected to extend to such cases) to bring this female libellist to the Bar of the House, on a charge of scandalum magnatum.— There might indeed be some difficulty in this mode of proceeding, as this libel in Vivian was published, I find, as far back as 1812, and could not, therefore, apply to any Noble Earl of the present day—unless, indeed, ONE could be found, who was in office at that period, and could possibly be supposed to play the patriot in the present!

But MISS EDGEWORTH appears to be a spirited woman, and I am led to believe, if it were in the nature of things that there could exist a Peer so fallen below his Peers, as to feel that-she would be more tikely to throw the book in his face, than to plead the Statute of Limitation.—I am, Sir, CHESTER-TO-WIT.

"'Twas pointed at him,"

St. James's Park.—The centre walks round the Park have double rows of lamps, to be lighted with gas, creeted, and the whole of the apparatus will be completed by Christmas Eve. It has been arranged that the Park will be illuminated on Christmas night for the first time.

FAIR PLAY -- BOUND II

MR. BRIDLE, whose letter follows, appears to have taken one part of the hint we throughout littly, for if his present round be not over shorts. It is, his good pretty short we do not offer an opinion on the subject. MR. BRIDLE comes forward bottly; and in his such hafte, the responsibility therefore rests with him and we little even his opponents will admit, that, in affording a plant of his responsibility therefore nests with him; in affording a plant of his responsibility. The property of the property o to MR. MEER, we do nothing more than give like sombtants PAIR PLAY.

TO JOHN BYTE, once of that meeting from I feel great obligation to you for the scale of the which my last letter, on the suffice of a white and independent paper. I am not less pleased either at the admission of a counter-statement by its side, cannating from the orientested Rister hand, because is gives me the power of thus publicly asserting his whole sider to an PALEE, his own life a PARADOX, and himself A LIES CANNAGE AND I mean as to its bearing; and to show the at with which he has mixed up "truth with takehood."

"A threat of sandors with a web of what, for admission is shall preceed to the dissection of his letter.

mixed up "truth with falsehood,"

A thread of canalour with a web of with "truth which he has mixed up "truth with falsehood,"

I shall precord to the diseaction of his letter. ""The "truth of the Mode."

First, then, that I prevailed on Mrs. Tarry, the Fright Hand of Hebester to calle meeting; for the surjecte of addressing the Guern, is a LIE.—That I stipulated a voice of thanks to Dr. Luamouse, to be appended thereto, is a LIE.—That I attended the mellicity of the surjected of the mellicity of the surjected the mellicity of the surjected the mellicity of the surjected to the surjected to the deputation is a lie.

That I stipulated a wolve of thanks to Dr. Luamouse, the surjected to the deputation is a lie.

That the two gentlemen farming the displacement of the surjected the two gentlemen farming the displacement of the surjected to the surjected the surjected the surjected the surjected to the surjected to the surjected her Majesty, or assisted in stry way to get up such an Address, I all lemans thense.

The first charge against me, of forwarding the deputation is London at the expence of the county, I perceive is man abandoned. But I feel for the minerable mind of your late correspondent A.B. To ensure your favour, he said, "he detested Huxr;" but, to get himself out of the mire into which his malice plunged him, he refers to the very man he professed to steest, to fabricate freak hisebood. I humbly submit to your judgment, Mr. Editor, whether Hxxux Huxr is a man who is to be believed? I have the power of proving that he (Hxxux Huxr) has called this Bible a noise or arms; thus make matched it from the hunds of an ignorant prisoner, thrown is away, and substituted in its place. Curnett's Resisten, with the remark, that one page of it was better than that submen ; the Bible.

remark, that one page of at was better than that submon the Bitter of the.

I have the power of proving about that Henry Plusy delayed another prisoner in Lichester again, on being removed by the prisoner for blasphenous awearing, "God d—n you, and God bless you will be just the same by and bye," from which I have that he, the said Henry Hunt, were not believe in a future state.

And, lastly, from the whole tenour of his life, I fearlessly advants my firm conviction, that the said Henry Hunt is bound by not the, human or divine; and that any assertion emanating from such a man is unworthy of credit, even though it should be backed by mock appeal to that Power he secretly affects to despise. I am, Sir, your most obedient servant.

MISCELLANEOUS

BRIGHTON, DEC. 20.—His Majesty continues in the best take of health and spirits. His Majesty's daily exercises have been lamited to walks in the Palace Cardens, and rides in the covered riding-school. The preceding part of each day His Majesty devotes to State Affairs and business.

riding-school. The preceding part of each day His Majassy sevotes to State Affairs and business.

His Majasty's state couch is at this time receiving sevent is at the time receiving sevent is a state of the different orders of Knighthood bordering the principal panels of the carriage, are truly separate. The Corporation of Dublin on Tuesday, voted an Address to the King, on his return from Hanover.

The Earl of Liverpool has been presented with the freedom of the city of Bath, in a gold box, for his public services.

MESTING OF PARLAMENT.—As the King will open the Parliament in person, the most extensive arrangements are making for the Royal reception, on his Majesty's first appearance before the Parliament after the Coronation, and contrary to what has taken place for some years past.

imment after the Coronation, and contrary to what has taken place for some years past.

On Wednesday the General Committee of the National Society for the Education of the Poor in the principles of the Established Church, held their Meeting in St. Martin's Vestry Room. Present—the Bishop of London, the Hon. Mr. Justice Park, the Rev. Archdeacon Pott, and other Members of the Committee.—Some fresh Schools were united to the Society, and several grants of money were made towards the erecting, enlarging, and fitting up of school-rooms; amongst others, a grant of 1301. towards erecting a school for 500 children in the populous district of the Potteries in, Staffordshire, in addition to a former grant of the Society of 1501.

The Army.—On Tuesday, the Duke of York held a Levee, at the Horse Guards, which was attended by about 40 Military Officers—principally those upon half-pay, anxious to get employed in the three Veteran Battalions, amounting to 3000 men; but it is understood there are more than are wanted of those of the half-pay, who were called into service in the Veteran Battalions per two years since.

The 34 bettelion of the Committee County which was a tended to the service in the Veteran Battalions per two years since.

understood there are more than are wanted of those of the balfpay, who were called into service in the Veteran Battalions pear two years since.

The 3d battalion of the Grenadier Guards, which left London by the canal boats on the 4th inst., landed safely in Dublin on the 15th inst.—The detachment of the 32d regiment, which sailed about two years ago in the Coromandel store-ship, for. New Zealand, to cut timber, returned in that ship to Portsmouth on the 18th inst.

The usual Half-yearly Public Examinations at the Royal Military College at Sandhurst, commenced last week. There was a numerous attendance of the Commissioners, among whom were Generals Lord Cathcart, Sir Robert Brownrigg, Sir Harry Calvert, Lieut.—Gen. Frederick Maitland; Major-Generals Sir Willoughby Gordon, Sir Henry Torrens, the Quarter-Master and Adjutant-General; Sir George Murray, the Governor, and Colonel Butter, the Lieut.—Governor of the Institution. The examinations both of the Officers of the Senior Department and of the Gentlemen Cadets, were conducted with the usual strictness; and the results proved highly creditable, both to the individuals who appeared before the Board of Commissioners, and to the character of the establishment-generally. Upwards of 30 of the Gentlemen Cadets appeared for examination in the Mathematics, Fortification, Military Drawing, General History, Latin, Modern Languages, &c.; and seven of the number, who had completed their course of studies, received recommendations to the Commander-in-Chief for commissions, viz. Gentlemen Cadets Moorsom, Thomas, Robinson, Cockell, Tobin, Dixon, and Blackwell.—Several Officers of the Senior Department, after their examination in the higher branches of Mathematics and Fortification, received testimonials of the entire approbation of the Board.

Oxford, Dec. 15.—The Rev. J. Charnock, M. A. of Merton Coll. is elected Fellow of University Coll. and Mr. G. Davis, Scholar of the same Society, on the Bennet. Foundation.—The following Gentlemen were admitted to degrees:—Master of Arts: The Rev. T. Wyatt, of Trin. Coll.—Bachelons of Arts: W. D. Sealy, of St. Alhan Hall; W. Stratton, of St. Edmund Hall; J. Wetheral, of Brasenose Coll.; E. P. Stock, of Magdalen Hall; E. Trelawny and H. Thursby, of Oriel Coll.; J. Williams and T. Proctor, of Jesus Coll.; F. R. Stevens, of Worcester Coll.; and H. P. Sadler, of Pembroke Coll:

A marble statue of Sir Joseph Bankes is to be erected in the British Museum, and upwards of 2000l. is subscribed towards it.

A Parian marble torso if Apollo; in a very decayed condition, has lately been discovered in the ruins of the Temple of Diana, at Nimes. It is said that it will be shortly removed to the Paris Museum.

The noted Joseph Lancaster has established a paper in Balti-Museum.

The noted Joseph Lancaster has established a paper in Baltimore, which he calls "The Friend of Man," to be published monthly, at three dollars for thirteen numbers.

On Thursday, was the day appointed for holding the London Adjourned Sessions, but there being only three Aldermen present, while four are required, the Court, after waiting for two hours, was compelled to adjourn till the 8th of January.

We understand the passports made out for France in the present year do not amount to one-half of those granted last year. The fear that the Spanish fever might cross the Pyrennees has prevented the usual flow of valctudinarians from visiting the South of France.

By private letters received on Wednesday, from the Cape of

By private letters received on Wednesday, from the Cape of Good Hope, by the Fort William, arrived in the Downs, we are sorry to learn that the crops generally had proved very unproductive, and much distress was likely to be experienced from this circular to the control of th

Good Hope, by the Fort William, arrived in the Downs, we are sorry to learn that the crops generally had proved very unproductive, and much distress was likely to be experienced from this circumstance by the new settlers.

On Monday a battle was fought between Sampson (denominated the Birmingham youth) and Abbot, who recently defeated Oliver, for 501. aside, at Moulsey Hurst. The Birmingham youth was the favourite, 6 and 7 to 4, an idea being, entertained that his good fighting would bring him through the piece. At a quarter past one Abbot appeared on the ground, attended by Spring and Shelton. The Birmingham youth was followed by Randall and Tom Jones.—Round 1. On placing themselves in attitudes some little pause occurred; but they both rushed into a close, and from the eagerness displayed, no mischiel took place, and they were both down.—2. This round was similar to the first, nothing material; but Sampson went down from a slight hit.—3. Abbot put in a left-handed hit on the throat of Sampson that sent him staggering; he however returned to the charge, when a long pause ensued; Sampson exchanged a hit or two, but went down; and Abbot also fell from a slip. The odds had now changed, and 7 to 4 on Abbot.—4. This was a short round: after a struggle at the ropes, Abbot got his man down, and in falling his knees came heavily on the youth's body.—5. Abbot commenced fighting, and planted one or two heavy hits; the Birmingham showed fight, but he went down from a blow in the middle of his head.—6. Abbot went to work without delay, and the result was, that Sampson received a hit on his face, and he dropped down on his knees. "It's all up, he's going;" and 2 to 1 current betting.—7 to 20. To detail these rounds would be uninteresting to the amateur; it is true that the Birmingham commenced several rounds well, and had the best of them; but Abbot always finished them decidedly in his favour.—21 to 30. In the 27th round it was so much in favour of Abbot, that a distinguished sporting man from Newmarket offered a guinea t

HOLIDAY BOOKS FOR CHILDREN.
Published by Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, London.

1. IVES of EMINENT MEN, with Portraits, price 2s, 6d,
2. ESOP in RHYME, with some Originals.—By JEFFERYS TAYLOR, Ongar. J2me, price 4s, neatly half bound, with an Engraving to each Falls.

each Fable.

3. HARRYS HOLIDAY; or, the Doings of One who had Nothing to do. Second Edition, 18mo, piec 2s. 6d. half bound. By the same Author.

4. RALPH RICHARDS, the Miser. 18mo. 2s. 6d. half bound. By the same Author.

5. NATURAL HISTORY for CHILDREN; being a familiar Account of the most remarkable Quadrupeds, Birda, Insects, Fishes, and Reptiles, Trees, and Plants. In five Pocket Volumes, with Plates and numerous Cuts. Price 10s. 6d, neatly half bound.—N.B. The volumes of this work may be had-separately, price 2s. 6d, each, neatly half bound.

6. A SHORT HISTORY of FRANCE; including the principal Events, from the Foundation of the Empire by Pharamond to the Restoration of Louis XVIII.—By Mrs. MOORE; in 2 vols. illustrated with 32 Plates, printed uniformly with the long-esteemed Works of Mrs. Trimmer. Price 9s. bound in red.

ound in red.
7. LESSONS of LOVE, or Family Instruction. Written by a Mother for ound in red.

7. LESSONS of LOVE, or Family Instruction. Written by a Mother for her Children. 2s. 6d. half bound.

8. EVENINGS at HOMB; or, the Juvenile Budget spensed; consisting of a variety of Miscellaneous Pieces for the Instruction and Amusement of Young Persons. By Dr. AIKIN and Mrs. BARBAULD. Twelfile Edition. In 6 vols, piece 10s. 6d. half bound.

9. The WOODLAND COMPANION; or, a brief Description of British Trees, with some Account of their Uses.—By Dr. AIKIN. Third Edition, Illustrated by 25 Plates, 0s. neatly half bound.

10. ARTS of LIFE:—1. Of Previding Food; 2. Of Providing Clothing; 3. Of Providing Sbetter;—described in a Series of Letters, for the Instruction of Young Persons. Third Edition, half bound, 2s. 6d. By the same Author, 11. NATURAL HISTORY of the Year, being an Enlargement of the Calendar of Nature. By Mr. A. AIKIN. Fourth Edition, 12mo 3s. boards.

12. JUVENILE CORRESPONDENCE, or Letters designed as Examples of the Epistolary Style, for Children of both Sexes. By Miss AIKIN. Second Edition, 18mo. half bound, 2s. 6d.

13. A COMPENDIUM of ZOOLOGY; being a Description of more than 300 Animals. Confirmed by actual and personal Observations, with original Remarks, and interesting Quotations from Ancient and Modern Authors; to which is subjoined an Appendix, on Allegorical and Fabulous Animals. A new Edition, carefully revised and corrected. In 12mo. price 5s. 6d. boards, illustrated by accurate Figures engraved on Wood.

14. CORTEZ; or, the Conquest of Mexico: as related by a Father to his Children, and designed for the Instruction of Youth. Translated from the German of J. H. CAMPE, by ELIZ, HELME. A new Edition, with a Map, price 5s. 6d. bound.

German of J. H. CAMPE, by ELIZ. HELME. A new Edition, with a Map, price 5s, 6d. bound.

15. COLUMBUS; or, the Discovery of America. By the same Author. A new Edition, 12no. with a Map, price 5s. 6d. bound.

16. PIZARRO; or, the Conquest of Peru. By the same Author. 12mo. with a Map, price 5s. 6d. bound.

17. JUVENILE PIECRS; designed for the Youth of both Sexes; including the Student's Dream; the Vision of Female Excellence; the Painter's Panegyrist, &c.; with an Essay on Education, and a Panoramic Survey of the World. By JOHN EVANS, LLD. Sixth Edition, enlarged, 12mo. with Plates. Price 4s. 6d. bds.

18. POEMS on various Subjects, selected to enforce the Practice of Virtue, with Plates. Price 4s. 6d. bds.

18. POEMS on various Subjects, selected to enforce the Practice of Virtue,
18. POEMS on various English Poetry. By T. E. and to comprise, in one Volume, the Beauties of English Poetry. By T. E. TOMKINS. A new Edition, with many additional Poems. In a neat pocket volume, price 3s, bound.

19. A COURSE of LECTURES for Sunday Evenings; containing Religious Advice to Young Persons. In 2 vols, price 9s, half bound,—N B. This publication, which contains a Lecture for every Sunday throughout the year is written upon so liberal a plan, as to be suitable to any rank of Life, without giving offence to the Sentiments of any Christian Reader. It is also considered as the best book for Schools of any that has been written on the Same subjects.

19. The FIRST PRINCIPLES of RELIGION, and the Existence of a Deity, explained in a Series of Dialogues, adapted to the capacity of the Infant Mind. By M. P. Price 2s. half bound.

20. DIALOGUES and LETTERS on Morality, Economy, and Politeness, for the improvement and entertainment of Young Female Minds. By the same Author. In 3 vols. price 6a.

21. A FATHER'S ADVICE to HIS SON, written chiefly for the perusal of Young Gentlemen. By the same Author, halfbound, 2s.

22. SACRED HISTORIES, or Insulated Bible Stories, extracted from the O.d and New Testament, in the words of the original, and printed in a large type for the use of Children. By WHLLIAM SCOLFIELD, in 2 vols.

price 4s. Laff bound.

23. ESSAYS on the PRIVATE MANNERS and DOMESTIC INSTI-TUTIONS of the ROMANS. In 12mo. Price 7s.

24. ESSAYS on the INSTITUTIONS, GOVERNMENT, and MAN-MERS of the STATES of ANCIENT GREECE. By H. D. HILL, D.D. Professor of Greek in the University of St. Andrew's, In 12mo. Price 7s. with a copious ludex.

THE LONDON WINE COMPANY, 141, Fleet-street, on the commencement of their undertaking, took leave to address the Public, stating their intention to dispose of the uset Wines upon the most liberal terms; while, at the same time, they expressed their determination to render their Stock comparatively cheap, rather by its superior quality, than by disposing of an interior article, at a low price, which at any price must be dear to the consumer.

To, such a proposition they could not anticipate any objection from the honest and respectable venders of Wine,—on the contrary, indeed, they have found their system fully approved and sanctioned by the whole of that body, so far as they could ascertain the opinion of its members. But when they deprecated the imposing placaria, with regard to "Cheap Wines,"—(hose Wines being offered at a price for which they could not possibly be sold, were they really of the quality or character which they proport to possess;)—when they expressed a hope of reducing that system of imposture, which, under the alluring gaise of cheapness, has been too long prevalent;—when they expressed a hope of reducing that system of imposture, which, under the alluring gaise of cheapness, has been too long prevalent;—when they declared their resolution altogether to exclude what are fermed Cape Wines from their Cellars, denouncing those Wines as of very inferior quality, and as the great material for adulterating the better sort, which the "cheap" advertisers offered to their customers, the London Wine Company did anticipate the utmost alarm, and anger, and revenge, among times who have so long subsisted upon this, nefarious traffic; they, however, recollected, that they had the same spirit of low hostility to encounter upon the commencement of the London Genuine Tea Company, 22, Ludgate hill. For how many publications were then issued against them? And why?—Because they reproduced the quality by which at was denominated. But, after all the clamour against the London Genuine Tea Company, net administration prospect; but they should endeavour to meet with resignation that mistortime which they must resist in vain. At least, they should feel the policy of silence.

That Cape Wines, both red and white, are too generally used in the adulteration of superior Wines, appears from a variety of evidence before the Board of Excise and the Board of Trade, as well as from the depositions made before the Committee of the House of hords, in the last Session of Parliament, upon the subject of Foreign Trade, by several respectable Wine Merohants in London. Within the last few days, indeed, a Wine Seller, in Gray's Inn. Lane, was convicted and fined by the Beard of Excise for using Cape Wines in the adulteration of superior Wines. Still the London Wine Company, in their Advertiscement, upon this subject, pointed at no particular Establishment, mentioned no name whatever, (although they had it amply in their power to do so) for they had no personal hostility to gratify,—their hostility being solely against the system of imposture, which every homest man must reprobate,—and yet they have had a variety of personal attacks made upon them, but in terms so gross and seu rilous, as bespoke the absence of all fact and argument. Such attacks, indeed, must, in candid minds, recoil upon their authors—the London Wine Company cannot condescend to reply to them. It will not, indeed, be expected that they should engage themselves in any controversy with such persons as are likely to assail them upon this subject. They feel it, then, quite unnecessary, and an undue trespass upon the attention of the Public, to dwelt further upon such attacks and such assailants. They will leave it to time and experience to de ide between them and their opponents; and they are encouraged to hope, that the same result will follow from the same system in their new Establishment, as they have had the good fortune to meet in the progress and success of the London Genuine Tea Company.

The London Wine Company feel highly flattered by the liberal patrovage
th

Prices.	LA THE THE PARTY OF THE PARTY O
to the Wood	per Pipe.
Port	£90 to £126
West India Madeira	£100
East India Madeira	€115
Teneriffe	£90 to £100
Teneriffe	£95 to £126
Port,	per dozen 42s.
Dilto, vintage 1815	46s.
Crusted Bottled Port	dev7 54s.
Old Bottled Port	60s, to 63s.
Ditto	66s, to 72s.
Superior old ditto, 5 to 8 years in bottle	78s, to 84s.
Ditto, 8 to 22 ditto	84s. to 6 Guineas
Sherry
Old ditto
Ditte ditto	60s. to 63s.
Amontillado.,	60s. to 65s.
Carlous old Sherry, 16 years in bottle	Guineas
West India Madeira
Superior ditto	60s- to 72s
East India ditto
Superior ditto
Curious ditto, 6 to 16 years in bottle	6 to 10 Guineas
Malmsey ditto	Guigeas
Teneriffe	42s. to 46s.
Bucelius
Calcavella	45м.
Lisbon	458.
Paxarette	63s.
Mountain	48s.
Tent	63s.
White and Red Constantia	848.
FRENCH WINE	Stief alter opening to the land
Very fine ditto	per dozen 72s.
Very fine ditto	908.
Ditto, first growth, of Margaux and Lafitte	* £5 to £5 108.
Ditto, Latour	· · · · · · · · · · · · 5 Guineas
White and Red Hermitage	b Guineas
Barsac	-1 74s.to 90s.
Saute n	10, /53, 10 908.
Coli Roui
Frontignac	00. 1-7 0-1
Champagne, white sparkling	90s. to / Guineas
Ditto, creaming	, 1038, to / Guineas
Ditto, pink
Superior Burgundy	1, 1 1058, to 7 Guineas
Hock
Moselle
Brandy Jamaica Rum	per Gallon.
Brandy	208
Jamaica Rum	105,
Hollands	    208.
Geneva	1.13
All Orders to be paid for on
TER ANDREW DOOMONGAT A TE	CHARLES OF THE SECOND

DATENT ECONOMICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP. LAMP.—It acontemplating the lives and property that have been sacrificed to the use of candles, it is natural to conclude, that it has either been found difficult to invent a complete substitute, or that it is importance has escaped observation, and it is not a trilling gratification to the Patentee, that, in this invention he has so far succeeded in the at emptas to produce a light that embraces every perfection, and is alike applicable to every domestic use, and can be so regulated as to suit every occasion. Its safety is such that no person on seeing it can doubt for a moment its security agalist danger of fire, and, bearing any motion without agitating the dame, renders it highly valuable as a moving light. As a Chamber or Night Light, it can be represented. person on seeing it can doubt for a moment its security against danger of fire, and, bearing any motion without agitating the dame, renders it highly valuable as a moving light. As a Chamber or Night Light, it can be regulated to burn the longest or shortest night, giving a never-failing brilliant dame, ready at the moment it is wanted, disappearing in the morning without smoke or smell, superseding the Bed Candle, and, in its general use, a preserver of the carpets from tailow or was; the price, in neat Japan Stands, 10s. and in bronze, 15s. to 20s. The same principle applies, and the Lamps equally portable, on pedestals, varying in size and elegance, for the dining table, sideboard, study, bracket, door, or fan-light, &c.; and also Glass Grecian Hanging Lamps, for the hall, staircase, passages, conservatory drawing-room, mantleyiece, lustres, &c.; and for the accommodation of those who have square, vase, or other hall lanthorns, the burners of which are saminy now applies this principle to such, with all its advantages, at 12s. to 14s. each. Families in the country, who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity, have only to send the exact size of the aperture at the bottom of the lanthorn in which the burner is introduced. It is a most essential acquisition in all these Lamps, that they require no attention when in use, and the expense, in best spermacetioil, through the wholesystem, only about a third of tailow candles, huming sweet as wax, add so simple that achifd can trim them.—Sold for the Patentee, by T. Pearce and Co. No. 268 facing the front of St. Clement's Church, in the Strand: who, to secure their reputation from the effects of adulterated ell, are bound to sell none but pure Spermaceti, in which the confidence of the Public will never be abused. Letters, post paid, from any part of the Kingdom, will meet with prompt attention. ATCHES. — J. ACKLAM respectfully acquaints those persons in want of a good Watch at a moderate price, he is enabled owing to some recent ready-money purchases be has made in sew and second-jaind Watches of every description, to offer them at prices materially to their advantage, from Two Guineas upwards, many of them made by the first makers in London.—J. A. begs to state, as reputation is his object, his wish is never to sell a Watch that will not give satisfaction; to obtain that end he gives to purchasers the peculiar advantages of twelve months trial, with liberty to exchange them in that time, if not approved of.—No. 423, Strand, Corner of Bedford-street.—Old Watches taken in exchange.

Strand, Corner of Bedford-street —Old Watches taken in exchange.

ESTABLISHED UPWARDS OF TWENTY YEARS.
For the SALE of IRISH LINEN by the PIECE.

At the Factor's Price, No. 4, on the South Side of Bloomsbury, agnare four doors from the top of Southampton-street, Holborn.

THE IRISH LINEN COMPANY beg leave to aumounce to the Public, that the above House is their only Establishment in the Country; where they continue to supply the Nobility, Gentry, and the Public with WARRANTED GRASS-BLEACHED LINEN.

For Shirta and Sheets, of the best fabric and colour, at a price considerably lower than they can be procured through any other medium.

They also engage to return the Purchase-money should any fault appear. Good Irish Bills and Bank of Ireland Notes taken as usual.

Country and Town orders punctually attended to by JOHN DONOVAN, 4, Bloomsbury-square, London, Agents, JOHN DONVLE, 31, St. Mary's Abbey, Dublin, Several Japane.

JOHN DOYLE, 31, St. Mary's Albey, Dublin, 'Agents, OOKING GLASSES AND FURNITURE.—Several large SECOND HAND PLATES, are now on Sale, at COOPER & SON'S Manufactory, 33, Bishopsgate street, Within.—Some of the larger sizes are admirably adapted for large diming rooms and elegant drawing-rooms. A large assortment of rich anished Chimney, Pier, and Cheval frames, wills New Glasses of superior colour and brilliancy; the prices reduced beyond all former precedent. Plate Glassfor Windows, Carriages, &c.—This article may also be manufactured as high as 130 by 72 Inches, 120 by 80, or to any given dimension. Noblemen, Gentlemen, Surveyors, Proprietors of Hotels, and others, will find this Warehouse deserving attention, from its extensive Variety of excellent Cabinet and Chair, Work. The upholstery arrangements display some new specimens of peculiar neatness and elegance, with the still greater advantage of economy in the charge. Furniture delivered to any part of the country, without risk of injury, or expence of packing.

ALL'S sublime TURKISH PASTE, CIRCASSIAN and FACE POWDER.—The above elegant preparations, which are so tusiversally approved by Ladies of the first rank and fashion, as the most innocent and heautiful assistant to nature, by imparting to the skin that soft and inconceivable fairness, is now prepared, in the highest state of perfection; the Proprietor having lately imported a quantity of the necessary ingredients, will prevent in fature any fossible disappointment.—One Pound Nete Packages, containing two large Pots and two Packets of the Powder, or four small Pots and four small Packets, are forwarded to all parts of Town or Country, and warranted to arrive safe.

N.B. Observe the above are only to be had of the most respectable Dealers of Perfumery or Millipers in the Country, in single Pots, at 10s. 6d. so, 6d.; and the Pewder in Packets, 2s. 6d. and 1s. 6d., and should be asked for in the name of the Proprietor, whose signature is on the outside all cach.—Patent Violet Sosp and Chemical Laboratory, No. 28, Hadlow-street, Barton Crescent, London.—J. B. HALL.

Durgess's NBW Sauce for general purposes, having given by the great approbation, and the demand for it continuing to increase JOHN BURGESS and SON beg most respectfully to offer this their best acknowledgments to the Public for their liberal patronage of the same: its utility and great convenience in all climates, has recommended it to the most distinguished foreign connexions, who have all spoken highly in its recommendation.—It is prepared by them ONLY; and for preventing disappointments to families, all possible care has been resorted to, by each bottle being sealed upon the cork with their firm and address, as well as each label having their signature, without which it cannot be genuine.

JOHN BURGESS and SON'S long established and much-esteemed ESSENCE of ANCHOVIES, continues to be prepared by them after the same manner that has given the greatest statisfaction for many years.—Warehouse, '07. Strand, corner of the Satoy-steps, Landon.—The original Fish-Sauce Warehouse.

Warehouse.

A RTIFICIAL TEETH, on an unprecedented principle.—Mr. GRAY. Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, in London, continues to supply the loss of Teeth, on the successful system introduced by him in 1813, which has been found to answer all the purposes of the human Teeth, in mastication, articulation, appearance, &c., and remain perfectly secure in their places by the pressure of the atmosphere; thereby avoiding pinning to stumps, tying, twisting, wires, or fastening springs to the adjoining Teeth, or any attachment whatever to the remaining teeth; and consequently, instead of injuring, afford them support. These artificial teeth may be taken out, and replaced by the wearer with the greatest facility. Mr. Gray simprovements enable him to supply whole or half sets, without the aprial springs, which are usually attached to such pleces.—25, Old Burlington-street.

INTER COUGHS, &c. The ANODYNE EXPECTORANT LOZENGES are recommended to the Public as a Medicine of unrivalled efficacy in the Cure of Coughs, Asthmas, Sore Throats, &c. &c.
The Proprietors do not consider an eulogium necessary, a single trial having invariably established their superior claims in the Cure of the above Complaints. Sold by the Proprietors, Howe and Co.16, Tichborn-street, opposite the County Fire Office; Sanger, 150, Oxford-street; Hawkins, 11, Oid Bond-street; Ward, Holborn; Stradling, Royal Exchange; and most respectable Medicine Venders, in boxes, at 1s, 13d, each.

Rond-streef; Ward, Holborn: Stradling, Royal Exchange; and most respectable Medicine Venders, in boxes, at 1s, 13d. each.

NOR the TOOTH-ACHE, and producing BEAUTIFUL TEETH.—ROWLAND'S ALSANA EXTRACT, patrouized by her Royal Highness the late Duchess of York, their Excellencies the Dukes Del Infantado and Sans Carlos. This Botanical Specific has been in high estimation many years, and recommended by the first physicians as a sovereign remedy for the Tooth Ache, Gom Boils, &c. also removes the tartar from the teeth, prevents their decaying, fastens those that are loose, makes the teeth beautifully white, cleauses the sourcy rom the goms, renders them firm and healthy, refreshes the mouth during disease and after medicine, imparts a sweetness to the breath, is so perfectly innocent that a child may take it; sinded, is often used as a stomachic, yet contains those invaluable properties, that, if constantly used, will render the teeth and gums sound, beastiful, and free from pain, to the latest period of life. Price 2s, 9d, 4s, 6d, and 10s, 6d, per bottle. None is genuine unless signed on the outside in red ink, A. ROWLAND & SON, and sold by them at No. 1, Kirby-street, Hatton Garden; and by appointment by Messrs Hendries, Titchborne-street; Gattie and Fierce, 57, D. Riggs, 35, New Bond-street; Sanger, 150, Oxford-street; Bolton, Stradling, Reval Exchange; Johnson, 68, Tatte, 41, Cornbill; Newbery, 46, Edwards, 66, St. Paul's Church-yard; Coiley, Bishopsgate-street; Barclay, Fleet Market; Buller, 4, Cheapside; Berry, 17, Johnstone, 15, Greek-street, Soho; Sutton, Bow Charch yard; Rowney, 106, Nation Garden; Low, 330, Prout, 229, Strand; Ward, 324, Swift, 29; Sutton, 127, High Holborn: Chandler, 76, Oxford-street.

Greek street, Soho; Sutton, Bow Charch, yard; Rowney, 106, Nation Garden; Low, 330, Prout, 229, Strand; Ward, 224, Swift, 29; Sutton, 127, High Holborn; Chandler, 76, Oxford-street.

CONVULSION FITS, EPILEPTIC FITS, HYSTERICS, NERVOUS and SPASMODIC COMPLAINTS, EFFECTUALLY CURED BY DR. HADLEY'S POWDERS.

Fall Diseases incidental to the Human Frame, none are more affected in its application, completely extirpates Cenvulsion Fits in Infants and Adults; also Epileptic or Falling Fits, Hysterics, and Nervous and Spasmodic Complaints. The Powder is a grank restorative in all cases of relaxation, debility, and weakness in children and adults; it gradually strengthens the stomach, increases the appetite, promotes digestion, and in a short time restores the patient to perfect health, without confinement or alteration of diet.—The late Dr. HADLEY, of Derby, (the discoverer of this valuable medicine) used it in private practice for apwards of fifty years with the most diattering success in the various complaints, which is proved by incontrovertible facts. Its inestimable virtues are patronised by the following distinguished Nobility, and manyothers, too numerous for an Advertisement. Her Grace the Duchess of Rutland Right Hon. Lady Amherst.

Right Hon. Lady Amherst.

Right Hon. Lady G. Cavendish.

Extracts from Letters addressed to Dr. HADLEY:—

From the Hon. Mrs. Egerton to Dr. Hadley.

Sir.—I this morning received your letter, mentioning your intention of bringing your convulsion Powder into more general notics. I have so very high an opinion of it, from the cases I have seen performed, that I think you will be doing a public service. I remain, Sir, yours, &c. E. RGERTON.

From the Right Hon. Lady Eismore.

From the Alleys.

Hon. Mrs. Bathurst.

Hon. Mrs. Bathurst.

Hon. Mrs. Bestonn.

From Lady Walpole to Dr. Hadley, Hillingdon, Uxbridge, Jan. 25, 1819.

Sit.—I shall have great pleasure in desiring you to make use of my name when you publish the Convulsion Powder. Its great efficacy in my own Ismily and friends, and to

ACCIDENTS, OFFENCES, &c.

ACCIDENTS, OFFENCES, &c.

On Tuesday morning, soon after three o'clock, there was a tremendous gale at S.S.W. accompanied with hail and torrents of rain. The gale abated in one dreadful explosion about four o'clock. And on Thursday night it blew one of the most dreadful hurricanes that has been recollected for many years. In some parts, which were exposed to the fury of the blast, trees and old buildings were blown down, and in many places stacks of chimnies were thrown into the street, by the violence of the wind.

Two melancholy shipwrecks took place at Eastbourne on Tuesday morning last. About four hours before day-break, a French trading vessel, was driven on shore by the violence of a tremendous gale, under part of the high clill near Beachy Head. Her man proved to be La Jeune Fani, of Vannes, bound to Dunkirk, with a cargo of salt. The Captain, whose name was Silvestre, and his son, a lad only eleven years old, were drowned. The survivors were thrown on shore at a spot between Birling Gap and Cow Gap, where, for four miles, the cliff presents a wall of chalk, perfectly perpendicular, without road or path, or any other means of ascent, varying in height from four hundred to eight hundred feet. They clambered to the top of the ascent in this situation, chilled with wet and cold, a wide roaring ocean in front and an insurmountable precipice behind, these four miserable mariners sathuddled and aghast upon their precarious perch, for more than five hours, until the ocean slowly receded, and they were discovered by the centinels of the Coast of Blockade service. By these active and humane fellows, the poor Frenchmen were immediately conveyed to their former enemies.—The Santon, Banks, struck upon King William's Bank, off the Isle of Man. A few days since a dreadful sea broke over the vessel, which swept away the Master, and William Turner, mate. The crew putout the long-boat, into which six of the eight remaining on board leaped for safety—the other two went down with the vessel. The boat drifted into Gleniuce

The house of Mr. Grant, Cornhill, was broken open on Monday night, or early on Tuesday morning, and bills, &c. to the amount of 10001. stolen.

The house of Mr. Wheeler, of North-street, Lambeth, was entered by thieves by means of picklock keys, between six and eight. O'clock on Sunday evening last, when the family were at chapel, and robbed of a box containing a quantity of plate of considerable value, and another box, containing deeds, under which had been deposited a number of sovereigns.

On Monday the Jury resumed the inquiry into the death of Mr. Slade, butcher to the late Queen, who was run over by a Bayswater stage-coach, in Edgware-road, on the 29th ult. Evidence was taken as to the cause of the accident, and as to the actual proprietor of the coach, which led to the following verdict—"That Thomas Stratford is guilty of manslaughter; that the coach and two horses are the property of Samuel Kinner, valued at 401. are deodand."

Between seven and eight o'clock on Monday night, as J. Forrester, a licensed hawker, was coming from Battle-bridge to Bagnigge Wells, he was stopped by three men, who knocked him down, and took from him to ar sovereigns, a 51. note, and about 30s. in silver. The villains threw him into the deep filthy ditch which runs by the side of the road and escaped.

**Advertisement.*]—Another £30,000. sold in Shares by HAZARD. The Advertisement.]—Another £30,000, sold in Shares by HAZAHD. The Ticket No 18,900, drawn on Thursdaylast, a Prize of £30,000, was sold in Shares by Hazard and Co. who also sold in Shares No.16,427, a Prize of £5,000, drawn the Third Day.

**Advertisement.]—No.18,602, drawn on Thursday last a Prize of £5,000, was sold in Shares by CARROLL, who also sold in Shares, No.11,486, a Prize of £30,000, drawn the Second Day; besides several minor Capitals.

M. Comment	A man a second state of	SHIP N	EWS.
Arrived	Mails	Due	Arrived	Mails	Due
	.Dublin			Malta
	.Waterford			France
	Guernsey &			Hamburgh
	Holland			Flanders .
	Gottenburgh.			Brazils
12.00		the last water and	C	Distant.	100

HARFDALE, YORKSHIRE.—To be LET, furnished or unfurnished, ARTHINGTON HALL, with the Offices, Gardens, Hothouses, and Fish Ponds, and about Forty Acres of superior Mendow and Pasture Land. The occupier will have the privilege of shooting over the extensive and well preserved Manors of Arthington and Addle, as well as of fishing in the River Wharfe, adjoining the Property, and he will be in the immediate vicinity of Lund Harewood's Fox Hounds, Arthington being only two miles distant from Harewood—Apply to Mr. Smith, Solicitor, in Otley.

POONS and FORKS, Second-hand.—Messrs. KENT, AVERY, and VINCENT, No. 63, Bond-street, corner of Brook street, Hanoversquare, beg to acquaint the Nobility and Centry they have now for SALE about Eight Thousand Ounces of Second hand Silver Spoons and Forks; consisting of the King's pattern, double threaded, fiddle head, Freuch, and plain; likewise some very rich antique old chased waiters, tea sets, coffee pots, kettles, with stands and lamps, cups and covers, tankards, cruet trames and cover of the family acquirity and covers, tankards, cruet pots, kettles, with stands and lamps, cups and covers, tankards, cruel frames, and every other family requisite worthy the attention of the Public in general, they being extremely good and considerably under the usual price.—Messrs. K. A. and V. are also happy to inferm Noblemen and Gen themen they have now the most extensive and best-collection of Town-made Guns in the kingdom; among which there are about Fifty of John and Joseph Mantons (flint and percussion.)—Old Plate, Guns, Pistols, &c. taken in exchange.

In exchange.

RENCH PERFUMERY.—JEAN DEVEREAUX'S ESPRIT DE LAVANDE AUX MILLEFLEURS, possesses all the balmy fragrance of the ireshest flowers; its aromatic, cephalic, and wervine virtues are instantly diffused through the most spacious apartments, while the fragrance of its seen revives every person around.—Sold in bottles, price 2s. 6d. and 5s. at the Depot for French Perfumery, 28, Lombard-street, London; where is to be had JEAN DEVEREAUX'S MONTPELLIER, SOAP for rendering the complexion delicately smeoth, clear, and even; imparting a vivifying grateful perisme, and giving to the skin a most delicious feel and luxurious brilliancy. Price 2s. 6d, per packet.—Sold retail 48, Cornhill; No. 9, Regent-street, Pall Mall; 129, Oxford-street; 59, St James's street; 22, Hatton Garden, and wholesale by Price and Gosnell Perfumers to His Majesty.

**Table A gratuitous sample (on a handkerchief) of Jean Devereaux's celebrated Esprit de Lavande aux Milledeurs, will be presented to any Lady or Gentleman, which will prove its pleasing and refreshing preperties, by applying te any of his Agents, or at his Depet, Ne. 28, Lombard-street, London.

Just published, in 2 vols. 8vo. price II. boards, ERMONS, selected and abridged, from the Works of ARCHBISHOP TILLOTSON: to which are added, some Memorials of his Life and Character.—By the Rev. J. DAKINS, Rector of St. James's, Golchester.

Colchester.
Printed for Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy; F. C. and J. Rivington; and Hatchard, London; and Swinburne and Walter, Colchester.

Early in January, will be published, I vol. Svo.

Early in January, will be published, I vol. Svo.

WO VOYAGES to NEW SOUTH WALES and VAN DIBMAN'S LAND; including a Description of the present condition of that interesting Colony; with facts and observations relative to the state and management of Convicts of both sexes, under sentence of transportation. Also Reflections on Seduction and its general consequences.—By THOMAS REID, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons in London, and Surgeon in the Royal Navy.

Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, London.

ANNUAL BIOGRAPHY FOR 1822.

On the 1st of January will be published, in 8vo. 15s. boards,

HE ANNUAL BIOGRAPHY and OBITUARY for the Year 1822. Containing Memoirs of celebrated Men who have died in 1820-21.

The present volume contains, among other interesting Lives, these of Napoleon Buenaparte—the late Queen—Lord Sheffield—Mrs. Piozzi—Mrs.
Inchbald—Lord Malmesbury—Mr. Hayley—Sir Home Popham—Admiral Hunter—Mr. Hatsell, Clerk of the House of Commons—Mr. Rennle, the Engineer—Mr. John Scott—Mr. Keats—Mr. Harris, of Covent Garden
Theatre—Dr. Knox—Mr. C. Stothard.

Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, Londen; of whom may be had, Vols. 1 to 5 of the above Work, price 15s. each.

Just published, in one large volume 8vo. price 15s. boards, the Tenth Edi-may be had, Vols. I to 5 of the above Work, price 15s. each.

Just published, in one large volume 8vo. price 15s. boards, the Tenth Edition, much improved, of the Land of the Substances employed in Medicine.—III. The Pharmaceutical Preparations and Compusitions. Including Translations of the last Editions of the Edinburgh, Dublin, and London Pharmacopeias. Illustrated and explained in the Language, and according to the Principles of Modern Chemistry. With numerous Tables. By ANDREW DUNCAN, Jun. M.D. Professor of Materia Medica in the University of Edinburgh, &c. &c.

Printed for Bell and Bractate, Edinburgh; Longman and Co.; Baldwin and Co.; and Ogle, Duncan, and Co. London; and Hodges and M'Arthur, Dublin; of whom may be had.

2. PHARMACOPOEA COLLEGII REGII MEDICORUM EDINBURGENSIS, 8vo. 10s. 6d.

GENSIS, 8vo. 10s. 6d.

3. WELSH'S PRACTICAL ESSAY on the EFFICACY of BLOOD-LETTING in EPIDEMIC FEVER, 8vo. 12s.

COXE'S SHREWSBURY CORRESPONDENCE.

Just published, in 4to. with a Portrait of the Duke of Shrewsbury, from an original Painting by Sir Peter Lely, price 3l. 3s. hoards,

THE PRIVATE and CONPIDENTIAL CORRESPOND—

ENCE of CHARLES TALBOT, Duke of SHREWSBURY, principal Minister to King William, for a considerable Period of Iris Reign.—By the Rev. Archdeacon COXE.

This Collection comprises his Epistolary Intercourse with the King, as well as with Lords Somers, Sunderland, Oxford, Halifax, and other distinguished Characters of the Time; and is elucidated with Historical and Biographical Notices.

Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, London; of whom may be had, Mr. Coxe's Historical and Biographical Works.

Jast published, in 12mo. with a Portrait, &c. price 4s.

THE LIFE of DAVID HAGGART, alias John Wilson, alias John Morison, alias Barney McCoul, alias John McColgan, alias Daniel O'Brien, alias The Switcher; containing an Account of his Robberies, Burglaries, Murders, Trials, Escapes, and other remarkable Adventures.—Written by HIMSELF, while under sentence of death.—Printed for W. and C. Tait, Edinburgh; and Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, & Brown, Lendon.

Written by HIMSELF, while under sentence of death.—Printed for W. and C. Tait, Edinburgh; and Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, & Brown, Lendon.

Just published, in 4 volumes, price 2l. 12s. 6d.

ECTURES on the PHILOSOPHY of the HUMAN MIND.

By the late THOMAS BROWN, M.D. Professor of Moral Philosophy in the University of Edinburgh.—Printed for W. and C. Tait, Edinburgh; and Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, London.

"The Publication of the Lectures of the late Dr. Brown has surprised us most unexpectedly with not only great originality, but, what is of much greater moment, with more clearness of thinking, and more utility of application, than we had ever contemplated. Dr. Brown has fearlessly pulled down former systems, but he has no loss dexterously rebuilt a single and (wonderful to say) an intelligible and practical system of metaphysics."—

London Magazine for December.

Dt. REES'S CYCLOPÆDIA.—Those Subscribers who intend to bind up their Copies of this extensive work, are respectfully solicited by F. Westley, Friar-street, Doctors Commons, to favour him with their orders, AND HE BEGS TO REFER TO THE RECOMMENDATION OF HIS PARTICULAR QUALIFICATIONS FOR THE UNDERTAKING, BY THE PUBLISHERS (WITHIN THE COVER OF VOL. 39, PART 2.) for whom he boarded nearly the whole of the work during its publication in Parts.

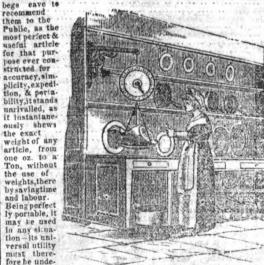

Specimens of binding, and a list of prices of the various styles, may be seen as above, or at No. 10, Stationers-court, Ludgate hill, where letters of inquiry will have prompt attention.—Missellaneous Orders promptly executed, in all the variety and excellence of the art.

Nov. let. 1821.

LUGHT TRAYELLING POST-CHAISE to be SOLD for

A LIGHT TRAVELLING POST-CHAISE to be SOLD for only SIXTY-FIVE GUINEAS, with Rumble behind for Servants, Boot and Splashing-Leather in front, Brag Chain and Staff, and a Desk in front of Rody. The Lining and Paint of Body and Carriage in excellent condition; the Wheels and Rumble almost new, and the whole is sound and perfect in every part. To be viewed on Monday at E. Lucas's Livery Stables, No. 9, Berkeley Mews, Portman-square.

DIAL WEIGHING MACHINES. MARRIOTT having obtained His Majesty's Royal Letters
Patent, for an invaluable improvement in WEIGHING MACHINES,

the

wersal utility must there-fore be unde-niable for Domestic purposes; is Sheps, Warehouses, Coach, offices, Market-houses, Barns, on What's, at Races and Fairs, for Cattle, Corn, Hay, &c. or for loading heavy Articles; it may be attached to the chain of a Crane, and shew the weight at the time of craning; it is also peculiarly well adapted for the Foreign Markets. From its extreme simplicity, it is scarcely possible to be inaccurate; yet if it ever should be so, there is an adjusting Screw, which will instantly correct it.

H. MARBIOTT begins also inaccurate: yet if it ever should be so, there is an adjusting Screw, which willinstantly correct it.

H. MARRIOTT having also made considerable improvements in his PATENT KITCHEN COOKING APPARATUS, feels a confidence in recommending it to the Public, as a most complete Article for Roasting Baking, and Steaming, with economy in fuel, by one moderate-sized Pire, and with a constant supply of from Twelve to Twenty Gallons of Hot Water; also Warm Closets for airing Linen, keeping Dinner hot, learing Plates, Dishes, &c.; the Cooking Utensiis are never soiled, and it is a positive Cure for a Smokey Chimney. Kitchens fitted up with Steam Ap; aratus, embracing all the late improvements: also Baths, Conservatories, Halls, Staircases, and Hulldings, heated by Steam, upon a principle of perfect security, and equal diffusion of heat.—An impreved Patent Spring Roasting Jack, to shwiate the necessity of weights or pollies.—The whole may be seen daily in use at the Patentee's Manufactory, 64, Fleet-street, London; or had of most of the respectable frommongers throughout England. N B. Smokey Chimnies cured on philosophical principles.

COSMORAMA.—On WEDNESDAY will appear a VIEW of the INTERIOR of WESTMINSTER ABBEY, taken at the moment of the CORONATION, by Mr. MACKENZIE. From the well-known talents of the Artist, the Public may judge what gratification this Painting is likely to afford.—The Cosmorama is a permanent Establishment, open through all the year. It is composed of EIGHT PANORAMIC VIEWS, part of which will be changed on the first Monday of every Month. Such is the seeming reality given to these Views, that even on the spot a better idea could not be obtained of the objects represented from any one position.—Open from Eleven o'clo k in the Morning till Nine at Night.—Admittance, One Shilling.—No. 29, St. James's-street.

One Shiling.—No. 29, St. James's-street.

RADBERRY'S PATENT SPECTACLES, upon unerring principles, to preserve the sight to extreme old age. It is necessary to caution the Public against the use of improper Spectacles, as their effects prove injurious, instead of beneficial to the eye. The unremitting and anxious study Mr. Bradberry has paid to his Glasses for upwards of thirty years, has called forth the most distinguished approbation of their merit, from the medical profession, and from many theusands of persons of the highest rank and respectability.—To be had only at 29, Holles-street, the first door out of Oxford-street, next to the large Fruiterer's at the country inmediately attended to.—Removedfrom 332, Oxford-street.

MADBOUVED: SPECIFICAL DE ATT. SPECIFICAD. PRICESS.

MPROVED SPECTACLES, AT REDUCED PRICES.—
GEORGE SCOTT, Optician, &c. 4, Butcherhall-lane, Newgate-street lavites the Public inspection to his extensive and superior ASSORTMENT of SPECTACLES, with clear well selected Pebbles and Glasses. Also his coloured Glasses, so much approved and recommended by the Faculty, for the aid and protection of the eye from the force of light, wind, dust, &c.
N.B. Optical and Mathematical Instruments, wholesale and retail

ASE and COMFORT in SHAVING. To those Gentlemen who experience inconvenience in Shaving from a tender faceor strong beard, J. T. RIGGE most particularly recommends his celebrated MAGNETIC RAZOR TABLET, which, with its late improvement, he engages will produce so keen an edge as to supersede all grinding, bening, &c. and render he operation of shaving as easy and agreeable as it was before unpleasant and painful. Its use is simple, its effect certain; price 7s. dd. J. T. Rigge's Arematic Shaving Soap will also be found an invaluable addition. Mansfactory, 65, Cheapside, and 52, Park-street, Grosvenor-square

LONDON MARKETS.

CORN EXCHANGE, FRIDAY, Dec. 21.

Our market has been very moderately supplied with Wheat since Monday, and good old Wheats, and the better sorts of new, meet a ready sale on rather better terms.—Barley, Beans, and Pease fully support Monday's prices; and being very scantily supplied with Oats this week, owing to the unfavourable state of the wind, the sales are on much the same terms.—In other articles there is no alteration to paties.

no alteration to potice.
BETITEN PRICE of CDA	IN, on board Ship, as under.
RETURN PRICE OF GRA	in, on board ship, as under.
Fasex Red Wheat (new) 33s. 39s.	Maple248, 265.
Fine	White ditto 27s. 29s.
	Boilers
	Small Beans 26s.
Example of Miles (Mon)	Chair Deans Yes. Zor.
rine	Old
Superline	Tick Beans (new) 17e. 22s.
Old64s, 69s,	Old 23s. 25s.
	Feed Oats 16s. 17s.
Barley	Fine
Fire at 00	Delegat Hate
Fine	Poland ditto 17s. 15s.
Superline 248. 268.	Fine 20s. 228.
Mait	Petatoe ditto 23s. 25s.
Fine	Fine 26e. 27s.
Hog Pease23s, 25s.
CALCULATION OF THE PROPERTY OF

THE GENERAL AVERAGE PRICES of BRITISH CORN, as received weekly from the Inspectors in the Maritime Cities and Towns in England and Wales, according to the Gazette of the 15th of December, calculated at follows:

GRNBBAL AVERAGE WHICH SOVERNS IMPORTATION.

Wheat, 5 is 2d—Barley, 22s 10d—Oats, 16s 11d—Rye, 27s 3d—Heans, 26s 5s

Pease, 28s 6d.

Portug Foreign New D

PRICES OF GOL	D AND SILVER.
d.	£ 8.6d.
al Gold, in Coin 0 0 p. oz.	New Dollars 0 4 91 p.ot
n Gold in Bars 3 17 101	New Louis, each . 0 0 0
COURSE OF EXCHA	NGEFRIDAY, Dec. 21.
Sight 12 12 C.F.
am 12 13	Bilboa 361 Barcelona . 38
MIN	DHOOM Barcelona . 30

Amsterd Amsterdam 12 12 C.F.

Ditto at Sight 12 9

Rotterdam 12 13

Antweep 12 7

Hamburgh 37 6

Altona 37 7

Paris, 3 days Sight 25 60

Ditto 25 90

Bordeaux 25 90

Bordeaux 25 90

Frankfort on Main 156

Petersburg 3 U.

Vienna 16 18 Ess. Go. Bilboa 364
Seville 354
Leghern 47
Venice 27 60
Naples 49
Lisbon 499
Rio Janeire
Bahia Dublin
Cork 81 per cent.

COMMERCIAL REPORT, PROM THE 15TH TO THE 22d DECEMBER

The B. P. Sugar market is very steady, and no alteration in prices can be quoted. The quantity of refined goods on sale is inconsiderable, yet the market is very heavy.—Coffee has gone off heavily at somewhat lower prices; a few lots of Jamaica, by public sale, have however sold at a considerable advance.—Cotton continues dull, and without any alteration of prices.—Brandies are without any buyers, and the prices nominal.—In Rums a good deal has been done, and former prices fully maintained; this article is looking favourably.—Tallow has excited much attention during the week, and much speculation has taken place in consequence of the late rise. In the early part of the week 49s. per cwt. was realised; but since that a considerable reduction has taken place, the quotation for Y. C. is now 44s.

STOCKS.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	0.000	Frid.	17.64
		1 T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T	1.000.000.000.000	Thur.	rria.	Sat.
Bank Stock	2361	237	236	2363	A COLUMN	236.
3 per Cent. Reduced	76	768	762	763	PATER AND THE	769 4 9
3 per Cent. Consols	1995 P. C.	Contract of	30 mm	4000	No PATES	1244
31 per Cent Consols	100	878	878	874	Contract Con	873
Consols for Account	78	78	784	784	H	188 75 8
4 per Cent. Consols	961	961	963	96	0	964 3
5 per Cent. Navy	10000		WILL SE		lida	200
Bank Long Annuities	- STA 17 m	198	19	193	2	1925-16
India Bonds	2000		CONTRACTOR MARCH		2000
	71 p	69 p	71 p	71 p	2.265(1)	70 71
Exchequer Bills, 2d	2 p	2 p	2 p	.2 p	HEXAGIN	2 p1
Ditto, 23d	-	-	-	-	SADCINE.	Carlo Control
Omnium	See S	-	2 L	-	10000	48

Lady Eleanor Lowther, of a son on Friday last, at the Earl of Lonsdale's seat, Cottesmore, Rutlandshire.
At Hanworth, Middlesex, the Lady of the Hon, and Rev. W. L. Addington, of a daughter, which survived its birth only a few hours.
On Monday, the 17th instant, of a son, the Lady of Major Mackenzie, Scota Grays, in Somersets treet.

Greys, in Somerset-street.

MARRIAGES

MARRIAGES.

On Thursday, Dec. 20, at Dartford, by the Rev. J. Currey, Edmund, eldest son of Mr. H. T. Hodgson, of Wimpole-street, to Sophia, youngest daughter of the late John Dorman, Esq. of Dartford.

Or. Thursday, the 20th inst. at Sulhamstead, Lieut. Col. Sir Hen. Watson, C.T.S. Brigadier-General in the service of His Most Faithful Majesty, to Anna Rosetta, fourth daughter of the late William Thoyts, Esq. of Sothamstead House, Berkshire.

At Penrice, Glamor gaushire, John Nicholl, Esq. only son of the Right Hop. Sir Jehn Nicholl, to Jane Harriot, second daughter of the late Thos. Massel Talbot, Esq. of Penrice Castle.

At Madras, on the 4th of August last, Lieut. Col. Kenny, of the Madras European Regiment, to Maria, eldest daughter of William Light, Esq. one of the Supreme Court at Madras.

DIED.

Sunday last, at Hutton Hosse, near Brentwood, Essex, Mrs. Eliz. Lukin, widow of the late Capt. George Lukin, marine paymaster and storekeeper at Bomhay.

Lately, at Paris, after a few days illness, the celebrated Col. Thornton, late of Thornville Royal, in the county of York.

LONDON: Printed and Published by R. 1. WEAVER, at No. 11, JOHNSON'S COURT, FLEET-STREET, where only Communications to the Editor, (post paid) are received.

RULL

" FOR GOD, THE KING, AND THE PEOPLE!"

No. 55.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1821.

Price 7d.

NEW MUSIC.—Just published.

HART'S FOURTH SET OF QUADRILLES.

Dedicated to His Most Excellent Majesty.

MESSES MAYHEW and Co. Music Sellers to Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent, 17, Old Bead-street, have the homour of amenicing to the Nobility and Gentry, that they have just published HART'S FOURTH SET o QUADRILLES, (including GEORGE the FOURTH CORONATION WALT'Z), with entirely savel Figures, in the French and English Style, as danced at Almark's and the Nobilities' Balls; sumposed and arranged for the Piano Forte or Harp, and most humbly dedicated by permission, to His Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fourth, by his dutiful subject and servant, Joseph Hart, price 4s.

The fashionable celebrity which these elegant and tasteful Quadrillee bave as justly acquired, is the best cologium in their praise. There is a variety in the tons cusemble which affords the highest gratification to the real layers of Science, Grace, and Harmony.

Londos: Pablished by Mayhew and Co. Music Sellers, 17, Old Band-street; where may be had HART'S CELEBRATED "LES HUSSARS, "SCOTCH and IRISH QUADRILLES; all of which are inconstant demand.

THE ARMY.—Wanted, an EXCHANGE from a Lieutenancy of Infantry on the full pay of a Regiment in the East-Indies, to the full pay of Cavalry either on the India or any other establishment; or Infantry, with the exception of the India station. None but principals will be attended to.—Address (post paid) to X. Y. Z. 43, Skinner-street, London.

PRIVATE PUPIL.—A VACANCY is now open in the Family of a married Clergyman, resident eleven miles from London, who undertakes the charge of a few PRIVATE PUPILS, and can offer the most satisfactory references to Noblemen and Gentlemen whose Sons he has educated. His Terms are 162 Guineas per annum. Letters left for Rev. T. N. Mr. Triphook's, Bookseller, 23, Old Bond-street, will be duly forwarded.

ACATION.—A Beneficed Clergyman, within a few miles of Loudon, would willingly receive into his House a YOUNG GENTHMAN, and superintend the continuance of his Studies during the VACATION of the Public Schools or Universities. Letters to be directed for Rev. A. B. to the care of Mr. Fearman. Library, 170, New Bond-street, London.

THE HISTORY of the CORONATION By Sir GEORGE NAYLER.—The Prospectus of this Work is now published, and may be had at all the principal Booksellers.

Herald's College, Loudon, 27th Dec. 1821.

R. TRACY, Surgeon, Sittingbourne, has a VACANCY in his Establishment for an APPRENTICE.

CARDS of Terms of a respectable CLASSICAL BOARDING SCHOOL for YOUNG GENTLEMEN, in the Neighbourhood of Camden Hill, Keasington, may be had at Messrs. T. and G. Underwood, Booksellers, 32, Fleet-street, and at Mr. Hailes's Museum, Piccadilly.

Just published, Svo. price 15s.

SARDANAPALUS, a Tragedy. The TWO FOSCARI, a Tragedy. CAIN, a Mystery.—By the Right Hon LORD BYRON.

Printed for John Murray, Albemarle street.

Just published, 8vo, price 9s ed.

ETTERS of MARY LEPEL, LADY HERVEY. With Illustrative Notes.

Printed for John Murray, Albemarle street.

THE HINDOOSTANEE and PERSIAN LANGUAGES, as also the ART of WRITING the PERSIAN and NAGREE CHARACTERS TAUGHT, by MOONSHEE GHOOLAM HYDUR, Writing Master at the Hon. East India Company's College at Halleybury.—Days of Instruction, Moodays, Tresdays, and Wednesdays, at No. 5, Little Smith-street, Westminster.

In foolscap Svo. arice 6s. boards, with an elegantly engraved Portrait.

HE BEAUTIES of ADDISON, being a careful Selection from his Writings of the most beautiful and admired Passages, remarkble for their justness and purity of sentiment and elegance of language, to thich is prefixed a Life.

Printed for John Maynard, Panton-street, Haymarket.

h folio, price, bound in calf with map, Sl. Ss. bound without maps, 6l. 6s. a

New Edition, of

LAIR'S CHRONOLOGY and HISTORY of the WORLD, from the Creation to the end of the year 1814.—The two last sheets containing the most remarkable events of the last fourteen years, may be had separately with the New Index.

Published by John Maynard, Panton street, Haymarket; Joseph Parker, extord: and Tait and Co. Edinburgh.

Published by John Maynard, Panton street, Haymarket; Joseph Parker, Oxford: and Tait and Co. Edinburgh.

THE NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE AND LITERARY.

JOURNAL.

ADDRESS.—At the commencement of their second year, the Proprietors beg leave to invite the attention of the Public towards this Journal, which was commenced the 1st January, 1821, on a very improved plan; the Original Papers being printed is a manner similar to those in the Quarterly and Edinburgh Reviews, and the Miscellaneous Departments so arranged as to form a distinct volume; thus combining in the same Work, the several eharacters of a Magazine, a Review, and an Annual Register.

They also feel called upon to express their obligations to their numerous Subscribers for the very distinguished favour with which their efforts have greatly been honoured, and which has afforded the most incontrovertible proofs, that the plan they adopted was in strict unison with the liberality of the age, and its present widely-extended liberary taste. Thus encouraged, they are authori ed to state, that the utmost efforts of the Editor will continue to be directed to the general amusement and information, aided by his extensive circle of contributors, within which may be ranked names of the first celebrity in the Republic of Letters.

The following are the subjects of a few of the interesting Papers contained to their Number fer Jan. 1:—

1. The Gulley of Apelles. Fragment of a Grecian MSS, lately discovered.—II. Table Talk, No. 1. On going a journey.—III. A Chapter ou Time, being an attempt to threw New Light on an Old Subject.—IV. Literary Recollections of London.—V. Letters on a Tour in Switzerland.—VI. Mills and Honey, or the Laud of Promise, No. 2.—VII. Travelling Propensities, and Opinious of John Bull.—VIII. On Dwarfs.—IX. Old Christmas Times at the Terr ple.—X. Antipathies.—XI. On Alfieri's Filippo, and Schiller's Don Carlos.—XII. Grimm's Ghost, No. 6.—XIII. Modern Pilgrimages, No. 2. Rosanna.—N4Y. Journal of a Tourist, No. 3.—XV On the State, and provement of the Fin ding, by a poor Gentleman, —XXII. On removing from a favourite Residence
—XXIII. Lines to a Friend —XXIV. Sea Side Reverle.—XXV. To Juliá.—

-XXIII, Lines to a Friend --XXIV. Sea Slide Reverle. --XXV. To Julia. -XXVI. Sonnets to my Children Sleeping. --XXVII. Bpigrams, &c.

BY: The first Twelve Numbers of this Journal may now be had complete, with Titles, Indexes, &c. in 3 vols. 8vo. and those who desire to commence taking it with the New Year, are requested to send their orders, without delay, to their respective Booksellers of Newsmen. It may also be regularly transmitted abroad, by applying to the General Post Office, or to any local Postmaster.

Postmaster.
Printed for Heary Colburn and Co. Conduit-street; Bell and Bradfute.
Edinburgh; and John Cumming, Dublin.

Edinburgh; and John Cumming, Dublin.

COADE'S ORNAMENTAL STONE and SCAGLIOLA MARBLE WORKS, NARROW WALL, LAMBETH.

ILLIAM CROGGON and Co. have the honour to acquaint the Nobility, Gentry, Architects, and others, that having purchased the entire Property in this Concernythe Busifiess will be continued by them on the same plan, and by the same competent Artists and Assistants, as have for a period of mere than half a century, been sauctioned by the most distinguished patronage. Croggon and Co. respectfully solicit an inspection of their extensive and valuable Collection of Statues, Busts, Monuments, Coats of Arms, Fountains, Gothic and Architectural Embelishments in general, Vascs, Fonts, and other Works in Ornamental Stone, which experience has proved to be less vulnerable to the effects of frost and damp, and more durable in all situations than Markle.—Also in Scagliola, Initations, of every description of Marble, in Columns and Pilasters, Capitals and Bases, Slabs, Niches, Vascs, &c. &c. not surpassed by any thing of the kind in the kingdom.—Printed Catalogues may be had at the Manufactory, near King's Arms S airs, and opposite Whitchall, London.

SMIRKE'S SHAKSPEARE, No. 2.—Just published,

ILLUSTRATIONS of MERRY WIVES of WINDSOR, being the third Number of ILLUSTRATIONS of SHAKSPEARE, from Pictures painted expressly for this work by ROBERT SMIRKE, Esq. R.A.
Engraved in the finest style by the most Endnent Historical Engravers. The Play illustrated is published at the same time.

No. V. Twelth Right will appear in Pebruary.

Printed for Rodwell & Martin, New Bond-street; and sold by Colnaghi &
Co. Cockspur-street, and the principal Booksellers in the United Ringdom.

THE LONDON JUCKNAL of ARTS and SCIENCES, No. XIII. will be published let London will in future be published let London will in future be published every Month, price 2s. 6d. containing Descriptions of all New Patents, with other Inventions and Discoveries connected with Arts. Mannfactures, and Agriculture, embellished with numerous Plate's illustrative of the subjects.

Published by Sherwood, Neely, and Jones, Paternoster-row; and W. Newton, 66, Chaucery-lane.

Newton, 66, Chaucery-lane.

On Tuesday next will be published.

THE BRIGHTON MAGAZINE. No. 1.

"The King's name is a tower of strength.
Which those upon the adverse faction want."

London: W. Sams, Pall Mail; and Wetton and Jarvis, Patermosfer-row.

THE COUNTRY VERSUS LONDON, No. III. on Tuesday next will be published.

Contents:—I. Redesuption of the National Debt.—H. New Character of Bruus.—III. Homer's Battles of the Frors and Mice.—IV. The Radical Question decided, a Tale.—V. Two more Prophecies: I. Paper Money called in; 2. The Coventry Candidate.—VI. The Retrospective Review I. Howell's Letters; 2. Chapman's Plays.—VII. State of Ireland.—VIII. Letter of Civis on the Constitutional Association, and the Editor's Reply.—IX. Radical Night's Entertainments: I. The Negro's Boues; 2 The Dreamer.—X. The British Marital.—XI. Cross, Readings.—XII. Answers to Enigman.—XIII. Observations on New Sources of Foreign Trade.—XIV. Agricultural Distress, and a Remedy proposed.—XV. How the London Papers are read is the Country.

APPENDIX.—Agricultural Case of Parliament, (Anished.)—The Piret Report (Degun.)

J. M. Gutch, Bristol; F. C. and J. Rivington, London, price 2s. Just published, in Svo. price 10s. 5d. in boards.

J. M. Gutch, Bristol; F. C. and J. Rivington, London, price 2s

Just published, in 8vo. price 10s. 5d. in hoards.

THE CLAIMS of the ESTABLISHED CHURCH to exclusive Attachment and Support, and the Dangers which menace her from Schism and Indifference, considered; in Eight Sermons, preached before the University of Oxford, in the vera 1820, at the Lecture founded by the late Rev. John Bampton, M.A. Cauon of Salisbury. By GODFREY FAUSSETT, M.A. late Fellow of Magdaten College.

Printed for F. C. and J. Rivington, St. Panl's Church-yard, and Waterlooplace, Pall Mall; and sold by J. Parker, Oxford

JUVENILE SCHOOL and LIBRABY, 199, Oxford-street, near trehard-street.

1. NEW HISTORICAL GAME, being a Genealogical and Chronological History of Execution consisting of two Maps one heautifully coloured, the other place, was waited countries and 4 madesome printed volume as a Book of Reference to Genealogy and Chronology, or Key to the Game, price 14s.

"We consider the trising generation to be eminently indebted to the compiler of this little work, and we cordially recommend it to the attention of every capacity."—European Mag.

2. FRIENDSHIP; a Moral Tale. By Miss SANDHAM, Author of the Twin Sisters, &c. price 5s.

piler of this little work, and we cordially recommend it to the attention of every capacity."—European Mag.

2. FRIENDSHIP; a Moral Tole. By Miss SANDHAM, Author of the Twin Sisters, &c. price 5s.

3. The GRANDFATHER; or, The Christmas Holidays. By Miss SANDHAM, price 2s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

4. MORAL STORIES. By Mrs. NAPIER, price 1s. 6d.

A MORNING in CORK-STREET; or, RAISING THE WIND: containing a Picture of our hopeful young Spriga of Nobility and Men of fasting; with original Letters and Anecolotes: together with the character and qualifications of the major part of Money-lenders; to which is added, a Portrait of our Modern Money-borrowers, who have passed through the ordered of the Seryfurnace in Cork street.—Printed for J. Johnston, Cheuspide.

FOR THE USE OF SCHIOLS.

MACINTOSH'S NEW HISTORY OF SCOTLAND, 12mo. Price 6s. bd. or 5s. 6d. boards, published by Waugh and Inues, Edinburgh; and sold by Boosey and Sons. 6, and W. B. Whittaker, and Geo. Cowie and Co. London: W. Turnbrill, Glasgow; and J. H. Barler, Dundee.

1. WHE HISTORY Of SCOTLAND, from the Invasion of the Rebellions in 1715 and 1745; with near Six Hundred Questions, adapted to the above. By B. MACINTOSH.

"A good abridgment of the History of Scotland, fit to be placed in the hands of young persons, has long been wanted. The Editor has selected his materials from standard works, and has displayed much judgment and taste in arranging them."—Vide New Monthly Mag. Ms. XI.

SPECIMENS Of THE GER SAN LYRIC POETS.

Just published by Boosey and Sons 4, Broad-street, Exchange; sold also by Rudey Story and Sons 4, Broad-street, Exchange; Rodwell and Daries of Burger, Goethe, Jacobi, K

Twenty-five Conies only have been printed on Royal Drawing Paper, with the Cuts on India Paper, 25s. In extra hoards.

GOETHE'S PAUSTUS, A NEW TRANSLATION.

Just published by Boosey and Sons, 4, Broad-street, Exchange; Rodwell and Martin, Bond-street; beautifully printed of fine hot pressed paper, and embellished with a correct and highly clinishes Portrait of the Author, AUSTUS, from the German of GOETHE, a New Translation, price 8s. in extra boards; also a Quarto Edition of the same Work, together with Retsch's Series of 26 much-admired Outlines, illustrative of it, engraved from the Originals by Henry Moses, price 20s, in hoards.

ELEMEN PARY GERMAN BOOKS.

Published by Boossy and Sons, Broad-street, Exchange:

1. VENDERBORN'S GRAMMAR of the GERMAN EANGUAGE, with Practical Exercises. The Seventh Edition, materially improved. 12mo. Price 6s 6d bound.

2. CRABB'S ELEMENTS of GERMAN CONVERTION, New Edition, much improved and enlarged, price 3s, 6d. b.

3. CRABBS EXTRACTS from the BEST (MUTHORS, with the English Words at the bottom of the page and lition, revised, and much insproved, 12mo. boards, 7s.

4. The NATURE and GENIUS of the GERMAN. (OR, displayed in a more extended Review of its Grammatical forms can it so be found in any Grammar extant; and elucidated by Quotations from the best Writers. By D. BOILEAU, Sv. Price 12s.

5. A COLLECTION of GERMAN MERCANTILE LETTERS, consisting of Original Correspondence, with English Explanations of the difficult Words and Phrases, 12mo. 6s. 6d. boards.

6. JORDAN'S ART of GERMAN WRITING, exemplified in a Set of easy Copper-plate Copies. New Edition improved, Price 1s. 6d. stitched.

7. SCHULTZ'S KEY to Dr. NOEHDEN'S EXERCISES, 12mo. 3s. 6d. boards.

To the ADMIRERS of the CHASE, the TURY, the STUD, the MINU. &c.

boards.

To the ADMIRERS of the CHASE, the TURY, the STUD, the MING, &con the 1st of January, 1822, will be published, to be continued monthly, price 2s. 5d. No. I. of the NNALS of SPORTING and FANCY GAZETTE; a Magnzine entirely appropriated to Sporting Subjects and Fancy Purssitis; containing every thing worthy of remark on Hunting, Shooting, Coursing, Racing, Fishing, and Cocking; also on Puglism, Wrestling, Single Stick, Pedestrianism, Cricket, Billiards, Bowling, Sailing, &c.; accompanied with striking Representations of the various Subjects.

N.B. All the Plates connected with Field Sports will be drawn by Mr. S. Alken, and coloured after Nature.

London: Printed for Sherwood, Neely, and Jones, Paternoster-row.

POULTRY, PIGS, MILCH COWS, AND DEBS.

Just published, price 6s. 6d. in boards, with a coloured Fountlysieur, and Pastending all kinds of Domestic Poultry, Picesanits, Piggors, and Pastending all kinds of Domestic Poultry, Picesanits, Piggors, and Pastending all kinds of Domestic Poultry, Picesanits, Piggors, and Pastending all kinds of Domestic Poultry, Picesanits, Piggors, and Managing Swine, Alich Lows for the Panish Dairy, and Beregord and the English Poultry, and Managing Swine, Alich Lows for the Panish Pasty, and Beregord and Comments of the Panish Pasty, and Beregord and Managing Swine, Alich Lows for the Panish Pasty, and Beregord and the subject in our language. The Asthor's aim seems to have been to avoid selection of the Control of the

Z. PHARIBACOT CAL Z. WELSH'S PRACTICAL ESSAY on the RFFICACY of BLOOD-LETTING in EPIDEMIC PEVER. Byo. 12s.

Just published, in 18mo. pijec 4s. bound, the Sixth and Improved Edition of GENERAL PRONOUNCING DICTIONARY, shewing a tome view, the Orthography, Accentration, Explanation, and Pronunciation of all the purest and most approved Terms in the English Language, according to the present practice of the most eminent Lexicographers and Philologists. By WILLIAM ENPIELD, M.A. Author of "The Elements of Natural Philosophy," &c. London: Printed for Baldwin, Cradock, & Joy.

A CAUTION.—The original Inventors and Patentees of the MERINO SATIN DAMASK, consider it their duty to Inform the Nobility and Gentry, that there are Houses advertising and offering for alea an lumble imitation of their Damask, JEREMY and BRAGG beg leaver most respectfully to observe, that in addition to their extensive Stack of Merino Damask, they have just completed some ness the heartful speciateness the ROYAL CORONATION SILK DAMASK, (patronised by His Majesty superior to any Oriental production, to be seen only at 28, and 29, Sauthann on on-street, Covent-garden.

LAST NIGHT'S GAZETTE.

This Gazette contains Addresses to His Majesty from the city of Covening from the town of Lanark: & the Solicitors in the Supreme Courts in Scotland.

Commission in the Oxfordshire Regular Militia, signed by the Loris, Lieutenant of the County of Oxford.

John Roper Curson, Gent. to be Ensign.

BANKRUPTCIES SUPERSEDED.

BRAMALL, J. Saddleworth, worsted-spiner.—KINNER, W. and KINNER, S. Notting-Hill, stage-couch proprietors.—WILIJAMS, B. Plough-court, Lombard-street, merchant.

BANKRUPTS.

PROST J. Temple Normanton. Derby, mailster.

PROST J. Temple Normanton, Derby, maitster.
SIMPSON, W. J. Manchester, hosler.
ANDREW, S. and ANDREW, H. Micklehurst, Chesh're, weedlen-manu-

ANDREAS, Andreas and Andreas

ENG

1651

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

TUESDAY'S GAZETTE.

This Gazette contains a Congratulatory Address on His Majesty's safe ceturn to England from the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of Paisley. WHITEHALL, Dec. 21, 1821.

The King has been pleased to 'order a writ to be issued under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, for summoning the Right Hon. George Horatio Chelmondeley (commonly called Earl of Rocksavage) to the House of Peers, by the stile and title of Baron Newburgh, of Newburgh, in the county of Anglesea.

WAR OFFICE, Dec. 21, 1821.

4th Reg. of Light Drag. Lieut-Col. J. Hay, from half-pay 16th Light Drag. to be Lieut-Col. without purchase; Capt. T. Jarmy, from half-pay 20 Cavairy Staff Corps, to be Capt. without purchase.

To be Lieuts without purchase.—Cornets T. Harrison and A. Sullivan; Lieuts. R. Robinson, from half-pay 22d Light Drag.; J. W. Murray, from half-pay 22d Light Drag.; W. T. Loftus, from half-pay 24th Light Drag.; Edisson, from half-pay Cavalry Staff Corps. W. H. B. Lindsey, from The Light Drag.; R. Cillespie, from half-pay 23th Light Drag.; G. F. Clarke, from the 27th Light Drag.

To be Cornets, Without purchase.—J. S. Smith, Gent. vice Harrison; E. Enoz. Gent. vice Smillyan.

from the 17th Light Dyag.

To be Corners, without purchase.—J. S. Smith, Gent. vice Harrison; E. Enox, Gent. vice Smityan.

To be Adj. and Cornet.—Cornet J. Dixon, from half-pay 21st Light Drag. vice. Daly, who resigns the Adjutancy only.

To be Ass., Surgeon.—Ass. Surg. F. G. Walbran, from half-pay 1st Royal Vet. Batt.

15th Rg. of Light Drag. J. S. Ramsbottem, Gent. to be Cornet, by purchase, vice Montgomery, promoted.

Mem.—The appointment of Lieut. Hon. R. King, from half-pay 60th Foot, to be Lieut. in the 69th Foot, as stated in the Gazette of 22d inst. has not taken place.—Deputy Ass. Comm. Gen. Wetherman, lately in charge of the Commissariat Department at the Baliamas, having failed to pay over to his superior the whole of the balance of the public money, has been dismissed from His Majesty's service.—Deputy Comm. Gen. Vaux, having executed the duties of his office in the Peninsula, in a mode which has subjected the public to great loss, has been dismissed from His Majesty's service.

PARTNERSHIPS DISSOLVED.

J. and B. Suteliffe, Blackbow, Lancashire, cotton manufacturers.—Holgate and Roden, Manchester, cotton spinners.—Hartshorne and Nix, Broadstreet, merchants.—Green and Thoriey, Angel. court, Throgmorton-street, attorneys.—Leatham, Tew. Trueman, Leatham, Tew, and Jackson, deceased, Doneaster, bankers, so far as respects J. Jackson.—F. and H. Ross, Leicester, woolstaplers.—Lees, Watson, and Broandley, Are-Bank, Lancashire, cotton-spinners.—Jand J. and B. Reynolds, and J. M'Farlan, (no trade)—Candler and Suter, Little Bush-lane, porter-merchants.—Knox and Wilson, Poland street, taitors.

BANKRUPTCIES ENLARGED.

TWIGG, J. Cheapside, warehouseman.

RATLSTON, J. North Shiedis, ship-owner.

Candler and Suter, lattice Bush-sac, porter and such and street, taitors.

BANKRUPTCIES ENLARGED.

TWIGG, J. Cheapside, warehouseman.
RAILSTON, J. North Shields, ship-owner.
BOND, J. Munsley, coppice-dealer.
BOND, J. Munsley, coppice-dealer.
BOND, J. Munsley, coppice-dealer.
CARTWRIGHT TO Okehampton, innkeeper.
ETHERINGTON, J. Knottingley, coal-dealer.
FULLSTONE, H. Cottenham, auctineer.
HEATH, J. Rosemary-lane, cheesemonger.
NATTRISS, J. the elder, Thornton, Vorkshire, linen-draper.
PENLEY, J. Jim. Uley, Gloucestershire, dyer.
ROBINSON, M. A. Red Lion-street, Holborn, tea-dealer.
SHEW, J. Oldham, machine-maker.
STOKER, J. Doncaster, tinman and brazier.
TENNENT, J. Liverpool, merchant.
At the Court of Commissioners, Basinghall-street.—Jan. 19, P. and H. Le Mesurier and Co. Austin-Friars, merchants.—Dec. 29, T. Merrick, Frith-street, merchant.—Jan. 15, R. Blackwell and S. Needham, Crescent, Minories, merchants.—Jan. 5, J. Burn, Lothnury, merchant.—Jan. 15, R. H. Day, Towt, Kent, seed-crusher.—Jan. 19, A. Keating, Strand, silversmith.—Jan. 22, P. Atkinson, Rathbone-place, haberdasher.—Jan. 19, E. T. Palmer, Bedford, draper.—Jan. 22, P. Jordan, San. W. Fincham, and B. Fincham, jun. Epping, bankers.—Jan. 22, P. Jordan, Whitechapel, druggist.
Jan. 24, S. Neville, Leeds, flour-deder.—Jan. 22, T. Jarrett, Shrewsbury, victualler.—Jan. 28, J. Dingle, Charlestown, Cornwall, merchant.
CERTIFICATES, Jan. 15.
R. and J. Edwards, Cradley: Worcestershire, ironusngers.—W. Baker, Lloyd's Coffee House, insurance-broker.—B. Phillips, Threadneedle-street, vintner.—T. Emery, Worcester, wine-merchant.—T. Heppel, South Blyth, merchant.—T. Parry, Manchester, cutton-spinner.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

Parts, Dec. 22.—The Moniteur contains an Ordonnance, appointing the Sieur de Laveau, Prefect of Police, in the room of M. Angles resigned.—The Chamber of Deputies met on Friday. M. de Villele, M. Corbiere, the Marquis de Clermont Tonnere, and M. de Peyronnet, took their places on the Bench of Ministers. Me Villele, Minister of Finance, ascended the Tribune, and proposed a projet of law, demanding a vote of credit from the Chamber, to meet the expences of the public service for the first three months of the approaching year.

On the 12th inst. seven persons lost their lives by an explosion of carbonated hydrogen gas, in a mine near Tours. In a few days after, in a neighbouring mine, 24 workmen fell victims to a similar accident.

ber, to inset the expences of the public service for the first three months of the approaching year.

On the 12th inst. seven persons lost their lives by an explosion of carbonated hydrogen gas, in a mine near Tours. In a few days after, in a neighbouring mine, 24 workmen fell victims to a similar accident.

A cause of assassination, which in its horrible details resembles the farmous affair of Fualdes, is about to be tried by the Tribunal in the Grand Duchy of the Lower Rhine. The name of the accused is Fonck, and he belongs to a powerful family.

We learn from Bayonne that several Ecclesiastics have recently disappeared from that town, who, it is thought, are gone to put themselves at the head of Guerilla bands.—Guzette de France.

Dre. 24.—Letters from Semlis, dated the 6th inst. which have been received by an extraordinary conveyance, announce, that on the 4th there arrived at Belgrade eight couriers, in succession, from Constantinople. After receiving their dispatches, the Pachashut-himself up in his apartments, which, with the Ottomans, notifies the occurrence of some great disaster.—Immediately atterwards many Turks ran to and fro in the streets, making the most dismal lamentations; and, at the same time, it was reported that a bloody revolution had broken out at Constantinople on the 27th of Nosember; that many Christians had been mussacred in the quarter of Pera, and that the Sultan would certainly perish by the hands of the Janissaries—On Friday night several extraordinary coveries from Constantinople arrived at Paris.—Advices from Navarre and Arragon, announce that great ferment prevails in those provinces. In Navarre acrops of guerillas, 940 strong, base been put into action. The garrisons of St. Sebastian and Vittoria, and the neighbouring forts have been expeditionsly marched thishes; but they do not present so imposing a force as that of the Royalists.—At Sarragossa, the people have demolished the tablets of the Constitution. The troops took up grans to defend these monuments of the revolt of Rie Frankfort, Dec. 16.—Pravellers, who have arrived from I by Russia, concur in the statement, that a this moment upwards of 180,000 men are assembled to the bank of the Pruth. New masses of troops are marching in the same direction. Every thin indicates that a decisive blow is preparing. It is asserted, that the cause of the Grand Seignior having all at concentration. Every thin indicates that a decisive blow is preparing. It is asserted, that the cause of the Grand Seignior having all attact, that an Ukase has been issued possibility freemason lodges in Russia, they have been shut up since the 15th of October. This has excited the greatest surprize, as the Emperor Alexander himself has been instituted into the mysteries of that Order.

Madra, Dec. 10.—On the evening of the 8th inst. an extraordinary course arrived in the vicinity of that place, one commenced shoulding "History for every!" A bloody conflict ensued, in which many officies and soliders foll vicinity. The King and Constitution for ever!" A bloody conflict ensued, in which many officies and soliders foll vicinity. The same that a surprize, and have demonstrated to the following the treatment of the Constitution in Tablas, and have demonstrated in the following the treatment of the Constitution in the Constitution of the Cons in case of war between Russia and Turkey, Prussia, is to furnish an auxiliary corps of 39,000 men, or subsidies in the room of it. YIENNA, Drc. 19.—The Russian and Turkish out posts on the Pruth have had some skirmishes, but which have not led to any thing serious.

ODESAL, Nov. 28.—According to letters from Constantinople, dated the 2th of this month, the Persians have penetrated into the heart of Asiatic Turkey. It is said that, a Turkish corps was totally destroyed near Erzerum, and fall its artillery taken. One letter states that the Persians have already advanced high on Trebizond, on the coast of the Black Sea; in any case the invasion of the Persians is most dangerous to the Perte.

ALGESTARS, DEC. 3.—At Tetuan they continue to fire salutes of artillery for the victories of Zeid; but the Moors of Soliman's party, who have come from Tangier, affirm, that these victories are pure fictions, and that the Emperor will shortly besiege Tetuan.

A letter from Constantinople of the 10th November expresses fears, of a general mutiny of the Junissaries, on their part, vow nothing less than to exterminate all the infidels. The two Princes (brothers) of the house of Callimachi, who formerly governed in Wallachia, but who were banished, early in the contest, into one of the Asiatic Provinces, have, it is said, both been decapitated by order of the Porte, and their heads sent to Constantinople. It is also mentioned, as another instance of the disposition of the Porte to provoke Russia, that the body of a Greek of some consequence was one morning discovered, beheaded, lying before the door of the interpreter to the Russian Embassy.

The accounts which have arrived respecting the capture of Tripolizza rest, we are alraid, upon much too authentic a foundation to admit of being questioned. A capitalistion was concluded, between the Bey of Maina and Colocotoni on the part of the besieged. The next day many of the Turks, accompanied by their women and children, came out of the town, whole army. The whole night was passed in bodies of Turks that still occupy that province.—The affair which took place near Salonica was fatal to the Turks. After a total defeat, when the remains of their army returned to the city, these savages massacred a great number of the inhabitants.—The English Government continues in the Ionian Islands to behave rigorously towards every thing which is Greek. They have just arrested in the Isle of Cephalonia, the Archbishop Maharius, who is much devoted to the cause of his brethren.—The Emperor has just agreed to the representations of the Baron Strogonoff in farour of all persons employed in his mission to the Sublime Porte.

Nov. 29.—We have this instant received accounts of extraordinary movements which have been made by the second division of the army. Every thing indicates that the campaign will be shortly opened. According to the opinions of Generals and officers who have heretofore been in the wars against the Turks, the winter, far from retarding operations, is more favourable to them than the summer.—Gazette de France.

HAVANNAH, Nov. 7.—Our crop of coffee is very poor this year.

far from retarding operations, is more favourable to them than the summer. Guzette de France.

Havannar, Nov. 7.—Our crop of coffee is very poor this year; we had praviously calculated the general average to be about one half of the last year's crop. The Spanish Main, from the Orenette to the Mexican Gulf, is all independent. Porto Cabello, in Caracas, and the fortifications of St. Juan de Ulloa, are the only two places in the hands of the Royalists. Mexico has surrendered: Vera Cruz is entirely deserted, and the troops retire to Ulloa. All the kingdom of Mexico is now independent.

On the 25th June, the Chilian squadron, under Lord Cochrane, accompanied by fire-ships and several transports, made an attack on the port of Callao, which surrendered after three hours' resistance. Three Spanish frigates, one of 42 gans and the others of 36, two armed brigs, and several merchantmen fell into his Lordship's possession, with property to a large amount.

By the Sybille we learn, that a considerable body of Patrios had appeared before Yera Cruz, and that the Viceroy had gone to Cordova, to meet their Commander, with a view of entering info some amicable arrangements, and orders were sent by him to the Governor of Vera Cruz to open the gates of that town and admit the troops; but this was refused. Previously to the saling of the Sybille from Havannah, accounts were received of the Patriots having obtained possession of Vera Cruz, and Campeachy was expected to declare in favour of the Independents.

At Samarang the cholera morbus has been raging with great mortality. About 23,000 persons have died there in about two months of that complaint. The disease has subsided in a great measure, excepting in Batavia. The Dutch squadron had returned to Batavia from the successful expedition to Palambang, having on board the Rajah of that province as a prisoner.

We regret to learn that the sickness at St. Augustine continues unabated.

The Gibraltar paper of the 4th inst. states the following particulars excepting in the states.

having on beard the Rajah of that province as a prisoner.

We regret to learn that the sickness at St. Augustine continues unabated.

The Gibraltar paper of the 4th inst. states the following particulars respecting the fever at Barcelona: At an Ing in which fifteen persons lived, eleven died. The next house list twenty-four out of twenty-seven tenants. Another house in the street of Hao, was occupied by three families, consisting of thirty-skindidividuals all dead. At Tortosa, the Bishop and his family are dead. The Episcopal palace is empty, even to a poor Jesuit whom the Bishop maintained; he is also dead. Whole convents dead; whole houses swept; streets almost deserted. All the Secretaries of the Municipality dead. All the Physicians, except one, Mr. Texidort, dead. All the Afothecaries, except one, dead.—At Barcelona a schism has arisen amongst the French Physicians. The difference of opinion between M. Lemery and the others is such, that two sects are formed, that of M. Pariset, and that of M. Lemery. The latter is come, he says, for the express purpose of teaching the other how to treat the malady, which he declare is not contagious; he would srove it; but although he had been ten days at Barcelona, the proof is yet to be produced.

HALIFAX, DEC. 8.—His Majesty's ship Newcastle will be ready to sail for England on Monday next. The Vice-Admiral and his amiable family will take with them the good wishes of the people of Nova Scotia. Rear-Admiral Fahie, in the York, we are informed, will also sail for Bernuda. It is said that one of His Majesty's ships will be sent from Bernuda with orders to remain in this port during the winter.

Philabelphia, Nov. 28.—We learn from a Captain, who arrived yesterday from the city of Domingo, that it was very sickly at that place, and also on the Main.

RELAND. .

IRELAND.

DISTURBED DISTRICTS.

On Saturday evening, about five o'clock, as a corporal and three privates of the 93d regiment, were returning to Ballynety, a fellow came behind one of the mea, tripped up his heels, seized him maket, and made off. The corporal came up with him, and knocked him down with the butt end of his piece, wherhe as seized, and brought to Ballynetty. A respectable man, and seral of his neighbours remained passive spectators, and atterast refused to assist the party in conveying the ruffian to Ballynety. On Friday night, the house of Mr. Ryan, on the Doonas estat, was attacked, and the villains obtained one musket. On the same night, a party of the 42d regiment, stationed at Brurce, being called to quell a ritoti a public-house, the sergeant followed anawho was the principal in the affray; but was knocked down by stone, and the ruffian stamped on his body, with the intention his lidl brim, when Ensign Clark and a corporationic up, and segment the fellow (Gore), with two of his companions (Leary and Mumbils who were lodged in gaol. They had some guppowder, and a prayer-book, which latter was used by them for administering the fellow (Gore), with two of his companions (Leary and Mumbils with a state of the clark of a second pistols, and some ammunition. On the same mild at 12 o'clock, Quarry Lodge, near Limerick, was attacked by a armed band, who fired at the herdsman, without effect; the dinot procure any arms.—A large body of armed men surround the house of the clerk of Pallis-green Church, and demanded the key, of it, that they might search for lead. They searched the clerk of Pallis-green Church, and demanded the key of it, that they might search for lead. They searched several houses in that neighbourhood, and obtain many stand of arms.—On Monday morning, Mr. Nathanie Ken, of Drumkeen, was murdered by a blow of a spade, given by Jo. Connell, known by the nick-name of Shawn Bawn. This murde occurred within about a hundred yards of Keays' house. Connell entitled of life. I therefore warn 1819.—Limerick Paper.

We are informed that a Roman Catholic Clergyman, not manifely from Limerick, who expostulated with his flock, on Sundarou the insanity of the proceedings of the lower orders, in high attacking their peaceable neighbours, was attempted to be interested within the precincts of the chapel, by several fellows it were persuaded from the committal of it, by an interference on part of some of the gang, that he should in the part abstain from subservations. hservations observations.

Horrible Outrage.—A most infamous outrage took place the neighbourhood of this town a few nights since:—A poor is with his wife and brother-in-law, were returning in the even from a neighbouring fair; when they had arrived so near to a sthe vicinity of Percymount, the husband being some distance his wife and brother-in-law, the latter was assailed by a low who jumped over a ditch into the road, and struck him sublow on the head, as brought him to the ground: immediately which, the other two ruffices joined the assailant, and the the forced the poor woman into the fields, where a scene of vice

They may call rebellion the venial excess of freedomjust revenge of the injured—anarchy and in-Sality the vigorous product of newly awakened energies— and the murder of kings the necessary sacrifice to popular. Hiberty; but wa will persevere in maintaining the old vecabulary, and as education is become general, to teach the very children to know things by their right names: It will prevent innumerable mistakes, and, if we err not, ave many a life, and many a soul, which is of yet greate importance.

"HAVING, upon every occasion of a similar nature, expressed our opinion of solicited public subscriptions, we are particularly desirous of explaining away what must have the appearance of inconsistency on our parts, relative to the voluntary contributions of our supporters.

Without our privity or knowledge, far less at our desire, it appears that a meeting took place, at which it was re-solved to put forth an Address to the public, touching a subscription to be raised to pay our fine. We need only cite as proof of our ignorance of this transaction, the arguments made use of in our favour by the gentlemen comhave taken up our claims in a view in which we never could have regarded them, and have assumed a tone when speaking of us, and the affair which has incurred the penalty of the law, which we could neither have authorized or approved. This much it is necessary to say, to convince our readers, that the proposal of a subscription did not originate with us.

What makes it our duty particularly to impress this upon the minds of our readers, is the fact that the gentle-men conducting that subscription have thought proper to insert in their list of contributions sums which have been privately forwarded to us, and which have been acknowledged in this Paper. We have no doubt but that those gentlemen conceive, that in a common cause it makes no difference whence such contributions come, or where they are received—nor perhaps does it. But as the sums we have noticed in Bull, as having been transmitted, appear in the list of subscriptions received by the committee, it is our duty again to assure our readers that the appearance of a cannexion between the conductors of this Paper and the conductors of that subscription is fallacious; and that, however much obliged we may feel to those gentlemen for their exertions in our behalf, those exertions were commenced without our knowledge, and continued without any perticipation of ours in them.

We have to acknowledge, as having been received by us sinc

since our last, the following sums:	_
Auld Reckie		£10,	10	0.
Mr. C. Brydon	• "	2	0	0	_
Mr. Bond, 2. Beaumont-street	•	2.	2	0	•
Taurifilius, alias Bull-Calf		1	0	0
Pro Rege et Lege		. 8	0	.0
D. W., Cambridge	•	5	0	0
D.D	•	- 21	0	0
Found in the Letter-Box		5 0	0	Ó
H.F		10	0,	0
A Tory	• ( )	5	0	0
Fanny	•	. 2	0	0
Forest-Gate Friend .	•	. 1	0	0
A Trifle from Bath		. 2	Ö	Ό,	-
An Old Subscriber	• .	." 1	1.	0
Erratum in our last-For Greithly	n read	Breitl	alyı	£5(	).]

THE dulness of London, of which we complained last week, continues, as the rain does, with unabated perseve-rance;—if this were a theatrical nation, like FRANCE, "averflowing houses" might be vastly pleasant things; but as John Bull, (we do not mean the paper,) is constituted. he prefers a dry joke to the unceremonious intrusion of the waters of his country. The accounts from all parts of the kingdom are dreadful, with respect to floods, and we have met much doubt but that the CHEONICLE of to-morrow will attribute the extraordinary rise in this article to the mismanagement of the present ministry. Were the WHIGS in office, however, we are almost sure, that if they tried to check the evil, by setting the Thames on fire, their efforts in that particular would equal in success those which they made in the one year, one month, one week, and one day, in which they before displayed their incapacity.

The only thing which has occurred to vary the sombre sadness of a LONDON merry Christmas, is a sort of squabble knocked up between the CHRONICLE and the COURIER about Lord WELLESLEY and the GREEKS.

As to the first, the stupidity of the CHRONICLE is so evident, that we really wonder that the COURIER should have " shewn fight" about it-poor Mr. PERRY kept a sort of respectability about the paper, and there were people of a certain standing who spoke to and knew him, but the wretched persons who are trying to hold the wreck together are really not worth noticing.

As to the second, we mean the GREEKS, we really do mot believe that the CHRONICLE knows what it is talking about. Nay, we should be obliged to the CHRONICLE when it puffs off its DOCTOR LEMPRIBRES, and its A, B, C's. and all those fellows, to tell us what it means by quoting ancient GREECE upon us in its beggings—does the CHRO-NICLE know, or can it tell, what is meant by the absolu-tion of GREECE from the tyranny of the TURES?—Why— are not—(if we come to ancient Greece) the Turks as much Greeks as the present Greeks themselves? But why waste words with the present Chronicle? Let us look to the barbaritles of these fine, beautiful, delightful, oppressed GREEKS, whose cause they espouse, and we shall find that these high-spirited, pure-minded persons, when they get power into their hands, use it to the best (or worst) possible advantage; the following detail is revolting to humanity, and we think will make that foolish author, the young LORD RUSSELL, wish he had never given his bill for fifty pounds in aid of the cause.

in aid of the cause.

"Having, after the 7th of October, sailed from Zante in a Maltese vessel, bound for Constantinople, we were obliged, after meeting for several days with contrary winds, to make the port of Navarino.

"As I was curious to learn how that town happened to have fallen into the hands of the Greeks, they stated to me the following circumstances:—The garrison being destitute of every kind of sustenance, was obliged to surrender by capitulation, which stipulated that they should be sent to Modone. But no sooner were the Greeks in pomention of the place, then they put to death all the Turks in the most atrocious muthier interiorable. Some of these the Turks in the most arrections manner than these some of these unfortunate men, the moment they came out of the town, were cut in pieces; others were birut to death. Part of these wretched men were carried by the Idriots to an uninhabited island, which forms the port of Navarino, and, after being landed, were massacred. A third portion, being the last; was converged to a bare rock, situate in the midst of the harboar, without any provisions, who were obliged to starve. Some of them fed on the fiesh of their commanda."

RADICALISM.

THE state at which the Radicals are arrived, in their despair and desperation, is hardly to be believed. been always hitherto considered necessary to cloak sens TION and BLASPHEMY in some specious garb, to delude the ignorant and entrapy the unwary; but now the disguise is thrown off; and much trouble may be saved by the boldness of the misercant, who is a leader of the Radical faction—we mean the martyr, MR. CARLELE, the friend of THISTLEWOOD and HUNT, with whom: ROBERT WILSON has shaken bands.

Is it possible to believe that the following placard was posted in MR. CARLILES shop window on Friday? Possible or not—it is the TRUTH.

"Two shopmen arrested this afternoon by the Bridge-street wretches, without knowing their numes. Worse than the inquisition, and one of the blessed systems of the late six Acts. Plenty of volunteers to combat the vile crew, and the same obnazious Tamphlets may be had in spite of them!—"tis a noble cause, and thust prevail; they shall had, with their combined power, shut up the Temple of Reason?—Oh, those base gangs, you'll do no harm to the cause, but, good—THIS IS THE MART FOR BLASPHEMY AND SEDITION!!!

This, Reader, has appeared:—the boast of RADICALISM (of that pure school in which Messrs. LAMBTON, WILSON, HUMB, HUNT, WADDINGTON, NORMANNY, and Co. are pupils)—is, that SEDITION and BLASPHEMY are openly sold in Fleet-street.

Now, should there be scoundreds base or foolish enough to be persuaded to contemn their KING, surely this brag of vending treason against their GOD must open their cyes—ignorance must be enlightened—villainy to MAN must be reformed when the DEITY himself is thus villified.—What does all this prove?—That RADICALISM, REVOLUTION, BLASPISSMY, AND PERDITION mean the same thing, and that it is the bounden duty of every man who has a soul to be saved to rally round the standard of England while it waves over the head of God's ANOINTED SERVANT.

We must add, that we think CABLILE almost the most respectable Radical we ever met with, inasmuch as he is straight-forward and plain in his dealings; whereas, his betters are hypocrites as well as scoundrels.

It is curious to observe how perfectly silent all the par ties concerned are, as to the refusal of ANTALDI and TOMASEO, to execute the trust reposed in them by the late QUEEN—such a refesal is almost unparalleled. And from the efforts made to stiffe the circumstance altogether, there is every reason to believe, that the events which have occasioned if are highly important to the character of her Majesty.

The QUEEN herself is so entirely forgotten, (unless, indeed, in the appullin orginal stavern bunting Whigs.) that LUSHINGTON and WILDE are quite lost to its; they have, like Woop, fallen still deeper into the mud of oblivion from the temporary elevation to which, by their association with the great Radical leader, they had attained, but it is a pity that men who are certainly fond of notoriety should be completely taken from us; there are so many amiable traits of character about the Doctor, and his learned condition, that we look forward with anxiety yet to some explanations, relative to the insult these "Italians" have put upon them, by rejecting with disdain, the proposal to unite with them as executors of the QUEEN'S Will. Is it worth nobody's while to tell us something of all this? Will nobody inform us where the QUEEN's valuable diamonds are ? Can, nobedy throw a light upon the reasons which could have induced these "foreigners" to spurn with contempt the office of trustees to a QUEEN of ENG-

TOMASEO was, if we mistake not, the person who, in the masquerade, bought the initomaton, which was enacted by her late Majesty; and Antonio Antaldi is (or was, ac cording to their own account) a person of high blood and principle, quite of a different usee from those of his coun-trymen, who gave evidence against the unhappy Lady in question. Well then—when one finds that these persons. the former a physician, and upon terms of intimacy with the deceased—the latter a Nobleman, devoted to her virtues and her cause, both deny the last dying request of the Royal Lady they have served and praised—we must naturally infer that something very abominable must have transpired, to cause such conduct.

Look at LUSHINGTON; did he do so?-No; with all the business he had on his hands, he jumped at being a QUEEN's executor. No sooner was his mistress dead, than off he runs, up Hampstead-hill, out of breath as he was-marries—runs down again—whips off his favours—on with his weepers—out of the yellow barouche into the mourningcoach—off to Germany, bride and all. This is very different, and the difference must be explained to satisfy the Jueen's admirers.

Windson, Dec. 27.—Tuesday, being Christmas-day, her Royal Highness the Princess Augusta, attended by the Hon. Mrs. Egerton, came from Frogunore to St. George's Chapel, and there met the Dean of Windsor and the Canons in residence, when her Royal Highness received the sacrament, and afterwards returned to Frogmore.—We now have here the greatest Thames flood that has been since 1809, when the great flood carried away the Fifteen Arch Bridge, near Etr.. It is awful to see the country from Maidenhead Bridge to Chertsey, on each sides of the Thames, all covered with water—farmers obliged to move their cattle, of every kind, from their home—fields and meadows covered with water, over hedges and ditches—nothing to be seen but the tops of the trees. The lower part of Little Windsor Park is all covered. In Eton, many of the houses are flooded, in the shops the water is up to the counters. There are carts and boats to take the passengers to and from the Windsor side. It is up as high as the Swan Inn, every horse of which is obliged to be moved; in many of the cellars the water is five feet deep. No carriage can come by Datchet to Windsor.

We understand that snow has fallen in the west, and that there have been sharp frosts at night in many parts of the country.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

THE following stanzas dedicatory, prefixed to the 50th Number of this work, have been transmitted to us. may be necessary to observe that the 57th Number of the Magazine contains a well-written serious article, on the rise, decline, and fall, of the EDINBURGH REVIEW, of which progressive annihilation, these verses give a lighter description. We doubt whether it can be an agreeable subject either to JEFFREY or BROUGHAM, and therefore, give them a place with pleasure.

STANZAS

DEDICATORY TO FRANCIS JEFFREY, ESQ. ADVOCATE,

Lord Rector of the University of Glasgow, lute one of the Presidents of the Speculative, and Editor of the Edinburgh Review, &c. &c.

Your days, Mr. Jerraey, how gaily they sped. When the Prosers were with you, whatever you said, Taunting Buake with your eloquence, Swirr with your jest, While the chorus was Constable's chink in your chest! But opinions stride on, while things linger behind-What of old pass'd for thunder, now weight but he wind; And you, a great man as could possibly be, Stand diminish'd to modest dimensions by ME.

I am sure, like one waked from a dream, you look back To the days when you hoisted your fle When against THE OLD PORTRESS You open'd your trenches With a jig, as the mode of your masters the French is: While one PRIEST whiletled on with the note of VOLTAIRE, And the smile of another recalled D'ALEMBERT, And you seem'd A Great Man as could possibly be, - Never dreaming of damnable dampers from ME.

You all seem'd so giddy; so gamesome, so gay, Paine and Hell shouldd, "Go'ft, me're sure of the day."— Such a confident crowing contemptuous air, Fill'd the hearts of a thousand good fools with despair; While there wanted not some of our old pluckless Tories, Who like spoonies would fawn and talk big of your glories, Calling you a great man as could possibly be ;--Lacking heart even to hope for a hero like MB.

How the fine yellow's dimm'd in its delicate hue! What a stain has been stamp'd on the beautiful blue! How each frolicsome face that enliven'd Craig-Crook Has been changed for a down-looking, dumpish, sour look! O the heart that of old could like quick-silver bound, How it sinks! I am sure it weighs more than a pound! O the biggest small man that could possibly be, How he casts up his whites when he thinks upon me!

Geese, their nature is such, cackle loud in one's pond, But just whistle, and phoo! in a funk they abscond; Bynon christeh'd five geest after five worth; souls, Udo Pudgiolo, Sheil, Proctor, Maturen, Knowles;-But if I had pond-pets, I'm more wise, I should call 'em After such folks as Macintons, Brougham, Smith, and Hallam Not forgetting one smart little cackler—to be (When its wings were well clipt) yelsp't JEFFREY by ME.

Now, you'll scarcely believe it, for all that's been done, I had never a harsh thought about you-not one. For the sake of my Country, my Faith, and my King, I was forced a few rockets among you to fling; But even then what I did, if aright understood, Was not meant for your ill, but your serious good : And, if you're the least man that can possibly be, You should thank yourself for it-much rather than MB.

protest I'm half sorry to see you so low You that were such fine frisky, brisk boys long ago; You may think as you please, but you'll make me quite sad, If you all keep so moping while we are so mad! MR. JEFFREY cheer up! you're a nice little fellow Notwithstanding the sins of your Azure-and-Yellow; Though you're not the first wit that can possibly be, You're a clever old body—there's butter from arc.

Were I forced by some dread demoniacal hand, To change heads (what a fate !) with some Whig in the land, I don't know but I'd swap with yourself, my old Gander, (I should then be DIOURNES—not ALEXANDER!) But to shew my good will in a manner more solemn, I inscribe to your name (jump for joy!) this whole volume. Being always your servant, your friend, and so forth-The humanest of conquerors

17, Prince's-street, Edinburgh. 31st Dec. 1821. CHRISTOPHER NORTH.

Paris Papers down to Tuesday, and the Dutch mail with papers, of the 26th inst. arrived last night. An article from Frankfort, dated Dec. 16, says:—The English Ambassador at Constantinople has constantly the most accurate accounts of the incursion of the Persians into Asiatic Turkey, and has communicated them alone to the Austrian Government, which is silent respecting them. It is remarkable that this Ambassador received the first intelligence of it, and communicated it to the Austrian Government long before it received direct dispatches from Constantinopole on the subject. The Ministers of the Porte are said to have given information to Lord Strangford of the accounts they have received; and his Lordship also received dispatches directly from the English agents in Persia, and other parts of Asia; so that he was better informed than the Porte, and acquainted the Divax with many events that were quite unknown at Constantinople.

Letters from Vienna state, that there have been more changes among the Ministers at Constantinople. The Captain Pacha has been made Pacha of Brussa, and is succeeded by the Capitana Bey. The Persians are represented to have had several successes, and, in some places, the Turks had revolted and joined the Persian Prince.

An article from Naremberg, dated Dec. 17, save—There are still Prince.

An article from Nuremberg, dated Dec. 17, says—There are still very different opinions in the Divan respecting the demands of Russia. These opinions are in all likelihood only politically different; for at the bottom, all the Members of the Divan are probably animated by latred to Russia, and would willingly reject all her demands, if they did not fear the consequences of such a step. But they are not agreed upon the manner in which they shall proceed. Some advise concession to avoid a war; the others are for cutting through the knot with the sword. The Grand Vizier is at the head of the first party, and seems to be on particularly good terms with Lord Strangford.

Friday, a Court of Directors was held at the East India House. Prince.

terms with Lord Strangford.

Friday, a Court of Directors was held at the East India House, when the under-mentioned Captains were sworn into the command of their respective ships, viz.:—Capt. John Barnet Lotheby, London, Madras, and China; Capt. Heary Drummond, Castle Huntly, Bombay and China.

Two vessels, which are fitting out at Weolwich by orders of Government, viz.:—Leven, 24 gins, Capt. W. F. Owen, and Barracoula, 10 guins, Capt. W. Cutfield, which, it is intended, shall shortly sail for the East coast of Africa and Mozambique Channel, on a survey: and not the Gulf of Persia, as mentioned in our last.

SIR JOHN CROFT.

who is Sin John CROFT?—asks a correspondent. I de not know, quoth Bull.

"What are SIR JOHN's services ?--- enquires another.

I cannot say, replies Bull.

Nor can he but it appears by the Gazette, that STR JOHN has received, and is permitted, in consequence of his active services in Portugal, to accept and wear the ensignia of the Tower and Sword.

It may not be generally known, but such is the fact, that the Government, resolving to check the folly of getting (which any body may do) for ugn orders, have made latterly a great difficulty in granting such permissions as this now accorded to Sin John CROPT; and, therefore, one would suppose that the services alluded to must be pretty notorious, and somewhat important. But, alas-no! We have rumaged every where to discover what the gentleman has done, and in vain. There was a person of the same name, who, when MR. Canning came home from LISBON, was left as a sort of Charge & Affaires there, but we should think it cannot be the same gentleman.

The rage for these foreign trinkets is very extraordinary, and this last avowal of the weakness has called forth many enquiries as to the sort of person who made it. Luckily, however, for this chevaller, he is in so happy a state of obscurity, that even BULL himself is left in the dark.

TO JOHN BULL.

SIR—The ministers of justice, whether Judges or Jurymen, are responsible to God and their country for the unright and impartial exercise of the trust reposed in them; and a most awful responsibility it is. They are also amenable to public opinion; and I, as an individual, have no mode of shewing my sense of the late proceedings against you, so decidedly as by transmitting the inclosed note of you, so decidedly as by transmitting the successive Five Pounds for your use.—I am, Sir, your obedient D. W. Cambridge, December 26, 1821.

THEATRES.

COVERT GARDEN, as we prognosticated, has put forth a very good Pantomime; indeed, where GRIMALDI is the clown there can be little doubt of the mirthfulness of the performance. HARLEQUIN AND MOTHER BUNCH does not, however, stand in the same file with that of which it unluckily reminds us-we mean MOTHER GOOSE; and we have invariably observed, in Pantomimes, that when the story, whatever it may be, which introduces the characters, is purely domestic, the effects are more comic and satisfactory. Melanchuly magicians and captive princesses, however much they may succeed in spoiling the rest of the young holiday folks, have not, we confess, (with sbame) a fiftieth part of the attraction for us which we find in the jog-troi incidents of common life; and SQUIRE BUGLE, with his fat face, is, to us, a much happier quant courier of fun than a yellow dwarf.

The Pantomime, however, possesses many of the neces sary requisites to please those for whose entertainment it been prepared. But our observation (and it seems a pretty general one) upon the tricks is, that they want originality; nor, since we must speak the truth, do we think, on the first night, that the execution of the changes was much happier than the design—there was a clumsiness and slovenliness in the performance unlike Covent

Garden.

GRIMALDI was, as usual, a source of great mirth to the audience, and MISS DENNETT is a very nice Columbiae. With respect to the young Mr. GRIMALDI, we should venture to hint to him that indecency upon the stage is an insult to every individual in the house; and that, if he expects to be tolerated, he must considerably restrain his propensity to be coarse and indelicate; he has not merit enough to I lay such tricks with impunity.

At Drury Lane, a piece, called GIOVANNI IN IRELAND. has been produced. Our readers pretty well know our opinion of the thing called GIOVANNI IN LONDON. This continuation has all the filthy faults of its predecessor, with even less pretension to humour; but it has VESTRISand when a very pretty woman condescends to talk a certain sort of language, and act a certain sort of part, there are no want of admirers to support her. We confess, fuscinating as MADAME VESTRIS is, we should see her in other characters with much greater pleasure if we had never seen her in Don GIOVANNI. One does not expect ectresces to be nuns, nor do we blame actresses for playing certain male parts—for instance, JULEO, in DEAF AND DUMB, could never have received, from a boy of the age represented, an hundreth part of the interest excited by the beautiful acting of MRs. C. KEMBLE-the Page in FIGARO would look for ever for a lad who could give the points, and be the playful thing he is represented, as MRS. CHATTERLY does;—but there is no grossness, no low-lived vulgarity in these, nor in the general run of such

We confess, when we see a woman—the most bewitching attributes of whose sex are softness, delicacy, and gentleness-whose silence is eloquence, and whose timidity is conquest, stuffing herself into a coat and pantaloons, and, with apparent satisfaction, uttering words and using expressions which are interdicted to female ears anywhere else, it diminishes, or, at least, it changes the character of the pleasure one feels in seeing her act; and much as every body must admire the person and talents of the lady in question, we must say, that we do not think her reputation (we mean her professional reputation) will in the end be at all improved by this exhibition.

The piece, which was most decidedly condemned on Saturday (and has been played every night since), is beneath all criticism; vulgarity is the leading characteristic of it, and Irish rows and drunken frolics form the lighter objects on the dark ground of filth, of which it is composed.

But the most impudent and ignorant thing ever done by man, is the introduction into this beastly farrage of ribaldry, a representation of the Installation of the KNIGHTS of SAINT PATRICE. The truth is, that MR.

ELLISTON has taken it into his head that he acts a Monarch vastly well, and is so pleased with having been crowned an hundred and fifty times, that he is unwilling to give up the chiracter; and therefore holds an installation of Knights, for the purpose of appearing as Sovereign of the Order for another week or two; and we do verify believe that MR. ELLISTON actually fancies himself a KING at the moment, when he is dressed up in a thing made up of plush and rabbit-skins to look like royal robes. Now, this is a weakness—but then, what very at mon are without their weaknesses? We own that in the present case, we think it is an objectionable frailty, because this pageant in question was to have formed part of a piece illustrative of His Majesty's visit to IRE-LAND, and which, if well done, would have been a grati-fying entertainment; instead of which, that, which one might have seen with pleasure, and without having our ears shocked by filth and indecency, is laid aside to make way for GIOVANNI IN IRRLAND.

The splendour of decoration, and the introduction of horses on the stage have been quoted by some as proofs of the degeneracy of the present race of play goess, and the general decline of the drama; but if he wished at once to combine every possible proof of the degradation of national saste in such matters, we should quote this last piece as the strongest illustration of the melancholy truth.

piece as the strongest illustration of the melancholy fruth. To be sure the fact that it was hooted and hissed throughout qualifies our consure of the public upon this score; but it affords no excuse for the person who put it together, or the management which has the effrontery to repeat it.

The people at the Conunu Thratrix have bought a great number of little looking glasses, and stuck them together with cement, and, with a good deal of trouble and expence, made a curtain of them. It has, as may easily be imagined, a very bad effect, and reflects no credit upon the taste or judgment of the projector.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The King continues in good healthat Brighton. The Hanoverian Minister, Count Linster, was among the few visitors last week at the Palace. Hie Majesty attended divine service at the Palace on Christmas-day.

The Consecration of the New Chapel Royal is to take place on Monday. The Young Gentlemen of the King's Chapel, St. James's, will attend, as well as part of the Choir from St. Paul's. The ceremony of the consecration will be performed by the Bishop of Chichester. A most numerous assemblage of the first persons of distinction are invited to dine with his Majesty upon this occasion. On Thursday morning His Royal Flighness the Duke of York left Yerk-house for the Earl of Westmorland's, at Apthorp.

The Marquis Wellesley and suite arrived at York-house, Bath, on Sunday afternoon, on his route to fill his Vice-regal appointment. The Noble Marquis left on Monday for Worcester. On Tuesday he passed through Shrewsbury, and was expected at Dublis on Thursday.

Much has been lately written on the subject of the exercise of the King's preregative, with regard to the dismissal of Officers in the Army. The following circumstance, which is on record, will shew how our fathers considered the subject:—In 1734, the Duke of Bolton and Lord Cobham were, as it was said by the witty Earl of Chesterfield, whispered out of their commissions, merely on account of not complying with the desires of the Minister—not, as in the case of Sir R. Wilson, for acts tantamount to flying in the face of the King's authority. A motion was made in the House of Pers, by the Duke of Marliporough, to restrain this power, "which had constantly been secrecial by the Cowm, and seemed inherent in the prerogative." The Bill which he proposed was to prevent all Officers above the rank of Cohels from being deprived of their Commissions, on the wise particular of the More of the King's seministance was, that the Bill, if passed into a law, would be of mischievous consequences, that the exercised links alents to oppose ti; and to evince, in the insertion way, oppositionists,

MARQUIS WELLEALEY.—We understand that a number of respectable citizens have determined to attend on horseboek, at the Pigeon-house, to escort his Excellency into town. We have no doubt, if time will permit, but the cavalcade will be most numerous.

The Duchess of Orleans, according to a letter from Paris, expects her accouchement very shortly.

The loyal inhabitants of Ramanie are about to give their powerful and worthy patron, Sir W. Curtis, a public dinner at the Albion Hotel, as a grateful token of the high sense they entertain of the many favour sconferred upon them through the esteemed Baromet's

Hotel, as a grateful token of the high sense they entertain of the many favours conferred upon them through the esteemed Baronet's means.

On Christmas day the Lard Mayor and Sheriffs ordered an additional allowance of beef, bread, and a pint of porter, to be distributed to the prisoners confined in the gaols under the jurisdiction of the city.

Bills of Mortality—The following is a list of the christenings and burials within the bills from Dec. 12, 1820, to Dec. 11, 1821;—Christened in the 97 parishes without the walls, 1105; buried, 1990; christened in the 17 parishes without the walls, 1105; buried, 1990; christened in the 17 parishes without the walls, 1105; buried, 1990; christened in the 23 out-parish.s in Middlesex and Surrey, 14,555; buried, 9805; christened in the 10 parishes in the City and Libernies of Westminster, 4129; buried, 4150.—Total christened, males, 13,072; females, 12,160, in all 25,232.—Total buried; males, 9379; females, 9072, in all 18,461; whereof have died, under two years of age, 4276; between two and five 1793; five and terr two years of age, 4276; between two and five 1793; five and terr two years of age, 4276; between two and five 1793; five and terr years of age, 4276; between two and sixty 1872; sixty and seventy 1612; seventy and eighty 1312; eighty and ninety 771; ninety and a hundred 150; a hundred and eight 1.—Decreased in the burials this year 897.—Thirty-four persons were executed in London and the county of Surrey during the last year.

Oxford, Dec. 21.—Monday, Dec. 17, the last of the Michaelmas term, the following degrees were conferred:—Master of Arts—Rev. W. H. Langley, Christ Church.—Bacrelors of Arts
T. H. Walpole, All Souls' coll.; J. H. Seymoun, Exeter coll.; J. Barnwell, Pembreke coll.; H. Phillipps and R. Yarker, Queen's coll.; H. A. Simcoe, Wadham coll.; C. Wood, Oriel coll.; J. R. Chaplyn, J. W. Tomlinson, and W. H. Cartwright, Trinity coll.—The whole number of degrees in Michaelmas term was B. D. one; B. C. L. one; M. A. twenty-two; B. A. seventy-six; Matricu lighted for the first time. The operation was performed by thirty lamplighters.

The typhus fever has made its appearance in the county of Kilkenny and Queen's county. Two brothers were lately attacked in the former county, and died; they immediately threed black, but during the waking resumed their colour scan.—Owing to constant wet, an universal epidemic has broken out among the horses. The poor are in the utmost distress for fuel, it being impossible in most cases to reach the bogs. The wretched mud edifices of the peasantry are literally melting away.

The Harts Broams - The weather has harry and the wind throughout the greater part of Thursday day morning; blew a complete hurricane. At Ba of three houses in Grove-street fell with a trement wall erected in front of the new chairer. January down, also a stack of champion at the backing little rain-desconded in torrents, accompanied, with the ning, and caused the river to overflow its little river river, a great pertino of cently been covered with wash terms never present and the one overflow its little river represents and a new teels shelter is the unaccompanies. centry been covered with what sensoners present consent of maker, and the inhalitance of the cotten seek shelter in the upwer a parametric and as whence many were rescuel by beats. At this stained amounts to several fundament potents. It have covered the could fundament potents. It have covered the fundament of the senson sensons vicinity of Obomester, the level we could be many try, and delayed the mattle and cochies serving of trival. The account sied impassed the sevent of trival. The account sied to be the consensual try, and delayed the mattle and cochies serving of trival. The account sied to be the serving of trival. The account sied to be the serving at the property, provided the serving of trival. The account sied to be serving to the serving of the se rystere off tearts, in shape reported to the Book Security of the desired and this steem the Book May as a channel of the Book May are the state of the state of rally, and Cox was floored by a right-handed blow on the side. The to four on Miller.—3. The claret flew in streams from the heads of each, and the seconds were the vermilion hue; give and take was again the will of both, and another slaughtering round was fought, until both went down from distress.—4. In a short raily Miller was dropped by a hit on the breast, which produced a loud groan, and the rattling of the hit was heard throughout the ring.—5. A minute clapsed in attituding, until some wind was fetched to relieve the piping of both. The men at length turned to, and fought the best round in the battle. It lasted eight minutes, and at least balfadozen hits were exchanged upon the head, and Cox was thrown Miller's eye was closed, and the features of both were nearly invisible, and their heads truly exchequered.—6. A gay round in favour of Cox, whose adversary was too blind to find his object. He, however, floored him by a blow in the jaw.—7. This round won Cox the fight, by placing a left-handed hit below his adversary's chest, which doubled him up, and he could not some to time.—With the heavy rain and the loss of blood, the ring was in reality a slaughter house in appearance. Such a battle has very rarely been winessed.

**Advertisement.**]—**Biegant Glasses, Furnility, &c.—The Nobility and Advertisement.]—Blegant Glasses, Furniture, &c.—The Nobility and Gentry are invited to inspect the Watercoops of Cooper and Son, 23, Bisbergate-street Within, where is exhibited an Assortment of new and second hand Plate Glasses, admirably suited to every description of drawing dising-rooms. In the furniture department is comprised every new and elegant article of upholstery, cabinet, and chair work, the prices of wind are reduced to such a scale of economy as to attract and ensure the patronar of rank and fashion. of rank and fashion.

Old Transition

ensued, with a more particular description of which, we will not shock the feelings of our readers. One of the villains is in custody, and has been folly identified. We sincerely hope that the remainder of the gang will fall into the hands of justice.—Sligo Jour.—Ennis, Dec. 17.—On the night of the 13th inst. as Rob. Chawner, one of Major Warburton's Police, was returning from Miltown to Ennistymon, when with a would not one of whom rushed out on the road and endeavoured to seize the horse by the bridle; Chawner on seeing his aim, gave his horse the spurs, and by this means e vaded the grasp. On the villain finding himself frustrated in his design, he immediately discharged his gun, the contents of which passed through Chawner's cloak on the left side, quite close to his arm. Chawner returned the fire twice, but without taking effect.

A letter from Listowell, dated Dec. 21, states, that fifteen stand of arms had been voluntarily surrendered that day to Dr. Church, a Magistrate of the county of Kerry. Br. Church went, with his son and Mr. Ritson, to the mountains, about ten miles from Listowell, to a place which borders on the County of Limerick, and in a direction between Abbeyleale and Castle Island. Among those given up is the musket taken from Mr. Hewson on the night of the attack upon his house. They have invited Dr. Church to their Parish Chapel of Knocknagoshill, on Sunday next, to administer to them the Qath of Allegiance.

On Thureday night an extensive dairy-house of Mr. Allen's, at Cashroe, county of Cork, was burnt to the ground, some of his cattle killed, and various other depredations committed on his property. It is thought this outrage was perpetrated in revenge for the determined part this gentlemanhas always taken in maintaining the public peace.—On the night of Wednesday last, 15 houses in the parish of Dromin, in the county of Limerick, were attacked by a number of armed ruffians, who demanded arms and cash; where they were disappointed in theobjects of their search, they bound the proprieto was held on the body of Owen Culture.

when a verdict of "wiffs! murder" was found against a party of when a verdict of "wiffs! murder" was found against a party of those miniffs marauders, who came to demand fire-arms from him. It appeared that after breaking open he door, Cullinane, aided by his brother, made a most spirited resistance, and succeeded in keeping out the assassins—in the conflict, the unfortunate man received three gur-shot wounds, of which he languished in great agony until Thesday last, when death put an end to his sufferings.

Dublin Paper.

Thomas Kiely and Michael

Special. Commission Limeatex.—Thomas Kiely and Michael Kelly, were tried for feloniously taking two guns, on the 18th of Suly, the property of Ciristopher Sparling; remembers the day that the arms were taken from the hose; her husband was at the arms were taken from the hose; her husband was at the arms the side of the state of afterwards said so, but she did not give credit to him.—On her cross-examination she admixed she made a declaration, and a solemn one, never to live with her husband if he prosecuted the prisoners at the bar, or any one at all concerned in either of the attacks on the hotse; this she did because she could not give credit to his statement; her husband, on his part, swore two oaths, when he came for his cloathes, that he never would prosecute.—Garret Fitzgerald, stated, that he knew Mr. Morgan; saw him in the first week of August last; knows it must have been then, as the fair of Bullingarry was a day or two before; they had some conversation; Mr. Morgan said to him, the only way of bettering his situation was to join him in raising a prosecution in these troublesome times against some fellows or other, and that their fortune would be made to the end of the world; admits there was a coolness between them for some time about an arbitration, in which witness was referree.—Edward Morgan was here confronted with witness and being examined on oath, swore he had never made use of such expression in his life to witness, or any other person, and that he had not once opened his lips to the witness since the decision of the arbitration; this took place in April last.—An almanack was now referred to, and it appeared there was no such fair as that of Ballingarry in August.—Judge Moore charged the Jury, a verdict of Guilty was returned against both prisoners.

David Carton, John Histon, and John Mullane, were then placed at the bar and indicted, for that they did, on the 25th of November, feloniously break into the house of John Reilly, of Church Town, in order to compel him to quift the place, and for assaulting the said John Reilly. The prisoners pleaded Not Guilty.—The Soliciter-General stated to the Court, that, in consequence of the youth of the prisoner; David Carton, it was not the intention to prosecute him, conceiving he must have been misled.—The other two mes were found Guilty.—During the trial it transpired, that to trial for crimes connected with the disturbances of that part of the country.

The reading of the following document, which was identified by one of the witnesses, excited great laughter:—"John Reilly, I desire you to quit this place, or else you may expect the same usage Sparling got; and I warn all persons to hold ne communication with John Reilly, or they will be used as Sparling was. I desire you, John Woods, to quit Reilly's company, which you were noticed before; and if you do not, you will be tried by the Canonical Laws, established in the reign of Queen Anne.

"Captain JOHN ROCK, Ranger of the Roads."

The following Notice was posted a faw nights since, at the turnpike-gate of Ball-M'Thomas, in the parish of Bally-M'Elligott. Arthur Blennerhassett, Esq. of Ballyseedy, High Sheriff of the County, hearing of the circumstance, immediately tore down the placard:—

pike-gate of Ball-M' Thomas, in the paish of Bally-M'Ellisott. Arthur Blennerhassett, Esp. of Ballyseedy, High Shertiff of the County, hearing of the circumstance, immediately tore down the placard:—

"To all concerned—A true and Elegual authority from Captain Rock. I do hereby certify under my hand, that any one what soever paying the money to Henry Oliver, or foundling money, is under the pain of death; and Kennely goes under the same rules that gathers Church money: and as for Healy that serves the summonses, I called to see him before, and if I were to overtake him, I would make a public example of him to the County of Kerry; therefore any person paying such money may be sure of their doom.—N.B. I am only in the beginning of my proceediors, and I will put all thingsto rights in the course of a short time.

"Signed by Order of Capt. ROCK, of the County of Limerick." John Ward, Patrick Brown, Thomas Lee, Morgan Cregan, George D'Arcy, Patrick Cregan, were indicted under the White Boy Act, for unlawfully assembling, and for assaulting Catherine Hassett, who had given her testimony last Assizes.—The prost-cutrix stated, that Mr. Hoskins brought her, to the Limerick Assizes, when she was returning to Newcastle, the crowd called out "she's welcome home, we'll kill her now!" Witness was repeatedly struck; she was all shooly! Tom Keefe, ran to, a forge and brought out a shovel with which he struck her and cut her head; she thought he would knock her brains out; she lay stretched in the car; she called out to Patrick Enright for the honour of God not to kill lier; he said he wand see her well—and he did; the struck her with a sume; she said to Jack Finn, "Oh! Jack, I am kills." He said, "this is the way we will serve all led the honour of God not to kill lier; he said he would use her well—and he did; the struck her with a sume; she said to Jack Finn, "Oh! Jack, I am kills." He said, "this is the way we will serve all modern the first she will have been committy with Mr. Russell; two dragoons passed almost at the ins mare in the night time.—The Court was then a Journed, in Journal, till the 12th of January.

Execution.—Michael Fitzgerald and Michael Halloran, were hanged this day, Dec. 22, for the murder Manning, the Policeman. Fitzgerald died penitent. Halloran declared his innocence.

John Histon, John Hullage, Thomas Kiely, Michael Kelly, and Timothy Shea, to be executed in the town of Newcastle, on Monday, 31st Dec.—Martin Grady and John Grady, to be executed in the town of Shanagolden, on the 3d of January next.

POLICE.

Guildhall.—In the early part of Tuesday a vast number of persons assembled at the Crown public-house, in Chick-lane, to celebrate Christmas. The party, which consisted chiefly of Irishmen, had not been long seated before several Smithfield drovers entered the room, and a grand fight commenced. The Hibernians defended themselves with sprigs of Shillelagh, but, unfortunately, Thomas Donnelly, having been deprived of his stick, seized a poker, and struck one of the drovers. Another, armed with a pitch-fork, made a rush at Donnelly, when the latter struck the drover, and fractured his skull in a most dreadful manner. The wounded man was taken to Bartholomew's Hospital, and Donnelly to Giltspurstreet Compter, from whence he was brought before Alderman Sir C. S. Hunter, who remanded him until the fate of the wounded man should be known.

On Thursday, Mr. Murray, the Secretary of the Constitutional Association applied for warrants to apprehend two of Carlile's shopmen for selling the Address to the Reformers of Great Britain.

—Mr. Newman, the Citz Splicitor, attended as the Alderman's Assessor, and under his spinion the warrants were granted.—The officers, who were sent to execute the warrants, soon returned with two men, one a middle-aged man, of mean appearance, and the other a very young man, decently dressed. They refused to tell their names, and were detained for want of bail. Bow-Street.—Mr. John Frost, a jeweller, residing at No. 33, the other a very young man, decently dressed. They refused to tell their names, and were detained for want of bail.

Bow-Street, Mr. John Frost, a jeweller, residing at No. 33, Arundel-street, Strand, some three or four months back, hired an errand-boy, named Henry Brown, with an eight months' good character, but who was connected with a desperate gang of thieves, and had been tried at the Old Bailey, for stealing a pair of shoes, the property of his former employer. On the morning of the 20th of November last, the prosecutor was alarmed by his errand-boy, who eame to the door of his bed-chamber, crying aloud, 'Master, master, get up, you are robbed; every thing in the shop is turned topsy-turvy.'' Mr. Frost found a cabinet, containing the chief part of his stock in trade, completely ransacked; the doors were broken open, and gold watches, diamond rings, and jewellery stolen, to the amount of 3,5001. The errand-boy was taken into custody, and he confessed that he let three young men into Mr. Frost's house, on the morning of the 19th November. (Monday), and that they remained in a cockloft, over the shop, all the day.—In consequence of this, one of the young men, named John Brown, was taken up, and it was thought advisable to allow him to turn King's evidence. He impeached Heary Brooks, John Stokes alias Williams, Moses Solomon, I. Nathau, and Mary Ahn Eates. The witness (Brown) stated, that he, C. Newman, and James Thomas, proposed to the prisoner, Henry Brown, to be let into his master's house, until they were let in by the prisoner Brown. They hid themselves in the cockloft. Aboutone o'clock in the morning, they got down the ladder, and went into the workshop, where was a cabinet which contained the treasure; they endeavoured to pick the lock, but not succeeding, they got the pins from out of the hinges, and by that means stole the jewellery; they then proceeded to ransack the workmen's drawers, where they got about 5001, worth of unfaished work. After some little consideration they got through the parlour wi perty to Williams's house in a bag.—Remanded till Monday.

Thames Police-Office.—A few nights ago, two young men obtained lodgings at the Dundee Arms, Wapping, under pretence of setting off next morning by one of the Gravesend beats. They retired to bed rather early, and in the course of the night, it is presumed, previous to the landlord, Mr. Minshaw, going to bed, they contrived to enter his room, and rifle a desk of 2241. in notes and gold. One of the notes, which was for 101. was traced to the possession of Lewis, a slop-seller in Rosemary-lane, who it appears had received them in payment for apparel. Charles Farmer was apprehended by two of the officers, and he and Lewis had been examined at this office, when the former was remanded, and the latter (the slopseller) held to bail for a misdemeanour.

Union-Halle-On Monday, a woollen-draper in the borough.

LINION-HALL.—On Monday, a woollen-draper in the borough, preferred a charge of felony against one of his shopmen. The young man had been in the service of his employers about two years. It was observed, that he launched into a style of extravagance far beyond that which his income could allow. A few days since, the complainant marked some gold, which he gave to a friend, and goods to the amount of nearly four pounds were bought, for which four sovereigns were given in payment. The till was examined, and only three of the marked sovereigns found. A constable was sent for, and the other marked sovereign was taken from the prisoner.—He was remanded.

Ouers-Sorane.—On Monday, John Lane was charged with from the prisoner.—He was remanded.

QUEEN-SQUARE.—On Monday, John Lane was charged with stealing 201. in sovereigns, notes, silver, and copper monies, besides other articles, in the dwelling-house of John Goddard, on Sunday last, who stated, that when returning from church he found the cupboard, closets, and chests of drawers, in a state of confusion, and a bag containing the above-mentioned sum, a time-piece, and other property, stolen. The prisoner had lodged in the house for several years. The prisoner was apprehended at the Rising Sun, in Bedfordbury. On him were found nine sovereigns, a one-pound note, a guinea, 41. Hos. in silver, and some halfpence. The prisoner did not account for the property, otherwise than by saying he found it in the passage of the house, when coming out in the morning, and meant to have returned it.—Fully committed.

the morning, and meant to have returned it.—Fully committed.

Public attention has been already directed to the great reduction in the prices of provisions, and we think it our duty likewise to acquaint Families, who wish to furnish their houses with economy, that at Miles and Edwarde's New Chintz Faraliure and Moreen Warehouse, No. 134, Oxford-street, an actual saving of full one-third may be effected in the articles of Chintz Furnitures, Moreens, Merino Damasks, &c. &c.

**Advertisement.**]—The Literary Gazet e, No. 258, the last Number of the present year, was published yesterday with the following coatents:—Reviews of Archdeacon Coxe's Shrewsbury Papers, a striking View of the Ministry at the time of the Revolution—Wilks Memoirs of Queen Caroline; curious Particulars of her early Life, &c.—Lady Hervey's Letters, with many Aneodote of remarkable Persons—Lord Byron's Tragedies—Epitone's of Biblical Literature during the 6th Century—Egyptian Antiquities—Unique Poetry and Biography—the Flea, by Peter Woodhouse, and the Feminine Machiavel, by Thomas Andrewe—Poems and Writers of the age of Elizabeth, hitherts unknown—Original Poetry, by eminent Writers—Dramatic Criticisms—Notices of Science, Varieties of Humour, and Literature, &c. &c. Subscribers desirous of commencing the Literary Gazette for 1822, will please to send the orders to their respective Booksellers or Newsmen as early as possible, that arrangements may be made accordingly.—Literary Gazette Office, 362, Strand.

**Advertisement.*]—If the reader is afflicted with Fistula, or similar di-

Strand.

Advertisement.]—If the reader is afflicted with Fistula, or similar diseases, we would ask, has he ever heard of the late Martin Van Butchel; who used to treat these complaints in a way peculiar to himself, and to effect eures almost universally without having recourse to either Cutting, Caustic or Couniement, which is the usual practice.—We find his sow, B. D. Van Butchell, surgron, accoucheur, who resides at No 48, South-street, Burkeley-square, continues to perform cures of the most dangerous cases by the same method, and is as completely successful. Both rich and poor, who are thus afflicted, will do well to observe, he requires no remuneration until they are starsified a care has been performed; in fact, the poor are relieved gratis, if respectably recommended.

amics wished a care has been performed; in fact, the poor are relieved gratis, if respectably recommended.

Advertisements I—A candid examination of professional pretensions is only to be feared by those whe are conscious of incapacity. Messrs Goss and Co. Members of the Royal Cellege of Surgeons, confine their studies to the treatment of a certain class of disorders, especially to such as arise from Nervous Debility. Their work, "The Ægis of Life," in full explanation of these subjects, may be had at No. 20, Paternoster-row, or at any booksellers. No diseases are felt with greater peignancy by the sufferer than those occasioned by his own imprudence; and in no cases of consultation is liberality of education in the Professor more desirablethan where the most unbounded confidence is placed, and the most inviolable secresy is expected: thus the terms are plainly stated at the first interview, or in answer to letters describing the case, and enclosing a bank note. Medicines can be forwarded to any part, however distant.—II, Boaverle-street, Ficet-street, London.

Advertisement!—The effect of beautiful hair on the infant countenance is scribing the case, and enclosing a bank note. Medicines can be betwarded to any part, however distant.—II, Boaverle-street, Fleet-street, Loudon.

Advertisement.]—The effect of beautiful hair on the infant countenance is singularly pleasing. A due attention to children's hair is of the greatest importance, as it fixes a stantina for a beautiful head of hair, which requires the most particular attention of Youth of both Sexes to that inextimable ornament, and the greatest discovery for preserving the hair is Rowland's Macassar Oil. This Oil is invaluable in the nursery. It eradicates the sourf easy and pleasant, makes the hair firm in its roots, renders it soft and glossy, elegant and beautiful. It also prevents the hair being injured by the humidity of atmosphere, change of climate, study, anxiety, fevers, accountements, &c. which often causes the human hair to fall off, become grey, and total baldness. In fine, it is the first production is the word, for preserving and rendering the most fascinating and delectal, appearance to the hair of Ladies, Gentlemen, and Children.—It also procees, Whiskers, Eyebrows, &c. The sole Proprietors, A. Rowland and Son, Kiby-sfreet, Hatton-able quantity of that admired article. Also their Essence of Tyre, for elaganging the world for the hair; and Alsana Extrab for the Tech and Guns; and note of these articles are genuine without the signature in red ink A. Rowland and Son."

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We are requested by DR. BRODUM to state, that he was NOT at the christening of MR. BRAHAN's child, to meet the DURE OF SURREX. The Doctor assures us, that although he was acquainted with MR. BRAHAM some time since, he has ceased to know him for several years.

INDICATOR's anecdote shall be enquired into.
II.S. from Glasgow appears too local and personal for a London paper; his poetry is very excellent though somewhat severe.
We think there must be some mistake in the lefter dated Christmas-day, about the affair at Bow-street—but we will keep our eye upon it.

If e are extremely obliged to Benex, for his offers and good wishes; but he must be aware that, however active his exertions, we can do nothing in the way he mentions. His plan is certainly a good one.

He thank our friend at MAIDEFONE for his kind information.—A Traveller for many Years? is also received.

The story of Wood's having been elected a Member of the Travellers? (This is true—but not of the Travellers? Club in Waternoo Place—the Club he belongs to is composed of Bau-men, called Travellers by their own wives and daughters.

Many very valuable contributions are unavoidably delayed till mark week.

Many very valuable contributions are unavoidably delayed till next week.

In reply to the enquiries for the sixth letter of PAUL POITER, we hope to be able to give it in the next Number.

Our correspondent throws away his time in noticing the Masquerade at the Argyll-Rooms. If ho of the people concerned it may be by whom such beautly profunction of the building is permitted, we do not stop to enquire; but if the system of degrading it by such exhibitions us that of last week, at which nothing but the very dregs of society were present, we are pretty well assured that it will be quite necessary for persons of fashion and character to change the scene of their quadrilles and plays—it was even worse than an exhibition of the same sort at Vaunhall.

Our best thanks are due to our friends at Norwich, Derry, Birmingham, Sheffield, Bath, Wells, Exeter, York, &c. for their kind Christmas presents of game, turkies, &c.

Theresa Cross Roads in our next.

PRICE OF STOCKS AT THE CLOSE, SATURDAY.

A MONDAY'S EDITION, containing the LATEST NEWS, the STOCK LIST, the LONDON MARKETS, and the STATE OF THE COUNTRY MARKETS by that Morning's Post, is published at Three o' Clock.

JOHN EULL.

LONDON, DECEMBER 30.

A YEAR has closed upon our labours; and we appear with confidence to the tribunal of public opinion for a verdict on the FACT (we must leave THE LAW of the case where we found it) of our having fully redeemed the pledge.originally given, to speak truth without respect to persons, and to call things by their right names without teference to that time-serving, mercenary system, which degrades and shackles, whilst it professes to exalt, the liberty of the press-we would stand " Recti in Curid;" and, accordingly, we have our evidence prepared, and ready to submit to the most rigid cross-examination.

First, we produce the unprecedented sale of a work, not only unsupported by either of the two great parties in the State, but inveterately pursued by the one, and formally disowned by the other, as if it were criminal and hazardous to sanction the cause of truth; although Ministers them-selves must be aware, that at the time we commenced our career their Government was nearly undermined by a scheme of digested falsehood and hypocrisy, without example in the history of this, or any other civilized country:—we have, however, nothing to do with the policy of either party.

Our next witness is produced by our opponents them-lves. The unqualified and unabating rage and virulence exhibited in the writings and speeches of those men and their hirelings, whose hopes have been dissipated by the breath of truth—those who saw, in the prostration and overlibrow of the Constitution, a golden harvest ripening to their hands, may be allowed to rave and vent their spleen against an intruder who has cut it up by the roots; but their ravings (which is the only concern we have with them.) afford a direct testimony to the success of their adversary.

We have, however, other, and even more positive evidence upon which to look for a verdict in our favour:— Without affecting a diffidence which we do not feel—and which, if we did feel, would disqualify us for the arduous office we have undertaken-we boldly challenge a comparison of the state of public feeling, at the period when we commenced our labours, with that now exhibited at the close of our first year; and we have no hesitation in claiming to have materially and essentially contributed to produce a change as obvious as it is beneficial. It is in vain to urge that the cause is removed, and that therefore the effects have ceased. The QUEEN was morally defunct months before her natural decease.

We do not, however, wish to demand more than we can prove to be our clear right. With the exception of JOHN BULL, there has been established within the past year, no one journal, on either side of the question, which can be supposed to have had the slightest influence upon the public mind. The Radical papers, and the opposition papers, (if they be not convertible terms) cannot be said to have relaxed their exertions—they have been to the full, as virulent, offensive, and active as heretofore, exclusively of the venom we may have drawn off upon ourselves from the lees of their press. The Government papers, as they are called (and we wish with more justice) have persevered in their endeavours to check the current of disloyalty and sedition; but they have obtained no accession of strength, nor any additional means of counteraction. The two parties, therefore, have continued to occupy the same ground, and their relative positions have remained unaltered.

Let us see then, how the case stands with respect to the two periods. We are not disposed unnecessarily to draw forth from oblivion, the name of the late misguided QUERN; but it is too intimately interwoven with the history of the times to be separated from the view we are called upon to take of them.

It was under the shadow of HER RANK that the most pertilent sedition ever engendered in the country, was nourished and pampered, and brought, in a corrupted mass, to the very footsteps of the threne. A known falsehoodknown to those who were forement to propagate it! was made the basis of this conspiracy against the King and Consti-TUTION, supported by perjury, glaring as the son at noon day, and by an apostacy which, (in the delusion of the moment, it is to be hoped) even reached, partially, the higher and more elevated orders of society. But more of this bereafter.

The authority of Government was neutralized. It possessed not the power to control or direct the storm. Ministers could only array the laws on their side, and exer cise the limited power committed to them by the Constitution. Their opponents had assumed a vigour beyond the law, and were backed by the clamours of a people whom they had perverted from their allegiance, in outraging and defying the constituted authorities themselves.

Thus, the weapons they resorted to for the prosecution of offensive measures, were ulterly excluded from the resources of the men, who alone were legitimately entrusted with those of our defence. No man, who was capable of forming an estimate of the chances of a contest so conducted, could hesitate in coming to the conclusion, that numbers must eventually prevail, unless encountered with those very weapons which had so far ensured them the prospect of victory. WE FELT-AND ACTED UPON THIS CONVICTION.

Public writers, perhaps, have no right to demand implicit belief when they speak of themselves; but we address ourselves, more especially upon such an occasion as the present, to those henourable minds, who, from a consciousness of their own integrity, are least disposed to question the honour of others; and WE do most solemnly affirm, that neither directly nor indirectly—by tacit or conventional arrangement—by implication, or by any trick, subterfuge, or evasion—had Government, or any Member of Government, or a single individual connected with it, the slightest notion or knowledge of the origin or establishment of John Bull. A long and watchful apprehension of impending and rapidly accumulating danger—an unbought and constitutional veneration and affection for the Sovercian, whose virtues had been dragged through the filth of radical ribaldry, till they were distorted into the appearance of vices in the eyes of the people, whilst a bold and impudent pleader dared to stamp the chartered calumny of sworn regicides, by comparing his Monarch with the most abhorred 'tyrant of antiquity. (Shame, shame, on the age, and upon those who should have silenced the slanderer!) These were the motives, (though the meaner tribes of mercenary hirelings doubt, only because they cannot appreciate them,) which gave birth to a paper, professing that, which it has conscientiously per--and which, in the face of obloquy, calumny, and artempted persecution on the part of the very hierophants of liberty and a free press, has never hesitated to combat corruption—to drug forth from their lurking places those who carried the assassin's knife under the cloak of patriotism—and to unmask hypocrisy, whether it skulked belied the Alter the Thoma or smoogat the Legislative hadthe Altar, the Throne, or amongst the Legislative body.

Whetherour zeal has outstripped our judgment, as some of our timid advocates have asserted, is a question which the public only can decide—and as it appears has decided in our favour, by a support never yet given to any journal at any time, or under any circumstances in the previous history of the press. The sale of copies, (UPWARDS OF FORE HISTORY AND ARVENUE AND ARVEN OF FOUR HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SIX THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED) in the course of one twelvementh, is altogether without example—or any thing approximating towards it. Before the fourth number had appeared our office was literally deluged with commu-nications from every part of Great Britain, many with the most distinguished and honourable signatures, confirming the effect already visible among whole masses of the community, (who had been previously corrupted) of one unvarnished and faithful account of passing events, and of the principal actors in them. The alarm was taken by the enemy, who had agreed to treat us with silence and a combined effort of the Radical and Whig Press made to overwhelm and anuihilate us. The attempt to turn their own arms against them—to dispute the palm of vituperation with those whose long practice in the vocation had not only secured, as they thought, an indisputable ascendancy, but almost assured to them the monoply were an offence which nothing could atone for short pely, was an offence which nothing could atone for, short of our absolute annihilation.

To speak truth, and shame —— their employers—to touch the holy characters of enshrined libellers, and expose the tracasseries of quacks whom they had written up pose the tracaseries of quacks whom they had written up and be-paragraphed into popular idols, was deemed an outrage infinitely more obnoxious to public justice than either "privy conspiracy or rebellion." The joint labours of the Chronicle and Hone—of the Thurs and the Hunrs, the Alphas of Whiggism and the Omegas of Radicalium room clubbed and named to consultate Radicalism, were clubbed and combined to overwhelm Convicted libellers became advocates for the purity of the press, and the veteran assassins of character denounced us, as the violaters of domestic peace. But they struggled in vain—the public compared their creed with their practice, and laughed at their hypocrisy. They viewed their legislators and their heroes, who had been raised to notice by blackening their more honourable rivals, in their true colours; and we shall be very much surprised indeed, for some years to come, at least, if their puppets, whatever their principles may do, (which are not capable of such graphic illustrations) ever recover their elevation even among the most ignorant and least discriminating portion of mankind.

To say that we have entered upon such a task con amore weapon from the grasp of such assailants; be just to our own feelings; but we may claim lue to higher motives and impulses, which could induce us to forego our natural inclinations in order to turn the dagger, aimed against all that is lovely and honourable in life, upon the miscreants who first wielded it. We have never wantonly assailed a single individual, nor have we ever drawn a female from the retirement in which she is born to dwell and to shine. But when women volus. tarily emerge from their proper station, in order to become public performers on the stage of political life, they must be prepared, like their counterparts in the Drama, to encounter and to share, with their ill-judging em-ployers, the comments and animadversions of political censors. We have had principally to do with hardened offenders; but we have spared, (as could be fully proved from the files of our correspondence) wherever we could spare, without injuring the morals, or betraying the interests of our loved country.

If we had wantened in our power, and carried our ablity to expose the frauds and intrigues of political adventurers to its fullest extent, we might indeed have self-thargeable with having soiled our pages with representations too gross for the most sensual imagination, and to have been gross for the most sensual imagination, and to have been gross for the most sensual imagination, and to have been gross for the most sensual imagination, and to have been gross for the most sensual imagination, and to have been gross for the most sensual imagination, and the least life of the particle of the sancting of the found that sophistry was at work to sancting one. We have first direction that sophistry was at work to sancting one with the first direction of that the one had no more proflected with the direction of the parties themselves dare not deal that we alone frustrated the attempt to establish a Constitution of the conceived—not merely planned; the actually bursting into existence, under very revalled inducence of party, and of fascinations the least likely incoversistible on the part of the young and thoughted have them within the vortex of this hobbe and ignific confliction.

In this exploit we comiess we do exalt; and those whose natural dependance would have desire them vulsion, barely covered beneath the surface of this artificial combination of mock liberality that seal hostility to the stabilished endance things with many contributions of the castallished endance things with many contributions. If we had wantened in our power, and carried our ablity vulsion, barely covered beneath the auroscopy to the combination of mock liberality (algorial hostility to the established order of things, will, we are sure, join with us, and then condemn us for so exulting. The scheme could have been defeated by norther means than those supplied by a free press; and yet here was no single pen to be found except our own to widd it with sincerity, or with effect. The good could be coured only by a clear exposition of the materials by which it was to be consummated, and we condescended to automize the parts, and to shew what must be the result of heir combination.

But this is not the only scheme hich our vigilance has detected, and where, in order tavoid the unnecessary exposure of knavery and duplicity we have defeated the object, by placing in the bands of the parties themselves, the documents which proved their uilt, and allowed them to retreat unperceived and unchastise—so little have we been really disposed to wanton or indisciminate severity. 🚉

We war, as we have ever professe against revolutionary and radical principles; and it is on where the agents and instruments of such, presuming un the ignorance of the world and the illusions of the pss, to usurp the seat of honour and the front of honey, to propagate them with greater effect, that we feel cled upon to sirip them. to the skin, and expose them in akheir naked deformity to the scorn and contempt of the wild.

That we should pursue these chitres, and act fairly up to our principles without dans and without injury, was neither to have been anticipan, nor altogether to be deprecated. We have no particuli satisfaction in enriching our adversaries at our own expice, or in paying a fine unprecedented in its extent, under the circumstances of the case; but we do not shift hope our duty became such things occur—we have nothings do but to submit.

But the evil does not stop here still press is rendered subservient to the ends of faction. It applied to the subversion of justice. The crimin who libels his King, blasphemes his Maker; or drags Minister through the blashemes his maker, or drags timister through the ordeal of Radical abuse, is, by process now in full vigour, separated at once from hirring; and the Jury are diverted from the horror whichight fix their attention upon the crime, by the claure and denunciations of the press against the persent light of the prosecutors. The criminal is converted to a victim, and his Peers will not lend a hand to stagted the power by which he is said to be oppressed, at the other hand, he who is the curpost of all that is housely and desirable who, in the support of all that is hourable and desirable in life, chances to fix upon an indibual, conspicuous in atrocity, and active in his endeavouto subvert or undermine the institutions of the count to illustrate its danger, or to strip hypocrisy of its disise, he is painted to the world as a Court sycophant, othe oppugner of the sacred rights and hiberties of his llow-citizens. He is delivered up, bound hand and foothe can receive no aid from those in whose cause he falls and the Judge himself is not allowed (even if he could supposed to be influenced by external circumstances)o discern between the shades of moral turpitude, or to toer his judgment with any concessions to the cause of vie.

We have still much to say, bufrom want of space, must postpone the full and expliceview of our past career, which we think necessary to due understanding between ourselves and our ress. For the present, we must be content to observehat we consider nothing done whilst any thing nains to do; — and we are sufficiently acquainted w the character of our adversaries, and of their embryslans for a new campaign, to feel no disposition to the down our arms, or retire from the field. The country be saved, must be told the truth, even though the lathemselves pronounce it to be a libel; and those Gentlen, who, still smarting under our lash, are precipitating asures of legal retalintion, may rest assured that the empt "to silence that confounded brute Bull," will pe altogether abortive and uscless. Of one thing the average especially assured, that no threats shall deter no penalty disarm or —that we would voluntarily, and for the mere pastime deter us from warring against a sym which can only be of the thing, have soiled our hands by wresting the generally designated as anti-social auti-constitutional.

OPROVINCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

BATH.—Our Corporation have presented the Earl of Liverpool with the freedom of the city, in a gold box. It was presented by W. Glark, Esq. Mayor, accompanied by a neat and appropriate address. His Lordship, on receiving it, made the following reply:

"Mr." Mayor—I receive, with pleasure, this mark of approbation of my public conduct, from so respectable a public body as the corporation of the city of Bath. If I and my colleagues have contributed to the preservation of the independence of Europe, and promoted the prosperity of this country, our best reward is the approbation of our fellow-citizens. I have frequently been at Bath, and have always observed the attention paid by this body to whatever contributes to the general welfare. I have also learnt from others, that, by a strict attention to the administration of justice, and to the police of your town, you confer great and inamediate benefits on its inhabitants and visitors; and by your example, advance the public welfare. Under the Government of this corporation, your city has been raised to a degree of wealth and importance, that entitles it to be considered the great metropolis of the west. I am happy that I have acquired the good opinion of men, who are themselves so justly esteemed; and, I assure you, Mr. Mayor, it gives me great pleasure to have my name, by the kindness of yourself and brethren, this day enrolled amonest the free citizens of the ancient and loyal city of Bath."

"Creps you.—Last week, two men at work in the grounds of St.

who are themselves as justly esteemed; and, Lassure you, Mr. who are themselves as justly esteemed; and, Lassure you, Mr. Mayor, turives me great pleasure to have my name, by the kindness of yoursell and, brethere, this day enrolled amonest, the free citizens of the ancient and loyal city of Bath. The comments of the compilers of the ancient and loyal city of Bath. The price, a being scarcely of this world, in a sort of cave, in a thick coppiee, a being scarcely of this world, in a sort of cave, in a thick coppiee, a being scarcely of this world, in a sort of cave, in a thick coppiee, a being scarcely of this world, in a sort of cave, in a thick coppiee, a being scarcely of this world, in a sort of cave, in a thick coppie, a being scarcely of this world, in a sort of cave, in a thick coppie, a being scarcely of the world in the had not been resident there more than three months. His first discoverers made a penny of their hermit, as they torned him, by exhibiting thim at two pence a public house in this bown, for some days, until his commitment to Moninouth-gool for three months by Col. Lewis, as a rogue and a vizabond.

BIRMINGRAM.—Our police, having had reason, to suspect that coining to a considerable extent was carried on by two brothers of the name of Taylor, professedly small farmers, living at Aldridge, it was determined to pay them a visit, several officers proceeded thither. Charles Taylor, the owner, and his brother John, at tempted to make ther escape through a door communicating with a cellar, upon searching which a large press and a number of discussed in coining base metal were discovered. The two men were then secured, together with the wife of Charles Taylor and a vargone-found in the house, and conveyed to our prison. The officers discovered discovered discovered to our prison. The officers discovered discovered to our prison. The officers discovered discovered to our prison. The officers discovered him had been called to the himportant of the more discovered bread of the house, and control of destroyed.

ETON.—On Saturday seenight were distributed here, tickets to 900 persons, including all the working classes, entitling each to a pound of beef, the fourth of a quartern loaf, and a pint of beer, for Christmas duner, furnished from a reserved part of the Coronation subscription.

tion subscription.
FROME. A few nights since, the new church called Christ

TROME.—A few nights since, the new church called Christ Church, was sacrilegiously entered by means of forcing the back window. The thieves got into the vestry, and after drinking several bottles of wine, stole a covering for the pulpit, of crimson velvet, edged with crimson silk fringe, a covering of crimson velvet for the communion-table, two Holland surplices, four silk hoods, and one silk scarf,—one black gown, two blue cloth cushions, a decanter, a water-croft, and two winesglasses,—a looking-glass, and about two dozen pounds of candles.

GLOUCESTER.—An explosion took place a few days since in this place, on board the Sovereign steam packet, Capt. Sandom. The captain wished to ascertain how the machinery worked, and had just given orders for her being halled off from the wharf, when the boiler exploded. One man, who was passing the engine-door at the moment, was forced overboard, after being scalded in a small degree, but was almost immediately picked up. A boy engaged about the engine, was scalded in a shocking manner, and carried to the Infirmary in a dangerous state; an eminent scientific gentlemen, at the moment, was close to the engine, observing its being put in motion. Hearing the explosion, he threw himself on the floor, and was found dreadfully scalded from his kneed downwards, and otherwise much injured.

INVERNESS.—There is a copper coin in the possession of Colonel Ross, of Nigg, of a size somewhat less than a farthing, which was found in the ruins of his old farm-offices. On one side of it the Scottish thistle is easily traced, but the impression on the other side seems difficult to ascertain. The date, however, is perfectly distinct, being 918.

Leathernead.—The beginning of last week two footpads robbed distinct, being 318.

Leathermean, hear Limpsfield, of two watches and 13s. in silver. The inhabitants immediately pursued the robbers, and made them disgorge their booty, and also about 141. besides, which it is supposed they had robbed some person of... The 141, the persons who took the men gave to the poor of the parish of Limpsfield, but suffered the thinges to gentle.

took the men gave to the poor of the parish of Limpsfield, but suffered the thieves to escape.

ROSINEY:—On Saturday se'nnight, Messrs. Donnett and Higginson, Admiralty Midshipmen, stationed at Little Stone Watchhouse, discovered a large tub-boat near the shore, which was boarded by Mr. Donnett in the bow. Mr. H. waded in the water and attempted to cut her hawser with his cutlass, in which he failed, and Mr. D.'s pistol missing fire, he was threwn overboard by the smugglers, and instantly fired upon by them: at the same time Mr. H. was struck by an oar, or butt-end of a musket, and immediately two volleys were fired upon them, when the smugglers escaped. Mr. Donnett has received three balls in the left thigh, but is likely to do well. Mr. H. is slightly wounded. Both these officers have several shots through their bats and various parts of their clothes. parts of their clothes.

IN SIX EASY LESSONS OF ONE HOUR EACH...Mr. C. BRADBURY Private Tutor at Westminater Schoo', solicits the attention at Ladies and Gentlement to his narrivalted and infallible system of beautiful PENMANSHIP; whereby he pledges himself to teach persons of all ages to write with case, elegance, and expedition, (whatever may be the deformity of their present writing) in six regular Lessons, or he will forfeit all claim to remuneration. This system, as it equally promotes the attainment of a hold and masculine hand calculated for business; and of a light and graceful manuscript adapted to Ladies, also secures to the Pupil the certainty of writing straight, without lines, with wonderful dispatch and accuracy. Upwards of two thousand specimens, and numerous recommendatory letters may be seed, and references given to persons of the first distinction, some of whom are upwards of fifty years of age. Private tuition at home. Ladies and Gentlemen attended at their own residences. A new and practical system of Short Hand, tanght in a few lessons.—Apply, (or direct, post paid) at the Academy, 164, Strand, near Charing Cross.

GUYS: BRITISH SPELLING BOOK.

home. Ladies and Gentlemenattended at their own residences. A new and practical system of Short Hand, tanght in a few lessons.—Apply, (or direct, post paid) at the Academy, 464, Strand, near Charing Gross.

GUYS. HRITISH SPELLING BOOK.

Just published, price ls. 6d. the Twenty-first Edition of the New BRITISH SPELLING BOOK; or, an Introduction to Spelling and Reading: in Seven Parts, with the Tables of Words divided and accented according to the purest modes of Pronucistlen.

By JOSEPH GUY, formerly Professor of Geography, at the Royal Military College, Great Marlow.

"Mr. Guy seems perfectly to anderstand the powers and nature of the infant mind, and the best means of enabling it to comprehend the value of letters, syllables, and words, with their relation to things. He has had experience in teaching, has reasoned on his experience, and evinced his knowledge in arranging this Spelling Book. We have compared it with Mavors, and several other generally esteemed first books for children, and found it almost in every particular more simple, more congenial with the language and powers of the young mind, and better adapted for instruction, than any other work of its kind. The spelling and rending lessons are placed on opposite pages, and the selection of the latter is such as must natiquely expand the smind and improve the morals of children. "Anti Jacobin Rec.

London: Printed for Buldwin, Cradock, and Joy, Paternoster-row; and G. and W. B., Whittaker, Ave Maria lane; by whom also are published, the following popular works of the same Author.

2. NEW BRITISH PRIMER, with oumerous Cuts, Price 6d.

3. NEW BRITISH PRIMER, with oumerous Cuts, Price 6d.

5. The SCHOOL CYPHERING BOOK for BEGINNERS, on fine writing paper, 4to. New Edition, price 3s. 6d. half bound.—* A KRY to the Sums, price 6d.

5. The SCHOOL GEOGRAPHY, with seven Maps, Eighth Edition, price 3s. bound in red.—* A GEOGRAPHICAL KEY to the Problems and Questions, is. 6d.

7. CHART of GENERAL HISTORY, Ancient and Modern, price 7s. coloured. On canvas and rol bound.

10. The NEW LATIN PRIMER, price 2s. bound.

11. NEW EXERCISES in ORTHOGRAPHY, price 1s. bound.

11. NEW EXERCISES in ORTHOGRAPHY, price 1s. bound.

GREEK PROSODY.

Just published, in 8vo. price 6s. boards,

LEMENTS of GREEK PROSODY and METRES, complete from the best Authorities, Ancient and Modern. By THOMAS Landay. Printed for the best Authorities, Ancient and Modern. on; Printed for Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy; by whom also is pub-

Haned, price 4s.

2. A GREEK and ENGLISH MANUAL LEXICON to the NEW TESTAMENT, with examples of irregular inflections, &c.—By J. H. BASS

NEW EDITION of LEVIZAC'S FRENCH DICTIONARY.

Just published, in 12mo, price 10s, 6d, bound, the Second Edition of FRENCH and ENGLISH and ENGLISH and FRENCH DICTIONARY. By M. DE LEVIZAC, Author of the Practical frammar of the French Language, &c. &c. thoroughly revised and improved; the two Parts carefully collated, with the indication of all the irregularities of the French Pronunciation; by C. 6ROS.

London: Printed for Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, Paternoster-row; G. and W. B. Whittaker, Ave Maria lane; and Dulan and Co. Soho-square.

If This Edition has been carefully revised by the Dictionnaire de l'Academie, has received considerable Adultions, and contains a greater number of Words than any other School Dictionary of the French Language, though exceeding it in bulk and size.

HOLIDAY BOOKS FOR CHILDREN.

Published by Baldwin, Cradock, and toy, London.

1. IVES of EMINENT MEN, with Portraits, price 2s. 6d.

2. E-OP in RHYME, with some Originals.—By JEFFERYS TAYLOR, Ongar. 12mo, price 4s. neatly half bound, with an Engraving to each Pable.

oach Fable.

3. HARRY'S HOLIDAY; or, the Doings of One who had Nothing to do.

Second Edition, 18mo, price 2s, 6d, half bound. By the same Author,

4. RALPH RICHARDS, the Miser, 18mo, 2s, 6d, half bound. By the san Author.

5. NATURAL HISTORY for CHILDREN; being a familiar Account of the most remarkable Quadrupeds, Birds, Insects, Pishes, and Reptiles, Trees, and Piants. In five Pocket Yolumes, with Plates and numerous Cuts. Price 10s. 6d. nearly half bound.—N. B. The volumes of this work may be had separately, price 2s. 6d. each, nearly half bound.

6. A SHORT HISTORY of FRANCE; including the principal Events, from the Foundation of the Empire by Pharamond to the Restoration of Louis XVIII.—By Mrs. MOORE; in 2 vols. Illustrated with 32 Plates, printed uniformly with the long-esteemed Works of Mrs. Trimmer. Price 8s. bound in red.

rately, price 2s. 5d. each. neatly half bound.
6. A SHORT HISTORY of FRANCE: including the principal Events, from the Foundation of, the Empire by Pharamoud to the Restoration of Louis XVIII.—By Mrs. MODRE; in 2 vols. Illustrated with 32 Plates, printed uniformly with the long-selectmed Works of Mrs. Trimmer. Price 8s. bound in red.
7. LESSONS of LOVE, or Family Instruction. Written by a Mother for her Children. 2s. 6d. half bound.
8. EVENINGS at HOME; or, the Juvenile Budget spened; consisting of a variety of Miscellaneous Pleeces for the Instruction and Amusement of Young Persons. By Dr. Atkin and Mrs. BARBAULD. Twelfth Edition. In 6 vols, pince 10s. 6d. half bound.
9. The WOODLAND COMPANION; or, a brief Description of British Trees, with some Account of their Uses—By Dr. Alkin. Third Edition, illustrated by 25 Plates, 9s. neatly half bound.
10. ARTS of 1.17E:—1. Of Previding Food; 2. Of Providing Clothing; 3. Of Praviding Sleiter:—described in a Series of Letters, for the Instruction of Young Persons. Third Edition, half bound, 2s. 6d. By the same Author. 14. NATURAL, HISTORY of the Year, being an Enlargement of the Calendar of Nature. By Mr. A. Alkin. Fourth Edition, 12m 3s. boards.
12. JU. ENLLE CORRESPONDENCE, or Letters designed as Examples of the Epistolary Style, for Children of beth Sexes. By Miss Alkin. Second Edition, 18mo. half bound, 2s.6d.
13. A COMPENDIUM of ZOOLOGY; being a Description of more than 360 Animals; Confirmed by actual and personal Observations, with original Remarks, and interesting Quotations from Acident and Modern Authors; to which is subjoined an Appendix, on Allegorical and, Fabulous Animals. A new Edition, carefully revised and corpected. In 12mo, price 5s. 6d. bound.
13. A COUNES of the Conquest of Mexico: as related by a Father to his Children, and designed for the instruction of Youth. Translated from the German of J. H. CAMPE, by ELAZ. HELME. A new Edition, with a Map, price 5s. 6d. bound.
15. CDI-UMBUS; or, the Conquest of Pern. By the same Author. 12mo. with a Map, pric considered as the best book for Schools of any that has been written on the same subjects.

19. The FIRST PRINCIPLES of RELIGION, and the Existence of a Deitycexplained in a Scries of Dialogues, adapted to the capacity of the Iriant Mind. By M. P. Price 2s half bound.

20. DIALOGUES and LETTERS on Morality, Economy, and Politeness, for the improvement and entertainment of Young Female Minds. By the same Author. In 3 vols. price 6s.

21. A FATHER'S ADVICE to HIS SON, written chiefly for the perusal of Young Gentlemen. By the same Author, halfbound, 2s.

22. SACRED HISTORIES, or Insulated Bible Stories, extracted from the Old and New Testament, in the words of the original, and printed in a large type far the use of Children. By WILLIAM SCOLFIELD, in 2 vols. price 4s. halfbound.

22. ESSAYS on the PRIVATE MANNERS and DOMESTIC INSTI-price 4s. half bound.

23. ESSAYS on the PRIVATE MANNERS and DOMESTIC INSTITUTIONS of the ROMANS. In 12mo. Price 7s.
24. ESSAYS on the INSTITUTIONS, GOVERNMENT, and MANNERS of the STATES of ANCIENT GREECE. By H. D. HILL, D.D.
Professor of Greek in the University of St. Andrew's. In 12me. Price 7s. with a copions ladex.

HARFDALE, YORKSHIRE.—To be LET, furnished or infurnished, ARTHINGTON HALL, with the Offices, Gardens, Hothouses, and Fish Ponds, and about Forty Arres of superior Meadow and Pasture Land. The occupier will have the privilege of shooting over the extensive and well preserved Manors of Arthington and Addle, as well as of fishing in the River Wharfe, adjoining the Property, and he will be in the immediate richity of Lord Harewood's Fox Hounds, Arthington heing only two miles distant from Harewood.—Apply to Mr. Smith, Solieltor, in Ofley.

distait from Harewood.—Apply to Mr. Smith, Solicitor, in Oiley.

MPROVED SPECTACLES, AT REDUCED PRICES.—
GEORGE SCOTT, Optician, Ac. 4, Butcherhall-lane, Newgate-street invites the Bublic inspection to his extensive and superior ASCORTMENT of SPECTACLES, with clear well selected Pebbles and Glasses. Also his coloured Glasses, so much approved and recommended by the Paculty, for the aid and protection of the eye from the force of light, wind, dust, &c.

N.B. Optical and Mathematical last naments, wholesale and retail

ASE and COMFORT in SHAVING. To those Gentlemen who ASE, and COMPONT IN SHAVING. To those Gentlemen who is a consequence in convenience in Shaving from a leuder face or strong beard, J. T. RIGGE most particularly recommends his celebrated MAGNETIC RAZOR TABLET, which, with its late improvement, he engages will produce so keen an edge as to superscale all grinding, honing, &c. and render he operation of shaving as easy and agreeable as it was before unpleasant and painful. Its use is simple, its effect certain; price 7s. 6d. J. T. Rigge's Aromatic Shaving Soap will also be found an invaluable addition. Manafactory, 65, Cheapside, and 52, Park-street, Grosvenor-square factory, 66, Cheapside, and 52, Park-street, Grosvenor-equare

NOR THE TEETH.—A DENTIFRICE, which, although it has not the absurd pretensions of "generating enumel," or "converting the gums to coral," will be found to possess every requisite that can reasonably be expected —Also a TINCTURE that is warranted to afford relief in all cases, and in most will permanently remove the TOOTH ACHE. These articles are parfectly innocent in their composition, and pleasant in their application, being the result of many years actual practice.—Prepared by J. GRAY. Surgeon and Dentist, No. 25, Old Burlington-street, London, price 2s, 9d, and 4s, 6d, each bottle of Tincture, and 3s, each box of Bentifrice.
May also be had of Mr. Johnston, 6S, Cornhill; Mr. Sanuder, 95, 8t. James's street, Brighton; at Mr. Williams's Library, Cheltenham; and of Mrs. Goald, M. Milson-street, Bath, &c. &c. &c.

R. REBERGY ALL TEETH, on an unprecedented principle.—Mr.

A Milsom-street, Bath, &c. &c. &c.

RTIFICIAL TEETH, on an unprecedented principle,—Mr. GRAY, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, in London, continuous to supply the loss of Teeth, on the successful system introduced by him in 1813, which has been found to answer all the purposes of the human Teeth, in mastication, articulation, appearance, &c., and remain perfectly secure in their places by the pressure of the atmosphere; thereby aviding pinning fo stumps, tying, twisting wires, or fastening springs to the adjoining Teeth, or any attachment schatter to the remaining teeth; and consequently, instead of injuring afford them support. These artificial teeth may be taken out, and replaced by the wearer with the great'st facility. Mr. Gray simprovements enable him to supply whole or half sets, without the spiral springs, which are usually attached to such pieces.—25, Old Burlington-street.

Ington-street.

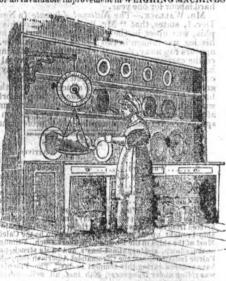

DATENT ECONOMICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP.—It contemplating the lives and property that have been sacrificed to the use of candles, it is natural to conclude, that it has either been found difficult to invent a complete substitute, or that it has either been found difficult to invent a complete substitute, or that it is importance has escaped observation, and it is not a trifling gratification to the Patentee, that, in this invention he has so far succeeded in the at emphas to produce a fight that embraces every perfection, and is alike applicable to every domestic use, and can be so regulated as to suit every occasion. Its safety is such that no person on seeing it can doubt for a moment its security against danger of fire, and, bearing any motion without agitating the flame, renders it highly valuable as a moving light. As a Chamber or Night Light, it can be regulated to burn the longest or shortest light, giving a never failing brilliant flame, ready at the moment it is wanted, disappearing in the morning without smoke or smell, superseding the Bed Candle, and, in its general use, a preserver of the carpets from tallow or wax; the price, in neat Japan Stands, los, and in bronze, 15s. to 20s. The same principle applies, and the Lamps equally portable, on pedestals, varying in size and elegance, for the dining table, sideboard, study, bracket, door, or fan light, &e.; and also Glass Grecian Hanging Lamps, for the hall, staircase, passages, conservatory drawing-room, mantleylees, lustres, &e.; and for the accommodation of those who have square, vase, or other hall anthorns, the burners of which are so universally complained of for the oil they consume, and the insufferable smoke and smell they emit, the Patentee, in compliance with the request of many, now applies this principle to such, with all its advantages, at 12s. to 14s. each. Families in the country, who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity, have only to send the exact size of the aperture at the bottom of the lanthorn in which the bu DATENT ECONOMICAL and UNIVERSAL LAMP.—It prompt attention.

LAGOR. THE FACE, NECK, and ARMS...-The Ladies are as used that all the cosmetics ever yet discovered do not possess, in an innored the degree, the good qualities of PRICE and GOSNELL'S PATENT NAPLES CREAM, as a beautifier and clearer of the skin. Sunburs, pimples, freekles, ringworms, tetters, spots, fan, reduces of the nose, excare often peculiar to tender and delicate complexions; by the regular application of the Patent Napies Cream once a day, or twice or thrice in a week, the skin and fluids are gradually cleansed and cooled, and assume that clear and transparent white and red, which denote them is a healthful state. Its innocent, efficacious, and refreshing qual'ies render it an excellent and salutary wash for infants, as it keeps the skin soft, cool, and free from dryness. Soid in London only by the Patenties, Price and Gosnell, Perfumers to his Majesty, 12, Three King.court, Lombard street. Price 5s, and 10s, perbottle. Also, Price and Gosnell's Rose Bloom, for beautifying the countenance, is the best and most innocent cosmetic yet known in the world, and which imparts such a natural and lively bloom to the skin, as cannet be distinguished from nature. Price 5s, 6d, per hottle, with directions for use.

MARRIOTT having obtained His Majesty's Royal Letters
Patent, for an invaluable improvement in WEIGHING MACHINES, begs eave to recommend tuem to the Public, as the most perfect & useful articles most per series in series and particle for that par pose ever constructed for accuracy, simplicity, expedition. & portability its stands unrivalled, as it instantaneously shews the exact weight of any article, from one oz. to a Ton, willhout the use of weights, there by saving lime, and labour. Being perfect ly portable, it may be used in any situamay be used in any si ua-tion its uni-versal utility must there-fore be unde-niable for Do-fore he undeniable for Domestle purposes; in Shops, Warehouses, Coach-ofices, Market-houses, Barns, on Whatfs, at Races and Fairs, for Cattle, Corn, Hay, &c. or for loading heavy Articles; it may be attached to the chain of a Crane, and skew the weight at the time of craning; it is also peculiarly well adapted for the Foreign Markets. From its extreme simplicity, it is scarcely possible to be inaccurate; yet if it ever should be so, there is an adjusting Screw, which will instantly correct it.

H. MARIKIOTT having also made considerable improvements in his PATENT KITCHEN COOKING APPARATUS, feels a confidence in recommending it to the Public, as a most complete Article for Roasting Baking, Boiling, and Steaming, with ceonomy in fuel, by one moderatesized file, and with a constant supply of from Twelve to Twenty Gallons of Hot Water; also Warm Closets for alring Linen, keeping Dinner hot, heating Plates, Dishes, &c.; the Cooking Utensils are never soiled, and it is a positive Cure for a Smokey-Chimney. Kitchens fitted up with Steam Apparatus, embracing all the lare improvements: also Baths, Conservatories, Halls, Staircases, and Buildings, heated by Steam, upon a principle of perfect security, and equal diffusion of heat.—An improved Patent Spring
Roassing Jack, to obviate the necessity of weighta or pullies.—The whole may be seen daily in use at the Patentee's Manufactory, 64, Fleet-street, London; or had of most of the respectable frommongers throughout Engbond. "N it. Smakey Chimnies cured on philosophical principles."

ACCIDENTS, OFFENCES, &c.

In the afternoon of Tuesday, three young men, and three young females, hired a skiff of a boat-builder, near Strand-lane. On the skiff passing under Waterloo-bridge, the tide carried it on the Surrey side of the River, near the Old Barge-house, and the boat was dashed with great force under the barges heads. The cries of the party were heard, and Geo. Heath, sen. and Robert Creber, a Thames Police Officer, took a boat and went to their assistance. Fortunately they saved four of the party; a young man, and one of the females, to whom he paid his addresses, had sunk to rise no more.

of the females, to whom he paid his addresses, had sunk to rise no more.

On Sunday morning, soon after ten o'clock, the Light-house at Dungeness was struck on the north-west side by lightning. The electric fluid split the tower down to the first floor, in which Mr. Adams, the light keeper, with his wife and four children, James Smith, his assistant, and Elizabeth Walk, a servant, were assembled at their devotion: the sashes and frames, doors and door-posts were torn out, a looking-glass shivered to atoms, and the furniture thrown in all directions. An infant of three or four months old, which was asleep in the second floor, was found surrounded by the bricks and rubbish forced from the building, but happily it had sustained no injury. The fluid entered the roof of a wash-house just by, split a stone sink, and finally expended itself in the earth, tearing up the pavement.

tearing up the pavement.

On Tuesday last, Mrs. Rougemont, of Clapton, accompanied by a son and two daughters, went to spend Christmas-eve with Mr. Hobson, of Kingsland. They returned about two in the morning, when the coachman lost his command of the horses at Stamford.

on Tuesday last, Mrs. Rougemont, of Clapton, accompanied by a son and two daughters, went to spend Christmas-eve with Mr Hoboon, of Kingsland. They returned about two in the morning, when the coachman lost his command of the horses at Stamford-hill, and they ran against a lamp-post, the carriage was thrown over and dashed to pieces. Mrs. R. was dereaftilly cut by the broken glass. The son and young ladies fortunately escaped with slight bruises, the coachman was much injured.

On Monday T. Harrett, a milkman, in Clerkenvell, was found hanging in his cellar. He was formerly a fishmonger in Oxfordwreet, but losses in trade had reduced him. Verdict of the Coroner's Jury—" Insanity."

An inquest was held on Wednesday last, in the King's Bench Prison, before R. Gude, Esq. Ceroner for the said place, on the body of Mr. W. Marshall, formerly a shipping-agent, in the employ of Messra. Reymer and M'Taggert, merchants. It appeared that the deceased fell from a bridge near Limebouse, seven weeks since, and injured his knee; a few days after which, he was arrested, and conveyed to the King's Bench. Mr. White, a medical gentleman, examined by the Coroner, and who had been unremitting in his attention on the deceased, thought the injury on the knee was the cause of his ceath; and the Jury, in consequence, gave their verdict accordingly.

The King has granted a free pardon to Mary Troop, P. O'Egan, T. Evans, Gaunt, Armstrong, and Pott, who, together with Tipper, was capitally convicted the Sessions before last for a forgery on Williams and Co. of Birchin-lane. The prisoners were discharged on Tuesday. The Royal elemency has also been fully extended the John Jacobs; a commutation of his punishment to three months imprisonment has been received at Newgate.

On Thursday night, as Michael Convay, employed on board a vessel, in the London Docks, was walking the decks, a sudden gust of wind blew him into the water, and he was drowned.—He may be a subject of the weather.—At the Croven Head, Drury-lane, on the body of an animal man a to assist it, burned itself dreadfully, and was so much injured that it shortly after died.

A woman named Mary Ann King, who was delivered of an illegitimate child in St. Mary's parish, Nottingham, in September last, not being a parishioner, and having, to avoid being removed to her place of settlement, when with child, practised various deceptive arts, and eluded the vigilance of the parish agents, was committed, as a lewd woman, to the House of Correction, to be there kept to hard labour for one year.

Mr. Wallack.—The Nutional Advecute (a New York Paper) of Dec. 1, states, that "Mr. Wallack, being on his way to Philadel phia, was upset in the stage near Brunswick, by which accident his leg was broken in two places below the knee. The horses, it appears ran away, down the hill, near New Brunswick, and dashed the carriage to pieces on the bridge. Several passengers were injured likewise."—The London papers of Friday says—"The account of the accident extracted from the New York papers, is greatly exaggerated. Mr. Wallack has had the misfortune to break his leg, but not in two places. The report of the surgeon was highly favourable when the last accounts came off (two days after the accident), and there was every reason to anticipate a speedy recovery and resumption of his professional pursuits."

SHIP NEWS.
Arrived	Mells	Due	Arrived	Maile	Due
1	Dublin	—		.Malta
3	Waterford		1	France	—
	Guernsey & J.			Hamburgi
1	Holland			Flanders .
	Gottenburgh.	2		Jamaica.
				Resella

DEAL, Dec. 28. Wind S.S.E. It has blown a tremendous gale of wind from the S.S.E. great part of the day, and still continues. A ship and brig arrived from the westward; the brig went to Ramagate harbour, and the ship brought up in the Downs, supposed to be the Caledonia from Bengal. Most of the ships in the Downs have drove much, although riding with two anchors down, and topgallant-masts and yards struck, particularly the Wm. have suffered during this tempest to-day. The Phoenix, for N.S. Wales, was riding under Dungeness, 26th inst. all well.—Seven o'clock, wind S.

more moderate.

ILFRACOMBE, Dec. 27. Passed up Channel the Albion, Price, from Gibraltar; she passed a large quantity of bulk and deals on the 25th lust.

PORTSMOUTH, Dec. 28. Whith S. It has blown hard all day from the
S. E. and S. and no communication has been had with the ships. The Bilen, Bartou, and Belle Alliance, Rulfe, have drove, but the whole of the vessels

S. E. and S. and no communication has been had with the ships. The Ellen, Bartou, and Belle Alliance, Rolfe, have drove, but the whole of the vessels appear to be riding in safety.

HARWICH, Dec. 28. Arrived the Sarah, Bell, for Shields, with loss of anchor and cable, and the pauls of the windlass upset; Margery, Biggs, from St. Peterburgh for London, with loss of anchor and cable; she salied on 23d inst. and has experienced dreadful weather. Several other vessels have come in, with loss of anchors and cables, but it blows too hard for any boat to go off. Arrived the Prince of Orange packet from Holland, and Lord Nelson ditto from Cuxhaven, both with Malle

DOVER, Dec. 28. It has blown a strong gale last night and to-day. At 1 P.M. the wind shifted from S.S.W. to S.R. and blew a tremendous storm, with rain, until 4, when it shifted to the S.W. and more moderate.

MARGATE, Dec. 28. The fris, which arrived yesterday, reported she saw a large ship working up the Swin vesterday, and from her description some hopes are entertained that it may have been the Juliana. A large ship parted from her anchor, but has brought up again.

YARMOUTH, Dec. 28. The St. Loule, Gondin, from Rocheford for Havre, was towed in here yesterday with loss of mizen-mast, foretop-mast, and bowapht, and otherwise much dama_ed; the must discharge. A collier from Newcastle to Jersey, with bottles and roals, has come on shore on the back of the Pler, she is the Industry, Dubols.

KELLY'S BOOK-KEPING .- NEW EDITION.

RELLY'S BOOK-KEPING.—NEW EDITION.

Just published, 8vc. price 7a. bound,

System of Merchants' Accounts, founded on real Business, and adapted to Modern Fractice. With an Appendix on Exchanges, Banking, and other Commercial Subjects, By P. KELLY, L.D. Master of the Finabury square Academy. The Seventh Edition, augmented and improved. London: Printed for Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy. Paternoster-raw; and R. Hunter, St. Paul's Church-yard; of whom may also be had,

3. RULED BOOKS, on the beat Writing Paper, adapted to the above Work, viz. for the second Set, a Waste-Book, Journal, and Ledger; price 5s.; amd for the third set, a Waste Book. Journal, and Ledger; with subsidiary Books, namely, a Cash-Book, Bill-book, Invoice-book, and Sales-book; price 18. 8d.

In the Press, and will be published with all convenient dispatch, an improved Edition, being the Fifth, of

3. AN INTRODUCTION to SPHERICAL and HAUTICAL ASTRONOMY, by the same Author.

NEW EDITION OF GOODAGE 2012.

NOMY, by the same Antaor.

NEW EDITION OF GOODACRE'S ARITHMETIC.

Just published, the Sixth Edition, with considerable Additions and Improvements, price 4a. bound,

A RITHMETIC; adapted to different Classes of Learners, but the use of large Schools. In Three Parts. KITHMETIU; adapted to different Classes of Learners, but more particularly to the use of large Schools. In Three Parts. Arranged in a new Manner, and enlivened with numerous original Examples on interesting Subjects. With an Appendix, containing Pive Classes of Recapitulatory Exercises. By R. GOODACRIS, Master of Standard-hill Academy, Nottingham.

Londyn: Printed for Baldwip, Cradock, and Joy; Longman and Co.; O. and W. B. Whittaker; and R. Saunders. By whom also are published, by the same Author.

G. and W. B. W. Intersect; and S. Camberry.

2. A KEY to the above, corrected for this. Third Edition, 5s. 6d. bound.

3. A TREATISE on BOOK-KEEPING, adapted to the Use of Schoole containing two Sets of Books by Single Entry, one by Double Entry, and two Outline Sets to be filled up by either Method. To which is added, familiar Dissertation on the various Bilis and Notes used in Commerce at Substitutes for Cash. Second Edition, greatly improved, price 4s, bound.

DOMESTIC MANNERS and INSTITUTIONS of ROME and GREECE

Just published, by Baldwin, Cradeek, and Joy, 19mo, price 7s.

KETCHES of the MANNERS and INSTITUTIONS of the ROMANS.

"a It securred to the Author, that a comeise account of the state of seciety in Ancient Rome, clothed in plain language, divested, as far as pussible, of Latinterms, and pruned of all subjects which offend against delicacy, could not fail to be serviceable to young persons of both sexes, who are completing their education, and might, perhaps, not prove unacceptable to some of riper years.

ing their education, and might, pernaps, near provening the best sources. By "Carefully and judiciously compiled from a variety of the best sources, there are few books of the kind which we could recommend to be put into the hands of young persons with greater satisfaction than this little volume. Its contents embrace, we think every subject of importance connected with Roman society, and all that may be worth knowing of the domestic affairs of a nation essentially warlike, and (sempared with modern civilization) barrous, is to be gathered from this publication in a pleasing form—Literary Gazette

Gazette

2. BSSAYS on the INSTITUTIONS, GOVERNMENT, and MANNERS of the STATES of ANCIENT GREECE; by HENRY DAVID HILL, D.D. Professor of Greek in the University of St. Andrew's. 12mo. price 7s. with a "To wonter parameter."

Professor of Greek in she University of Ft. Andrew's. 12mo. price 7s. with a copious Index.

"To young persons who are just entering upon the higher classics, and to studious men who are desirous of repairing, by their own industry. the accidental defects of an imperfect education, a more useful assistant, we think, cannot be well furnished. In the first six-Ressay, the author treats of the heroic age, and those institutions which concerned the tirecks generally; in the subsequent ones he confines himself to the manners and customs of those two leading states in Greece. An Essay on the Government, Manners, and Religion of the Persians, a people whose the more brilliant history of the Greeks has been suffered to throw too much into obscurity, very properly concludes the work. The style throughout is neat, easy, and perspleuous; the text (as we always wish to see it in elementary works) is undisturbed by notes; but at the end of every Essay is subjoined a list of authorities, confirming the opinion which the author has advanced in it, and affording references to works in which the subject of each Essay may be still further prosecuted."—Quarterly Receiss, No. 43.

SCHOOL SPRAKER.

Just published, in 12mo, price 4s. 6d. bound, consisting of, I. Moral and Instructive Essays; II. Narrative and Pathelic Pleces; III. Dialogues Conversational and Dramatic; IV. Orations and Harangues; V. Bjistles Ancient and Modern: VI. Miscellancous Pieces; VII. Select Partical Varieties. The which are prefixed, a Short System of Rhetoric, and an Essay on Bunnelation of Delivery. 4th Edition, By WILLIAM MAVOR, LL.D.

THE NEW SPEAKER; or, ENGLISH CLASS-BOOK:

London: Printed for Baldwin, Cradock, sud, Pay; Seatcherd and Leiterman; Longuna and Co.; Harvy and, Surgaria; Lackingtun and Co.; Wm. Baynes; G. and W.B. Whittaker; Bidwires and Co.; and J. Souter.

BOOKS LATELY PRINTED for the UNIVERSITY of OKFORD, At the Clarendon Press: sold by J. Parker, Oxford, and by Meests Payne Beynes; G. and W.B. Whittaker; Edirects and Co.; and J. Souter.

BOOKS LATELY PRINTED for the UNIVERSITY of OXFORD,
At the Clarendon Press; sold by J. Parker, Oxford, and by Meesra Payne and Foss, Pall Mail, Lendon, at the following prices in sheets:

URIPIDIS BACCHÆ. Recensuit et illustravit P. Elmsley,
J. M. 1821. Sr. 6s.

2. HOMERI ILIAS, eum brevi Annotatione, surante C. G. Heyne. Acredunt Scholia minora passim emendata, 2 vols. 1831. 149

3. LONGINUS, eum Notis Toupii, Ruhnkenli, Weiskil, &c. 8vo. 1830.
10a. 6d.

MONT. 8vo. 1821. 7s.
21. ALLIX'S HISTORY of the CHURCHES of the ALBIGENSIS.

1821. 69. 6d. BARROW'S (Dr. ISAAC) THEOLOGICAL WORKS. 6 vols. 8vo 1918. 21.17.
23. BURNETS HISTORY of the REFORMATION. 6 vols. royal Svo-1916. 21.30.

1816. 31.3a.
24. COTTON'S LIST of EDITIONS of the BIBLE, &c. 8vo. 7s.
25. EENNETT'S PAROCHIAL ANTIQUITIES. 2 vols. 4to. 1818. 6L.
26. LEWIS'S LIFE of JOHN WICLIF, D.D. new edition, corrected and colarged by the Author. Portrait. 8vo. 1820. 10s.
27. LEWIS'S LIFE of BP. PECOCK, being a Sequel to the Life of willing and 1820. 6g.

Wielif, Svo. 1820. 6s.
22. STRYPE'S LIPB and ACTS of BISHOP AYLMER. Purtrait.

29. STRYPE'S LIFE of SIR THOMAS SMITH, Kt. B.C.L. a new Bdifton, with Corrections and Additions by the Author. Portrait. 1820.

So. 7s. 6d.

So. STRYPE'S LFE and ACTS of ARCHBISHOP GRINDAL. Por-SO. STRYPE'S LFE and AUIS OF ALL AUIS OF A

33. PEARSON'S (BP.) EXPOSITION of the CREED. Portrait. 2 vols

Svo. 1820. 15e.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—MONDAY, Dec. 31, 1821, and every Evening during the Holidays, will be presented (34th time) LIFE IN LONDON. Corinthlan Tom, by an Amateur of Fashiou, his second appearance in London; Jorry, Mr. Oxberry.—After which, TAO IN TRIBULATION. Tag, Mr. Tayleure; Little Pickle, Miss Healey.—To conclude with (first time) an entirely new Confe Pantomime, called HARLEQUIN TATTER D and TORN; or, The HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT. In the course of the Pantomime there will be a grand d'éplay of New Scenary.

New Scenery.

A DELPHI THEATRE, STRAND,—TO-MORROW, Dec31, 1921, and during the Week, will be presented, for the 28th time, an entirely new Extravaganza Burletta, called TOM and JERRY; or, LIFE
IN LONDON. After which, for the fourth time, an entirely new Grand Comic Pantomime, called BEAUTY and the BEAST; or, HARLEQUIN and the MAGIC ROSE, Gambide Bellowahead, (afterwards Clonw) Signor Paulo; Alfred, (afterwards Harlequin) Mr. W. Kirky.

MODERN AND ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY. MODERN AND ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY:
Just published, in 12mo, price 4a, hound, SYSTEM of MODERN and ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY with a Series of Geographical Examinations. By JOHN HOLLANS, of Manchester. The Sixth Edition, very much improved, with a new Map of Canals and Rivers, and a Map of the Ancient World.
London: Printed for Baldwin, Cradock, and Joy, Paternoster row; by whom also are, published of the same Author,
2. ESSAYS on ANCIENT HISTORY; particularly the Jewish, Assyrian, Persian, Grecian, and Roman; with Examinations, for the use of Young Fersons. A New Edition, with extensive Alterations and Additions.
12mo, price 6a, bound.
3. EXERCISES for the MEMORY and UNDERSTANDING, with Series of Examinations. Fourth Edition, consisting of Pables and Narrative, Selections from Natural and Civil History, and Moral and Religious Extracts, in Prose and Verse. 12mo, price 5a, 6d.

BNGLISH SYNONYMBS.

Just published, in Sto. the Second Edition, greatly cularged and corrected, price 11. is. boards.

NGLISH SYNONYMES EXPLAINED; in Alphabetical Order, with copious illustrations and Enamples drawn from the best Writers. By GEORGE CRABB, of Magdalen Hall, Oxford.

"It is to be wished that some such work as the Abbe Girard's Synenymes Francoises were undertaken for our tengue. Nothing would contribute more to concise and elegant writing."—Behr's Loctures.

London: Printed for Baldwin, Cradeck, and Joy, Paternoster-row; and T. Boosey and Sans, Broad-street.

HOLIDAY PRESENTS.—NEW AND USEFUL BOOKS,
Published by Swisborne and Watter, Coichester: and Baldwin, Credeck.

1. UVENILE POEMS, a Sequel to 'Original Poems.' Price
1. St. od. neatly haif bound, with Frintisplece.
2. TWILIGHT HOURS IMPROVED: or, a Visit to Grandmamma.
Price 2s. neatly half bound, with Frintisplece.
3. AFFECTION'S GIFTS to 4 BELOYED GODUHILD. Second Edition.
Price 4s. 6th heards.

3. AFFECTION'S GIF'S to a BELOVED GODCHILD. Second Edition. Price 4a, 6d, beards.
4. The SCIENTIFIC MONITOR. Price 2a, 6d, half beand.
BY "This is one of the performances for youth which demand unqualised praise,"—New Monthly Mag.
5. The SCHOLAR'S REMEMBRANCER; centaining Tables Arithmetical, Chronological, Biographical, &o.&c. Second Edition, price is.
In a few days, in foolscap Sto. with a Frontispiece, price 4c. boards,
6. The FLATTERER; or, FALSE FRIENDSHIP. A Tate.
"Distruct flatterers and cherish truth; for truth can point out errors, and check that vanity by which we are seduced or misled."
7. TO-MORROW: a Tale. Price 2a, neatly half bound, with Frontispiece

LONDON MARKETS.

CORN EXCHANGE, FRIDAY, Dec. 28.

CORN EXCHANGE, FREDAY, Dec. 28.

The wind still continuing unfavourable, the supply of all Grain this week has been particularly small; and the few samples of Wheat which came to hand sell readily at an advance. Barley also meets a better sale; and Beans and Pease fully support Monday's prices. Our market is so very barely supplied with Oats at present, that good fresh corn readily commands rather better prices. In other articles there is no alteration to notice.

RETURN PRICE of GRAIN, on board Ship, so bader.

Resex Red Wheat (new)35s. 40s.	Maula
F186	White ditto ou and
Old	Rollers
DANCK VV BITC (DCW)	Himail Revine
F 100	OM
311 pernae	Tick Respersions 190 man
1710	Old the ora
KY0	Frank On to 14-19-
maries	Fina
Fine	Poland ditta 10, 10,
30 Dernae	Filtra
(441)	Patatos ditto
FIGO	Fine
Hog Pense

THE GENERAL AVERAGE PRICES of BRITISH CORN, as received weekly from the Inspectors in the Maritime Cities and Towns in England and Wales, according to the Questie of the 29th of December, calculated as follows:

GREEL AVERAGE WHICH STEENS INFORTATION. Wheat, 46s 8d -- Barley, 20s 10d -- Oats, 17s 7d -- Rye, 21s 3d -- Beane, 22s 10d.
Pease, 26s 10d.

PRICES OF GOL	D AND SILVER.
Portugal Gold, in Coin 9 0 0 p. es. Foreign Gold in Bare 3 17 161 New Doubloons 0 0 0	New Dollars Silver in Bars B' New Louis, each
. COURSE OF EXCH.	ANGBPRIDAY
Amsterdam 12 11 C.F.  Ditto at Sight 12 8 Rotterdam 12 12 Antwerp 12 7 Hamburgh 37 6 Altona 27 7 Paris, 3 days Sight 25 60 Ditto 25 98 Bordeaux 25 99 Frankfort on Main 156 Petersburg 2 U Vienna 16 17 Bos. 45	Trieste

COMMERCIAL REPORT, PROM THE 22D TO THE 29TH DECEMBER.

The Market for Colonial Produce being closed the whole of this week, no alteration of prices can be named. By private contract, however, considerable purchases are reported to have been made at the full of last week's prices. In Cotton the private sales are said to be at reduced prices. The Rum Market continues firm, and many buyers have been observed in the Market to purchase at a shade under the present currency, but the holders will not give way, and few parcels are pressed on the Market. Brandy is rather firmer, and begins to look more favourably. The prices of Tallow continue at our last quotations, say 44s. and but few contracts have been made in consequence of the expected arrival of a number of vessels from the Baltic.

PRIC	BS of t	he PUB	LIC FU	JNDS.
STOCKS.  Bank Stock		Tues.	Wed.	Teur.	Fred.	541. 270) 3 70) 0 51
3 per Cent. Consols 3 per Cent. Consols Consols for Account 4 per Cent. Consols 5 per Cent. Navy	773	Hollday.	Holld ay.	Holiday.	Holiday,	501 1 501
Bank Long Annuities India Bonds Rxchequer Bills, 2d Ditto, 2gd Omnium	69 p	÷.	Ş	· 9.	9,	11 d p

BIRTHS.
On Saturday, the 22d inst. in Upper Cadegan-place, Mrs. Thos. Broadwo

MARRIAGES Thursday, 27th inst. at Woodbridge, Suffolk, by the Rev. Thos. Carthew, fr. Harcourt Firmin, Solicitor, Dedham, Hssex, to Frances, only daughter

Mr. Harcourt Firmin, Solicitor, Dedham, Hssex, to Frances, only daughter of Jaines Pulham, Esq.
At Sandon, Herts, on Thursday, Dec. 20, Mr. John Boosey, te Martha, youngest daughter of Mr. W. Fordham.
At Cheltenham, on 27th inst. by the Hon, and Rev. Francis Knollis, the Rev. William Rees, M.A. of Pembroke College, Oxford, to Caroline Ann, youngest daughter of the late John Leuthal, Esq. of the Priory, Renford, Oxfordshire.

OIRD.
On the 23d inst. at Lewisham Kent, Major Fead, of the Royal Regt. of Artillery, son of the late Lieut. Gen. Fead, of the same corps.
At Sawbridgeworth, Major Howard, late of the 96th Regt.

LONDON: Printed and Published by R. 1. WEAVER, of No. 11, JOHNSON'S COURT, FLEET-STREET, where only Communications to the Editor, (post paid) are received.

DATE DUE

Stanford University Libraries
Stanford, Ca.
94305

